2. German Foundation for World Population

(Special; 1999)

PART I. Introduction. DSW aims, purposes and main course of action. DSW is an international development organization, formed in 1991 as a private non-profit foundation. DSW is based in Hannover, Germany, and has country offices in Ethiopia, Kenya, United Republic of Tanzania and Uganda, plus an European Union (EU) Liaison Office in Brussels, Belgium. DSW is politically and religiously independent, relying on private donations and financial support from other organizations, foundations and agencies to advance its work. DSW's main goal is to help people free themselves from poverty, by helping them avoid unwanted pregnancies and protect themselves from HIV/AIDS. Informing young people about sexuality and contraception is the core of most of our projects in developing countries. Through media, awareness-raising and advocacy work, DSW also informs policymakers in Africa, in Germany and throughout Europe about the connection between population development, poverty and health.

PART II. Contribution to the work of the United Nations. DSW's contribution to the work of the United Nations is too extensive to describe fully here; highlights can be found below. i) Participation in the work of the Economic and Social Council and its subsidiary bodies and/or major conferences and other United Nations meetings. (1) 2006 High-Level Meeting on AIDS, Uniting the World against AIDS, 31 May-2 June 2006, United Nations New York: DSW helped recruit four German Members of Parliament (MPs) to be actively involved in this conference. DSW itself was a member of the German government delegation, providing advice and answering government requests and helped compile a German shadow report. (2) United Nations High Level Dialogue on Migration and Development, 14 September, 2006, United Nations New York: DSW helped German MPs write a letter to the German Chancellor and to the Government Commissioners of Human Rights and Integration to highlight female aspects of migration. (3) United Nations Commission on Population and Development (CPD) 37th Session, 22-26 March, 2004, New York: DSW was an official member of the German government delegation. (4) Education Congress and Expo co-organized by the South East Asian Ministries of Education Organization and the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) 27-29 May 2004, Bangkok, Thailand: DSW Kenya gave a presentation at a parallel session on HIV/AIDS preventive education. (5) United Nations Commission on Human Rights 60th Session, 15 March-23 April 2004, Geneva: DSW made a statement in support of the report of Paul Hunt (United Nations Human Rights Commission's Special Rapporteur) on the right to health. (6) European Population Forum co-organized by the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe (UNECE) and United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA), at the United Nations' headquarters, 12-14 January 2004, Geneva: DSW presented a background paper on population issues. ii) Cooperation with United Nations bodies and/or specialized agencies in the field and/or at Headquarters. (a) Active promotion and fundraising for UNFPA. Throughout 2003-2006, DSW actively promoted UNFPA, organizing many opportunities for UNFPA's leadership to speak to the German parliament and high-level German government officials. For example: (1) On 18 October 2006, DSW organized a German parliamentary breakfast with Dr. Thoraya Obaid, UNFPA Executive Director. (2) On 6 September 2006, DSW organized a parliamentary breakfast with UNFPA's Cambodia Country Director. (3) On 20 October 2004, DSW helped arrange a presentation of Dr. Obaid with the German Parliament Committee on Economic Cooperation and Development. (4) On 21 October 2004, Dr. Obaid and Dr. Dietrich Garlichs of United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) Germany spoke at the International Dialogue on Population and Sustainable Development organised by DSW in cooperation with GTZ and Schering, in order to explore link between the International Conference on Population and Development (ICPD)/Cairo Programme of Action and the MDGs. (5) On 17 October 2006, Dr. Obaid spoke at the 5th International Dialogue, again organized by DSW in collaboration with partners. (6) In January 2004, DSW published an article in "Chrismon", a widely respected Protestant newspaper, highlighting UNFPA's campaign on obstetric fistula and presenting a statement of Dr. Obaid. (7) From 8-13 May 2006, DSW collaborated with UNFPA and others to organise a study tour for 12 European MPs to provide insight into how sexual and reproductive health (SRH) fits in with Ethiopia's plans to attain the MDGs. Each year 2003-2006, DSW "launched" the German edition of UNFPA's State of the World Population Report (SWOP). This event is important for UNFPA visibility among German media, government policymakers, MPs and the general public. In each successive year, the SWOP launch had greater success than before, culminating in 2006 with more than 50 journalists attending the press conference, featuring German government and UNFPA representation. All major nationwide newspapers covered the SWOP, some devoting a full page to it. The 2006 report's key issues were highlighted in 224 articles in print media, 177 online articles, 38 news agencies articles, 2 video text articles, and 8 TV news features, including Germany's main prime time news. In addition, in 2005, DSW and UNFPA presented the revised 2004 UN World Population Prospects, which was covered by all German news agencies and leading daily newspapers, plus several radio broadcasts.

