FIFTH COMMITTEE
Agenda item 113 (c)

HUMAN RESOURCES MANAGEMENT: RESPECT FOR THE PRIVILEGES AND IMMUNITIES OF OFFICIALS OF THE UNITED NATIONS AND THE SPECIALIZED AGENCIES AND RELATED ORGANIZATIONS

Report submitted by the Secretary-General on behalf of and with the approval of the members of the Administrative Committee on Coordination

INTRODUCTION

1. At its forty-seventh session, the General Assembly adopted resolution 47/28 of 25 November 1992, in which it took note with grave concern of the report submitted by the Secretary-General on behalf of the members of the Administrative Committee on Coordination (ACC) on the above subject (A/C.5/47/14). In that resolution, the General Assembly strongly deplored the unprecedented and still increasing number of fatalities that had occurred among United Nations personnel, including those engaged in peace-keeping operations, and also strongly affirmed that disregard for the privileges and immunities of officials had always constituted one of the main obstacles to the implementation of the missions and programmes assigned to the organizations of the United Nations system by Member States. The Assembly reminded host countries of their responsibility for the safety of peace-keeping and all United Nations personnel on their territory. The Assembly also requested the Secretary-General to take all necessary measures to ensure the safety of United Nations personnel, as well as those engaged in peace-keeping and humanitarian operations, and to continue to submit, on behalf of ACC, reports concerning respect for the privileges and immunities of officials of the United Nations and specialized agencies and related organizations.

2. In the light of concern regarding the developments referred to in the Secretary-General's report, the General Assembly decided at its forty-seventh session that, despite its previous resolution providing that personnel questions should be considered on a biennial basis (resolution 46/220 of 20 December 1991), the Secretary-General should be requested to submit to the General Assembly at its forty-eighth session updated information on the situation of United Nations staff members, with special regard to violations of privileges and immunities, taking into account its resolutions 45/240 of 21 December 1990 and 47/28 of 25 November 1992 (see decision 47/457 C of 8 April 1993).

3. At its forty-eighth session, following consideration of the note submitted by the Secretary-General on behalf of and with the approval of the members of ACC (A/C.5/48/5), the General Assembly, in its decision 48/462 of 23 December 1993, took note of the note of the Secretary-General and of the statement made by the representative of the United Nations Security Coordinator on 8 November 1993. 1/

4. The present report, containing updated information about respect for the privileges and immunities of officials as well as their security and safety, is submitted in response to resolution 47/28 of the General Assembly. It is presented on behalf of and with the approval of the members of ACC and is based upon the information provided by United Nations programmes, funds, and offices of missions as well as the specialized agencies and related organizations. A list of the organs and organizations that were requested to provide information is contained in annex IV to the present report. The report covers the period from 1 July 1993 to 30 June 1994.

I. SECURITY AND SAFETY OF OFFICIALS

5. Developments in the last year have clearly demonstrated that international civil servants continue to be exposed to a degree of risk that would have been unacceptable in the past. In fulfilment of the responsibilities assigned to them by the organizations concerned, staff have been called upon to work in environments characterized by utter lawlessness and random violence. Staff members are regularly exposed to violence and intimidation to a degree which undermine efforts to guarantee even minimum security. Throughout the reporting period staff members have been attacked and at times killed, injured, kidnapped, abused and harassed. Details regarding some of these incidents may be found in information provided by various organizations which is included in annex III below.

6. Of particular concern is the fact that during the reporting period and through the preparation of this report, 18 staff members (both international and national) belonging to different organizations lost their lives. Two of these cases had previously been reported to the General Assembly (A/C.5/48/5). Details of the remaining 16 cases are outlined in annex II. It is expected that the final toll for 1994 will be higher once staff members in Rwanda have been accounted for. Of particular concern is that of the 42 staff members who have been shot to death since 1 January 1992, not a single case has been resolved and no one has been arrested or brought to justice in respect of these fatalities. In this connection, it is extremely important that any initiatives on the part of Member States, such as the elaboration of a convention dealing with the safety and security of United Nations associated personnel apply to all staff members serving with the organizations of the United Nations system.

