8. The Codification Division is responsible for the implementation of the Programme of Assistance. The Division performs various functions, such as preparing reports of the Secretary-General and providing services to the Advisory Committee and the Sixth Committee on the related agenda item. It also maintains the website on the Programme of Assistance.

International Law Fellowship Programme

9. The International Law Fellowship Programme provides the most comprehensive international law training by leading scholars and practitioners for lawyers from developing countries and countries with emerging economies under the Programme of Assistance. The fellows attend courses at The Hague Academy of International Law and special seminars organized by the Codification Division, which cover a broad range of subjects relating to international law. Study visits are also arranged for the participants.

10. The International Law Fellowship Programme was held in The Hague from 9 July to 17 August 2012. A total of 19 fellows (10 men and 9 women) as well as two self-funded participants (one man and one woman) were selected for the Programme.<sup>6</sup>

11. The Hague Academy lectures included: “The United Nations and international law-making” (M. H. Arsanjani, former Director, Codification Division, Office of Legal Affairs of the Secretariat); “The creativity of international law” (general course) (S. Sur, Professor, University of Paris II (Panthéon-Assas)); “Human rights of undocumented migrants” (L. Ortiz Ahlf, Professor, Iberoamericano University); “The independence of arbitral bodies established in the framework of international organizations” (N. G. Klein, Professor, Université libre de Bruxelles); and “Research in international law” and “The work of the International Law Commission” (S. Villalpando, Legal Officer, Codification Division, Office of Legal Affairs).

13. Study visits were arranged for the participants to the International Court of Justice, on 27 July 2012; the International Criminal Court, on 3 August 2012; and the Permanent Court of Arbitration, on 10 August 2012. The participants received briefings from senior officials of those institutions. In addition, the Secretary-General of The Hague Academy of International Law, Y. Daudet, met the participants.

14. The Codification Division researched and collected legal materials recommended by the lecturers for the courses. The Division utilized its desktop publishing programme for the technical preparation of eight volumes of training materials in hard copy.<sup>7</sup> Furthermore, USB flash drives containing the training materials, as well as legal publications of the Division, were provided to facilitate electronic research for participants in developing countries with limited access to the Internet.

15. The General Assembly authorized the Secretary-General to award a number of fellowships, to be determined in the light of the overall resources for the Programme of Assistance and to be awarded to qualified candidates from developing countries, to attend the International Law Fellowship Programme in 2012 in accordance with paragraph 2 (a) of resolution 66/97.

16. Since 2010, the Codification Division has conducted the Fellowship Programme in The Hague as a necessary cost-saving measure to increase the number of fellowships (see A/65/514, para. 12). The Division will continue to perform all tasks related to the organization and administration of the Fellowship Programme in 2013 as long as it has the necessary resources to do so. The Codification Division intends to award 20 fellowships under the regular budget of the United Nations in 2013.

17. In order to achieve further cost savings, the Codification Division continued to invite universities, institutions and organizations, as well as individuals, to make voluntary contributions (financial and in kind) and otherwise to assist in the implementation of the Fellowship Programme in accordance with paragraph 18 of resolution 66/97. The Registry of the International Court of Justice provided offices and related equipment for staff of the Codification Division and lecturers, as well as essential administrative and logistical support for the Programme. The Hague Academy of International Law provided a reduced tuition rate for the fellows and self-funded candidates. The Carnegie Foundation provided a seminar room as well as related equipment for staff of the Codification Division and lecturers. The International Criminal Court, the International Committee of the Red Cross, the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights, the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime and the Department of Public Information of the Secretariat provided publications free of charge, which were included in the training materials provided to the participants. Lastly, various entities, publishers and law journals granted permission to include scholarly articles free of charge in the study materials prepared for the participants in the Fellowship Programme.<sup>8</sup>

Regional courses in international law

18. The Codification Division is also responsible for organizing regional courses in international law. These courses provide high-quality training by leading scholars and practitioners on a broad range of core subjects of international law, as well as specific subjects of particular interest to developing countries in a given region. The courses provide an important mechanism for expanding the international law training opportunities available to lawyers from developing countries given the limited number of participants who can be accommodated in the International Law Fellowship Programme. The courses also provide participants with an opportunity to focus on contemporary issues of international law of common interest to the region, with a view to promoting greater understanding and cooperation on such issues.

19. Owing to the increase in the demand for international law training, the Codification Division continues to explore the possibility of designating permanent venues for the regional courses in order to facilitate the most efficient and cost-effective organization of those courses on a regular basis for Africa, Asia-Pacific, and Latin America and the Caribbean.

