Chapter I

Financial highlights of 2002

A. Introduction

1. In terms of financial management 2002 was again a difficult year. The level of voluntary contributions to the Annual Programme budget fell short of the revised budget by $179.8 million in 2002. This extended the downward trend of recent years: the gap was $147.4 million in 2001, and $204.7 million in 2000. The organization was thus obliged to manage these successive gaps in the funding of the Annual Programme budgets.

2. In 2002, the full funding of the Supplementary Programme for Afghanistan of some $271 million in a time span of 15 months (last quarter of 2001 and the whole of 2002) meant significant downward pressure on the funding for the Annual Programme budget.

3. In 2001, by the active management of an anticipated shortfall in contributions and, by adjusting implementation rates (Actions 1 and 2), the budget approved by the Executive Committee for 2001 of $955 million was reduced by some $125 million. The remaining Annual Programme budget was still not fully funded and a gap of $12 million had to be covered by a transfer from the Working Capital and Guarantee Fund.

4. Continuing cost-saving efforts in 2002 have allowed the organization to fully refund the $12 million transferred from the Working Capital and Guarantee Fund in 2001 and to close the year without a loan from the Working Capital and Guarantee Fund. The management of resources in recent years has been all the more difficult as there have been only minimal carry-overs. Reserves and fund balances are reaching critically low levels.

B. Voluntary contributions

5. In 2002, compared to a revised budget of $1,036.8 million (excluding the United Nations regular budget), voluntary contributions totalled $815.8 million, of which $621.9 million for the Annual Programme budget, $185.2 million for the Supplementary Programme budget and $8.7 million for the junior professional officers. Of the Annual Programme and Supplementary Programme, 78 per cent and 81 per cent were funded, respectively. Additional sources of funding were generated by miscellaneous income, cancellation of prior years' obligation and currency exchange adjustments.

6. In 2001, voluntary contributions totalled $779.2 million or 86 per cent of a revised budget of $906.1 million (excluding the United Nations regular budget). The total contributions of $779.2 million comprised $634.7 million for the Annual Programme budget, $135.3 million for the Supplementary Programme budget and $9.2 million for the junior professional officers. Of the Annual Programme and Supplementary Programme, 81 per cent and 116 per cent were funded, respectively.

7. In 2000, voluntary contributions of $705.3 million represented 77 per cent of the revised budget.

8. While in absolute terms voluntary contributions increased from $705.3 million in 2000, to $779.2 million and $815.8 million in 2001 and 2002, respectively, the gap between voluntary contributions and the organization's annual budget ranged from 23 per cent in 2000, to 14 per cent and 21 per cent in 2001 and 2002, respectively.

9. A range of initiatives was taken during the course of 2002 to cope with the expected shortfall in voluntary contributions, which resulted in a reduction of activities under the Annual Programme budget. These initiatives included freezing the initial allocation of the operational reserve of $72.9 million at an amount of $42.9 million, reflecting a reduction in allocations from the reserve of $30 million.

C. Miscellaneous income

Interest income

10. Interest income generated in 2002 amounted to $3.4 million compared to $4.6 million and $5.6 million in 2001 and 2000, respectively. Declining global economic conditions and lower interest rates have affected interest income. Interest rates have been at their lowest level in several decades.

Currency exchange adjustments

11. In 2002, currency exchange adjustments resulted in a gain of $32.2 million, compared to losses of $14.0 million and $8.0 million in 2001 and 2000, respectively. The gain of $32.2 million consists of a net realized gain of $8.5 million from contributions, a net unrealized gain of $16.6 million from the revaluation of cash, contributions receivable, accounts receivable and accounts payable during and at the end of the year, and a realized gain of $7.1 million from transactions that were settled during the year. The significant increase in 2002 is attributable principally to the strengthening of the euro and other major currencies against the United States dollar. Approximately 50 per cent of the organization's voluntary contributions are in United States dollars, 30 per cent in euros and the remaining 20 per cent in other major currencies.

D. Expenditures

12. In 2002, total expenditures for programmed activities amounted to $908.4 million, including $698.1 million for the Annual Programme, $200.1 million for the Supplementary Programme, $7.2 million for the junior professional officers, and $1.6 million and $1.4 million for the Working Capital and Guarantee Fund and Medical Insurance Plan, respectively.

13. In 2001, total expenditures for programmed activities amounted to $782.6 million, including $677.6 million for the Annual Programme, $95.8 million for the Supplementary Programme, $7.1 million for the junior professional officers, and $0.9 million and $1.2 million for the Working Capital and Guarantee Fund and Medical Insurance Plan, respectively. In 2000, total expenditures amounted to $783.8 million.

14. While total expenditures remained relatively unchanged from 2000 to 2001, total expenditures for programmed activities increased by $125.8 million in 2002.

This increase is attributable principally to the Supplementary Programme for Afghanistan.

E. Implementing partner expenditures

15. For 2002 operational projects, instalments in the amount of $294.8 million, representing 32 per cent of total expenditures, were paid to implementing partners. As of 31 December 2002, implementing partners had reported on an amount of $204.2 million, with a balance outstanding of $90.6 million — representing 31 per cent of total instalments paid — for which reports will be received during the first quarter of 2003.

16. In 2001, total instalments paid to implementing partners during the year amounted to $260.2 million, of which $90.6 million was outstanding at the end of the year but represented some 35 per cent of total instalments paid.

17. The organization continues to make improvements in the reduction of unspent balances with implementing partners.

F. Reserves and fund balances

18. The total reserves and fund balances for 2002 amounted to $119.8 million, comprised of $50 million for the Working Capital and Guarantee Fund, $31.1 million for the Annual Programme fund, $18.4 million for Supplementary Programme fund, $6.4 million for junior professional officers, and $13.9 million for the Medical Insurance Plan.

19. In 2001, reserves and fund balances amounted to $148.9 million, comprised of $38 million for the Working Capital and Guarantee Fund, $43.7 million for the Annual Programme fund, $48.9 million for the Supplementary Programme fund, $5.9 million for junior professional officers, and $12.4 million for the Medical Insurance Plan. The significant increase in the reserves and fund balance for the Supplementary Programme fund is attributable principally to the Supplementary Programme for Afghanistan.

20. The organization continues to be concerned about the decreasing reserves and fund balances, which have been at their lowest level in several years. At the end of 2002, reserves and fund balances available for programmed activities amounted to $99.5 million — including reserves and fund balances for the Working Capital and Guarantee Fund, Annual Programme and Supplementary Programme funds — this represents approximately six weeks' expenditure.

G. Other funds

Working Capital and Guarantee Fund

21. To cover temporary shortfalls pending the receipt of anticipated contributions, the organization resorted to the Working Capital and Guarantee Fund in accordance with the provisions of article 6.4 (f) of the Financial Rules of the Voluntary funds administered by the High Commissioner for Refugees (A/AC.96/503/Rev.7). At the beginning of the year, 2002 income was used to reimburse a loan balance of $12.0 million that had been outstanding from 2001. A further amount of up to $48.2 million was borrowed from the Working Capital and Guarantee Fund to cover interim funding needs for 2002. This amount was fully replenished from 2002 income.

Central Emergency Revolving Fund

22. In mid-December 2002, the organization borrowed $6.0 million from the Central Emergency Revolving Fund for the advance operations for Iraq. The amount remains outstanding at the end of the year. The Fund was created in 1992 by the General Assembly for use by operational organizations in the early stages of emergencies.

H. Cash balances

23. Cash and term deposits have remained stable over the past three years. At the end of 2002, the balance of cash and term deposits was $138.7 million, compared to balances of $140.5 million and $123.7 million in 2001 and 2000, respectively. The balance of cash and term deposits benefited from the reduction in contributions receivable from $98.6 million in 2001 to $66.5 million in 2002.

I. Other items of interest

Unliquidated obligations

24. Unliquidated obligations at the end of 2002 amounted to $78.5 million and represented approximately 8.6 per cent of total programmed activity, compared to $74.2 million or 9.5 per cent and $66.4 million or 8.5 per cent in 2001 and 2000, respectively. This is due to better planning and represents an improvement over the previous years when unliquidated obligation was approximately 15 per cent of total programmed activity.

Cancellation of prior years' obligation

25. Cancellations of prior years' obligation amounted to $13.1 million in 2002, compared to $20.0 million and $49.5 million in 2001 and 2000, respectively. The continued reduction again confirms better planning of the organization's operational activities.

Chapter II

Report of the Board of Auditors

Summary

The Board of Auditors has audited the financial statements of the voluntary funds administered by the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees for the period from 1 January to 31 December 2002. The Board has also reviewed the operations of the voluntary funds administered by the High Commissioner at the headquarters of the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) in Geneva and at offices in Bangladesh, Guinea, Myanmar and Thailand for the same period.

The Board's main findings are as follows:

(a) As in other United Nations entities, unallocated available reserves at the end of 2002 ($50 million) were insufficient to cover the staff termination liabilities estimated at some $263 million;

(b) Although progress has been made, the value of non-expendable property disclosed in the financial statements at 31 December 2002 remained understated by approximately $70 million (25 per cent of an acquisition value of $289 million), according to UNHCR estimates. This is attributed to errors in data entry and non-recording of assets;

(c) Invalid expenditure reported in the 2002 financial statements, and valued by the Board at $5.9 million, shows the necessity of setting up a proper accounting policy;

(d) The 2002 operational expenditure not yet supported by implementing partners' financial reports amounted to $14.2 million as at 11 June 2003;

(e) As at 31 January 2003, UNHCR had not yet received audit certificates for 52.5 per cent of expenditure relating to operational projects implemented in 2001;

(f) The share of non-programme expenditure against total expenditure (28 per cent) should be reviewed in a time of decreasing resources, in view of the shortfall of $50 million in 2002;

(g) Between 1998 and 2002, the number of staff employed has constantly exceeded the number of staff posts; the excess reached 952 in 2002 (20 per cent more than the allotted posts). In addition, as at 1 January 2002, there were 1,099 administrative "project staff" individuals employed nominally by other organizations but who, in fact, worked under direct UNHCR management. As a result, while the official staffing table included 4,553 posts as of 1 July 2002, the actual staff roster was over 6,600;

(h) As a consequence of the contract policy implemented in January 2000, 75 per cent of staff was under de facto permanent appointments as at 1 July 2002, versus 16 per cent in 1998. This policy is in contrast to UNHCR changing operational needs in times of decreasing resources;

(i) At the end of December 2002, 113 Professionals (9 per cent of the Professional staff) were "staff-in-between-assignment", i.e., paid but without assignment. Professional staff members have been without assignment for over 350 person-years from 1998 to 2002. As of 1 October 2002, three D-1 and one P-5 staff members had been without assignment for respectively, 15, 30, 43 and 44 months, while being on special leave with full pay all that time;

(j) The creation of a specific staff allowance, the housing maintenance element (HOME), exceeded the delegation of authority granted to the High Commissioner and is not in line with standard United Nations provisions in similar locations and circumstances;

(k) The accounting systems do not enable UNHCR to report what it is paid for a given period in respect of each entitlement and each staff member.

The Board made recommendations to improve financial management and reporting, human resources management and programme management. It has noted that, in most respects, UNHCR has actively responded to recommendations, although some have yet to be implemented.