7. Efforts have been made to improve staff security. Regrettably, the insufficient resources and equipment have meant that many staff operating in the field have assumed grave personal risks on a daily basis. In an effort to address many of the serious issues regarding security of United Nations staff, the United Nations Security Coordinator convened an ad hoc inter-agency meeting on security matters in New York from 16 to 19 May 1994 (ACC/1994/19). The meeting was devoted to the examination of security matters which are of concern to the organizations of the United Nations system, in particular their administrative aspects and, inter alia, considered the need for standardized communications systems at each duty station, the need for pre-assignment briefing as well as appropriate security training and the need to develop on a system-wide basis a strategy for dealing with critical incident stress management in order better to respond to the needs of staff members and dependants who had experienced traumatic events in the course of their service with the United Nations.

8. It must be stressed that the primary responsibility for the security and protection of staff members, their spouse and dependants and property and of the organizations' property rests with the host Government. This responsibility flows from every Government's normal and inherent function of maintaining order and protecting persons and property within its jurisdiction. In the case of international organizations and their officials and property, the Government is considered to have a special responsibility under the Charter of the United Nations or the Government's agreements with individual organizations. Under Article 105 of its Charter, the United Nations is entitled to enjoy such privileges and immunities as are necessary for the fulfilment of its purposes. The other organizations in the United Nations family and their staff enjoy similar privileges and immunities under their respective constitutional instruments. Officials of the organizations are entitled under the same provisions to enjoy such privileges and immunities as are necessary for the independent exercise of their functions. Further, within the territory of any country which has acceded to the Conventions on the Privileges and Immunities of the United Nations 2/ and of the Specialized Agencies, 3/ staff members of the organizations "shall be given, together with their spouses and relatives dependent on them, the same repatriation facilities in time of international crisis as diplomatic envoys". 4/ The Conventions further stipulate that the premises of the organizations are "inviolable" and that their property, wherever located and by whomsoever held, is immune from "any form of interference". 5/

II. ARREST AND DETENTION OF OFFICIALS

9. With the exception of the cases indicated in annex I, as of 30 June 1994 there were no pending cases of arrest and detention in which the privileges and immunities of staff members had been violated. Detailed information regarding the staff of the United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees in the Near East (UNRWA), as provided by UNRWA, is included in annex III.

III. TAXATION OF OFFICIALS

10. Detailed information about problems related to taxation of officials experienced by the International Telecommunication Union (ITU) and other Geneva-based organizations is provided in annex III to the present report.

IV. RESTRICTIONS ON OFFICIAL AND PRIVATE TRAVEL OF OFFICIALS OF THE UNITED NATIONS, THE SPECIALIZED AGENCIES AND RELATED ORGANIZATIONS

11. The Secretary-General is pleased to report that, during the reporting period, there has been a new positive development with respect to the issue of removal of restrictions imposed by the authorities of the United States of America as host country on private travel of staff members who are nationals of particular countries.

12. On 10 January 1994, the United States Mission informed the Secretariat by a note verbale that Romanian employees of the United Nations and their dependants would enjoy unrestricted travel within the United States.

13. In his reply to the aforementioned note, the Secretary-General welcomed this decision taken by the host country. However, in view of the fact that travel restrictions continue to be in force with respect to staff members of certain other nationalities, the Secretary-General reiterated his well-known position of principle concerning the restrictive and discriminatory treatment of United Nations staff solely on the basis of nationality.

14. Information concerning travel restrictions on UNRWA personnel is provided in annex III to the present report.

V. OBSERVATIONS

15. The Secretary-General firmly believes that the Conventions on the Privileges and Immunities of the United Nations and of the Specialized Agencies constitute a critical element in the protection of staff members and their dependants from arrest and detention. Therefore, the Secretary-General invites States that have not become a party to the Convention to give consideration to ratifying or acceding to the Conventions.

16. Another measure which would be extremely critical to the safety and security of staff would be the elaboration of a new Convention as is presently being discussed by the Sixth Committee and which should apply to all United Nations personnel, irrespective of the mandate under which they are operating.

17. Efforts continue to achieve the degree of integration and accountability necessary to ensure an effective approach to security. Many issues related to improving security management were discussed during the ad hoc inter-agency security meeting referred to in paragraph 7 above. Details are included in the report entitled "Comprehensive report regarding inter-agency coordination" which is being submitted to the General Assembly at its forty-ninth session at the request of the Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions. In this connection it should be noted that it is unrealistic to expect that the required security measures which are essential for the proper discharge of the Organization's responsibility for the safety of its personnel can be met from existing resources. I trust that Member States will provide me with the means to do what is necessary in this regard.

