Community public welfare promote the development and progress of public welfare undertakings for the disabled

Community is the grass-roots organization of society, and every citizen in every country is closely related to it. The Chinese government has long been committed to community construction, cares and supports community public welfare activities.

Since its establishment in 2014, Beijing Guangming Charity Foundation has put philanthropy and public welfare activities deeply in the community.

We combine community public welfare with care and assistance activities for autistic children, and use the most grassroots force to make the tiny light to promote the integration of autistic children with society. By mobilizing the community teenagers' power, we serve the families of autistic children, so that every community member can understand the autistic children situation, tolerate and help them obtain the rights of rehabilitation, happiness and development.

Autistic families are the most humble, ignored and lost people in society. For parents, special education teachers and volunteers of autistic children, we have empowered them with expertise and professional skills for scientific companionship, and scientific use of brain, so as to help them get out of the lost situation and promote the right to development of autistic children.

The goal of Guangming Charity Foundation is to give recipients the opportunity to develop their talents and foster a spirit of mutual support and love between community and disabled people, so as to promote the realization of the United Nations 2030 Sustainable Development Goals.