A. Introduction

1. In accordance with paragraph 22 of the statute of the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR), the Board of Auditors has audited the financial statements of the voluntary funds administered by the High Commissioner for the period from 1 January to 31 December 2002.
2. The audit was conducted in accordance with article XII of the Financial Regulations of the United Nations and the annex thereto and with the common auditing standards adopted by the Panel of External Auditors of the United Nations, the specialized agencies and the International Atomic Energy Agency. Those auditing standards require that the Board plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance that the financial statements are free of material misstatement.
3. The audit was conducted primarily to enable the Board to form an opinion as to whether the expenditures recorded in the financial statements for the period from 1 January to 31 December 2002 had been incurred for the purposes approved by the Executive Committee; whether income and expenditures were properly classified and recorded in accordance with the Financial Regulations and Rules; and whether the financial statements of the voluntary funds administered by the High Commissioner for Refugees presented fairly the financial position as at 31 December 2002. The audit included a general review of financial systems and internal controls and a test examination of the accounting records and other supporting evidence to the extent the Board considered necessary to form an opinion on the financial statements.
4. The audit was carried out at UNHCR headquarters in Geneva and at its offices in Bangladesh, Guinea, Myanmar and Thailand.
5. In addition to the audit of the accounts and financial transactions, the Board carried out reviews under article 12.5 of the Financial Regulations of the United Nations, principally on the management of human resources and staff training.
6. The Board continued its practice of reporting the results of specific audits through management letters containing audit findings and recommendations to the Administration. The practice allowed an ongoing dialogue with the Administration on issues arising from the audit.
7. The present report covers matters which, in the opinion of the Board, should be brought to the attention of the General Assembly. The Board's observations on all matters contained in the present report were communicated to UNHCR. The Administration confirmed the facts on which the Board's observations and conclusions were based and provided explanations and answers to the Board's queries. The report is divided into two parts, covering the audit of financial issues and management issues, respectively.
8. The Board's main recommendations are reported in paragraph 11 below. The detailed findings are discussed in paragraphs 16 to 156.

1. Previous recommendations not fully implemented

9. The Board also reviewed the measures taken by the Administration to implement the recommendations made by the Board in its report for the year ended

31 December 2001.¹ A total of 20 recommendations had been made in the audit for the year 2001. Of those, 8 (40 per cent) have been implemented, while by May 2003 11 (55 per cent) were under implementation and 1 (5 per cent) not yet implemented. With regard to prior years, UNHCR has not yet implemented a 1996 recommendation on non-expendable property, as discussed later.

10. Details of the action taken and the comments of the Board are included in the relevant discussion within the body of the present report. The annex to the present report provides a table of reference in respect of previous recommendations.

2. Main recommendations

11. The Board recommends that UNHCR should:

Accounts and financial management and reporting

(a) Actively pursue its efforts towards reducing the default values in its asset management system and providing an accurate disclosure of non-expendable property as recommended by the Board for several years (para. 44);

(b) Improve accountability and control on field operations (para. 58);

Human resources management and payroll systems

(c) Restore full control of the staffing table and disclose comprehensive staff statistics in its budget and financial reports (para. 87);

(d) Take into account in its review of the contract policy the financial risks which the “special clause” involve, and consider the most cost-efficient ways of meeting changing operational needs in times of decreasing resources (para. 101);

(e) Further limit exceptions to the rotation policy, publicize all decisions in respect of rotation, and benchmark with other United Nations organizations (para. 110);

(f) Formulate and implement without delay a strict “staff-in-between-assignments” (SIBA) policy, with a view to providing every staff member with a full-time assignment (para. 115);

(g) Review the legal basis of its specific allowances, with a view to ensuring compliance with the United Nations Staff Regulations and Rules and the High Commissioner’s delegation of authority (para. 127);

(h) Revise its accounting procedures to report what is paid for a given period in respect of each entitlement and each staff member (para. 129);

Programme management and support costs

(i) Assess the adequacy of the level of non-programme expenditure (para. 30);

3. Follow-up on special requests from the General Assembly and the Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions

12. The General Assembly, in its resolution 56/233 of 24 December 2001, reiterated its position, as suggested by the Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions, that a biennial audit would give UNHCR more time to implement the recommendations of the Board and would also facilitate the timely submission of audit certificates by implementing partners.

13. In paragraph 17 of its previous report, the Board recommended, on the one hand, that should the General Assembly wish to pursue the matter, it should request UNHCR to perform a detailed review and cost-estimate of the modifications implied by a biennial cycle. UNHCR has reviewed the issue through a succession of meetings with the Board and has concluded that it “is not planning to move to a biennium cycle, the main reason for that position being the specific nature of UNHCR work and its related planning and funding aspects”. UNHCR is also of the view that in the absence of a biennial programme cycle, the single introduction of a biennial audit, would still pose a number of practical problems, which would not be offset by significant advantages for UNHCR. The High Commissioner therefore expresses his strong reservation regarding such a change.

14. The Board had also recommended, on the other hand, that regardless of the outcome, UNHCR examine the cost of taking into account in its new information system the possibility of biennial cycles. UNHCR has estimated that in regard to its management system renewal project, an additional amount of $350,000 would be required to ensure that (a) the new system is equipped for a biennium audit cycle; and (b) UNHCR regulations and rules are modified accordingly.

15. The Board takes note of the High Commissioner’s position.

B. Financial issues

1. Financial position

16. The UNHCR statement on income and expenditure and changes in reserves and fund balances does not include $21 million received from the United Nations regular budget, which are recorded in the United Nations General Fund, as mentioned in note 1 to the financial statements.

17. Table 1 provides the figures of the statement on income and expenditure and changes in reserves and fund balances over the past five years.

balances for the years 1998-2002

(In millions of United States dollars)

^a Includes adjustments to prior years' contributions, adjustments to prior years' expenditure and cancellations of prior years' obligations.

18. Reserves were reduced from $196 million in 1998 to $120 million in 2002, due to the successive shortfalls of income over expenditure. As regards the liquidity position, the assets-to-liabilities ratio decreased from 2.4 at the end of 2001 to 2.1 at the end of 2002, with assets of $226 million and liabilities of $106 million.

19. The liabilities for after-service health insurance, accrued annual leave and termination benefits are indicated in note 13 to the financial statements.

Total	385	228	263

^a Calculated on an accrued liability basis.

20. In comparison, the breakdown by fund of the $120 million reserves and fund balances by fund is as provided in the financial statements (statement 1). The only funds not earmarked are the $50 million of the Working Capital and an immaterial amount of $36,257 from the Annual Programme (general). The other funds are totally earmarked.

21. The Board therefore notes that as at 31 December 2002, the above liabilities ($263 million) again exceeded by far the available reserve. UNHCR informed the Board that a United Nations Secretariat report on the long-term implications of the growth in the liability for end-of-service and post-retirement benefits is to be submitted to the General Assembly in 2003.

22. The Board reiterates its view that the issue of non-funded liabilities for end-of-service and post-retirement benefits is a matter of concern, and especially so for voluntary-funded organizations such as UNHCR.

2. United Nations system accounting standards

23. The Board assessed the extent to which the UNHCR financial statements for the year ended 31 December 2002 conformed to the United Nations system accounting standards. The Board had recommended in paragraph 38 of its previous report¹ that UNHCR modify its accounting policy and financial system on expenditure in order to comply with United Nations system accounting standards through an accurate accounting of disbursements and valid unliquidated obligations. UNHCR has replied that "As previously mentioned to the Board of Auditors, UNHCR agrees with the recommendation. With the implementation of the Management Renewals Systems Project (MSRP), the appropriate expenditure recognition policy and accounting practices will be set, in accordance with United Nations system accounting standards".

24. In the light of the above, the Board again assessed the extent to which the UNHCR financial statements for the year ended 31 December 2002 conformed to United Nations system accounting standards. The outstanding problem relates to the accounting for expenditure. As in the past, UNHCR charged as expenditure the amount of allocations provided through "letters of instruction", which are internal spending authorizations for administrative and operational projects. At the end of a fiscal year, the difference between the letters of instruction amounts and the disbursements made in the year is deemed equal to unliquidated obligations and reported as such in the financial statements, whether or not such unliquidated obligations represent actual commitments.

25. In other words, the expenditure amount reported in the financial statements represents not only disbursements and valid unliquidated obligations (funds committed through a purchase order, a contract or an agreement with an implementing partner), in compliance with the United Nations system accounting standards, but also the remaining balance, neither disbursed nor committed, under the concept of "unliquidated balances". In the absence of obligations, these are invalid figures.

26. In 2002, the amount of unliquidated obligations reported as expenditure in the financial statements ($78.5 million) was again simply the difference between budget and disbursements. It exceeded by $2.9 million the amount of unliquidated obligations backed by reports. Furthermore, out of $36.3 million reported as field unliquidated obligations, the Board found that $3 million (8 per cent) were not valid commitments. This leads to a total of $5.9 million representing invalid expenditure in the 2002 financial statements. UNHCR stated again that it plans to set an expenditure recognition policy and accounting practices in accordance with United Nations system accounting standards when its new financial system is implemented, which is now expected for 2004.

27. The Board reiterates the importance of compliance with the United Nations system accounting standards, and its recommendation that UNHCR modify its accounting policy and financial system to achieve an accurate accounting of disbursements and valid unliquidated obligations.

3. Expenditure

3.1. Operational and administrative expenditure

28. Note 4 to the financial statements splits expenditure into “programme” (line B in the table below), “programme support” (series 800) and “management and administration” (series 900). “Programme” includes operational expenditure for projects in series 100 to 500 (“Emergency”, “care and maintenance”, “repatriation”, “settlement” and “resettlement” projects, delivered by implementing partners), and in series 700 (“protection, monitoring and coordination”, delivered directly by UNHCR offices).

Source: UNHCR

29. The Board notes that the share of “non-programme” expenditure against total expenditure has slightly decreased over the last three years, from 29 per cent in 2000 to 28 per cent in 2002. This trend for non-programme expenditure, i.e., in operations implemented directly by UNHCR offices (a 10 per cent increase between 2000 and 2002) is a matter of concern at a time of decreasing resources, in view of the shortfall of $50 million in 2002.

30. The Board recommends that UNHCR assess the adequacy of the level of its non-programme expenditures.

3.2. Refugee Education Trust

31. As mentioned in the previous report of the Board,¹ a foundation, the Refugee Education Trust, created on 15 December 2000 under the aegis of the then High Commissioner, benefited from UNHCR support in 2001 ($1.4 million). In 2002, this support was reduced to $400,000, of which $200,000 from in-kind contributions, mainly in staff, and $200,000 remitted by one of the seven National Associations linked to UNHCR. By a letter to the foundation dated 10 May 2002, UNHCR committed itself “to provide support and assistance to the foundation, for a period of two years commencing January 2001, towards the achievement of its objectives”.

32. This 10 May 2002 agreement, although an improvement in itself, is not compliant with UNHCR financial rule 8.3, which states that projects are to be entrusted to implementing agencies, but UNHCR is not meant to implement or contribute to the implementation of other organizations’ projects, furthermore without any compensation. The agreement does not comply either with financial rule 8.5, which stipulates that each agreement with an implementing partner shall prescribe the form of the financial statements to be submitted to the High Commissioner and provide that expenditure may be audited by internal and external auditors. In June 2003 UNHCR was finalizing a memorandum of understanding with the foundation, to specify the conditions and situations under which the foundation will be considered as an operational or implementing partner of UNHCR.

33. The legal basis for a third party withholding funds to be transferred to UNHCR from a National Association is unclear. On one hand, UNHCR acknowledges that there was no legal basis for the subproject agreement, which governs all fund-raising activities for the period 2002-2003 nor in the memorandum of understanding of 30 August 2001, which “also applies in full” to the subproject agreement (clause 2.15 b). On the other hand, UNHCR is of the opinion that a memorandum dated 30 July 2001 from the former Director, Division of Communications and Information, addressed to “All Private Sector Fund-Raising National Associations” on the subject “Raising funds for the Refugee Education Trust — RET” specifically permits National Associations, as an exemption to the “exclusivity principle”, to “raise and receive funds for Refugee Education Trust projects”. The memorandum further states that “when funds are received by a National Association for RET activities, they should be transferred in full and directly to the RET bank account in Switzerland”. UNHCR was planning, in June 2003, to substitute to the memorandum dated 30 July 2001 an instruction “articulating that National Associations are created within their National Charity law regulations, to support, raise funds and promote all UNHCR activities”.

