“The Council reaffirms its strong commitment to the sovereignty, independence, unity and territorial integrity of the Syrian Arab Republic and to the purposes and principles of the Charter of the United Nations.

“The Council welcomes the appointment of the Joint Special Envoy of the United Nations and the League of Arab States to Syria, Mr. Kofi Annan, following General Assembly resolution 66/253 A of 16 February 2012 and relevant resolutions of the League of Arab States.

“The Council expresses its full support for the efforts of the Joint Special Envoy to bring to an immediate end all violence and human rights violations, secure humanitarian access and facilitate a Syrian-led political transition to a democratic, plural political system, in which citizens are equal regardless of their affiliations, ethnicities or beliefs, including by commencing a comprehensive political dialogue between the Government of the Syrian Arab Republic and the whole spectrum of the Syrian opposition.

“With this aim, the Council fully supports the initial six-point proposal submitted to the Syrian authorities, as outlined by the Joint Special Envoy to the Council on 16 March 2012, to:

“(1) Commit to work with the Joint Special Envoy in an inclusive Syrian-led political process to address the legitimate aspirations and concerns of the Syrian people and, to this end, commit to appoint an empowered interlocutor when invited to do so by the Joint Special Envoy;

“(2) Commit to stop the fighting and achieve urgently an effective United Nations-supervised cessation of armed violence in all its forms by all parties to protect civilians and stabilize the country.

To this end, the Government of the Syrian Arab Republic should immediately cease troop movements towards, and end the use of heavy weapons in, population centres, and begin pullback of military concentrations in and around population centres.

As these actions are being taken on the ground, the Government should work with the Joint Special Envoy to bring about a sustained cessation of armed violence in all its forms by all parties with an effective United Nations supervision mechanism.

Similar commitments would be sought by the Joint Special Envoy from the opposition and all relevant elements to stop the fighting and work with him to bring about a sustained cessation of armed violence in all its forms by all parties with an effective United Nations supervision mechanism;

“(3) Ensure the timely provision of humanitarian assistance to all areas affected by the fighting and to this end, as immediate steps, accept and implement a daily two-hour humanitarian pause and coordinate the exact time and modalities of the daily pause through an efficient mechanism, including at the local level;

“(4) Intensify the pace and scale of release of arbitrarily detained persons, including especially vulnerable categories of persons and persons involved in peaceful political activities, provide without delay, through appropriate channels, a list of all places in which such persons are being detained, immediately begin organizing access to such locations and, through appropriate channels, respond promptly to all written requests for information, access or release regarding such persons;

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:²⁸

“The Security Council welcomes the Yemeni-led peaceful transition process to a just and democratic political system. It notes the recent progress, including the elections of 21 February 2012, which occurred in a largely peaceful manner and with an encouraging level of turnout, and the transfer of power on 25 February 2012 to President Abd Rabbuh Mansour Hadi, in accordance with the Gulf Cooperation Council initiative and implementation mechanism. The Council reaffirms its commitment to the unity, sovereignty, independence and territorial integrity of Yemen.

“The Council expresses concern at the recent deterioration in cooperation among political actors and the risks this poses to the transition. The Council reaffirms its resolution 2014 (2011), and calls upon all political actors in Yemen to remain committed to the political transition and constitutional order, to play a constructive role in the process and to reject violence.

“The Council notes that the second phase of the transition should focus on the holding of a conference for national dialogue, restructuring of the security forces, tackling the unauthorized possession of weapons outside the control of the State, passing legislation on transitional justice to support reconciliation, constitutional reform, electoral reform and the holding of general elections in 2014. The Council emphasizes the need for these political processes to be conducted in an inclusive manner involving the full participation of the different segments of Yemeni society, including the regions of the country, the major social groups and the full and effective participation of women.

“The Council emphasizes the importance of a well planned and peaceful preparatory process for the conference for national dialogue and therefore urges the quick formation by the Government of Yemen of an inclusive preparatory committee involving the major constituencies. In the context of a genuinely inclusive process, the Council reminds the Government and other actors of the need to release those protesters arbitrarily detained during the crisis.