INFORMATION SUBMITTED BY INDIVIDUAL ORGANIZATIONS AND UNITED NATIONS SUBSIDIARY ORGANS AND OFFICES OR JOINT
SUBSIDIARY ORGANS FOR INCLUSION IN THE PRESENT REPORT

A. Economic Commission for Africa

Mr. Andualem Zeleke (Ethiopia) a locally recruited staff member of ECA, has been detained since 25 June 1993. The Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the transitional Government of Ethiopia advised that his case will be taken up together with others who allegedly have been involved in the Red Terror of the previous regime.

Mr. Nadew Kassa, dependent son of Mr. Tsegaye Kassa (Ethiopia), a locally recruited staff member of ECA, has been detained since early February 1994. No reply as to the reasons for his arrest has been provided by the Government authorities.

Mr. Damascene Sindikubwabo (Rwanda), a locally recruited staff member of the ECA regional office in Gisenyi, was killed on 8 June 1994 on the office premises. According to reports the ECA regional office in Gisenyi was occupied, apparently by Government forces, and the premises sustained some damage.

At the beginning of September 1993 armed Government troops intruded upon the ECA compound on two occasions. The incidents were reported to the authorities.

The rented apartment in Addis Ababa of an ECA staff member on mission in New York was illegally occupied for more than one year. Eventually the Government authorities investigated the case and the staff member was able to recover some of her belongings.

B. United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine
Refugees in the Near East

1. During the period under review, there was a significant reduction, in comparison with the preceding year, in the number of staff members in the West Bank and Gaza Strip who were arrested, held in detention without trial and subsequently released; however, eight staff members in the West Bank remained in detention at the end of the reporting period, in comparison with only three at the end of the preceding year, though in the Gaza Strip this number dropped from 23 to 10. The number of staff arrested and detained in the Syrian Arab Republic was three, in Jordan one and in Lebanon one. The total number of staff so detained during the reporting period was 51, of whom 28 were arrested and released without charge or trial, and 5 were charged, tried and sentenced. The remaining 18, all staff members in the West Bank and Gaza Strip as described above, were still in detention on 30 June 1994.

2. Of the 16 staff members reported in last year's report as having been deported to Lebanon, all had returned with the permission of the Israeli authorities by December 1993; four were thereupon placed in detention, although by the end of the reporting period all but one of these had been released. Subsequent to the Agreement on the Gaza Strip and the Jericho area, signed at Cairo on 4 May 1994, a number of Palestinians, including four staff members, were transferred from prisons in the Gaza Strip to detention centres and prisons in Israel.

3. Although the Agency made frequent approaches to the relevant authorities during the reporting period, UNRWA was not provided with adequate and timely information as to the reasons for the arrest and detention of its staff members. UNRWA had access to 3 staff members from the West Bank and 20 from the Gaza Strip detained in prisons and detention centres in the West Bank, the Gaza Strip and Israel. The treatment of staff members in detention continued to be a matter of considerable concern to the Agency, with staff members both in detention and upon their release complaining of having been subjected to various forms of physical and psychological mistreatment. Despite continued approaches by the Agency to the relevant Governments, the Agency was unable to visit staff detained in Jordan, Lebanon and the Syrian Arab Republic.

4. Difficulties continued in relation to the movement of staff members into and out of the West Bank and Gaza Strip. As reported in previous years, there were lengthy delays by the Israeli authorities in the clearance of official travel for locally recruited staff. The particular restrictions on movement from the West Bank and Gaza Strip to Israel and East Jerusalem, as described in the 1993 report (A/C.5/48/5), continued during the reporting period, with the Israeli authorities insisting on the establishment of a system of exit permits, which delayed and in some cases prevented staff members from entering East Jerusalem and Israel from the West Bank and the Gaza Strip; tighter restrictions were imposed with the closure of the West Bank and the Gaza Strip following the massacre at the al-Ibrahimi mosque in the town of Hebron on 25 February 1994, which aggravated the situation in this particular respect. Difficulties were experienced by the Agency in the Gaza Strip in securing exit permits for its drivers, though by the end of the reporting period this had ceased to be a particular problem. In relation to movement within the West Bank and the Gaza Strip, the imposition of curfews constituted a further impediment to the movement of staff, with the Israeli authorities continuing to insist that locally recruited staff members could operate only if in possession of curfew permits; in the Gaza Strip, procedures to obtain and renew curfew permits were subjected to lengthy delays by the Israeli authorities, though following the entry into the effect of the provisions of the Cairo Agreement a/ towards the end of the reporting period, curfew passes needed no longer to be obtained from the Israeli authorities. The arbitrary declaration of closed military areas by the Israeli authorities continued to constitute difficulties to the official movement of staff members, both international and locally recruited.