34. The Board recommends that UNHCR: (a) sign a memorandum of understanding with the Refugee Education Trust in compliance with its financial rules; and (b) carefully consider all legal issues relating to transfers to third parties of funds raised by National Associations, in the announced instruction.

3.3. Medical Insurance Plan expenditure

35. The United Nations common system Medical Insurance Plan funds health services for the locally recruited field General Service staff members and National Professional Officers (3,658 as at 31 December 2002 according to UNHCR). Transactions are handled by UNHCR mainly in the field, to which the management was delegated in 1995. No administrative costs are charged to Medical Insurance Plan: all costs are borne by the UNHCR annual budget. The other staff members are covered by the United Nations Staff Mutual Insurance Society against Sickness and Accident (UNSMISS), whose operations are reflected in the United Nations Secretariat financial statements,² and to which administrative costs are charged. Medical Insurance Plan operations are clearly reflected and identified in the financial statements, as a separate fund.

36. The Board recommends that UNHCR bring the issue of the Medical Insurance Plan to the attention of the High-Level Committee for Management, with a view to promoting consistency among the United Nations common system on the disclosure of such operations in the financial statements.

37. In 2002, three cases of fraudulent Medical Insurance Plan medical claims were reported to the Board of Auditors. The staff members involved were dismissed. Steps have been taken recently to limit the risks of fraud and misuse. Until 31 December 2002, only half a G-5 post at headquarters was dedicated to Medical Insurance Plan oversight; the creation of a new post in 2003 should allow for better control of Medical Insurance Plan expenditure delegated to the field. In January 2003, headquarters reminded the staff of the standards of integrity and requested all representatives to exert the utmost vigilance when screening and processing claims.

38. The Board recommends that UNHCR reinforce its controls on Medical Insurance Plan expenditure.

4. Payable and receivable accounts

United Nations Office at Geneva/Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees

39. Up to 2002, advances made by the United Nations Office at Geneva (UNOG, which processes UNHCR payroll) to UNHCR staff members were not recorded at all in UNHCR books. At the request of the Board, UNHCR in 2002 accounted for all advances and liabilities reflected in the UNOG General Ledger. As a result, $9.5 million were booked as receivable and $5.1 million as payable in the 2002 financial statements. Note 2 (o) explains this change (“in the UNHCR financial statements as at 31 December 2002, the balance due to UNOG matches with the amount due by UNHCR in the UNOG accounts as at 31 December 2002”). In the payable, the Board found that (a) $394,434 were not justified any more (repatriation grants not claimed within the statutory time limits); (b) $424,104 and $267,779 have remained unchanged for more than five years and two years, respectively.

40. The Board is pleased to note that for the first time UNHCR financial statements include payables and receivables related to payroll processed by the United Nations Office at Geneva, and recommends that UNHCR monitor closely the related balances in order to clear long-outstanding amounts.

Tax receivables

41. Some 144 Member States where UNHCR has offices are parties to the Convention on the Privileges and Immunities of the United Nations of 13 February 1946, and therefore have an obligation to reimburse or to exempt UNHCR of taxes such as value-added tax (VAT) payments. However, as at 31 December 2002, VAT receivables ($1.15 million) were recorded in only 56 field offices (out of 280) located in 45 countries. Over the past three years, the Office of Internal Oversight Services has observed recurrently that substantial refunds of VAT due by Governments were recorded but not recovered or were not even recorded as receivables; in other cases, there were no arrangements concluded with the host Governments nor refunds procedure in place. Such situations are complex, and result from a mix of cumbersome tax recovery and exemption procedures. On 28 January 2003, the UNHCR Controller requested all field offices located in Member States parties to the Convention to report by the end of February 2003 on (a) the local practice on tax exemption or recovery, (b) difficulties in the recovery process, and (c) the recovery approach followed by the other United Nations agencies in the same country. By the same memorandum, offices were instructed to record VAT in receivable accounts.

42. The Board welcomes the first steps taken for addressing the long-standing issue of VAT, and encourages UNHCR to actively pursue reimbursement or exemption of VAT with the other United Nations entities facing similar problems.

5. Non-expendable property

43. In accordance with section A, paragraph 7, of General Assembly resolution 51/225 of 3 April 1997, it is to be noted that one recommendation made prior to 2001 about inventory has not yet been fully implemented. Since 1996, the Board has recurrently recommended that UNHCR ensure complete and accurate disclosure of non-expendable property, and conduct physical stock checks on a regular basis. As at 31 December 2002, the value of non-expendable property disclosed in note 11 to the financial statements (acquisition value of $289 million) had increased by 19 per cent in one year ($243 million as at 31 December 2001). However, it was still significantly understated, by approximately $70 million (25 per cent) according to UNHCR estimates, due to errors in data entry and non-recording of assets. A physical inventory of headquarters assets was started in 1999 but never completed; a new one was made in 2002, but its final report was still outstanding as at June 2003. UNHCR had been committed to reducing the default values in its asset management system to a minimum by the end of 2002. UNHCR has stated that delays were encountered in promulgating new procedures and in setting up a new version of the database system, and it expects to achieve the above objective in 2003.

44. While acknowledging progress made in 2002, the Board strongly reiterates its recommendation that UNHCR: (a) reduce without further delay the default values in its asset management system; and (b) provide an accurate disclosure of non-expendable property.

6. Write-off of losses of cash, receivables and property

45. UNHCR wrote off $1,816,433 in cash and accounts receivable, in accordance with United Nations financial regulation 10.4. With regard to non-expendable property and other categories of losses, the amount of $789,683 was written off:

Write-off of losses of property

Reason for loss	United States dollars
Accident	48 597
Damage	3 315
Hijack	10 112
Looted	601 167
Loss of property	27 427
Theft	86 943
Wear and tear	12 122
Total	789 683

46. Previous recommendations have been fully implemented and this area calls for no further comment.

7. Ex gratia payments

47. UNHCR reported no ex gratia payment for year 2002.

C. Management issues

1. Cash management

48. The Board recommended in paragraph 78 of its previous report that UNHCR manage exchange rate risks by adopting a more proactive stance. UNHCR “has held discussions with banks on products for hedging exchange risks, at a reasonable cost, when transaction dates are not predictable. New products have been developed and two banks have offered to run a simulation based on UNHCR transaction data. This was to allow assessing the appropriateness for UNHCR of those products (June 2003). The actual downside risk exposure was limited in 2002”.

49. The Board notes that its recommendation is under implementation and will follow up.

2. Delegation of financial authority and financial management capacity

50. Since 1998, field expenditures are controlled by the Department of Operations, both at headquarters and in the field. Delegation of financial authority from the UNHCR Controller was given to the Department of Operations with the “responsibility of supervising officers of the representatives to ensure that the latter fulfil their obligations in respect of financial management and in particular account processing”.

51. The decision to delegate financial authority was based on an assumption — which UNHCR acknowledges “has still to be realized” — that there would be updated financial systems available to Bureaux and Office personnel to whom the financial responsibility was delegated. Only in November 2002 did UNHCR begin the implementation process for new finance and supply chain systems, which are expected to be rolled out to the field in 2005. Issues outlined as problems with field responsiveness, such as those related to difficulties in accounting for unliquidated obligations, would be addressed by these new systems.

52. Spreading financial accountability between the Department of Operations and the Finance Division has increased coordination difficulties, due to the duplication of financial monitoring functions in both divisions. It has also resulted in some loss of financial control on field financial operations: for instance, as indicated above, the UNHCR Controller on 28 January 2003 requested all field offices to report on VAT by the end of February 2003. However, as at 21 March 2003, only 21 of the 280 field offices had reported accordingly.

53. In its previous report, the Board pointed out weaknesses in the control operated on the implementing partners in the field by programme officers, who report to the Department of Operations; the Board found that there was little assurance that subproject monitoring reports were properly reviewed. From its sample, it appeared that 30 per cent ($14.6 million) either had not been properly signed by the authorized staff or the two officers required by regulations (UNHCR Manual), or the figures had been altered and crossed out. The Board also identified numerous issues faced by programme officers in exercising their new financial responsibility for monitoring the implementing partners.³ The review of the field receivable in 2002 has also shown a lack of follow-up on entries which are posted in the receivable accounts for months or years without any receipt despite reminders from headquarters.

54. In addition to the difficulties in field responsiveness on financial issues, the Board has thus noted issues of quality and consistency in field financial work. UNHCR acknowledges these issues, and comments that,

“aside from the delay in implementing new systems, several other factors contribute to this situation:

“54.1. The initial financial training was done for field staff, but was not sustained over time. This is a key issue, since UNHCR staff rotation policies result in regular movement of management personnel in offices, so that a cadre of financial staff is not assured.

“54.2. Budget reductions have led to merging of functions, so that one person is often responsible for several functional areas. This makes it difficult to have all skills necessary to produce the level of quality needed in financial review.

“54.3. Increasingly, financial functions are performed by national local staff, who often require training, orientation and guidance which is not necessarily available locally”.

55. UNHCR has agreed that a review of the above issues would be useful, and “will look for ways to strengthen corporate financial control within available resources, such as improved networking between headquarters and field finance officers, and enhanced coordination between oversight units”.

56. This issue also raises staffing questions. Within the Division of Financial and Supply Management, headed by the Controller, the Finance Section lost 50 per cent of its posts between 1997 and 2002 (from 34 to 17 posts). As the workload has not been reduced beyond the above-mentioned delegation of authority (the level of financial transactions remains the same), the headquarters finance staff appears to be critically overloaded. The Board notes with concern that the staffing situation has led UNHCR to discontinue essential tasks such as reducing training of field finance staff and completely discontinuing field-monitoring assignments. Project control has been left aside; this is illustrated by the backlog of some 7,000 subprojects, implemented between 1994 and 2001 but not yet closed in February 2003 in the Financial and Management Information System, while closing projects is a compulsory requirement in terms of financial controls.

57. Furthermore, the post of Finance Director, the sole D-1 post of the Division of Supply and Management, vacant in 2001, was abolished in 2002. As a result, work has been significantly reduced in the area of financial analysis, planning, coordination and establishment of proactive financial policies and systems. This weakening of the financial management capacity is compounded by the inadequacy of the information systems, in particular the inability to capture actual expenditure data in the field.

58. The Board recommends that UNHCR take steps: (a) to improve accountability and financial controls on field operations; and (b) to review the finance staffing, based on workload indicators and on benchmarking with comparable United Nations entities.

3. Control of implementing partners' expenditure

59. The UNHCR policy is to entrust implementation of operational projects to implementing partners, in line with its statute (article 10), which stipulates that “the High Commissioner shall administer any funds, public or private, which he receives for assistance to refugees, and shall distribute them among the private and, as appropriate, public agencies which he deems best qualified to administer such assistance”. The UNHCR Manual specifies that direct implementation by UNHCR occurs only under “exceptional circumstances” listed in the Manual (no viable implementing partners in the country, specific request of the host Government, initial stage of an operation, when security requires the direct operational involvement of UNHCR). However, in 2002, direct implementation of projects by UNHCR reached 45 per cent of operational expenditure ($238.5 million out of $533.3 million); the proportion was 34 per cent in 2001 and 30 per cent in 2000. This trend has not been assessed by UNHCR.

60. The Board recommends that UNHCR assess whether the decreasing share of implementing partners in operational projects expenditure is in line with its statute.