20. In 2012, a regional course in international law was organized for French-speaking lawyers from countries in Africa. The course was held in Addis Ababa from 6 February to 2 March 2012 and was organized by the Codification Division, in cooperation with the Economic Commission for Africa and the African Union. The Commission provided a seminar room, offices, equipment, transportation and administrative assistance for staff of the Codification Division and lecturers, as well as interpretation services for the opening and closing sessions. The African Union made a voluntary contribution of $30,000 to the regional course and organized a study visit to its headquarters, including transportation for that purpose. A total of 28 participants (20 men and 8 women) attended the course.<sup>9</sup>

21. The seminars for the regional course included: "Introduction to international law" (Y. Daudet, Secretary-General of The Hague Academy of International Law and Professor Emeritus, University of Paris I (Panthéon-Sorbonne)); "Human rights

<sup>8</sup> The Codification Division wishes to express its appreciation to The Hague Academy of International Law, the Revue québécoise de droit international, Cambridge University Press, Éditions A. <sup>9</sup> A total of 97 applications were received from 26 African States Members of the United Nations. Twenty-six participants were selected from the following countries: Algeria, Angola, Benin, Burundi, Central African Republic, Chad, Congo, Côte d'Ivoire, Democratic Republic of the Congo, Djibouti, Equatorial Guinea, Guinea, Mali, Mauritania, Morocco, Niger, Senegal and Togo. Two participants from the African Union also attended the course. In addition, a staff member of the Economic Commission for Africa attended the course as an observer.

Bodeau-Livinec, Professor, University of Paris VIII (Vincennes Saint-Denis)); and “The work of the International Law Commission”, “Reservations to treaties” and “Immunity of State officials from foreign criminal jurisdiction” (G. Buzzini, Legal Officer, Codification Division, Office of Legal Affairs).

22. A study visit was organized to the African Union, which included the following lectures by its officials: “Perspectives on some selected African Union policies and decisions” (B. Kioko, Legal Counsel of the Commission of the African Union); “The African human and peoples’ rights system” (H. S. Salah, human rights expert); and “The African peace and security architecture” (A. M. Kambudzi, Secretary of the Peace and Security Council).

23. The Regional Course in International Law for Africa will be held for the third consecutive year in Ethiopia in 2013 if there is sufficient funding.

24. The Regional Course in International Law for Asia-Pacific will be held in Thailand from 12 to 30 November 2012. The seminars will include: “Peaceful settlement of international disputes” and “Diplomatic protection” (L. Caflisch, Honorary Professor, Graduate Institute of International and Development Studies, Geneva, and Chair of the International Law Commission); “Introduction to international law”, “State jurisdiction and immunities” and “State responsibility” (M. McCaffrey, Professor, University of the Pacific, former member of the International Law Commission); and “Research in international law” and “The work of the International Law Commission” (D. Nanopoulos, Legal Officer, Codification Division, Office of Legal Affairs).

25. The Codification Division researches and collects legal materials recommended by the lecturers for the regional courses. The Division utilizes its desktop publishing programme for the technical preparation of training materials in hard copy.<sup>10</sup> In addition, CD-ROMs or USB flash drives are provided to facilitate electronic research for participants in developing countries with limited access to the Internet.

26. The Codification Division will conduct a regional course in international law for Africa at the headquarters of the African Union from 1 to 26 April 2013 if there are sufficient voluntary contributions. The Division will conduct a planning mission in Costa Rica in 2013 with a view to conducting a regional course in international law for Latin America and the Caribbean in 2014. It will not, however, conduct a regional course in international law for Asia-Pacific in 2013 owing to a lack of financial support.

United Nations Audiovisual Library of International Law

27. The Audiovisual Library of International Law was created by the Codification Division in response to the increasing demand for international law training which could not be met by traditional training courses. The Audiovisual Library is a virtual training and research centre with more than 300 leading international law scholars, judges and practitioners from different countries and legal systems who contribute to its three pillars, namely, the Lecture Series, the Historic Archives and the Research Library. The Lecture Series contains more than 270 lectures on a broad range of subjects of international law. The Historic Archives contain introductory notes by leading authorities on more than 90 legal instruments, as well as procedural histories, related documents and archival audiovisual materials prepared by the Codification Division. The Division researches, preserves and digitizes the audiovisual heritage of the United Nations in the field of international law for the Historic Archives to the extent possible based on the amount of voluntary contributions. It has not been possible to do so in 2012 owing to insufficient resources. The research library provides an extensive online library consisting of treaties, jurisprudence, publications and documents, and scholarly writings.

