Annex I

Regular Process for Global Reporting and Assessment of the State of the Marine Environment, including Socioeconomic Aspects

Mechanism for the establishment of the Pool of Experts for the third cycle of the Regular Process

In its resolution 75/239, the General Assembly requested the Bureau of the Ad Hoc Working Group of the Whole on the Regular Process to review and update the mechanism to establish the Pool of Experts for the third cycle of the Regular Process and to provide oversight of the establishment of the Pool of Experts, including by inviting individuals who served in the Pool of Experts during the second cycle of the Regular Process to indicate to the secretariat of the Regular Process whether they would be interested in serving in the Pool of Experts for the third cycle and beyond.

Bearing in mind the lessons learned from the second cycle and the programme of work for the third cycle, and under the oversight of the Bureau with a view to ensuring its balanced composition and effective functioning, taking full consideration of relevant elements, including adequate coverage of expertise and diversity in expertise, geographic representation and gender considerations, the Pool of Experts for the third cycle will be established as shown below.

Step 1: invite experts from the Pool of Experts for the second cycle

The secretariat will write to all members of the Pool of Experts of the second cycle in the second and third quarter of 2021, requesting them to indicate whether they would be interested in serving in the Pool of Experts for the third cycle and beyond.

Interested experts will be invited to provide an up-to-date curriculum vitae in English and an up-to-date personal history form and to update their entry in the database on the Regular Process website. Once complete, the secretariat will issue a letter confirming the expert's appointment to the Pool of Experts.

Step 2: invite nominations and recommendations of additional experts to the Pool of Experts for the third cycle

Identify expertise needed for the assessment(s) of the third cycle

In parallel with the scoping exercise for the assessment(s) to be conducted under the third cycle, the Group of Experts will develop the preliminary annotated outline(s) for the assessment(s), which will also list the specific expertise needed for each topic to be addressed in the assessment(s). The first draft of the preliminary annotated outline(s) is expected to be completed in early 2022, upon which nominations and recommendations of additional experts to the Pool of Experts will be invited.

Invitations to nominate experts

The secretariat will write to all Permanent and Observer Missions to the United Nations and the national focal points, inviting them to nominate experts for appointment to the Pool of Experts. States will then send the names of their nominated experts, along with an up-to-date curriculum vitae and completed personal history form for each expert. Once received, nominations will be processed by the secretariat and an account will be created for each expert on the Regular Process website. The experts will be asked to complete their entry in the database on the Regular Process website. Once complete, the secretariat will issue a letter confirming the expert's appointment to the Pool of Experts.

Invitations to recommend experts for nomination

The secretariat will also invite intergovernmental organizations, the funds, bodies and programmes of the United Nations and the secretariats of relevant conventions and intergovernmental processes to recommend experts for nomination to the Pool of Experts. A general invitation to recommend experts for nomination will be placed on the Regular Process website, for use by non-governmental organizations and other interested parties. All recommendations will need to include an up-to-date curriculum vitae in English for the expert(s) nominated, as well as a completed personal history form.

Recommendations for nomination can be submitted by:

- States (if they are not the State of nationality of the expert)
- Intergovernmental organizations, the funds, bodies and programmes of the United Nations and the secretariats of relevant global and regional conventions and intergovernmental processes
- Non-governmental organizations in consultative status with the United Nations Economic and Social Council
- Members of the Group of Experts
- Interested individuals with the expertise needed for the assessments(s) of the third cycle, including scientists and holders of traditional, indigenous or local knowledge

Consent procedures related to recommendations from States and intergovernmental organizations

Recommendations received from States (if they are not the State of nationality of the expert) and intergovernmental organizations will be forwarded to the State of nationality of the expert for consideration and to the Bureau. If the State confirms the nomination of the expert, the secretariat will, under the oversight of the Bureau, process the nomination as listed in the above section on nominations and confirm the expert's appointment to the Pool of Experts. If the State expressly objects to the nomination of the expert, the expert will not be nominated. If no response is received within one month of the initial transmission, the nomination will be processed by the Bureau in accordance with the procedure for implied consent, given below.