61. The Board places a high degree of reliance on the internal audit, entrusted to the Office of Internal Oversight Services. It reviewed the reports of the Office of Internal Oversight Services on implementing partners completed in 2002, which covered 107 implementing partners with expenditure amounting to $84 million. The Office of Internal Oversight Services indicates whether a reasonable assurance of proper use of funds entrusted to implementing partners can be obtained, and whether the implementing partner accounting system and internal controls are satisfactory. The Office of Internal Oversight Services did not obtain reasonable assurance for $32 million (38 per cent of expenditure reviewed); the accounting systems were not satisfactory for $19 million (22.6 per cent), and the internal controls were inadequate for $30 million (35.7 per cent). This pattern was confirmed during field visits carried out by the Board.

62. Paragraph 10 of the statute mentions that the High Commissioner has to select “the best qualified” implementing partners. The above findings lead to the question of whether partners for which recurrent deficiencies in reporting the proper use of funds can be considered as “best qualified”.

63. The Board notes again with concern the high level of deficiencies among implementing partners, and recommends that UNHCR continue to reassess the qualifications of those implementing partners whose accounting systems and internal controls are not adequate.

64. The Board had recommended in its previous report that UNHCR obtain audit certificates covering the financial reports submitted by the international NGOs and governmental partners; monitor corrective action taken by Field Offices in case of audit certificates with qualification or major findings and document the follow-up; consider the establishment of a comprehensive database on local audit resources history and results to facilitate audit monitoring and risk assessment.⁴

65. UNHCR has informed the Board that “in March 2003 the UNHCR Oversight Committee endorsed the recommendations made in the study of the Internal Audit

⁴ Ibid., paras. 63 and 73.

Service, OIOS, related to audit certificates of implementing partners. UNHCR is currently preparing a work plan to ensure that the recommendations of the study will be implemented for the 2004 projects. UNHCR will keep the Board duly informed on the developments”.

66. The Board welcomes the endorsement of the Office of Internal Oversight Services recommendations, and will follow up on actions taken for 2004 projects. It notes with concern, however, that as at 31 January 2003 audit certificates received by UNHCR for projects implemented in 2001 covered only 47.5 per cent of the 2001 expenditure.

67. Funds transferred to implementing partners ($294.8 million in 2002) are directly recorded as expenditure in the financial statements. They are monitored through a project ledger account which is cleared once the use of funds has been justified by the partner through quarterly subproject monitoring reports. As final subproject monitoring reports for the 2002 projects were to be submitted by the end of February 2003, UNHCR initially recorded as at 31 December 2002 a substantial amount of expenditure not yet justified ($90.6 million). However, upon receipt of subproject monitoring reports during the first five months of 2003, this amount was reduced to $14.2 million as at 11 June 2003 (1.5 per cent of the 2002 expenditure). Of these, $5.7 million corresponded to projects with a liquidation deadline of 30 April 2003 and $0.7 million to projects with a liquidation deadline of 31 May 2003 and beyond. By comparison with previous years, payments made to implementing partners in 2001 not yet justified as at 21 June 2002 (10 days later than in 2003) amounted to $7.5 million (0.96 per cent), and the year before, to $43.5 million (5.5 per cent). Regarding previous years, the Board is pleased to note that the payments made to implementing partners in the period 1994-2000 but not yet justified by subproject monitoring reports have been reduced from $10.5 million as at 31 December 2001 to $1.3 million as at 31 December 2002.

68. The Board notes that, as at 11 June 2003, UNHCR's implementing partners had not yet justified $14.2 million reported as expenditure in the financial statements, and encourages UNHCR to continue its efforts to obtain and verify in a timely manner all implementing partners' subproject monitoring reports.

4. Human resources management

4.1. Staffing table and actual workforce

Staff versus posts

69. A UNHCR post relates to a function required for 12 months or longer. All posts, including the two funded directly from the United Nations regular budget (the High Commissioner and his deputy) and 218 covered by a grant received from the United Nations regular budget, are to be included in the “staffing table”, which should represent the authorized staffing level of the organization. As shown in table 5 below, during the five-year period covered by the Board review (1998-2002), the number of staff members has constantly exceeded the number of staff posts. The gap varied from 104 in 2000 to 952 in 2002 (20 per cent more than the 2002 allotted posts).

70. The table also shows an opposite variation between staff and posts during the period: from 1998 to 2002, and particularly during that last year, the actual number of staff members increased by 5.8 per cent while the number of posts decreased by 7.9 per cent.

^a Including staff funded under temporary assistance.

71. The budget submitted for approval to the Governing Body (the Executive Committee) gives the number of posts and mentions the volume of temporary assistance budget (which funds staff not linked to a post) under “other staff costs”. For 2002, the stated amount was budgeted in the annual budget at $14.7 million while expenditure was eventually $42 million due to staff engaged under the supplementary budget under temporary assistance allocations for Afghanistan. Given the gap between staff members and posts, this data does not provide sufficient information on the actual workforce.

72. The budget and the above table do not include 1,099 employees paid through implementing partners, as discussed below. These “project staff” members bring the total of column 1 to 6,604 employees under the responsibility of UNHCR, United Nations Volunteers not included.

Staff members funded from temporary assistance budget

73. As stated above, staff members who are not charged against a post are funded from temporary assistance budgets, while they are included in the figure of 5,505 for 2002 in table 5 above. Table 6 below indicates an almost threefold increase for staff funded from temporary assistance over the past five years.⁵ It also shows that 225 staff members holding an “indefinite” appointment were funded from “temporary” assistance in 2002.

⁵ The number of actual staff members funded from temporary assistance lines is not equal to the difference between staff and posts since at any time there are vacant posts.

2002	225	1 039	1 264
Percentage increase 1998-2002	213%	156%	164%

74. Similarly, temporary assistance expenditure increased from $11 million in 1998 to $42 million in 2002, principally due to some 700 recruitments for Afghanistan. UNHCR stated that new measures would be introduced in 2003 to improve transparency and monitoring of the temporary assistance staff: reports on the numbers and duration of fixed-term appointments; and disclosure of temporary assistance positions in all sites.

75. The Board recommends that UNHCR tighten its control on the number of staff funded from temporary assistance, with a view to reducing the gap between posts and staff.

4.2. "Project staff"

76. UNHCR designates as "project staff" those individuals employed nominally by other organizations but who in fact work under direct UNHCR management in administrative positions such as protection assistants, administrative, information technology or logistics assistants and clerks, radio operators, drivers, guards, etc., with functions generally equivalent to those of staff at the General Service and National Officer level.

77. Further to Office of Internal Oversight Services recommendations, UNHCR issued instructions in 2001 aimed at phasing out all project staff arrangements by the end of 2004: core functions are to be entrusted to UNHCR staff members, and non-core functions to be outsourced to implementing partners or commercial providers. Out of the 1,099 project staff registered at the end of 2001, 264 are to be regularized against posts, 319 to be employed under "other arrangements" (individual contractor contracts, service company contracts, transfer to UNOPS/UNDP/UNV) and 516 to be discontinued. In April 2003, 120 employees were regularized on posts; information on other arrangements and discontinuation was not available. UNHCR was to review in June 2003 whether the target of discontinuing such positions by the end of 2004 is likely to be achieved.

78. Over the years, field offices have recurrently increased their personnel with "project staff". Two channels are used. A first channel is the setting-up and use of local legally incorporated bodies, created and entirely funded, directed and managed by UNHCR. Such entities have acted as de facto subsidiaries of UNHCR. For example, the Office of Internal Oversight Services noted in 2001 that in one country, a Foundation in Support of Refugee Assistance Programme had been created by the Regional Office in 1985 “simply as a mechanism to augment staffing levels when the office perceived the need for extra staff without going through the official channels”. Seven staff members were engaged by UNHCR through it, until it was closed in January 2003. A similar entity is to be closed in another country at the end of 2003.

79. The second pattern is the use of an existing body (usually a local or international non-governmental organization) to similarly employ individuals who are in fact placed under the supervision of UNHCR. The UNHCR Inspector General’s Office and the Office of Internal Oversight Services reviewed this project staff issue in 1997 and 2001, respectively. According to their reports, the number of project personnel increased from some 500 in 1997 (Inspector General’s Office estimates) to 1,099 at the end of 2001 (as reported by UNHCR at the request of the Office of Internal Oversight Services).

80. The main argument put forward in favour of the “project staff” formula is its flexibility: but, especially in emergency situations, UNHCR already has the option of regular fixed-term appointments of up to one year. Cost-wise, the Office of Internal Oversight Services found that the savings from project staff arrangements could not really be demonstrated (salaries are broadly the same as for regular staff). In short, as stated by the Inspector General’s Office, the prime reason for resorting to such arrangements is the ability to recruit outside the staffing table. But in terms of drawbacks, project staff arrangements have negative consequences as regards principle, status, legality and morale. As a consequence of their status, project personnel do not have the same security and are not always considered under evacuation procedures. They cannot participate in the United Nations Joint Staff Pension Fund.

81. Consequently, the use of project staff distorts the accuracy of amounts reported as programme expenditure in the financial statements: the Office of Internal Oversight Services estimated the cost of the some 940 project staff members at $5.5 million in 2000.

82. The Board commends UNHCR for addressing the long-outstanding issue of “project staff”, and recommends that it complete their phasing out as scheduled, while ensuring through close monitoring that no such irregular arrangements are again developed.

4.3. United Nations Volunteers

83. The United Nations Volunteers (UNV) programme, administered by UNDP, supports human development globally by promoting voluntary work and by mobilizing volunteers. In 2002, the Office of Internal Oversight Services found that UNHCR did not have an overview on the UNVs actually employed in country operations, and recommended that it set a clear policy. The Office of Internal Oversight Services estimated that in 2001 there were over 400 UNVs working for UNHCR, at an annual cost of some $7.3 million; it also observed that UNVs performed core functions such as protection, while others managed the administrative and financial sections in field offices, often with little or no training. UNHCR plans to review this situation in 2003.

84. The Board recommends that UNHCR implement the Office of Internal Oversight Services recommendation to develop a clear policy on the status and role of United Nations Volunteers and on the functions, responsibilities and authority that can be delegated to them.

85. The Board concludes that while the official staffing table included 4,553 posts as of 1 July 2002, the staff roster was actually over 6,600 (5,505 staff members as at 1 July 2002, 1,099 “project staff” computed as at 1 January 2002), and some of the 400 United Nations Volunteers were in addition tasked with core, permanent duties. In view of the budget shortfall of $50 million mentioned earlier and of diminishing reserves, this staffing extension is a matter of great concern.

86. Following up on the above findings of the Board, UNHCR indicated in April 2003 that (a) actions were being taken to restore control of staffing tables; (b) comprehensive information on posts and staff would soon be available through a new “post management model”, and added to the financial and budgetary documents.

87. The Board commends UNHCR for initiating action and recommends that, beyond restoring full control of the staffing table in all respects, UNHCR disclose comprehensive staff statistics in its yearly budget document and financial report.

4.4. Post and staff structure

88. As regards the post structure, during the 1998-2002 period, the percentage of the highest-level Professional posts (P-4 and above) has substantially increased, from 49 per cent (605 posts out of 1,236 Professional posts) to 56 per cent (643 out of 1,153 posts).

89. As regards the actual staff structure, UNHCR has to face a qualitative mismatch of staff with posts at the duty station and grade levels. During the 1998-2002 period, in H duty stations (headquarters, Canada, European Union, and United States of America) the number of Professional staff members has constantly exceeded the number of posts. Conversely, in the field, it has constantly been under the number of posts, except in 2002 where staff were posted without creation of posts in the Afghanistan operation. The number of staff members at the P-1 and P-2 levels (235 in 1998 and 153 in 2002) has constantly exceeded the number of P-1 and P-2 posts (85 posts in 1998 and 40 in 2002). This is also the case for staff at the P-3 level in 2002 (509 staff and 470 posts). UNHCR underlines that the rank-in-post promotion policy where promotion is granted after one year, creating temporary imbalances between the grade of the post and the grade of the staff member, should be taken into account (see below, sect. 4.5 on the promotion policy).

