DISARMAMENT COMMISSION
1997 substantive session
New York, 21 April-13 May
Agenda item 4

ESTABLISHMENT OF NUCLEAR-WEAPON-FREE ZONES ON THE BASIS OF ARRANGEMENTS FREELY ARRIVED AT AMONG THE STATES OF
THE REGION CONCERNED

Working paper submitted by Mongolia

A. Principles of establishing a single-State nuclear-weapon-free zone

- Total absence of nuclear weapons or parts thereof on the territory of the zonal State;
- Adoption of a legally binding document;
- General agreement freely arrived at with the neighbouring and nuclear-weapon States;
- Non-existence of territorial or border disputes with neighbouring States;
- Effective verification and control arrangement;
- Recognition of the zone as such by the General Assembly.

B. Elements of a model agreement on single-State nuclear-weapon-free zones

- Preamble: usage of terms ("territory", "nuclear weapons", "nuclear material", "nuclear installation", "stationing", etc.);
- Definition of principal obligations of parties to the agreement, including of neighbouring and nuclear-weapon States:

- (a) Zonal State - pledge of non-possession and non-stationing of nuclear weapons;
 - (b) Neighbouring States - respect of and support for the zone, complying with the provisions of the agreement, non-dumping of nuclear weapons in the vicinity of the zone;
 - (c) Nuclear-weapon States - non-stationing of nuclear weapons, refraining from any action that could lead to violation of the status of the zone, pledge of non-use or threat to use nuclear weapons against the zonal State, pledge of assistance in case of an attack or threat thereof;
- Peaceful nuclear activities;
 - Administrative/institutional mechanism;
 - Control system (international inspection, implementation of the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) safeguards, etc.);
 - Reporting, exchange of information;
 - Consultations;
 - Complaints;
 - Amendment of the agreement;
 - Signature, ratification;
 - Declarations, reservations;
 - Entry into force.

C. Stages of consideration of the guidelines for creating single-State nuclear-weapon-free zones

- Defining the scope and elements of single-State nuclear-weapon-free zones (1997);
- Elaboration of the principles and elements of the guidelines (1998);
- Finalization and adoption of the guidelines (1999).

D. Commitments made by nuclear-weapon States in connection with Mongolia's declaration of its territory a nuclear-weapon-free zone

Russian Federation

1. "The Russian Federation will respect Mongolia's policy of not admitting the deployment on and transit through its territory of foreign troops, nuclear and other weapons of mass destruction."¹

2. "As is known, in 1992 Mongolia declared itself a nuclear-weapon-free zone. The United States, the People's Republic of China, the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland and recently France have made statements pledging to respect this status of Mongolia.

"For its part Russia, like other nuclear Powers, intends to respect the nuclear-free status of Mongolia.

"It should be noted that the position of Russia on this issue has been reflected in the Treaty on Friendly Relations and Cooperation with Mongolia of 20 January 1993. Its article 4 reads, inter alia, as follows:

China

1. "The People's Republic of China welcomes and supports Mongolia as a nuclear-weapon-free State and will respect its policy of turning its territory into a nuclear-weapon-free zone. The People's Republic of China has already pledged not to use or threaten to use nuclear weapons against nuclear-weapon-free zones or States. This pledge applies to Mongolia as well."³

2. "The Chinese side reiterated once again its respect for Mongolia's independence, State sovereignty, territorial integrity as well as for its nuclear-weapon-free status. The People's Republic of China has expressed its respect for Mongolia's policy aimed at not admitting the deployment on and transit through its territory of foreign troops, nuclear and other weapons of mass destruction."⁴

United States of America

1. "The Government of the United States commends the Government of Mongolia on its demonstrated adherence to the principles of the 1968 Treaty on the Non-Proliferation (NPT) of Nuclear Weapons, to which Mongolia and the United States are parties, and on its decision in this spirit to declare Mongolia a nuclear-weapon-free zone. In this connection, we also welcome Mongolia's decision to support the indefinite extension of the NPT in 1995."

2. "In adhering closely to the letter and spirit of the NPT, Mongolia, as a non-nuclear sovereign State friendly to the United States, benefits from the United States' commitment to seek Security Council assistance for non-nuclear-weapon States who are members of the NPT in the event of a nuclear attack on them, and from U.S. assurances that it would not use nuclear weapons against a non-nuclear State not allied with a nuclear-weapon State. We note that other nuclear-weapon States have provided similar assurances.

"If Mongolia ever faces a threat and decides to refer the matter to the United Nations Security Council, the United States, along with other members of the Council, would consider appropriate steps to be taken."⁵

United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland

"Her Majesty's Government commends the Government of Mongolia on her decision to declare Mongolia a nuclear-weapon-free zone, which reaffirms Mongolia's commitment to the principles of the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty (NPT).

"Mongolia benefits from the security assurances that the United Kingdom offers to all non-nuclear-weapon States who are members of the Non-Proliferation Treaty, whereby the United Kingdom undertakes to seek immediate Security Council action to provide assistance, in accordance with the Charter of the United Nations to any non-nuclear-weapon State party to the NPT that is a victim of an act of aggression or an object of a threat of aggression in which nuclear weapons are used.

"The United Kingdom also reaffirms its assurance to all non-nuclear-weapon States party to the NPT and other internationally binding commitments not to manufacture or acquire nuclear explosive devices, that the United Kingdom will not use nuclear weapons against such States, including Mongolia, except in the case of an attack on the United Kingdom, its dependent territories, its armed forces or its allies by such a State in association or alliance with a nuclear-weapon State."⁶

France

"The Republic of France welcomes the decision of the Government of Mongolia to declare Mongolia a nuclear-weapon-free zone, thus reiterating its obligations under the Non-Proliferation Treaty.

"France reaffirms with regard to Mongolia its earlier declaration made with regard to States that do not possess nuclear weapons and that have pledged not to acquire them, not to use nuclear weapons against them, except in case of aggression, in association or alliance with a nuclear-weapon State, against France or against a country that maintains a security arrangement with France.

"France, which supports the objective of an indefinite and unconditional extension of the Non-Proliferation Treaty, welcomes the decision of Mongolia to the same effect."⁷

E. Expression of support for the Mongolia nuclear-weapon-free zone by the Non-Aligned States

1. "They [the Heads of State and Government] welcomed the unilateral declaration by Mongolia of its territory as a nuclear-weapon-free zone as a commendable contribution to regional stability and confidence-building."⁸

2. "The Ministers welcomed the effort of Mongolia to institutionalize its status as a nuclear-weapon-free zone."⁹