5. For the greater part of the year under review, UNRWA staff in the West Bank and the Gaza Strip performed their duties in the context of ongoing violence and the Agency continued to be concerned about the safety of staff, both locally recruited and international. Staff members faced various forms of mistreatment by members of the Israeli security forces, including injury by live and other forms of ammunition, beatings and threatening and abusive behaviour. At times they also faced threats and attacks by Israeli settlers in the occupied territory and by certain elements in the Palestinian population. Such incidents of mistreatment were protested by the Agency to the appropriate authorities, and appropriate follow-up action was undertaken by the Agency.

6. During the reporting period two staff members were killed in Lebanon, both by persons whose identity remained unknown; on 21 July 1993 an UNRWA teacher was shot dead in the presence of his family near Saida and on 15 November 1993 an UNRWA head teacher was shot dead as he was leaving his school near Saida. In addition, on 21 October 1993 an UNRWA teacher was shot dead in the town of Gaza by persons unknown.

7. On 28 March 1994 a staff member was shot dead in the Gaza Strip by the Israeli security forces in the context of a confrontation with Palestinian armed elements.

D. United Nations Environment Programme

In the review period there were no arrests or detention of officials of the United Nations or specialized agencies by the Government of Kenya. However, many United Nations officials were the victims of a rising tide of criminal violence in the country. The most serious of these was the murder of a senior official in the course of a vehicle hijacking (12 September 1993), a bandit attack on a UNICEF compound in north-east Kenya which resulted in the death of a pilot attached to UNICEF, the wounding of a UNICEF official (3 September 1993) and finally the serious wounding of an official of the United Nations Centre for Human Settlements, again in the course of an armed hijacking in Nairobi (8 May 1994). In addition to these very serious crimes there have been numerous other crimes directed at United Nations staff, including 15 vehicle hijackings.

E. International Telecommunication Union (ITU)

Fiscal status of ITU officials living in France

Since September 1993, a considerable number of ITU officials (of all nationalities) living in France have, like many of their colleagues working in other specialized agencies in Geneva, received requests from their local tax offices to declare the salaries and emoluments paid by the Union for the years 1990, 1991 and 1992, and even, in some cases, claims for tax arrears, the aim being to make them subject to French income tax.

To justify this sudden change of attitude, which is a departure from the practice of tax exemption consistently followed by France for nearly 40 years, the French tax authorities cited the fact that France had not ratified the 1947 Convention on the Privileges and Immunities of the Specialized Agencies.

Since exemption of ITU and all its staff is one of the essential conditions for the Organization's status, its proper operation and its necessary independence, which implies the independence of its staff, a joint letter was sent on 24 September 1993 by all the executive heads of organizations in the same situation as ITU to Mr. Alain Juppé, Minister for Foreign Affairs of France in an attempt to put an immediate stop to this sudden development. In addition, the Secretary-General of the United Nations, in his capacity as Chairman of the Administrative Committee on Coordination (ACC), himself wrote to the Minister in October 1993 indicating the importance he attached to the matter and expressing his concern.

Following further approaches to the French Government by the Directors-General and Secretaries-General of the organizations concerned, the Government finally decided, in December 1993, to suspend for six months (until June 1994) the action taken by the tax authorities with respect to the officials and to initiate further consultations very quickly with the heads of the specialized agencies in Geneva.

Although this suspension was applied with some delay and with some inconsistency between different tax offices, the organizations, particularly ITU, welcomed it with satisfaction in the hope that it represented a necessary preliminary to a final settlement of the problem.

As far as the substance of the matter is concerned, the Secretary-General of ITU and his counterparts also welcomed the intention expressed by Mr. Juppé to take advantage of the delay in order to hold thorough consultations with the organizations with a view to arriving at a lasting solution and immediately informed him that they were very ready to join him in this undertaking. As at 1 July 1994, however, the French Government has still not followed up its intention, with the result that the proposed consultations have not started.

