The penultimate and last sentences should read

Upon enquiry, the Advisory Committee was informed that the Procurement Division at Headquarters and the procurement sections of the missions should be able to purchase most of the assets for mine action services, as the majority of the assets procured for mine action are assets that are also procured by the missions in their regular operations. The Committee was also informed that, under annex 2 of the current memorandum of understanding, the missions could be requested to provide, at no cost to UNOPS, the following items: office and/or accommodation space for personnel; furniture and office equipment; stationery and supplies; vehicles, maintenance and fuel according to the mission entitlement; transportation on United Nations flights; communication services, including Internet, telephone, satellite communications; medical evacuations; and explosives.