Other. (1) In 2006, DSW helped UNAIDS improve its Resource Flows Project by promoting harmonization of global data collection on resource flows affecting HIV/AIDS. (2) In October-December 2003, DSW and Medica Mondiale (an emergency relief organization) issued an "Aide Mémoire" on the human rights dimension of Sexual and Reproductive Health (SRH) to the German Foreign Office, to increase German government support for the Special Rapporteur on the Right to Health in defense against attacks led by the US and Pakistani government at the United Nations Commission on Human Rights in Geneva. (3) In 2003-2006, DSW implemented a knowledge management and Community of Practice strategy for the EU/UNFPA Reproductive Health (RH) Initiative for Youth in Asia. (4) In May 2004, in co-operation with partners, DSW organized a conference on the human rights dimension of SRH, which featured a UN High Commissioner for Human Rights presentation of a report regarding the right to health. (5) In December 2005, DSW in Ethiopia hosted UNICEF training on HIV/AIDS prevention. (6) In March 2003, the Ministry of Health Uganda, UNFPA and DSW agreed to jointly undertake trainings for health providers. (7) Supporting UNFPA Goodwill Ambassador Alfred Biolek's promotion of UNFPA. Several times in 2003-2006, DSW supported the work of German celebrity and goodwill ambassador Dr. Alfred Biolek, who, through a broadcast on 10 June 2006 reached a total 7-8 million people (approximately 10% of the total German population) with messages supporting UNFPA. In addition, in February 2005, DSW presented, with UNFPA, the 2004 Revision of the UN World Population Prospects, which was covered by all German news agencies and leading daily newspapers, plus several radio broadcasts. As a result of DSW advocacy actions, including these, the German government has repeatedly increased its contribution to UNFPA in 2003-2006. The German government pledged at the UN General Assembly Commemorative Meeting on October 14, 2004, to fill the gap in RH supplies through an increased contribution of $15 million to UNFPA. Again in 2006, the German government decided to increase its contribution to UNFPA by another €1 million for 2007.

iii) Initiatives undertaken by the organization in support of internationally agreed development goals, in particular, the Millennium Development Goals, which now form the basis of the global agenda for the 21st century. DSW participates in far too many activities in support of the MDGs to detail them all here. In 2003-2004 alone, DSW activities reached more than 6.7 million young people age 10-24 in developing countries to help improve their personal SRH, thus contributing directly to MDG #5 (Improve maternal health), MDG #6 (Combat HIV/AIDS, malaria and other poverty diseases), MDG #4 (Reduce child mortality) and MDG #3 (Promote gender equality and empower women), while also contributing indirectly to the other MDGs. DSW's awareness raising and advocacy activities contribute most directly to MDG #8 (Develop a global partnership for development), as we consistently advocate for more, and more effective, development assistance from donor countries in Europe. iv) Activities in Support of Global Principles. DSW participates in far too many activities in support of global principles to list them all here. Most important of these are international commitments to human and social development, especially the ICPD Programme of Action, the Beijing Conference on Women's Rights, and the International Convention on the Rights of the Child. One example: on the occasion of the United Nations General Assembly, 13 October 2004, New York, DSW and other organizations delivered more than 30,000 signatures from Europe and the United States to commemorate the 10th anniversary of ICPD. Since 1999, DSW has held special consultative status with Economic Social Council. This status has helped advance our aim of helping people avoid unwanted pregnancies, protect themselves from HIV/AIDS and free themselves from poverty. We hope this report demonstrates our qualifications for continued Economic and Social Council special consultative status, and look forward to continuing to support the United Nations and its aims.

