HANDBOOK ON THE SCHEME OF THE CZECH REPUBLIC

(INT/97/A06))

UNCTAD Technical Cooperation Project on Market Access,
Trade Laws and Preferences

Introduction

This Handbook is intended to give, in consolidated and concise form, information regarding the tariff advantages available to developing countries under the scheme of generalized system of preferences (GSP) of the Czech Republic and the conditions under which goods may qualify for preferential treatment on importation into the Czech Republic.

The Handbook has been prepared by the UNCTAD Technical Cooperation Project on Market Access, Trade Laws and Preferences (INT/97/A06) primarily for use within the context of project activities.

It should be noted that the description of products is given in terms of the Harmonized Commodity Description and Coding System (HS) on which the Customs Tariff of the Czech Republic is based, as products covered by the scheme are defined on an individual tariff line basis.

Although based on official texts, the Handbook cannot be regarded as a substitute for these texts. For more detailed information, authentic and up-to-date legal texts should be consulted.

1. BACKGROUND

The Czech Republic has been applying its scheme of generalized preferences since 1972. Its main objective continues to be the development of broader trade relations with beneficiary countries and provision of better market access opportunities for products originating from least developed and developing countries.

2. LEGAL FRAMEWORK

The legal framework for the preferential scheme of the Czech Republic consists of:

- Regulation of the Government No. 441/2000 Coll., issuing the "Customs Tariff and Establishing Rates of Import Tariffs on Goods Originating in Developing Countries and Least Developed Countries and the Terms of Their Application (Customs Tariff)"; and
- Decree of the Ministry of Industry and Trade No. 69.1989 Coll. on "the exemption from duties of goods imported from and originated in developing countries", as amended by Decree 265/1994 Coll., which sets the rules of origin for the purpose of benefiting from preferential treatment.

3. PRODUCT COVERAGE AND DEPTH OF TARIFF CUTS

All products originating in and imported from least developed countries (see the list of countries in annex 1 to this handbook) enjoy duty-free access to the Czech market.

Tariff preferences for selected products originating and imported from other beneficiary countries (see list in annex 2 to this handbook) are modulated as follows. Products listed in annex 3 of this handbook are granted duty-free market access. The duty reduction for products listed in annex 4 is 50 per cent of the applied rates. No preferences are granted to sensitive products. No quotas or ceilings are applied to products, which are eligible for GSP treatment.

4. RULES OF ORIGIN

Only products that are considered as originating in beneficiary countries are eligible for the preferential treatment under the Czech GSP scheme. For this purpose, the following products shall be considered as originating in a beneficiary country:

- (a) Products wholly obtained in a beneficiary country;
- (b) Products obtained in a beneficiary country incorporating third country materials not exceeding 50 per cent of their value.

Materials originating in other least developed and developing beneficiary countries as well as in the Czech Republic and the Slovak Republic are considered as originating in a beneficiary country when incorporated into respective products.

To benefit from the preferential treatment, products must be imported directly from least developed or developing beneficiary countries to the Czech Republic. This condition is not fulfilled when products are released to free circulation in another country and then exported to the Czech Republic. Similarly, products should not be processed during their transportation.

Products shall benefit from the GSP treatment upon submission of a certificate of origin Form A, issued by a competent authority (Chamber of Commerce) of a country of origin. The Form A has to be presented to the Czech customs authorities within one year from the date of importation. The certificate is not required if the value of a consignment does not exceed 5,000 USD or its equivalent in another national currency.

Further details regarding rules of origin are contained in GATT document L/3703/Add.7, dated 13 October 1989.