Procedures related to other recommendations

Recommendations received from non-governmental organizations in consultative status with the United Nations Economic and Social Council, from members of the Group of Experts and from interested individuals as outlined above will be forwarded to the State of nationality of the expert for consideration and to the Bureau. If the State confirms the nomination of the expert, the secretariat will, under the oversight of the Bureau, process the nomination as listed in the above section on nominations and confirm the expert's appointment to the Pool of Experts. If the State expressly objects to the nomination of the expert, the expert will not be nominated. If no response is received within one month of the initial transmission, the nomination will be processed by the Bureau in accordance with the procedure for implied consent, given below.

Implied consent

When a recommendation of an expert is received from States (if they are not the State of nationality of the expert) or intergovernmental organizations, the secretariat will forward the name of the expert, along with their curriculum vitae and completed personal history form, to the expert's State of nationality. If no response is received within one month of the initial transmission, the Bureau will decide whether or not to nominate the expert to the Pool of Experts on behalf of the State. Once the nomination is confirmed by the Bureau, the expert's information will be processed by the secretariat and an account will be created for the expert on the Regular Process website. The expert will be asked to fill out their entry in the database on the Regular Process website. Once complete, the secretariat will issue a letter confirming the expert's appointment to the Pool of Experts for the third cycle.

The Group of Experts, in revising the outline(s) for identifying potential members of writing teams and in the preparation of the assessment(s) of the third cycle, will identify and inform the secretariat of gaps in needed expertise on topic(s) or region(s).

Additional calls for nominations and recommendations

As needed, the secretariat will send out additional calls for nominations and recommendations of experts to the Pool of Experts for the third cycle, in order to fill gaps in expertise identified by the Group of Experts, as well as to promote geographical distribution and gender balance in the Pool of Experts.

Regular Process for Global Reporting and Assessment of the State of the Marine Environment, including Socioeconomic Aspects

Terms of reference for national focal points

Background

National focal points were established with a view to improving the connection between the Regular Process and States, as well as the scientific community and other stakeholders at the national level. In the second cycle of the Regular Process, national focal points were particularly important for the nomination of experts to the Pool of Experts and for sharing information regarding workshops and other activities undertaken in the context of the Regular Process. In accordance with the programme of work for the period 2021–2025 for the third cycle, starting from the third cycle, the designated national focal points will serve on a continuous basis rather than for a specific cycle.

Objectives

National focal points will work to strengthen the connection between the Regular Process at the global level and government agencies, scientific institutions, individual experts and other stakeholders at the national level. They will also work to coordinate the efforts taking place at the national level relevant to the Regular Process and act as an information link between the Regular Process and the national level. ## Annex IV

Regular Process for Global Reporting and Assessment of the State of the Marine Environment, including Socioeconomic Aspects

Terms of reference for focal points for intergovernmental entities<sup>11</sup>

Background

In the second cycle of the Regular Process, national focal points were established with a view to improving the connection between the Regular Process and States, as well as the scientific community and other stakeholders at the national level. The national focal points were particularly important for the nomination of experts to the Pool of Experts and for sharing information regarding workshops and other activities undertaken in the context of the Regular Process.

The lessons learned from the second cycle of the Regular Process include that intergovernmental organizations had not been invited to designate focal points, in spite of their important role in facilitating communication with many experts, disseminating information and awareness-raising. In accordance with the programme of work for the period 2021–2025 for the third cycle, the secretariats of relevant United Nations specialized agencies, programmes, funds and bodies and the secretariats of related organizations and conventions will be invited to designate focal points. Such focal points will serve on a continuous basis.

Objectives

Focal points for the above-mentioned intergovernmental entities will work to strengthen the connection between the Regular Process and the entities' own processes, procedures and networks at the global and regional levels, and collaborate with national focal points, as appropriate, in their areas of operation. Focal points for intergovernmental entities will further act as an information link between the entities and the Regular Process. The specific tasks of these focal points are given below.

Criteria

Given the importance of establishing a clear, single focal point for each entity taking part in the Regular Process, each entity should nominate only one focal point to the Regular Process. Focal points for intergovernmental entities should work in an appropriate body or department, preferably one dealing with ocean-related issues. Entities may wish to consider professionals working in any of the main disciplines in the social, economic and environmental sciences, in particular those with experience related to the science-policy interface in ocean affairs.

Nominations of focal points for intergovernmental entities should be made in writing to the Division for Ocean Affairs and the Law of the Sea, Office of Legal Affairs, United Nations, which serves as the secretariat of the Regular Process, at doalos@un.org. The notification should include the full name, position and department/institution of the nominated focal points and their email address. This information will be published on the Regular Process website in the list of focal points.