3. National Council of Women of the United States

(Special; 1999)

Part I. Introduction

1. The National Council of Women of the United States, Inc. 4. Perhaps Kids Meeting Kids Can Make a Difference

(Special; 1995)

PART I Introduction

Perhaps Kids Meeting Kids Can Make a Difference (KMK) brings children and youth, ages 5 to 24, together from all backgrounds and nations in an effort to create a world that is peaceful and just. Their work together makes it possible for kids from many countries to know that they, too, can participate, take action for positive change and make a difference in the world in which they live. Children and youth run the organization. Decisions are reached by consensus and made by young people working in cooperation with a few supportive adults. Actions taken are the actions of young people.

PART II Contribution of the organization to the work of the United Nations

i) Participation in the work of the Economic and Social Council and its subsidiary bodies and/or major conferences and other United Nations Meetings.

2004: The 57th Annual Department of Public Information (DPI)/NGO Conference 8-10 September 2004, New York. KMK attended the sessions on the Millennium Development Goals Civil Society Takes Action.

2005: Representatives attended and participated in the following meetings in New York, all related to children’s rights: The 58th Annual DPI/NGO Conference 7-9 September.

The 49th Session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW) (Beijing +10) 28 February – 11 March 17 2005, New York. KMK attended and lobbied for more girls to participate in the conference for the status of women. KMK also co-sponsored a side event “Speak Out Panel” with the Working Group on Girls. Young girls from KMK were on the panel.

Briefing on United Nations Study of Violence against Children 17 November 2005, New York. KMK attended and participated in side panels.

2006: Representatives attended and participated in the following meetings in New York, all related to children’s rights: 34th Session of the Convention on the Elimination of all forms of Discrimination Against Women 16 January-3 February, 50th Session of the CSW 27 February-10 March.

Reports of children participation have been shared with the United Nations Commission on Human Rights in at the 61st 62nd Sessions in Geneva, Switzerland, 14 March-22 April 2005 and 13-27 March 2006.

ii) Cooperation with United Nations bodies and/or specialized agencies in the field and/or headquarters.

KMK monitors closely and shares information through the International Children’s Rights Network on the United Nations Committee on the Rights of the Child. From 2003 to 2006 KMK has been a contributing member of both the UNICEF (United Nations Children’s Fund) and United Nations NGO Working Groups on Children in Armed Conflict, Children’s Rights, Drug Abuse, Education, and The Girl Child.

The organization helped design, and collect the data for the United Nations Study on Violence Against Children. KMK worked alongside with other NGO’s to distribute and administer the survey among KMK’s constituency and other children in New York, August - December 2004.

iii) Initiatives undertaken by the organization in support of internationally agreed development goals, in particular, the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs).

The organization contributed to the Millennium Development Goals by continuously raising awareness about the needs of children and the support that can be given them through the United Nations.

During the reporting period, KMK has continue to organize and operate an International Children’s Rights Network for youth organizations and young people, and it has also distributed information world wide on the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child. It has worked continuously through every year from 2003 to 2006 to inform young people of their rights and to urge grown up leaders to both ratify and enforce the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child.

KMK has maintained an international children’s pen pal and computer network (kidsmeetingkids.org) since 1995, which enables users to share information on children’s rights and helps children and youth find ways to work together peacefully to help one another.

2003-2006 Annually the organization has held an International Children's Congress. Children and young people are invited to attend from each of the Missions of the United Nations to speak together about issues of peace, and non-violence, and to find ways to raise assistance for the children of the world and awareness and support for the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child. Each year, the Congress was held in New York at the Church Center for the United Nations in the month of April.