“The Council expresses its strong concern about intensified terrorist attacks, including by Al-Qaida, within Yemen. It condemns such terrorist attacks in the strongest terms and supports the efforts of the Government of Yemen to combat terrorism in compliance with all its obligations under international law, in particular international human rights, refugee and humanitarian law. It expresses deep condolences to the families of the victims in the attacks of March 2012 in Abyan, southern Yemen.

“The Council notes the formidable economic and social challenges confronting Yemen, which have left many Yemenis in acute need of humanitarian assistance. It welcomes the expansion of the humanitarian response capacity by United Nations agencies and partners, while noting with concern that the 2012 Yemen Humanitarian Response Plan is significantly underfunded, and urges renewed and sustained support by donors for the Plan. The Council also urges all parties to facilitate full, safe and unimpeded access for humanitarian actors to reach people in need of humanitarian assistance.

“The Council notes with appreciation the planned Friends of Yemen ministerial meeting, to be held in Riyadh on 23 May 2012, and calls for the international community to maintain its active support to help the Government of Yemen to meet the forthcoming political, security, economic and humanitarian challenges. The Council looks forward to an action plan set out by the Yemeni authorities, in close cooperation with all the parties in Yemen and in a spirit of dialogue, on how these challenges could be addressed with the support of the international community. The Council affirms its view that the Friends of Yemen have a particularly important role to play by bringing together the main international actors in a common endeavour to support Yemen’s overall transitional plans during the next two years.

“The Council reiterates that all those responsible for human rights violations and abuses, including acts of violence, should be held accountable. The Council also notes with concern that children continue to be recruited and used by armed groups and certain elements of the military and calls for continued national efforts to discourage the use and recruitment of child soldiers.

“The Council reiterates its call to all parties to remain fully committed to the success of the transition and welcomes the continued engagement of the good offices of the Secretary-General and his Special Adviser on Yemen, Mr. Jamal Benomar. It welcomes the intention of the Secretary-General to dispatch a team of experts to monitor the implementation and provide advice to the parties in consultation with the Government of Yemen; and supports the intention of the United Nations to focus its political engagement through a small presence in Yemen of officials working closely alongside the United Nations country team in order to support Yemeni efforts to organize a national dialogue process that is inclusive, transparent and participatory, and working, in coordination with partner missions, with the Government to adopt transitional justice legislation, carry out constitutional reform and offer support up to and including the general elections in 2014. The Council remains closely engaged on the situation in Yemen and will continue to closely follow the next steps towards a peaceful political transition of power.”

“The Council underscores the importance of an effective and credible United Nations supervision mechanism in the Syrian Arab Republic to monitor a cessation of armed violence in all its forms by all parties and relevant aspects of the Joint Special Envoy’s six-point proposal. The Council requests the Secretary-General to provide proposals for such a mechanism as soon as appropriate, after consultations with the Government of the Syrian Arab Republic. The Council stands ready to consider these proposals and to authorize an effective and impartial supervision mechanism upon implementation of a cessation of armed violence in all its forms by all parties.

“The situation in the Middle East

“Letter dated 19 April 2012 from the Secretary-General addressed to the President of the Security Council (S/2012/238)”.

Resolution 2043 (2012) of 21 April 2012

The Security Council,

Recalling its resolution 2042 (2012) of 14 April 2012, as well as the statements by its President of 3 August 2011⁷ and 21 March²⁶ and 5 April 2012,²⁹ and recalling also all relevant resolutions of the General Assembly,

Reaffirming its support for the Joint Special Envoy of the United Nations and the League of Arab States to Syria, Mr. Kofi Annan, and his work, following General Assembly resolution 66/253 A of 16 February 2012 and relevant resolutions of the League of Arab States,

Reaffirming its strong commitment to the sovereignty, independence, unity and territorial integrity of the Syrian Arab Republic and to the purposes and principles of the Charter of the United Nations,

Condemning the widespread violations of human rights by the Syrian authorities, as well as any human rights abuses by armed groups, recalling that those responsible shall be held accountable, and expressing its profound regret at the death of many thousands of people in the Syrian Arab Republic,