This prolonged silence finally led the Director-General of the International Labour Office, on behalf of all the executive heads of the organizations concerned, on 6 April 1994, to request the French Government to extend by six months, until 15 December 1994, the suspension it had granted. The Secretary-General of the Union, for his part, placed the matter before ACC, which met at ITU headquarters on 11 and 12 April 1994. At that meeting Mr. Boutros Boutros-Ghali, Secretary-General of the United Nations, undertook, on behalf of ACC, to go into the matter with the French authorities in order to find a lasting solution to this awkward problem which would be acceptable to all parties.

The Secretary-General of the Union also informed the Council of ITU of the matter at its last session (2-17 May 1994) in a document entitled "Fiscal status of ITU officials living in France".

In reply to this document, the French Councillor informed the members of the Council that the Government had extended by three months, until 20 September 1994, the suspension of all action taken to claim tax arrears so that it could find a satisfactory response to the problem, in consultation with all the organizations concerned. After taking note of this encouraging statement, the Council of ITU decided:

(a) Firstly, to urge the French Government to extend the suspension decision for six months, at least until 15 December 1994, and to reconsider its position and to initiate, as soon as possible, thorough consultations with the executive heads of the organizations concerned or their representatives, in order to find a lasting solution to this difficult problem which is acceptable to all parties and which in its effects is consistent with the constant practice prevailing in France until 1993;

(b) Secondly, to authorize the Secretary-General to pursue his efforts, in conjunction with the executive heads of the other organizations concerned, with a view to arriving at such a solution as quickly as possible and to submit a report to the Plenipotentiary Conference in Kyoto, Japan, on developments since the 1994 session of the Council.

On 13 May 1994, in a letter addressed to the Director-General of the International Labour Office (ILO), the Permanent Mission of France in Geneva confirmed the information given to ITU by the French Councillor on 11 May.

While welcoming the additional suspension period, the Director-General of ILO, in his reply dated 24 May on behalf of all the executive heads of the organizations concerned, emphasized the need for the thorough consultations with the organizations promised by the Minister for Foreign Affairs in his letter to the Secretary-General of ITU dated 21 December 1993 to begin soon enough to allow ample time to cover both the kind of solution to be adopted and the means of putting it into practice. The Director-General of ILO informed the Secretary-General of the United Nations about this exchange of letters and asked him to support the position of the organizations concerned, just as he had agreed to do, at the request of the Secretary-General of ITU, at the most recent meeting of ACC, held at ITU headquarters in April.

For his part, the Secretary-General of ITU sent a letter on 9 June to the Permanent Representative of France to the United Nations Office at Geneva and the Switzerland-based specialized agencies, in which he asked him, in particular, to approach the competent authorities with the request that the suspension period be extended until at least 15 December 1994, in accordance with the decision taken by the ITU Council, if a solution acceptable to all the interested parties could not be found before the beginning of the forthcoming Plenipotentiary Conference of the Union, to be held in Kyoto from 19 September to 14 October 1994. He also drew his attention to a new development, namely the signing by France, on 15 April 1994, of the Agreement establishing the World Trade Organization (WTO), article VIII of which provides that the privileges and immunities stipulated in the Convention on the Privileges and Immunities of the Specialized Agencies, b/ approved by the General Assembly of the United Nations on 21 November 1947, apply, by analogy, to WTO officials. The Secretary-General of ITU hopes that the signing of this Agreement is an indication that France may soon ratify the 1947 Convention, thus putting an end to the distressing problem facing all officials of Geneva-based specialized agencies living in France.

As matters stand, the Secretary-General of ITU remains convinced, however, whatever solution is finally agreed to by the various parties concerned, that it will be in conformity with the obligations by which France is bound as a member of the various organizations concerned and with the practice it has consistently followed for over 30 years.

During the night of 14 September 1993 while driving a car from Vinkovci to Zagreb to meet with another expert, a UNIDO staff member was detained at a Serbian check-point in the region of Okucani. Although he was in possession of a laissez-passer, the staff member was led away and questioned for three hours. He was obliged to stay the night in his car, under guard. The following day he was questioned further and kept under watch by guards. Efforts by United Nations Civilian Police to secure his release were initially unsuccessful, and the staff member was obliged to spend a further night in his car under guard.

On 16 September 1993 the United Nations Civilian Police returned to the Serbian check-point with appropriate documentation and the staff member was released accordingly.
