1. Christian Children's Fund

Special, 1985

I. Introduction

Aims and purposes of the organization

Christian Children's Fund (CCF) is an international child development organization that works for the well-being of 15.2 million children and families in 30 countries worldwide. CCF aims to help deprived, excluded and vulnerable children develop the capacity to become young adults, parents and leaders who bring lasting and positive change to their communities by focusing on three critical groups: healthy and secure infants; educated and confident children; and skilled and involved youth. CCF promotes societies whose individuals and institutions participate in valuing, protecting and advancing the worth and rights of children.

II. Contribution to the work of the United Nations

A. Participation in the work of the Economic and Social Council and its subsidiary entities

(a) Forty-fifth session of the Commission for Social Development (CCF submitted two written statements and worked with the non-governmental organization (NGO) Committee for Social Development); (b) from 2005 to 2008, CCF engaged with the NGO Subcommittee for the Eradication of Poverty and also with the NGO Committee on Youth; (c) from 2005 to 2007, co-chaired the Working Group on Girls of the NGO Committee on the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF); (d) CCF actively participated in the 2005-2008 sessions of the Commission on the Status of Women. In addition, at the NGO consultations of the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) in 2006, CCF gave a presentation on "Education in Emergencies", followed in 2007, by a presentation on child-friendly spaces.

B. Cooperation with United Nations bodies and/or specialized agencies in the field and/or at Headquarters

CCF regularly attended and participated in the UNICEF Executive Board meetings. CCF was also an implementing partner of various United Nations organizations, including UNHCR, UNICEF, the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP), the World Health Organization (WHO), the World Food Programme (WFP) and the Joint United Nations Programme on HIV/AIDS (UNAIDS) in development and post-conflict programmes around the world.

C. Activities in line with the Millennium Development Goals

The Fund's initiatives in support of the Millennium Development Goals during the reporting period included efforts aimed at reaching 15.2 million children and families in the Americas, Africa, Asia and Eastern Europe. Goal 1: (a) in 2005, CCF launched a ground-breaking study on children and poverty with the belief that a broader, longer-lasting impact can only be achieved when programmes are based on a deep understanding of child poverty; (b) CCF participated in microenterprise development and other livelihoods programmes. Goal 2: (a) CCF participated in education programmes in all 30 countries of activity, including in Afghanistan, Angola, Ecuador and the Philippines; (b) CCF raised awareness about the dangers and abuses of child labour, and connected families with job skills training and microenterprise loans to improve or start small businesses; (c) in countries such as Bolivia (Plurinational State of), Dominica, Ecuador, Honduras, Saint Vincent and the Grenadines, Sri Lanka, Uganda and Zambia, CCF carried out early childhood development programmes. Goal 3 and Goal 5: CCF worked with families and communities to end harmful practices, including female genital mutilation, rape, gender-based violence and forced early marriages. Goal 4: CCF works throughout the world to combat malaria. Goal 7: CCF worked to combat water scarcity and unclean water, implementing water programmes in virtually every country where it operates.

D. Activities in support of the global principles

On World Malaria Day, CCF worked to raise awareness about prevention and treatment of the disease. CCF commemorated World AIDS Day and is committed to helping children and their family members make direct, positive contributions in the struggle to overcome AIDS. World Water Day was celebrated by educating children and their parents about the importance of clean and safe water for people around the world. In 2007, for the International Day for the Eradication of Poverty, CCF helped organize a United Nations panel discussion of children and youth. During the 2005-2008 period, CCF mobilized children, teachers, entire communities, and national education networks to take advantage of Global Action Week for Education.

2. Korean Foundation for World Aid

Special, 2005

I. Introduction

A. Aims and purposes of the organization

The goals of the Korean Foundation for World Aid (KFWA) are to help Koreans living in the Republic of Korea and abroad to cooperate towards the country's unification and prosperity and contribute to the promotion of world peace and well-being. KFWA carries out the following activities in order to achieve these goals: providing food for needy children; modernizing hospitals; sharing medicine and commodities; providing agricultural assistance in the Democratic People's Republic of Korea; general relief work; development relief work; hygienic and medical treatment work; child sponsorship programmes in Asia, the Middle East and Africa; and multicultural family care in the Republic of Korea.

B. Change in name and constitution

KFWA has changed its name to the Serve and Share Foundation on 24 April 2009. This will allow people to better understand the purpose of the organization and its activities, which are based on the Christian faith.

6. Women's National Commission

Special, 1997

I. Introduction

A. Aims and purpose

The Women's National Commission (WNC) is the United Kingdom umbrella body that aims to ensure that women's views are taken into account by the Government and are heard in public debate. Its 420 member organizations (and over 130 individual partners) cover a wide and diverse range of women's interests and activities across the United Kingdom, in total representing several million women. A publicly appointed Chair and Board of Commissioners provide the strategic direction for the Commission. To achieve its aim of bringing the voice of women into Government, WNC operates through a website, regular newsletters and information to partners, undertaking consultation exercises with partners on Government proposals, organizing information seminars and conferences, producing reports and position papers, advising Government ministers, meetings with Government officials and facilitating meetings and working groups.