Expressing its appreciation of the significant efforts that have been made by the States bordering the Syrian Arab Republic to assist Syrians who have fled across the borders of the Syrian Arab Republic as a consequence of the violence, and requesting the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees to provide assistance as requested by Member States receiving these displaced persons,

Expressing its appreciation also of the humanitarian assistance that has been provided to the Syrian Arab Republic by other States,

Expressing concern over ongoing violence and reports of casualties which have escalated again in recent days, following the Joint Special Envoy's assessment of 12 April 2012 that the parties appeared to be observing a cessation of fire and that the Government of the Syrian Arab Republic had started to implement its commitments, and noting that the cessation of armed violence in all its forms is therefore clearly incomplete,

Supporting the Joint Special Envoy's call for an immediate and visible implementation by the Government of the Syrian Arab Republic of all elements of the Joint Special Envoy's six-point proposal in their entirety to achieve a sustained cessation of armed violence in all its forms by all parties,

Taking note of the assessment by the Secretary-General that a United Nations monitoring mission deployed quickly when the conditions are conducive with a clear mandate, the requisite capacities and the appropriate conditions of operation would greatly contribute to observing and upholding the commitment of the parties to a cessation of armed violence in all its forms and to supporting the implementation of the six-point proposal,

Taking note also of the preliminary understanding of 19 April 2012 agreed between the Government of the Syrian Arab Republic and the United Nations,³² which provides a basis for a protocol governing the advance team and, upon its deployment, the United Nations supervision mechanism,

Noting that the Government of Cyprus has agreed that, in view of the prevailing conditions on the island, it is necessary to keep the United Nations Peacekeeping Force in Cyprus beyond 15 December 2011,

Echoing the Secretary-General’s firm belief that the responsibility for finding a solution lies first and foremost with the Cypriots themselves, and reaffirming the primary role of the United Nations in assisting the parties to bring the Cyprus conflict and division of the island to a comprehensive and durable settlement,

Welcoming the progress made so far in the fully fledged negotiations, and the leaders’ joint statements, including those of 23 May and 1 July 2008,

Welcoming also the move towards a more intensive phase of negotiations, stressing that the status quo is unsustainable, and strongly urging the leaders to increase the momentum of the negotiations, particularly on the core issues, to reach an enduring, comprehensive and just settlement based on a bicommunal, bizonal federation with political equality, as set out in the relevant Security Council resolutions,

⁴⁵ Resolutions or decisions on this question were first adopted by the Security Council in 1948.

⁴⁶ S/2012/419.

⁴⁷ S/2012/418.

⁴⁸ Resolutions or decisions on this question were first adopted by the Security Council in 1963.

Considering that undermining the credibility of the United Nations undermines the peace process itself,

Taking note of the assessment of the Secretary-General that the security situation on the island and along the Green Line remains stable, and urging all sides to avoid any action which could lead to an increase in tension, undermine the progress achieved so far or damage the goodwill on the island,

Recalling the Secretary-General's firm belief that the situation in the buffer zone would be improved if both sides accepted the 1989 aide-memoire used by the United Nations,

Noting with regret that the sides are withholding access to the remaining minefields in the buffer zone and that demining in Cyprus has ceased as a result, noting the continued danger posed by mines in Cyprus, and urging rapid agreement on facilitating the recommencement of demining operations and clearance of the remaining minefields,

Highlighting the importance of the activities of the Committee on Missing Persons in Cyprus, urging the opening up of access to all areas to allow the Committee to carry out its work, and trusting that this process will promote reconciliation between the communities,

Agreeing that active participation of civil society groups, including women's groups, is essential to the political process and can contribute to making any future settlement sustainable, recalling that women play an important role in peace processes, welcoming all efforts to promote bicomunal contacts and events, including on the part of all United Nations bodies on the island, and urging the two sides to promote the active engagement of civil society and the encouragement of cooperation between economic and commercial bodies and to remove all obstacles to such contacts,

The Security Council,

Welcoming the report of the Secretary-General of 29 June 2012 on the United Nations operation in Cyprus,⁵¹

Noting that the Government of Cyprus has agreed that, in view of the prevailing conditions on the island, it is necessary to keep the United Nations Peacekeeping Force in Cyprus beyond 19 July 2012,