5. World Federation of Democratic Youth

(General; 1947)

PART I i) Introduction

The World Federation of Democratic Youth (WFDY) was founded on 10th of November, 1945 in London, the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland. WFDY consists of youth organizations in different countries and of diverse political tendencies, religious beliefs and forms of activity which, on the basis of equality and mutual respect for their autonomy, wish to coordinate their efforts for the best satisfaction of the interest of youth and to make their contribution to the common ideas of freedom, independence, democracy, friendship, international solidarity and world peace.

WFDY has more than 180 member organizations from more than 100 countries all over the world. WFDY continues to expand its scope involving as well many youth organizations out of its membership at national, regional and international levels. WFDY has 5 regions (Africa; Asia & the Pacific; Europe & North America, Latin America & the Caribbean; Middle East) that compose harmoniously the network of cooperation with the Headquarters in Budapest, Hungary.

As an International Youth Non-Governmental Organization (NGO), WFDY has always considered maintaining closer contacts with the United Nations System, particularly the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO), the Economic and Social Council, and the International Labour Organization (ILO) as a top priority, more so in programs related to youth. In all our activities organized and held, we included as point on the agenda for discussion WFDY's need to participate and improve our co-operation with UNESCO and the United Nations system.

During the period 2003-2006, WFDY was deeply involved in 16th World Festival of Youth and Students, successfully held in Caracas, Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela, from 7 to 15 August 2005, under the slogan "For Peace and Solidarity, We Struggle against Imperialism and War!", playing a determinant and fundamental role for an event that was the largest and the most significant political, cultural, broad-based mass initiative organized by world progressive and democratic youth and student forces. This edition of the World Festival of Youth and Students welcomed more than 17.000 delegates of local, national, regional and international organizations from 144 countries, representing millions of young people and students from all over the world. Prior to this WFDY also held its 16th Assembly, 4-7 March 2003 in Havana, Cuba.

PART II – Contribution of the organization to the work of the United Nations

PART II i) – Participation in the work of the Economic and Social Council and its subsidiary bodies and/or major conferences and other United Nations Meetings

- The International Conference of NGO's that maintain operational relations with UNESCO took place in the UNESCO Headquarters, in Paris, France, 17-19 December 2003, being attended by a Vice-President of WFDY. The WFDY's representative intervened and presented its resolutions in many points of the agenda in different sessions especially on the issues of human rights, education for all, and culture of peace.
- In the 60th Session of the United Nations Commission on Human Rights (UNCHR), in Geneva, Switzerland, 15 March-23 April 2004, WFDY was represented by its Secretary-General.
- The 61st Session of the United Nations Commission on Human Rights (UNCHR), in Geneva, Switzerland, 14 March-22 April 2005, was attended by the Secretary-General of WFDY.
- 4th UNESCO Youth Forum, which took place in the UNESCO Headquarters in Paris, France, from 30 September-2 October 2005, under the title "Young people and the Dialogue among Civilizations, Cultures and Peoples – Ideas for action in education, the sciences, culture and communication". This event, organized in the framework of the 33rd Session of the UNESCO General Conference had the main aim to produce a report for it on the youth related issues. Within its operational relation with UNESCO, WFDY participated in this event as observer, presenting its points of views and contributions on different fields. It was also a good opportunity to meet and exchange experiences with some International Youth NGOs and other young people, taking into account the participation of 229 representatives from 128 countries (184 delegates) and 45 observers.
- The International Conference of NGOs that maintain official relations with UNESCO, held in the UNESCO Headquarters from 14-16 December 2005, in Paris, France, was attended by a Vice-President of WFDY.

PART II ii) – Cooperation with United Nations bodies and/or specialized agencies in the field and/or at Headquarters

The organization of the WFDY's Historical Files in the framework of the UNESCO Participation Program 2004 – 2005 was a priority developed with remarkable success. WFDY worked with an expert in its Headquarters enabling to recover, store, preserve and organize, namely through a digital database, many different materials that confirm the richness of the patrimony of the WFDY's Historical Files, which constitutes an important part of the history of the second half of the 20th Century, namely for the youth and student's movement. As a result of this work WFDY managed to print in 2006 for the first time in fifteen years its historical magazine "World Youth".