90. In conclusion, there are substantial discrepancies between staff members and posts, both quantitative and qualitative. The discrepancies contribute to the “staff-in-between-assignments” (SIBA) phenomenon analysed later in the report. UNHCR planned to review its post and staffing structure by July 2003 and to develop an analytical framework to assess whether the structure adequately meets its operational needs.

91. The Board recommends that UNHCR use its ongoing review of the post and staffing structure to redeploy posts and staff in accordance with its operational needs.

92. There is also a mismatch between staff profile and the organizational needs. UNHCR has identified issues such as shortfalls in Arabic-speaking women and in French-speaking protection officers. An internal human resources review concluded in 2002 that "UNHCR needs to be able to adjust the size and profile of its workforce to fit changing operational needs. These adjustments are achieved through various retention, attrition, recruitment and separation processes. However, each of these areas has major problems in policy and practice". These problems expose UNHCR to the risk of being less efficient at a time of decreasing resources.

93. As underlined by the same human resources review, "UNHCR has no institutionalized means to ensure that staff whose skills no longer match the requirements of the organization, or who are no longer performing to the standards necessary, are separated. Although theoretically it is possible to terminate a contract for non-performance under current procedures, this process is never invoked, often because poor performance is not adequately documented", as discussed later.

94. The Board takes note that UNHCR has planned a global staff profiling exercise with a view to providing an accurate picture of the skills and experience of the staff members.

4.5. Contracts, postings and promotions

95. Prior to 2000, there were six types of appointments, under the three series of the United Nations Staff Rules (100, 200 and 300). UNHCR stated that the 200 and 300 series staff (technical assistance project staff, and short-term staff) represented, until the 1980s, the "accordion principle" of temporary operational requirements, which could increase or decrease depending on circumstances. The former High Commissioner decided that from 1 January 2000, all staff members should be appointed under series 100, with indefinite appointments or, when recruited for less than a year, with fixed-term appointments. Table 7 below shows that by the end of 2002 all but two staff members were under series 100 with indefinite or fixed-term appointments. Indefinite appointments jumped from 16 per cent of the total in 1998 to 74 per cent in 2002.

Table 7

As at 1 July	1998	1999	2000	2001	2002

Series 300	732	772	3	1	2
Total	5 202	4 921	5 126	5 189	5 505

96. In 2000, UNHCR also introduced in all indefinite appointment letters a "special clause" which equates de facto the UNHCR "indefinite" appointment to United Nations "permanent" appointments, in all aspects except for the amount of termination indemnities paid: under UNHCR indefinite appointments, the period of notice of separation (or salary in lieu thereof⁶) is three months (as with the United Nations permanent appointment) versus the United Nations one month for an indefinite appointment. The termination can be decided if it is “in the interest of the Organization” and “provided that the action is not contested by the staff member concerned” (as with the United Nations permanent appointment), while only the first condition (“in the interest of the Organization”) is required in case of indefinite appointments.

97. In 1958, the Office of Legal Affairs of the Secretariat noted that the UNHCR “special clause” would imply that United Nations staff rule 104.12 (c) on indefinite appointments should be amended, to introduce the above specifications. This was done, but only for the period between 1959 and 1966. In a 5 February 2003 memorandum, the Office of Legal Affairs estimated that the “special clause” is still not valid, inasmuch as it is inserted in the contract upon recruitment, without a prior period of service with UNHCR. The Office of Legal Affairs notes that it limits the authority of UNHCR to terminate appointments of staff members who have not fully proven their suitability for international civil service. Because of this issue, the indefinite appointments are not compliant with the United Nations permanent appointments, which are granted only after five years of service under fixed-term appointments.

98. The massive recourse to de facto permanent contracts, i.e., “indefinite appointments” increased from 833 in 1998 to 4,391 in 2001, has been made in view of human resources management and operational goals, but without a risk analysis from a legal and financial standpoint while it has financial and managerial consequences. The Board notes that the trend was reversed in 2002, with a decrease to 4,050.

99. The Board notes that it has become increasingly difficult to separate staff despite successive “separation packages” providing incentives for voluntary separation: prior to the introduction of the new contract policy, in 1998 and 1999 there were respectively 71 and 56 Professional staff separated; in 2000 and 2001, these numbers decreased to 28 and 30, respectively. The “indefinite” commitment may furthermore be inconsistent with the risks entailed by the voluntary funding of the organization, as illustrated by a recent fall in such resources.⁷ Yet another consideration is that the potential liabilities in termination indemnities for indefinite appointments are not covered by corresponding assets in the hypothesis of a liquidation of UNHCR, which has a time-limited mandate: article 5 of the UNHCR statute states that the General Assembly decides every five sessions to continue UNHCR for a period of five years.

100. On 31 October 2002 the High Commissioner ordered a freeze on indefinite appointments, pending a reassessment of UNHCR existing policy of granting indefinite contracts.

101. The Board recommends that UNHCR: (a) take into account in the review of its overall contract policy the financial risks which the “special clause” involve, and (b) consider the most cost-efficient ways of meeting changing operational needs in times of decreasing resources.

⁶ Staff rule 109.3 (c): “In lieu of the notice period, the Secretary-General may authorize compensation equivalent to salary, applicable post adjustment and allowances corresponding to the relevant notice period, at the rate in effect on the last day of service.” UNHCR systematically applies this staff rule, a practice which leads to higher costs.

⁷ Income decreased from $927 million in 1999 to $775 million in 2001.

102. In January 2002, UNHCR implemented a “fast track model” for the Afghan operations: entitlements of staff are similar to those for established posts, but all staff are being funded from temporary assistance lines, with significant incentives to widen the pool of applicants, such as recognition when service is at a higher level than staff grade, and installation and removal grants. It has served its purpose, with a relatively quick deployment of staff: out of 61 “posts” advertised in January 2002, 43 were filled by the end of May 2002 and 11 between June and September 2002. In 2003, UNHCR is in the process of generalizing the fast track approach to posting staff to new large-scale operations. This may lead to a costly shift of approach. UNHCR considers that the fast track model reduces staff costs, but it could not provide figures on savings; it plans to conduct a lessons-learned assessment of the fast track model in 2003, at which time the financial implications of the model are to be addressed.

103. The utilization of temporary assistance funds rather than posts for the duration of a supplementary programme obfuscates post control. The incentives linked to the fast track model may later be detrimental to normal hardship duty stations.

104. The Board recommends that UNHCR, when carrying out its planned assessment: (a) make a comparative study of benefits and incentives with other United Nations organizations having staff in similar locations; and (b) fully assess the costs related to the fast track model.

4.6. Rotation policy

105. The rotation policy involves international Professional staff members holding an indefinite appointment (1,179 as at 1 July 2002). No general instruction establishes it: the written basis is found in every individual assignment, which includes specifications on a standard assignment length. At the end of a given standard assignment length (from two years for D and E duty stations to four years for H and A stations), the incumbent is expected to move to a new duty station. This is of paramount importance to achieve goals in terms of staff field experience, and therefore of cost-effectiveness of staff expenditures. It also has the objective of “sharing the burden”, avoiding staff burnout in the most difficult duty stations.

106. The rotation cost was roughly estimated by management in 2001 at some $28.5 million per year, for a Professional workforce of some 1,200 staff, a third of which expected on average to rotate in any given year.

107. The policy combines a standard assignment length for posts and a voluntary choice of the next post by the staff member, without sanctions for those who refuse to rotate. The voluntary choice principle applies both to applications and to acceptance of posts. Staff members are “encouraged” to make at least three applications for vacant posts for which they qualify. Those serving in categories H, A and B duty stations are “expected” to apply for vacancies in hardship duty stations (guidelines issued on 21 December 1999). As staff members expect to be provided with employment while reserving the right to exclude themselves from jobs for which they are qualified and needed, the policy is in itself a cause of the “staff-in-between-assignment” phenomenon analysed below.

108. Exceptions to the policy take different forms (staff with personal constraints, medical constraints, or staff on “specialist” posts, whose number has increased from 101 in 1998 to 120 in 2002), not all of them being documented. The human resources review stated in 2001 that: “there is a common perception that the specialist classification is used inconsistently to suit the incumbent and/or to waive the rotation requirement”. However, UNHCR cannot determine the number of exceptions or the number of unjustified exceptions, lacking proper statistics. In this context, the Board has documented 27 cases of staff members at headquarters who, even when their functions would have required field experience, have never rotated since their recruitment — in the 1970s or 1980s for the most part. Almost all exceptions to rotation concern staff posted at headquarters. As a result, most posts in comfortable duty stations are filled, leaving vacancies in difficult duty stations. Exceptions to the policy, combined with the lack of publicity of the decisions, deprive rotation of necessary transparency and create a feeling of inequity.

109. To address the above-mentioned issues, a working group on rotation was established at the beginning of 2001, supported by a full-time project team. The outcome was a report issued in October 2001. No action was taken. The Joint Advisory Committee was to make recommendations to the High Commissioner in May 2003.

110. The Board recommends that UNHCR: (a) further limit exceptions to the rotation policy; and (b) benchmark on rotation policies with other United Nations organizations.

4.7. “Staff-in-between-assignment”

111. The “staff-in-between-assignment” (SIBA) designates staff members without assignment after expiration of their standard assignment length, but on special leave with full pay. At the end of December 2002, they numbered 113 Professional (9 per cent of the Professional staff) and 16 General Service staff members. Time spent without being assigned can be of several months (in 2002, 93 per cent of SIBA spent nine months unplaced on average before reassignment). Overall, the duration in which Professional staff has been without assignment represented 350 person-years from 1998 to 2002, at a cost of several million dollars a year.

112. An instruction issued on 16 September 2002 compels staff members on full pay status to undertake temporary assignments for which they are qualified, and requires that SIBA refusals of posts or temporary missions be documented. Most “SIBA” members carry out temporary missions. However, UNHCR does not compute comprehensive statistics on time spent on such missions and conversely on time spent without assignment for UNHCR. From a sample, the Board estimated that roughly 85 per cent of SIBA time was devoted to temporary assignments. UNHCR stated in April 2003 that it would shortly be able to record information related to the time spent by SIBA on temporary assignments.

113. However, the issue of what to do in case of refusal has not yet been addressed. A minority of SIBA staff are not tasked with any assignment at all for UNHCR, some of them for an extended period: as of 1 October 2002, three D-1 and one P-5 staff members had not worked at all for UNHCR for respectively, 15, 30, 43 and 44 months while being on special leave with full pay for the entire period. UNHCR recognizes that none of these staff members could avail themselves of special constraints or medical reasons. As acknowledged by UNHCR, “the Organization can no longer afford the luxury of paying people to stay at home or of continuing to keep poor performers on the payroll” — and should never have. In December 2002, the High Commissioner announced to the Executive Committee and to all staff that staff members on special leave with full pay for 12 months or more would be separated. By April 2003, one of the four long-standing SIBA had accepted an agreed termination, while the process of separation of the other three staff members was activated but put on hold for legal considerations in the light of policy proposals, including on separation, before the Joint Advisory Committee.

114. To address the above-mentioned issues, a SIBA Support team was established in September 2001 with three SIBA, and then absorbed in May 2002 by the Recruitment and Posting Section. Another part-time working group was put in place in September 2002. However, the “systemic roots” of the SIBA identified by UNHCR, particularly the impact of retrenchment (more people than posts) and the absence of a profiling strategy, have yet to be addressed.

115. The Board recommends that UNHCR: (a) review its staff-in-between-assignment (SIBA) policy in order to provide every staff member with a full-time assignment; (b) address the issue of SIBA refusals of post or mission while being on special leave with full pay; (c) report yearly the time spent by staff members without assignment, and its full cost; and (d) implement the decision to separate staff on special leave with full pay for 12 months or more.