28. The Audiovisual Library gives the United Nations the capacity to provide high-quality training to an unlimited number of individuals and institutions in countries around the world free of charge via the Internet at a relatively low cost. As part of its dissemination activities, the Codification Division gave Audiovisual Library presentations at the Regional Course in International Law in Ethiopia, the African Foundation for International Law Conference in Mozambique, the International Law Fellowship Programme in the Netherlands, the Yeosu World Expo in the Republic of Korea, the Australian and New Zealand Society of the International Law Conference in New Zealand, as well as the Committee on <sup>10</sup> The Codification Division prepared nine and eight volumes of training materials for the 2012 Regional Course in International Law for Africa and the 2012 Regional Course in International Law for Asia-Pacific, respectively. It wishes to express its appreciation to En Temps Réel, Brill Academic Publishers, the Carnegie Council for Ethics in International Affairs, Centro de Direito Internacional, Centro Internacional Bancaya para la Paz y el Desarrollo, CNRS Éditions, Edinburgh University Press, Éditions Bruylant, Editions Nemesis a.s.b.l., Éditions A. Pedone, The Hague Academy of International Law, the ILSA Journal of International and Comparative Law, Matthew Bender & Company Inc. (a member of LexisNexis Group), the National Assembly of Quebec, the New York University Journal of International Law and Politics, Oxford University Press, Professor J. H. H. Weiler, Thomson Reuters and University of Chicago Press for the use of scholarly writings for academic purposes as part of the study materials for the regional courses.

International Judicial Relations of the United States Judicial Conference in the United States of America.<sup>11</sup> The Audiovisual Library has been accessed by more than 450,000 users in 192 Member States.

29. As noted during the presentation of the pilot project for the Audiovisual Library in 2007 and repeatedly thereafter, this is a major undertaking that exceeds the existing resources of the Codification Division. The Division will continue to further develop the Audiovisual Library only if it receives the necessary funding.

Dissemination

30. The dissemination of legal publications and information through the Internet, as well as other electronic media, is intended to supplement the limited number of hard copies, without prejudice to the unique value of printed materials for legal research and education, in particular for lawyers in developing countries with limited access to the Internet. These materials are provided free of charge on the Internet to promote the teaching, study, dissemination and wider appreciation of international law, in particular for lawyers in developing countries. During the period under review, two new websites were created by the Codification Division for the publications Legislative Series and Summaries of Judgments, Advisory Opinions and Orders of the Permanent Court of International Justice (see annex II).

Distribution of United Nations legal publications

31. Copies of United Nations legal publications issued during 2012 have been provided to the institutions in developing countries that have been receiving such publications under the Programme and to other institutions in a number of countries, in particular developing countries, for which requests for such publications have been made by the Member States concerned.

III. Guidelines and recommendations regarding the implementation of the Programme of Assistance in 2013

32. The activities under the Programme of Assistance will be carried out in 2013 in accordance with the guidelines and recommendations contained in the report of the Secretary-General submitted to the General Assembly during its sixty-sixth session (A/66/505, sect. III) and approved by the Assembly in resolution 66/97.

IV. Administrative and financial implications of the Programme of Assistance

A. During 2012

33. During 2012, the actual cost of producing and supplying publications to institutions in developing countries fell under the allocations relating to administrative and common services of the substantive programme budget to which each publication belongs.

34. Concerning the funding provided for the International Law Fellowship Programme, a total of $437,500 was included in the regular budget under section 8, Legal affairs (grants and contributions), of the programme budget for the biennium 2012-2013.

35. In its resolution 66/97, the General Assembly requested the Secretary-General to provide to the programme budget for the next and future bienniums the necessary resources for the Programme of Assistance to ensure the continued effectiveness and further development of the Programme, in particular the organization of regional courses in international law on a regular basis and the viability of the Audiovisual Library. The Assembly further reiterated its request to Member States and interested organizations, institutions and individuals to make voluntary contributions towards the financing of activities under the Programme. Accordingly, on 24 January 2012, a note verbale was sent to Member States to draw their attention to resolution 66/97.

36. In 2012, voluntary contributions were received for the Audiovisual Library from Finland ($6,142), Germany ($54,132), Israel ($5,000), New Zealand ($7,761), Sweden ($25,000) and the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland ($7,921). In addition, a pledge for contributions for the Audiovisual Library was received from Mexico ($5,000). Voluntary contributions were also received for the regional courses in international law from Ghana ($1,000), New Zealand ($8,191), Qatar ($3,000) and the African Union ($30,000). No other voluntary contributions were received for the activities of the Codification Division under the Programme of Assistance.<sup>12</sup>

37. In 2012, the following countries made contributions for the Hamilton Shirley Amerasinghe Fellowship on the law of the sea: Argentina ($5,000), Cyprus ($2,580), Finland ($6,074), Monaco ($10,335), Sri Lanka ($10,000), Trinidad and Tobago ($5,000) and the United Kingdom ($20,000).