Echoing the Secretary-General's firm belief that the responsibility for finding a solution lies first and foremost with the Cypriots themselves, and reaffirming the primary role of the United Nations in assisting the parties to bring the Cyprus conflict and division of the island to a comprehensive and durable settlement,

Welcoming the progress made so far in the fully fledged negotiations, and the leaders' joint statements, including those of 23 May and 1 July 2008,

Recalling the importance that the international community attaches to all parties engaging fully, flexibly and constructively in the negotiations, noting that the move towards a more intensive phase of negotiations has not yet resulted in an enduring, comprehensive and just settlement based on a bicomunal, bizonal federation with political equality, as set out in the relevant Security Council resolutions, encouraging the sides to proceed with the substantive negotiations on the core issues, and stressing that the status quo is unsustainable, ⁵¹ S/2012/507.

Taking note of the assessment of the Secretary-General that the security situation on the island and along the Green Line remains stable, and urging all sides to avoid any action which could lead to an increase in tension, undermine the progress achieved so far or damage the goodwill on the island,

Recalling the Secretary-General's firm belief that the situation in the buffer zone would be improved if both sides accepted the 1989 aide-memoire used by the United Nations,

Noting with regret that the sides are withholding access to the remaining minefields in the buffer zone, noting that demining in Cyprus must continue, noting also the continued danger posed by mines in Cyprus, and urging rapid agreement on facilitating the recommencement of demining operations and clearance of the remaining minefields,

Highlighting the importance of the activities of the Committee on Missing Persons in Cyprus, urging the opening up of access to all areas to allow the Committee to carry out its work, and trusting that this process will promote reconciliation between the communities,

Agreeing that active participation of civil society groups, including women's groups, is essential to the political process and can contribute to making any future settlement sustainable, recalling that women play an important role in peace processes, welcoming all efforts to promote bicomunal contacts and events, including on the part of all United Nations bodies on the island, and urging the two sides to promote the active engagement of civil society and the encouragement of cooperation between economic and commercial bodies and to remove all obstacles to such contacts,

Echoing the Secretary-General's gratitude to the Government of Cyprus and the Government of Greece for their voluntary contributions to the funding of the Force and his request for further voluntary contributions from other countries and organizations, and expressing its appreciation to Member States that contribute personnel to the Force,

Welcoming and encouraging efforts by the United Nations to sensitize peacekeeping personnel in the prevention and control of HIV/AIDS and other communicable diseases in all its peacekeeping operations,

1. Acknowledges the progress made so far in the fully fledged negotiations, but notes that this has not been sufficient and has not yet resulted in a comprehensive and durable settlement, and urges the sides to continue their discussions to reach decisive progress on the core issues;

“I have the honour to inform you that your letter dated 15 September 2011 concerning the temporary inter-mission transfer between the United Nations Operation in Côte d'Ivoire and the United Nations Mission in Liberia⁸¹ has been brought to the attention of the members of the Security Council. In your letter you sought the advance approval of the Council for the arrangements described therein. I further have the honour to confirm that the Council grants such approval.

“Your letter specifically contains the following recommendations: that the three armed attack helicopters concurrently redeployed from the United Nations Mission in Liberia to the United Nations Operation in Côte d'Ivoire must return to Liberia by 30 September 2011 and should be focused on the border with Côte d'Ivoire, except during the elections period; that, beyond the Liberian elections, though still based in Liberia, the armed helicopters should continue to be used in the border areas in both Liberia and Côte d'Ivoire, and also in western Côte d'Ivoire; that the Council authorize the temporary transfer from the Operation to the Mission of one infantry company comprising 150 personnel, as well as three formed police unit platoons with supporting elements, totalling 100 personnel, from 1 October to 30 November 2011; and that the Council authorize the Operation to place an infantry company comprising 150 personnel, two special forces platoons totalling 80 personnel, and two military utility helicopters on standby in Côte d'Ivoire during the period from 1 October to 30 November 2011, which would be deployed to Liberia only if the situation requires and