4.8. “Rank-in-post” policy

116. A new “rank-in-post policy” introduced on 1 January 2000 states that unless assigned to a post at a higher level, no one can be promoted. Promotion to the next higher level normally occurs when a staff member has been assigned to, and has satisfactorily performed the full functions of, a higher-level post following a probationary period of 12 to 18 months. Promotion is then retroactive to the effective date of assignment. Seniority requirements have been defined (two years for P-1 to P-2, three years for P-2 to P-3, four years for P-3 to P-4 and five years for P-4 to P-5 or P-5 to D-1). To encourage rotation to hardship duty stations, the seniority-in-grade requirement for applying for a post in a D or E duty station is reduced by one year.

117. In the new system, “the number of promotion possibilities available corresponds to the number of higher level posts available” (inter-office memorandum 65/99). Indeed, the rotation policy results in making posts at all levels regularly available, and the same posts every two to four years; staff will normally apply (and be appointed) to posts of the same or higher level. As at 17 September 2002, 208 promotions were being processed out of some 1,200 staff from P-1 to P-5. So, the combination of the rank-in-post model and rotation policy has fostered an increase at the level of P-4 and above.

As at 1 July 2001	116	485	376	151	71
As at 1 July 2002	141	509	385	157	66

118. In addition, while the number of higher-level posts available should be set in consideration of the needs of the organization as a whole, there has been no normative study of the staff distribution by grade. Staff members are promoted without reference to the overall needs. The new promotion policy also has developed a tendency among staff to apply only to higher-level positions. This has had a negative impact on the posting process and has resulted in a number of posts (especially at the P-3 level) remaining unfilled because of lack of candidates.

119. Further to its review, the Board recommended at the end of 2002 to UNHCR to: (a) review the effectiveness of the rank-in-post policy; (b) undertake a normative, needs-based study of staff distribution by grade; (c) update its promotion policy in line with the results of such a study. In January 2003, the High Commissioner suspended promotions based on the rank-in-post policy for all appointments after 1 January 2003, and decided to review the policy. Recommendations from the Joint Advisory Committee, on an alternative promotion policy, were to be made to the High Commissioner in May 2003.

120. The Board recommends that UNHCR fully take into consideration its organizational needs in its review of the “rank-in-post” policy.

4.9. Staff performance appraisal system

121. Since 2000, the staff member’s performance, recorded in the performance appraisal report, has to be measured as “fully”, “partially” or “not” demonstrated and classified into five categories (“outstanding”, “superior”, “fully effective”, “adequate” and “unsatisfactory”). UNHCR targeted a bell-curve pattern (set at 2 per cent at the bottom and at the top, 17 per cent superior, 67 per cent fully effective and 12 per cent adequate).

122. Compliance with completing the performance appraisal report appears to be slow: at the end of 2002, 30 per cent of the reports related to 2001 had yet to be established. There are no sanctions against managers failing to submit the completed reports of their subordinates, nor for staff members failing to support their application to a post with a performance appraisal report, while performance appraisal report deficiencies may impact the fairness of the posting process, and therefore create a risk as to the cost-effectiveness of staff expenditures.

123. At the same time, distribution of ratings of staff members differs quite substantially from the reference given in 2000 to managers in guidelines for ratings (a standard distribution of ratings based on the “bell curve”). Almost no staff members have been deemed “unsatisfactory” in 2000 and 2001, while the “outstanding” classification was applied to up to 10 per cent of the Professional staff (five times the target), and the “superior” classification was applied from two to three times the 17 per cent target. A survey was to be carried out in June 2003 with a view to assessing reasons for slow and low compliance.

124. The Board recommends that UNHCR survey in detail the statistics, factors, effects and solutions related to the low compliance with its instructions on performance appraisal.

4.10. Specific allowances and benefits

125. The United Nations has created specific allowances and benefits for staff posted in hardship duty stations: mobility and hardship allowances, increase of the education grant ceiling for boarding costs, special shipment entitlement, hazard duty pay, mission subsistence allowance, occupational recuperation break home leave and home leave every year instead of every two years. All these provisions are in force in UNHCR, which has furthermore upgraded the mission subsistence allowance to a special operation living allowance rate (SOLAR), the occupational recuperation break to the mental health travel scheme and created a specific housing maintenance element (HOME).

126. The transformation or creation of allowances has exceeded the delegation of authority granted to the High Commissioner in 1951 and 1980. The 1951 letter to the High Commissioner from the Assistant Secretary-General for Administrative and Financial Services stated that: "The various allowances and benefits provided under United Nations staff rules will be applied on the same basis as for the United Nations staff stationed in Geneva" and "allowances and benefits at your Branch offices will be regulated according to the United Nations financial and staff rules applicable to their respective locations". The 24 December 1980 letter stated that matters not delegated to the High Commissioner included staff rule 103.21 on "salary and allowances during mission assignments".

127. The Board recommends that UNHCR review the legal basis of its specific allowances, with a view to ensuring compliance with the United Nations Staff Rules and Regulations and with the High Commissioner's delegation of authority.

128. Amounts of payment to staff of specific allowances (special operational living allowance rate, HOME) cannot be ascertained since they are accounted for together with other allowances (daily subsistence allowance in the case of SOLAR, rental subsidy in the case of housing maintenance element), until the introduction of the new information system, scheduled for 2004.

129. The Board recommends that UNHCR revise its accounting procedures to report what is paid for a given period in respect of each entitlement and each staff member.

130. The HOME allowance's purpose is to cover the cost of maintaining two households for reasons related to dependant health or children's primary or secondary education, irrespective of the duty station of the staff member. UNHCR considers it as an incentive for rotation. This is an entitlement for any staff member who considers that spouse and children have to live out of the country of assignment. Monthly amounts paid so far have varied between $128 and $2,400. Little or no proof of entitlement is required. The Board found questionable cases: payments were made to three staff members in the field with ad hoc DSA. The ad hoc DSA is established for staff members residing in a given hotel and exceeds the room rate according to the information provided. Under those circumstances, there is no rationale for a HOME entitlement. At headquarters, HOME was paid to a staff member who was legally separated and whose spouse had custody of the children (in the country of origin) and to a staff member who had forgotten to register his children for the following year. The Board notes that following its audit UNHCR was to review this matter by July 2003.

131. SOLAR has replaced the United Nations mission subsistence allowance. It is paid to staff posted in special operations areas (SOA) as determined by UNHCR. As at October 2002, the monthly SOLAR paid to staff members varied between $2,139 and $4,140. The Board noted that there was no designated authority, procedure or fixed criteria for the determination of the allowance. The phase-out decisions (when a SOA duty station becomes a normal one) were not documented. The lack of proper documentation does not allow for easy benchmarking of SOLAR with other United Nations entities which operate a similar scheme. The Board found examples of discrepancies in SOLAR: in one country, the UNICEF rate was $3,100 in 2002 when at UNHCR it was $2,100; in another country, UNICEF paid $850 and UNHCR $3,200. The rate is computed according to the actual duty station (UNICEF) or the capital city (UNHCR), but this difference in criteria does not account for such gaps.

132. UNHCR is of the opinion that SOLAR fulfilled its goal, which was to facilitate the administration of staff in an operation by allowing full mobility within and among countries and has advantages over the United Nations MSA concept, both monetarily and administratively. UNHCR plans consultations with other United Nations entities in order to align its approach with them, particularly when introducing or discontinuing SOLAR, operational requirements permitting. It was to assess by July 2003 whether savings could be made, taking into account the difficulty in filling posts in hardship locations, through a decrease in the SOLAR rates applied for field locations by establishing them on the basis of the “elsewhere DSA” rate rather than the capital city rate.

133. The Board recommends that UNHCR: (a) establish formal procedures and, if need be, delegations of authority in respect of determination of SOA and SOLAR; and (b) document and keep on file all elements concerning determination of SOA and related SOLAR.

5. Staff training

134. The staff training budget had been set for 2002 at $4,879,100, but expenditures were eventually limited to $2,888,189 — a 41 per cent budget cut. The 2003 budget has been set at $3,719,300, a decrease of 23 per cent compared to the 2002 initial budget and of 33 per cent compared to the 2001 budget.

135. A “Learning Policy and Guidelines” strategy was prepared in 1999. Its latest draft dates back to May 2002. It establishes principles, such as an allocation to training of 5 per cent of work time and of 2 per cent of staff costs, linkage to performance management and career planning. The document has not been endorsed by the Senior Management Committee.

136. The Board recommends that UNHCR endorse a formal strategy on “Learning Policy and Guidelines”.

137. The Staff Development Section is responsible for training of staff members, and is situated within the Career and Staff Support Service of the Division of Human Resources Management. With 10 staff positions, the Staff Development Section operates a partially decentralized network of an additional 10 to 15 full-time and 30 part-time training providers, with more than 100 occasional trainers. Another 122 training coordinators assist in the coordination of staff learning in headquarters and field offices, and spending an estimated 1 to 5 per cent of their full-time job on it.

138. UNHCR reports on staff training in its annual Global Report. The training unit records only the actual number of participants in substantive training events (3,709 participants in 2000, 3,899 in 2001, estimate of 3,900 in 2002). This means that over half of the staff members participate in training activities less than once a year. Although the Staff Development Section collects information about the gender, grade and duty station of participants, such information is not used by management. As working time spent in learning is not computed, the implementation of the target of 5 per cent included in the draft "Learning Policy and Guidelines" is therefore not monitored. Following the Board's findings, UNHCR plans to produce a narrative report showing achievements, trends and challenges, but estimates that a comprehensive recording data system would have human and financial implications and take time.

139. UNHCR allocates 20 per cent of the overall training budget to its field offices. Two financial and activity reports are required by the Staff Development Section to assist in the planning and management of the decentralized budgets, update the database and include data in individual staff members' fact sheets. Mid-year and year-end financial reporting is due on 30 July and 31 January. The activity reports are to be submitted at the same time, with the total number of participants, their breakdown by organization (UNHCR, Governments, NGOs, United Nations and others) and by gender, job title and organization; they are not consolidated by headquarters. The cut-off date for Geneva to receive the 2001 reports was 31 January 2002. Four months later, only 52 country offices, out of 125, had sent both reports. One had submitted only a narrative report, 28 only a financial report, and 44 neither. Following the Board's audit, UNHCR plans to remind field offices more frequently of the reporting deadlines, and to send follow-up requests to those offices that do not comply.

140. The Board recommends that UNHCR improve monitoring and reporting of staff training.

141. In terms of direct costs, the 2 per cent target has been implemented at the budget stage until 2002, the initial budget being constantly over $4.3 million. However, actual training expenditures compared with staff expenditures remained under the target: 1.5 per cent in 1999, 1.0 per cent in 2000, 1.8 per cent in 2001 and 1.3 per cent in 2002, as reported by UNHCR.

142. The figures reported by UNHCR give only a partial view of actual expenditures. Two staff training projects — VAR 400, on development of training, and VAR 417, on support of learning programmes — are not included, while they amount to an increasingly important share of the total (the 2002 staff training budget of $4,879,100 would have been at least 27 per cent higher). Administrative costs, such as the established posts for the management of training, and overhead expenditures are not computed either.

143. In 2001, field offices spent only 49 per cent of their total allocation. In 2002, field offices spent an even smaller part of the allocation (41 per cent) as one of the consequences of budgetary cuts.

144. The Board recommends that UNHCR: (a) improve monitoring and reporting of staff training; (b) issue a guideline on the scope of data to be included in financial figures for training; and (c) take steps to allocate more realistic amounts to field offices for training.

145. Concerning evaluation, best practices often refer to “Kirkpatrick’s schema”, with four levels: level 1 deals with the feedback on course design; level 2 is about the change in knowledge, skills and attitudes; level 3 estimates the impact on participants’ performance in their workplace; and level 4 the impact on the organization. UNHCR has so far implemented only level 1. Level 3 or 4 reviews are planned to begin in 2003.