B. Expanded areas of activities

While its broad aims and objectives remain much as described in the submission covering the period 2001-2004, in the period covered by this report WNC has created a Migration and Asylum Working Group, which emerged from the International Working Group, to focus specifically on issues pertaining to migrant and asylum-seeking women. Furthermore, the WNC partnership base has increased to almost 550, from the 300 reported in the previous submission.

II. Contribution to the work of the United Nations

Participation in the Economic and Social Council and its subsidiary entities

WNC Commissioner Carrie Pemberton travelled to Geneva to attend the Economic Commission for Europe regional preparatory meeting, which took place from 12 to 15 December 2005. Participation in Commission on the Status of Women sessions: (a) facilitated an annual pre-session meeting between NGOs and the official United Kingdom delegation; (b) ongoing coordination with a number of United Kingdom Government departments; (c) participated in side events held with NGO partner organizations; (d) prepared and drafted written and oral statements to be submitted in advance of the sessions, designed to reflect as far as possible the consensus view of women's organizations in the United Kingdom; (e) performed a formal role of liaison with the NGO delegation; (f) worked with the European Women's Lobby in its role as coordinator of the European Union NGOs attending meetings; (g) ongoing support to the Government in mainstreaming and implementing the agreed conclusions, through independent advice informed by the views of WNC member NGOs; (h) Commission on the Status of Women forty-ninth session: WNC set up a subgroup in October 2004 that produced a written statement for submission to the sessions, a brochure reflecting United Kingdom women's views on the implementation of the Beijing Platform for Action and held an event at which NGOs could report back and discuss future activities; (i) Commission on the Status of Women fiftieth session: in preparation for the session, WNC hosted an open meeting on women and decision-making; (j) Commission on the Status of Women fifty-first session: WNC facilitated a side event entitled "Called to Account"; (k) the Special Rapporteur on violence against women, WNC Commissioner and statistics specialists from the United Nations Development Fund for Women (UNIFEM) discussed the commitment to developing international indicators on violence against women; (l) Commission on the Status of Women fifty-second session: WNC co-hosted a side event with the United Kingdom Women's Budget Group, entitled "An Economy for Equality". WNC also supported and promoted side events held by other United Kingdom NGOs, and chaired an event held by the National Council of Women on 27 February and the Women Against Fundamentalism and for Equality event on 29 February; (m) development of the Women's Human Rights E-Network, an e-network open to WNC partners, organizations and individuals interested in learning more about women's human rights and gender equality from an international perspective; (n) Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women, forty-first session: WNC consulted NGO partners across the United Kingdom to facilitate input into the WNC national shadow report, which was published in 2008, to ensure that it was factually accurate, cohesive and coherent, and represented the views of women's NGOs across the United Kingdom.

7. Zenab for Women in Development

Special, 2005

I. Introduction

Zenab for Women in Development (ZWD) was named after a pioneer woman educator who started girls' education in eastern Sudan in 1941. She fought for girls' rights, especially in the area of education, and opened many primary schools for girls in cities and villages throughout eastern Sudan. The organization's purpose and main goals are to facilitate improvements in the livelihood of women in the Sudan and advocate for their rights. ZWD vision: a country where all women enjoy health and education rights and contribute towards sustainable development. ZWD works to empower women through the following activities: girls' education, disabled and adult education; poverty eradication by supporting rural women's income-generating activities; HIV/AIDS programming; prevention of female genital mutilation and promotion of mother-childcare as part of a reproductive health programme; initiatives to end violence against women; humanitarian programmes, peacebuilding and civic education training programmes. Over the past three years, ZWD has expanded its activities to most of the eastern and southern states, and has strengthened its cooperation with other NGOs at the local, national and international levels.

II. Contribution to the work of the United Nations

A. Participation in United Nations conferences and other meetings

Representatives of the organization attended the following meetings/events held at the United Nations Headquarters, New York: (a) Commission on the Status of Women fiftieth, fifty-first and fifty-second sessions (ZWD organized side events during these sessions); the ZWD president made a statement on gender and climate change during the fifty-second session and ZWD arranged an exhibition of Sudanese women artists during the fifty-first session; (b) high-level dialogue on interreligious and intercultural understanding and cooperation for peace, October 2007 (the president of ZWD spoke at the hearing of NGOs); (c) special session of the General Assembly on HIV/AIDS review meeting, June 2006 (ZWD representatives attended and lobbied with other NGOs and civil societies for strong outcome documents); (d) ZWD presented a paper on World AIDS Day, December 2006, about the status of HIV/AIDS in the Sudan, with special emphasis on its effects on women.

Representatives attended the following meetings/events in other parts of the world: (a) Economic and Social Council Annual Ministerial Review, July 2007, Geneva (ZWD organized an exhibition, and the ZWD president participated in various round tables and addressed the final session on behalf of the African NGOs); (b) Follow-up International Conference on Financing for Development, November 2008, Doha (ZWD representatives actively participated in this conference, advocating for the importance of considering great allocation of resources to empower NGOs).

B. Cooperation with United Nations bodies

(a) United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA), November 2006 (campaigned to end violence against women); (b) UNIFEM: campaigned to end violence against women in Gadarif State during November 2007.