B. During 2013

38. The cost of handling and shipping United Nations legal publications issued in 2013 is covered by the estimates under the relevant sections of the programme budget for the biennium 2012-2013.

39. With regard to the International Law Fellowship Programme, as noted in paragraph 34 above, an amount of $437,500 was included in the programme budget for the biennium 2012-2013 under section 8 (Legal affairs).

40. The Secretary-General will continue to request voluntary and in-kind contributions to the Programme, pursuant to General Assembly resolution 66/97. It is to be noted that the amount of voluntary contributions has significantly decreased in recent years and that the available resources are not sufficient to fund the regional courses in international law or to further develop the Audiovisual Library in 2013.

<sup>12</sup> Voluntary contributions were received for the Programme of Assistance in 2011, after the preparation of the previous report of the Secretary-General on this item (A/66/505), from Trinidad and Tobago ($10,000), as well as for specific Programme activities: (a) for the International Law Fellowship Programme, from Ireland ($2,100); (b) for the regional courses in international law, from the Congo ($10,366) and Finland ($9,312); and (c) for the Audiovisual Library, from the Czech Republic ($1,823), Finland ($9,312), Ireland ($8,962), Italy ($5,000), Mexico ($5,000), Sweden ($25,040) and Switzerland ($24,975).

V. Advisory Committee on the United Nations Programme of Assistance in the Teaching, Study, Dissemination and Wider Appreciation of International Law

A. Membership

41. The General Assembly, by its resolution 66/97, appointed the following 25 Member States as members of the Advisory Committee for the period from 1 January 2012 to 31 December 2015: Argentina, Canada, Chile, Cyprus, Czech Republic, Ethiopia, France, Germany, Ghana, Iran (Islamic Republic of), Italy, Kenya, Lebanon, Malaysia, Mexico, Nigeria, Pakistan, Portugal, Russian Federation, Sudan, Suriname, Trinidad and Tobago, Ukraine, United Republic of Tanzania and United States.

B. Consideration of the report of the Secretary-General by the Advisory Committee at its forty-seventh session

42. The forty-seventh session of the Advisory Committee was chaired by the Permanent Representative of Ghana, Ken Kanda. Secretariat services were provided by the Codification Division. The following members of the Committee were present: Argentina, Chile, Cyprus, Czech Republic, Ethiopia, France, Ghana, Iran (Islamic Republic of), Italy, Lebanon, Malaysia, Mexico, Nigeria, Pakistan, Portugal, Russian Federation, Sudan, Suriname, United Republic of Tanzania and United States.

43. The Secretary of the Advisory Committee reviewed the activities conducted in 2012 and the progress achieved by the Codification Division in its efforts to strengthen, revitalize and expand the Programme of Assistance to better respond to the increasing demand for international law training and research materials in developing countries before its fiftieth anniversary, in 2015.

44. The Advisory Committee commended the Codification Division on those activities, which were of great value to practitioners and academics in countries around the world, and on its efforts to enhance those activities.

45. The Secretary of the Advisory Committee reviewed the financial and administrative aspects of the Programme, including the reduction in regular-budget funding for the Programme in recent years and the significant decline in voluntary contributions. She noted that the resources available were not sufficient to conduct the regional courses in international law or to further develop the Audiovisual Library. She also noted that the insufficient funding for those activities would need to be taken into account when preparing the programme of activities for the biennium 2014-2015, to be considered by the General Assembly at its sixty-seventh session.

46. The Advisory Committee recognized the major contribution of the Programme to the teaching and dissemination of international law for the benefit of lawyers in all countries, legal systems and regions of the world for almost half a century, in addition to the increasing demand for international law training and research materials, which created new challenges for the Programme.

47. The Advisory Committee noted with concern the insufficient funding for those activities and decided to consider the viability of voluntary contributions as a method for funding those activities and the need to provide a more reliable funding method through the regular budget at its forty-eighth session.

48. The Advisory Committee recommended that steps should be taken to implement the request of the General Assembly, in its resolution 66/97, that the Secretary-General provide to the programme budget for the biennium 2014-2015 the necessary resources for the Programme of Assistance to ensure the continued effectiveness and further development of the Programme, in particular the organization of regional courses in international law on a regular basis and the viability of the Audiovisual Library.