146. Although some degree of coordination takes place with other agencies and within the “Learning Managers Network”, inter-agency benchmarking and joint training activities remain scarce, thereby limiting the opportunities for economies of scale and knowledge-sharing.

147. The Board recommends that UNHCR continue to develop (a) its training evaluation activities, with a view to optimizing the cost-effectiveness of training expenditures, and (b) inter-agency benchmarking and coordination in the field of training, with a view to increasing the opportunities for economies of scale and knowledge-sharing.

6. Payroll and human resources information systems

148. Human resources data are processed on mainframe applications launched in 1981. A 2002 internal assessment deemed the information and communications technology (ICT) human resources systems to be “inefficient, problematic and, more seriously, vulnerable to failure”. The payroll is processed by UNOG in a system launched in 1977. In 2002 all United Nations entities serviced by UNOG have migrated payroll processing to Integrated Management Information System — except UNHCR. UNOG informed UNHCR in November 2002 that it will discontinue this payroll service as from 1 January 2004. In March 2003, UNHCR was planning to replace its existing systems in cooperation with UNDP. However, it considered the January 2004 deadline for their replacement to be unfeasible and highly risky.

149. The Board recommends that UNHCR promptly develop an alternative plan for ensuring payroll processing in 2004.

7. Information systems

150. The Board had recommended in paragraph 100 of its previous report that UNHCR consult with the United Nations Secretariat and other relevant United Nations entities to ensure that in terms of cost-benefit the present diversity of information systems approaches is in the best interest of Member States and of the beneficiaries of United Nations programmes; and ascertain that there are no ready-made solutions, even at the cost of alterations in current UNHCR procedures, preferably within the United Nations system.

151. UNHCR has replied that it “agrees that the diversity of current information systems in UNHCR has become extreme and untenable, from both a maintenance perspective as well as from the strategic point of view of information management. In order to homogenize information systems within the organization as well as across agency boundaries, contact has been made with a wide range of sister agencies to cross-check the approach. It has been established that almost every agency is either implementing or considering the implementation of a leading ERP package. The product chosen by UNHCR has also been chosen by other agencies. Thus it has been confirmed that no ‘ready-made’ solutions exist, but that market leading ERP packages provide the closest possible alternative. In this model, individual solutions are configured (parametered) from a common ‘best practice’ solution base, while smaller and highly specific requirements can be programmed into the existing application infrastructure where absolutely necessary.”

152. UNHCR has been in touch with the World Intellectual Property Organization project team, which is confronting the same issue, and is in the process of completing a memorandum of understanding with UNDP as both organizations are in similar phases of development. UNHCR intends to cooperate with UNDP towards co-developing large portions of the upcoming human resources and payroll components. UNHCR plans to ensure that economies of scale are realized wherever possible in the co-implementation of a technical infrastructure to support their solutions across all functional areas.

153. From 1998 to 2002, expenditure relating to the new UNHCR information systems, renamed Management Systems Renewal Project in 2002, amounted to $14.5 million. The budget for the Project in 2003-2004 amounts to $25 million, with 31 December 2004 as a stated date for completion.

154. The Board commends UNHCR for liaising with other United Nations entities, and will follow up on this issue.

8. Cases of fraud and presumptive fraud

155. UNHCR has reported five cases of fraud and three cases of corruption in 2002. The five cases of fraud relate to three countries. In a country office, three staff members, by their own admission, submitted fraudulent Medical Insurance Plan claims. The presumed doctors, who allegedly had prescribed treatments to the three staff members, did in fact not exist. Amounts involved were estimated at $2,027 for the three staff members, who were in the process of reimbursing the amounts in question in May 2003. UNHCR submitted a recommendation for summary dismissal to the Secretary-General. In another country, a staff member fraudulently, by her own admission, submitted the candidacies of two of her adopted children under false names for resettlement to a third country. The staff member resigned when disciplinary procedure was about to be initiated against her. In the last case, a staff member claimed and received payment of DSA for the period from 1 April to 31 December 2000 by making false representations. The staff member was summarily dismissed.

156. The three reported cases of corruption were as follows: one staff member assisted a government official in fraudulently resettling the latter’s wife and children. He was summarily dismissed. In another country, a staff member was alleged to have assisted a person he knew was not a refugee to fraudulently submit a request for resettlement. He was summarily dismissed. The last case refers to a staff member alleged to have accepted/requested payments from a UNHCR Contractor, who then wrote a letter of complaint to the UNHCR representative in that country. The case was investigated by the Office with the assistance of the Inspector General's Office. The staff member was summarily dismissed in January 2003.

Chapter III

Audit opinion

We have audited the accompanying financial statements, comprising statements I to III, schedules 1 to 5, and the supporting notes to the accounts of the voluntary funds administered by the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees for the period from 1 January to 31 December 2002. These financial statements are the responsibility of the High Commissioner. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with the common auditing standards of the Panel of External Auditors of the United Nations, the specialized agencies and the International Atomic Energy Agency. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, and as considered by the auditor to be necessary in the circumstances, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by the High Commissioner, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for the audit opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position at 31 December 2002 and the results of operations and cash flows for the period then ended in accordance with the UNHCR stated accounting policies as set out in note 2 to the financial statements, which were applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding financial period.

Without qualifying our opinion above, we draw attention to our findings on the adequacy of assurance obtained by UNHCR that funds have been properly used for the purpose intended, and on the significant understatement of some $70 million in the disclosure of non-expendable property.

Further, in our opinion, the transactions of the High Commissioner, which we have tested as part of our audit, have in all significant respects been in accordance with the Financial Regulations and legislative authority.

In accordance with article XII of the Financial Regulations, we have also issued a long-form report on our audit of the financial statements of the voluntary funds administered by the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees.

Chapter IV

Statement of the High Commissioner's responsibilities and approval of the financial statements

The United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees is ultimately responsible for the content and integrity of the financial statements contained in the accounts of the voluntary funds administered by the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees which are submitted to the Executive Committee of the High Commissioner's Programme and to the General Assembly.

To fulfil its responsibility, UNHCR operates within prescribed accounting policies and standards and maintains systems of internal accounting controls and procedures to ensure the reliability of financial information and the safeguarding of assets. The internal control systems and financial records are subject to reviews by the Office of Internal Oversight Services and the United Nations Board of Auditors, during their respective audits.

In this context, the following financial statements, comprising statements I to III, schedules 1 to 5, annexes I and II, an appendix and supporting notes, were prepared in accordance with UNHCR Financial Rules (A/AC.96/503/Rev.7) and the United Nations common accounting standards. In the opinion of management, the accompanying financial statements present fairly the financial position of the Office as of 31 December 2002 and the results of its operations and its cash flows of individual programmes, funds and accounts for the year then ended.

Statement of objectives and activities of the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees

The basic mandate of UNHCR is found in the statute of the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (General Assembly resolution 428 (V)). According to the statute, the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees, acting under the authority of the General Assembly, shall assume the function of providing international protection, under the auspices of the United Nations, to refugees who fall within the scope of the present statute and of seeking permanent solutions for the problem of refugees.

The General Assembly has also called upon the High Commissioner to provide assistance to returnees, as well as to monitor their safety and well-being on return (General Assembly resolution 40/118). In addition, on the basis of specific requests from the Secretary-General or the competent principal organs of the United Nations, and with the consent of the State concerned, UNHCR provides humanitarian assistance and protection to internally displaced persons (General Assembly resolution 48/116). As regards UNHCR assistance activities, the basic provisions of the statute have been expanded by the General Assembly in its resolution 832 (IX).

Notes to the financial statements

Note 1

Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees and its activities

The Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) was established by the General Assembly in its resolution 319 A (IV) of 3 December 1949. Its statute was approved by the Assembly in resolution 428 (V) of 14 December 1950.

The overall objective of UNHCR is to provide international protection to refugees and to seek durable solutions to refugee problems. UNHCR seeks to safeguard the fundamental principles of asylum and non-refoulement and to ensure that the basic rights of refugees are respected and that they are treated in a dignified and humane manner. UNHCR has also developed, at the request of the General Assembly and the Governments concerned, substantial material assistance programmes to meet refugee needs. Subsequent resolutions of the General Assembly, the Economic and Social Council and the Executive Committee of the High Commissioner's Programme have called on the Office, in the context of its basic mandate, to assist other groups of persons regarded as falling within the competence of the High Commissioner. In complex humanitarian emergencies, UNHCR also contributes to the provision of humanitarian assistance.

The High Commissioner reports annually to the General Assembly through the Economic and Social Council. An Executive Committee of the High Commissioner's Programme was established pursuant to General Assembly resolution 1166 (XII) of 26 November 1957 to advise the High Commissioner in the exercise of his/her functions and to approve the use of voluntary funds made available to the High Commissioner. The annual cycle of meetings of the Executive Committee consists of one annual plenary session and a number of intersessional meetings of a Standing Committee of the Whole. In 2002, the Executive Committee consisted of 61 member countries. Each year the report on the session of the Executive Committee is submitted to the General Assembly as an addendum to the annual report of the High Commissioner.

The United Nations regular budget provides for 220 posts for UNHCR, which amounted to $21,020,732 in 2002. This amount includes the costs of the posts of the High Commissioner and the Deputy High Commissioner. It also includes staff costs and related costs of the remaining 218 posts under the management and administration of UNHCR.

Note 2

Summary of significant accounting policies

(a) Financial rules for voluntary funds

The UNHCR voluntary funds accounts are maintained in accordance with the Financial Rules for voluntary funds administered by the High Commissioner (A/AC.96/503/Rev.7 of 7 October 1999), approved by the Executive Committee at its fiftieth session. The financial statements and schedules also conform with the common accounting standards for the United Nations system, as noted by the General Assembly in its resolution 48/216 C of 23 December 1993 (see also A/48/530) and as subsequently revised.

The financial year for the voluntary funds administered by the High Commissioner for Refugees covers the period 1 January to 31 December.

(b) Fund accounting

The accounts of UNHCR are maintained on a fund accounting basis. Separate funds for general and special purposes are established in accordance with the Financial Rules for voluntary funds administered by the High Commissioner, hereafter referred to as the Financial Rules.

Each fund is maintained as a distinct financial and accounting entity with separate self-balancing double-entry groups of accounts. Separate financial statements are prepared for each fund or for a group of funds of the same nature.

(c) Use of estimates

Preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported in the financial statements and accompanying notes. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Estimates are used in the context of expenditure recognition, in particular, but not exclusively, at the end of the financial period to determine the amounts to be retained in respect of unliquidated obligations.

(d) Funds

The funds reported in the accounts are as follows:

(i) Working Capital and Guarantee Fund has an established ceiling of $50 million approved by the Executive Committee and is maintained by income from interest on invested funds and savings from prior years' programmes. The Fund is utilized to replenish the Annual Programme Fund and to meet essential payments for projects pending receipt of contributions pledged or anticipated.

(ii) The Annual Programme Fund covers the financial activities that are approved annually by the Executive Committee for the programmed activities for individual countries or areas and for certain costs incurred by headquarters. It also includes the operational reserve that is established at an amount equivalent to 10 per cent of the programmed activities in the annual programme budget.

(iii) The Supplementary Programme fund accounts for moneys available for activities arising after the approval of the annual programme budget.

Trust funds under both the Annual Programme and the Supplementary Programme cover activities for which UNHCR received money from donors without assuming ownership of the funds. In 2002, UNHCR administered five trust funds: [1] reproductive health in communities in crisis; [2] prevention of sexual violence against women and girls; [3] enhancing nutritional status of refugee women, children and adolescents; [4] support to UNHCR's change process; [5] secretariat for the Commission on Human Security.

Trust funds [1] to [4] are funded from the United Nations Fund for International Partnership Project and [5] from the United Nations Trust Fund for the human security project for emergency training for the Asia and Pacific region.