“The Council recalls that, in its resolution 1609 (2005), it authorized the temporary redeployment of military and civilian police personnel between the United Nations Mission in Liberia and the United Nations Operation in Côte d’Ivoire, subject to certain conditions, including the agreement of the troop-contributing countries and, where relevant, the Governments concerned. In its resolution 2008 (2011), the Council reaffirmed that arrangement, called upon troop-contributing countries to support the efforts of the Secretary-General in this regard, and reaffirmed the need for the Mission and the Operation to regularly coordinate their strategies and operations to contribute to subregional security. The Council notes that, in your letter, you indicated that you are in the process of seeking the consent of the troop- and police-contributing countries concerned for the temporary redeployment you have recommended. Consistent with resolution 2008 (2011), in order to provide support for the upcoming presidential and legislative elections in Liberia and mindful of the need to support the ability of the Operation to carry out its mandate, notably with regard to the expected legislative elections in Côte d’Ivoire and the cross-border security challenges for both Côte d’Ivoire and Liberia, the Council concurs with the temporary inter-mission transfer described above, provided that you receive the consent indicated above.

Resolution 1915 (2011) of 24 October 2011

The Security Council,

Recalling its previous resolutions concerning the situation in Somalia, especially resolutions 1918 (2010) of 27 April 2010 and 1976 (2011) of 11 April 2011,

Continuing to be gravely concerned by the growing threat that piracy and armed robbery at sea against vessels off the coast of Somalia pose to the situation in Somalia, States in the region and other States, as well as to international navigation, the safety of commercial maritime routes and the safety of seafarers and other persons, and also gravely concerned by the increased level of violence employed by pirates and persons involved in armed robbery at sea off the coast of Somalia,

Emphasizing the importance of finding a comprehensive solution to the problem of piracy and armed robbery at sea off the coast of Somalia,

¹⁰¹ S/2009/684.

¹⁰² S/PRST/2001/30.

Stressing the need to build Somalia's potential for sustainable economic growth as a means to tackle the underlying causes of piracy, including poverty, thus contributing to a durable eradication of piracy and armed robbery at sea off the coast of Somalia and illegal activities connected therewith,

Reaffirming its respect for the sovereignty, territorial integrity, political independence and unity of Somalia,

Reaffirming that international law, as reflected in the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea of 10 December 1982,¹⁰³ in particular articles 100, 101 and 105 thereof, sets out the legal framework applicable to combating piracy and armed robbery at sea, as well as other ocean activities,

Reaffirming also that the provisions of the present resolution apply only with respect to the situation in Somalia and do not affect the rights and obligations or responsibilities of Member States under international law,

Bearing in mind the Code of Conduct concerning the Repression of Piracy and Armed Robbery against Ships in the Western Indian Ocean and the Gulf of Aden (Djibouti Code of Conduct),¹⁰⁴ and recognizing the commitment of signatory States to review their national legislation with a view to ensuring that national laws to criminalize piracy and armed robbery against ships, and adequate guidelines for the exercise of jurisdiction, the conduct of investigations and prosecutions of alleged offenders, are in place,

Commending those States that have amended their domestic law in order to criminalize piracy and facilitate the prosecution of suspected pirates in their national courts consistent with applicable international law, including human rights law, and stressing the need for States to continue their efforts in this regard,

Recognizing that, despite the efforts to date by States to prosecute suspected pirates at the national level, the ongoing work in this regard is still insufficient and that more must be done to ensure that suspected pirates are effectively brought to justice,

Reiterating its concern over a large number of persons suspected of piracy having to be released without facing justice, reaffirming that the failure to prosecute persons responsible for acts of piracy and armed robbery at sea off the coast of Somalia undermines anti-piracy efforts of the international community, and being determined to create conditions to ensure that pirates are held accountable,

Noting with interest the conclusion in the report of the Secretary-General on the modalities for the establishment of specialized Somali anti-piracy courts¹⁰⁵ that, assuming that

Determining that the incidents of piracy and armed robbery at sea off the coast of Somalia exacerbate the situation in Somalia, which continues to constitute a threat to international peace and security in the region,

1. Reaffirms that the ultimate goal of enhancing Somali responsibility and active involvement in efforts to prosecute suspected pirates, as emphasized by the Special Adviser to the Secretary-General on Legal Issues related to Piracy off the Coast of Somalia in his report transmitted to the Security Council on 19 January 2011,¹⁰⁶ remains highly relevant in the overall context of fighting piracy;

