Explanatory notes

The following symbols have been used in the tables throughout the annex:

Three dots (...) indicate that data are not available or are not separately reported.

A dash (-) indicates that the amount is nil or negligible.

A full stop (.) is used to indicate decimals.

A comma (,) is used to distinguish thousands and millions.

A slash (/) indicates a crop year or financial year, e.g., 1970/71.

Use of a hyphen (-) between dates representing years, e.g., 1967-1969, signifies the full period involved, including the beginning and end years.

Details and percentages in tables do not necessarily add to totals because of rounding.

a/ The age of majority is the age at which parental authority ceases to be operative, since the individual may then execute all acts having legal effect by himself. The age of political majority is the age at which the individual may vote. The age of military service refers to the call-up age. The age of marriage is the age at which young people may marry - in some countries with parental consent still required. The age in parentheses refers to the age for girls where it differs from the age for boys.

b/ Under customary law the minimum age is 16 for both girls and boys.

c/ The age differs in different states.

d/ In some states the minimum age is 21.

e/ In mining and transport only (14 years for work in factories).

f/ In mining and transport only (12 years for work in factories).

g/ Eighteen for local elections.

h/ Work during school hours is forbidden for those who have not completed compulsory secondary schooling.

i/ Twenty-five for senate elections.

j/ Seventeen in Queensland and Northern Territory.

k/ Fifteen in Western Australia, New South Wales and Queensland; 14 in South Australia and Northern Territory.

Note: Marriage statistics refer to crude rates of formally recognized marriages reported per 1,000 persons present in the same country. That is, the legal union of two persons, the legality of which may be established by civil, religious or other means recognized by the law of each country.

Divorce statistics refer to rates of the absolute number of divorces granted each year per 1,000 persons present in the population at the midpoint of 1963 and 1970. Divorce refers to final dissolution of marriage by decree of divorce within the present geographic boundaries and among the present-in-area population.

Note: In most cases, legally induced abortions are performed where continuance of pregnancy would involve risk to the life or to the physical or mental health of the pregnant woman, risk of injury to the mental or physical health of any existing children of the family, or a substantial risk that if the child were born it would be seriously handicapped.
