I. INTRODUCTION

1. The General Assembly, by its resolution 34/180 of 18 December 1979, adopted the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women. In its subsequent resolutions 35/140, 36/131, 37/64, 38/109, 39/130, 40/39, 41/108, 42/60, 42/62, 43/100, 44/73, 45/124 and 47/94, the Assembly urged States that had not yet ratified or acceded to the Convention to do so as soon as possible and requested the Secretary-General to report on the status of the Convention. In its resolution 45/124 of 14 December 1990, the Assembly requested the Secretary-General to submit this report annually.

2. In its resolution 47/94 of 16 December 1992, the Assembly repeated its request for the annual submission of the report on the status of the Convention. The Assembly also requested the Secretary-General to submit to it at its forty-ninth session a report on the implementation of that resolution and to make the report available to the Commission on the Status of Women at its thirty-ninth session.

3. In its resolution 1993/14, the Economic and Social Council supported the request of the Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women for additional meeting time for its future sessions, as allocated to it for its twelfth and thirteenth sessions. The Council welcomed the Committee's suggestion no. 4 on the World Conference on Human Rights and the draft general recommendation with respect to article 16 of the Convention, which the Committee had adopted in substance and had submitted to the Commission on the Status of Women for information. The Council encouraged the Committee to continue its work in developing detailed general recommendations and urged the Secretary-General to continue to widely publicize the decisions and recommendations of the Committee.

4. By the same resolution, the Council, having noted with concern that the Convention is still the human rights instrument with the most reservations, requested States parties to the Convention to review regularly their reservations and make efforts to withdraw them in order to enable the full implementation of the Convention.

II. STATUS OF THE CONVENTION ON THE ELIMINATION OF ALL FORMS OF DISCRIMINATION AGAINST WOMEN

5. The Convention was opened for signature in New York on 1 March 1980 and, in accordance with its article 27, entered into force on 3 September 1981.

6. As at 1 August 1993, 125 States had become parties to the Convention, 91 States had ratified it, 32 States had acceded and two had succeeded to it. In addition, nine States had signed it without yet ratifying it. Since the last progress report (A/47/368), the Czech Republic*, the Gambia, India, the Maldives, Morocco, Namibia, Republic of Croatia, Samoa, Slovakia* and Suriname have become parties to the Convention. The Maldives and Morocco acceded with reservations. No reservations to the Convention were withdrawn during the reporting period. The Government of Sweden objected to the reservations made by the Government of Jordan upon ratification. South Africa has signed the Convention. The complete list of States that have signed and ratified, acceded or succeeded to the Convention, as well as the dates of their signatures and the dates of receipt of the instruments of ratification, accession or succession, is contained in annex I to the present report. Reservations made upon ratification or accession are contained in annex II, and objections to the application of the Convention are contained in annex III to the present report.

* Before becoming separate States on 1 January 1993 the Czech Republic and Slovakia formed part of Czechoslovakia, which had ratified the Convention on 16 January 1982 and became a State party on 18 March 1982.

ANNEX II

Reservations made upon ratification from 1 August 1992 to 1 August 1993

[Original: English]

[1 June 1993]

Reservation made by the Government of the Republic of Maldives upon accession

The Government of the Republic of Maldives will comply with the provisions of the Convention, except those which the Government may consider contradictory to the principles of the Islamic Shariah upon which the laws and traditions of the Maldives are founded.

Furthermore, the Republic of Maldives does not see itself bound by any provision of the Convention which obliges to change its constitution and laws in any manner.

Declaration and reservations made by the Government of Morocco upon accession

A. DECLARATIONS

1. With regard to article 2:

"The Government of the Kingdom of Morocco expresses its readiness to apply the provisions of this article provided that:

- "They are without prejudice to the constitution requirements that regulate the rules of succession to the throne of the Kingdom of Morocco;
- "They do not conflict with the provisions of the Islamic Shariah. It should be noted that certain of the provisions contained in the Moroccan Code of Personal Status according women rights that differ from the rights conferred on men may not be infringed upon or abrogated because they derive primarily from the Islamic Shariah, which strives, among its other objections, to strike a balance between the spouses in order to preserve the coherence of family life."

2. With regard to article 15, paragraph 4:

"The Government of the Kingdom of Morocco declares that it can only be bound by the provisions of this paragraph, in particular those relating to the rights of women to choose their residence and domicile, to the extent that they are not incompatible with articles 34 and 36 of the Moroccan Code of Personal Status."

B. RESERVATIONS

1. With regard to article 9, paragraph 2:

"The Government of the Kingdom of Morocco makes a reservation with regard to this article in view of the fact that the Law of Moroccan Nationality permits a child to bear the nationality of its mother only in the cases where it is born to an unknown father, regardless of place of birth, or to a stateless father, when born in Morocco, and it does so in order to guarantee to each child its right to a nationality. Further, a child born in Morocco of a Moroccan mother and a foreign father may acquire the nationality of its mother by declaring, within two years of reaching the age of majority, its desire to acquire that nationality, provided that, on making such declaration, its customary and regular residence is in Morocco."

2. With regard to article 16:

"The Government of the Kingdom of Morocco makes a reservation with regard to the provisions of this article, particularly those relating to the equality of men and women in respect of rights and responsibilities on entry into and at dissolution of marriage. Equality of this kind is considered incompatible with the Islamic Shariah, which guarantees to each of the spouses the rights and responsibilities within a framework of equilibrium and complementarity in order to preserve the sacred bond of matrimony.

"The provisions of the Islamic Shariah oblige the husband to provide a nuptial gift upon marriage and to support his family, while the wife is not required by law to support the family.

"Furthermore, at dissolution of marriage, the husband is obliged to pay maintenance. In contrast, the wife enjoys complete freedom of disposition of her property during the marriage and upon its dissolution without supervision by the husband, the husband having no jurisdiction over his wife's property.

"For these reasons, the Islamic Shariah confers to the right of divorce on a woman only by decision of a Shariah judge."

3. With regard to article 29:

"The Government of the Kingdom of Morocco does not consider itself bound by the first paragraph of this article, which provides that 'Any dispute between two or more States parties concerning the interpretation or application of the present Convention which is not settled by negotiation shall, at the request of one of them, be submitted to arbitration.'

"The Government of the Kingdom of Morocco is of the view that any dispute of this kind can only be referred to arbitration by agreement of all the parties to the dispute".

ANNEX III

Objections made from 1 August 1992 to 1 August 1993

[Original: English]

[5 February 1993]

Objection by Sweden to reservations made by Jordan upon ratification

The Government of Sweden has examined the content of the reservations made by Jordan, by which Jordan states "The Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan ... does not consider itself bound by the provisions of article 9, paragraph 2, article 15, paragraph 4 (a woman's residence and domicile are with her husband), the wording of article 16 (c) (in relation to the rights arising upon the dissolution of a marriage in connection with maintenance and compensation), and article 16 (d) and (g) of the Convention", and has come to the conclusion that they are incompatible with the object and purpose of the Convention (art. 28, para. 2). The Government of Sweden therefore objects to them.

If the reservations were to apply they would inevitably have the effect of discrimination against women on the grounds of sex, which is contrary to everything the Convention stands for.

It should also be borne in mind that the principle of the equal rights of men and women and of non-discrimination on the grounds of sex are set forth in the Charter of the United Nations as one of its purposes, in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights of 1948, and in the International Covenants on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights and on Civil and Political Rights, both of 1966, to which Jordan is a party. This objection does not constitute an obstacle to the entry into force of the Convention between Sweden and Jordan.