(iv) The Junior Professional Officers fund covers financial activities exclusively allocated for the training and development of young professionals sponsored by various Governments.

(v) The Medical Insurance Plan was established by the General Assembly at its forty-first session in accordance with United Nations staff regulation 6.2. The objective of the fund is to assist subscribers and eligible family members in meeting expenses incurred for certain health services, facilities and supplies arising out of sickness, accident or maternity. The Plan is maintained by premiums from field staff and related contributions from UNHCR, as well as by interest income. Payments are based on claims processed during the year to cover field staff medical costs.

Medical Insurance Plan coverage is limited to the Field locally recruited General Service staff members and National Professional Officers (3,658). All other staff members are covered by the UNOG self-insurance scheme of social security (UNSMIS) whose operations are reflected in the United Nations financial statements (statement XXI of the 2000-2001 biennium).

(e) Translation of currency

The accounts are presented in United States dollars. In the field offices, the accounts may be maintained in the national currency of the country concerned. All transactions are translated into United States dollars using the United Nations operational rates of exchange, as established by the United Nations Controller, in effect at the date of the transaction. At the balance sheet date, all asset and liability balances are revalued as of 31 December 2002.

(f) Voluntary contributions and pledges

Voluntary contributions from Member States and other donors are recorded as income upon receipt or on the basis of a written pledge from the donor. Pledges from Governments are fully recognized as income at the time of acceptance of the pledge. In the interest of prudent financial management, up to one half of the value of firm pledges made by organizations of established repute are recognized as income at the time the pledge is accepted.

Contributions in kind are classified either as budgetary or extrabudgetary. Budgetary contributions in kind replace commodities that have been budgeted for and that would have been purchased by UNHCR or one of its implementing partners in the normal execution of the programme. Contributions in kind are recorded in the accounts, at fair market value, when the goods or services are received. Extrabudgetary in-kind contributions are those for which UNHCR has not made a budgetary provision. These are offers of additional materials or services that are considered by UNHCR to be complementary to programmed activities and in line with the mandate of the Organization. Extrabudgetary contributions in kind are not recorded in the accounts but are listed in the appendix to the financial statements.

Cash received against pledges is recorded at the United States dollar equivalent calculated at the United Nations operational rate of exchange prevailing on the date of receipt, as explained in note 2 (e) above.

Pledges due are written off after five years unless the donor has reconfirmed the commitment in writing not more than 18 months before the end of the accounting period.

(g) Interest income

Interest income includes all interest and related investment income earned on invested funds and various bank accounts. Financial rule 9.3 specifies the conditions for recording investment income, which provides, inter alia, that income from investments shall be credited to the Annual Programme Fund, unless required to maintain the Working Capital and Guarantee Fund.

(h) Currency exchange adjustments

Currency exchange adjustments include losses and gains on transactions and translation losses and gains from the revaluation of year-end asset and liability balances, based on the United Nations operational rate of exchange. Apart from the unrealized gains or losses on contributions receivable, which are charged to the respective funds, exchange differences are charged to the Annual Programme Fund, unless required to maintain the Working Capital and Guarantee Fund.

(i) Miscellaneous income

Miscellaneous income includes income from the sale of used or surplus property and settlement of insurance claims. The annual programme includes net recoveries relating to the transfer of emergency stockpile items to operational projects as miscellaneous income.

(j) Expenditure

Project expenditure reflects the amounts obligated according to article 8 of the Financial Rules. The High Commissioner may incur obligations for the implementation of projects to the extent that money and governmental pledges are available in the appropriate fund or account. Whenever possible and appropriate, the implementation of projects is entrusted to implementing partners, e.g., governmental, intergovernmental or non-governmental bodies, private firms or individual experts, in accordance with the terms of an agreement or a formal exchange of letters. Projects may also be implemented in accordance with the terms of a Letter of Instruction to the responsible officer or organizational unit of UNHCR.

(k) Ex gratia payments

The granting of ex gratia payments is governed by financial rule 10.5. Ex gratia payments are approved by the Controller up to an amount not exceeding $5,000, when such payments are considered desirable in the interest of the Organization. Payments over $5,000 require the personal approval of the High Commissioner. A statement of ex gratia payments, if there are any, is submitted to the Board of Auditors with the annual accounts.

(l) Write-offs

Write-offs due to losses of cash or of the book value of accounts receivable, including the conversion of loans into grants, is governed by financial rule 10.6. In UNHCR, write-offs are recorded as adjustments to prior years' expenditures. The writing off of amounts up to $10,000 can be approved by the Controller after a full investigation. Amounts over $10,000 require the approval of the High Commissioner. A statement of all amounts written off is submitted to the Board of Auditors with the annual accounts.

The writing off of losses of UNHCR property is governed by financial rule 10.7, which provides that the Controller may authorize such write-offs after a full investigation of each case.

(m) Provision against doubtful accounts receivable

UNHCR provides for an allowance for doubtful accounts receivable equal to the estimated uncollectable amounts.

(n) Non-expendable property

The definition of non-expendable property is assets with an original purchase price greater than or equal to $1,500 and a serviceable life greater than or equal to five years, and all special items. Special items include vehicles, computer equipment, plant, boats, telecommunications equipment, security equipment and generators, with a minimum acquisition value of $100.

In accordance with United Nations system accounting standards, non-expendable property purchased with UNHCR's voluntary funds is not included in the fixed assets on the balance sheet, but is charged as expenditure to the appropriate project in the year of acquisition. The inventories are recorded at the United States dollar equivalent calculated at the rate of exchange prevailing on the date of purchase. For valuation purposes, depreciation is computed using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the related assets.

(o) Change of accounting policy

In line with a common services agreement, the United Nations Office at Geneva provides payroll and other services for UNHCR. Up to 2001, advances paid to staff through the United Nations Office at Geneva were not consolidated in the statements.

In 2002, UNHCR changed its accounting policy and started consolidating the amounts in its financial statements. In line with this policy, the comparative financial statements have not been restated, although a presentation has been made to show the effect of restatement (see Note 10 (a)).

In the UNHCR financial statements as at 31 December 2002, the balance due to the United Nations Office at Geneva matches with the amount due by UNHCR in the United Nations Office at Geneva accounts.

Note 3

Working Capital Fund

In accordance with financial rule 6.4 (f) (i), at the beginning of 2002, UNHCR utilized $12 million to replenish the Working Capital and Guarantee Fund, thereby bringing the level of the fund to the ceiling of $50 million that was determined by the Executive Committee. In 2001, $12 million from the fund had been used to fund obligations pending the receipt of anticipated contributions and was not paid back in 2001.

In 2002, and in accordance with financial rule 6.4, UNHCR had to utilize up to $48.2 million from the Working Capital and Guarantee Fund to again fund obligations pending the receipt of anticipated contributions. As a result of pledges received before 31 December 2002, UNHCR was able to fully refund the Working Capital and Guarantee Fund.

In 2002, $294.8 million was paid out to implementing partners as instalments, of which $204.2 million had been reported as at 31 December 2002, leaving a balance of $90.6 million, for which reports will be provided in 2003 as and when due, in accordance with the terms of the project agreements.

(ii) Of this reported amount, $68 million, including $6 million for United Nations Volunteers, was reported by implementing partners as salaries and other staff costs. This represents 33 per cent of the total $204 million in line with 2001 implementing partner staff costs ($82 million compared to $260 million).

(b) The expenditure under “Programme support” cover the costs of organizational units whose primary functions are the development, formulation, delivery and evaluation of UNHCR programmes, including those that provide backstopping of programmes on a technical, thematic, geographic, logistical or administrative basis.

(c) The expenditure under "Management and administration" covers the costs of organizational units whose primary function is the maintenance of the identity, direction and well-being of UNHCR, including the units that carry out the function of executive direction, organizational policy and evaluation, external relations, information and administration.

Note 5

Provision on accounts receivable

Accounts receivable are presented in the statement of assets, liabilities, reserves and fund balances net of the provision for doubtful accounts receivable in the amount of $958,036 at 31 December 2002. The doubtful receivable are related, inter alia, to implementing partners for $396,112 and to value-added tax recovery under negotiation for $413,830.

Note 6Write-offs during 2002

During 2002, UNHCR had to write off a total amount of $1,836,434 in respect of unrecoverable balances due from various entities and theft/losses of cash that occurred in various locations where UNHCR operates.

Of that amount, $1,149,291 had been provided for in 2001 and related to the write-off of long-outstanding amounts under payments to implementing partners for 1994-2000. All efforts undertaken to obtain reports on and/or recover the outstanding balances paid to implementing partners yielded no result.

The remaining $687,143 related to the write-off of receivables for which no prior provision had been made, as well as losses due to theft, looting, etc., as reported through the Headquarters Asset Management Board.

Note 7Cash and term deposits

The figure shown for cash and term deposits represents the net total of all cash balances (including funds held in non-convertible currencies), less any overdrafts.

The above-mentioned balance with the United Nations Office at Geneva is composed of, inter alia, staff salaries and repatriation grants to be paid to staff by UNHCR through the United Nations Office at Geneva, in line with note (o); the amount payable in 2001 was $1.4 million.

Note 13

Liabilities for end-of-service and post-retirement benefits

In accordance with United Nations common practice, UNHCR has not specifically recognized in any of its financial accounts liabilities for after-service health insurance costs or the liabilities for other types of end-of-service payments that will be owed when staff members leave the Organization. Therefore, UNHCR has not created any reserve to fund these liabilities. Such expenses are budgeted for in the corresponding operations budget, and the actual costs incurred in each financial period, when staff members terminate, are reported as current-year expenditure.

(a) After-service health insurance

The financial dimension of the Organization's liability for after-service health insurance has been estimated by a consulting actuary. On the basis of that study, it has been estimated that the UNHCR liability for after-service health insurance as of 31 December 2002 is as follows (in United States dollars):

	Present value of future benefits	Accrued liability
Gross liability	228 958 000	163 083 000
Offset from retiree contributions	61 969 000	43 383 000
Net liability	166 989 000	119 700 000

The present value of future benefits is the discounted value of all benefits to be paid in the future to all current retirees and active staff expected to retire in the future. The accrued liabilities represent that portion of the present value of benefits that has accrued from the staff member's date of entry on duty until the valuation date. Active staff members' benefits are fully accrued when staff members have reached the date of full eligibility for after-service benefits. The liabilities were valued based on a discount rate of 5.5 per cent.

(b) Accrued annual leave

Terminating staff are entitled to be paid for any unused vacation days they may have accrued up to a maximum limit of 60 days. The Organization's total liability for such unpaid vacation compensation is estimated to be $22 million approximately.

(c) Termination benefits

In line with the Staff Regulations and the Staff Rules of the United Nations, some staff members are entitled to repatriation grants and related expenditures of relocation upon their termination from the Organization based on the number of years of service. The Organization's total liability at the end of 2002 for such unpaid repatriation and relocation entitlement is estimated to be $121 million. This estimate has been based on the actual number of UNHCR staff by duty station and representative averages for both salaries and years of service.

(d) Pension plan

UNHCR is a member organization participating in the United Nations Joint Staff Pension Fund, which was established by the General Assembly to provide retirement, death, disability and related benefits. The Pension Fund is a funded defined benefit plan. The financial obligation of the Organization to the Fund consists of its mandated contribution at the rate established by the General Assembly, together with any share of any actuarial deficiency payments under article 26 of the Regulations of the Fund. Such deficiency payments are payable only if and when the General Assembly has invoked the provision of article 26, following determination that there is a requirement for deficiency payments, based on an assessment of the actuarial sufficiency of the Fund as of the valuation date. At the time of the present report, the General Assembly has not invoked this provision. The result of the actuarial valuation as of 31 December 2001 was an actuarial surplus of 2.92 per cent of pensionable remuneration.