2. Recognizes the primary role of the Transitional Federal Government and the relevant Somali regional authorities in eradicating piracy off the coast of Somalia;

4. Takes note with appreciation of the report of the Secretary-General on the modalities for the establishment of specialized Somali anti-piracy courts prepared pursuant to paragraph 26 of resolution 1976 (2011),¹⁰⁵

6. Calls upon States to cooperate also, as appropriate, on the prosecution of suspected pirates for taking hostages;

7. Reiterates its request, as a matter of urgency, to the Transitional Federal Government and relevant Somali regional authorities to elaborate, with the assistance of the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime and the United Nations Development Programme, and adopt a complete set of counter-piracy laws, including laws to prosecute those who illicitly finance, plan, organize, facilitate or profit from pirate attacks, with a view to ensuring the effective prosecution of suspected pirates and those associated with piracy attacks in Somalia, the post-conviction transfer of pirates prosecuted elsewhere to Somalia and the imprisonment of convicted pirates in Somalia, as soon as possible, and strongly urges the Transitional Federal Government and regional authorities of Somalia to expeditiously address any other existing obstacles that impede progress in this regard, and requests the Transitional Federal Government and relevant regional authorities of Somalia to provide a report to the Council by 31 December 2011 on action taken in each of the areas above;

¹⁰⁶ S/2011/30, annex.

12. Commends the ongoing work of the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime and the United Nations Development Programme, as described in the report of the Secretary-General, in supporting counter-piracy trials and increased prison capacity in Somalia, consistent with the recommendation of the Special Adviser to the Secretary-General on Legal Issues related to Piracy off the Coast of Somalia;

13. Reaffirms that the efforts to promote effective judicial mechanisms to prosecute suspected pirates should be continued and intensified;

15. Requests States and regional organizations to consider possible ways to seek and allow for the effective contribution of the Somali diaspora to anti-piracy efforts, in particular in the area of prosecution, as advised in the report of the Secretary-General;

16. Decides to continue its consideration, as a matter of urgency, without prejudice to any further steps to ensure that pirates are held accountable, of the establishment of specialized anti-piracy courts in Somalia and other States in the region with substantial international participation and/or support, and requests that the Secretary-General, in conjunction with the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime and the United Nations Development Programme, further consult with Somalia and regional States willing to establish such anti-piracy courts on the kind of international assistance, including the provision of international personnel, that would be required to help to make such courts operational; the procedural arrangements required for the transfer of apprehended pirates and related evidence; the projected case capacity of such courts; and the projected timeline and costs for such courts, and to provide to the Council in the light of such consultations within ninety days detailed implementation proposals for the establishment of such courts, as appropriate;

17. Underlines the importance for such courts to have jurisdiction to be exercised over not only suspects captured at sea, but also anyone who incites or intentionally facilitates piracy operations, including key figures of criminal networks involved in piracy who illicitly plan, organize, facilitate or finance and profit from such attacks;

18. Recognizes that any increase in prosecution capacity must necessarily be accompanied by a related increase in prison capacity, and calls upon both Somali authorities, the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime, the United Nations Development Programme and other international partners to support the construction and responsible operation of prisons in Somalia in accordance with international law;

19. Calls upon Member States, regional organizations and other appropriate partners to support efforts to establish specialized anti-piracy courts in the region by making or facilitating arrangements for the provision of international experts, including those from the Somali diaspora, through secondment or otherwise, and to otherwise support the work of the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime, the United Nations Development Programme or others in this regard through contributions to the Trust Fund to Support Initiatives of States Countering Piracy off the Coast of Somalia;

Resolution 2020 (2011) of 22 November 2011

The Security Council,

Recalling its previous resolutions concerning the situation in Somalia, especially resolutions 1814 (2008) of 15 May 2008, 1816 (2008) of 2 June 2008, 1838 (2008) of 7 October 2008, 1844 (2008) of 20 November 2008, 1846 (2008) of 2 December 2008, 1851 (2008) of 16 December 2008, 1897 (2009) of 30 November 2009, 1918 (2010) of 27 April 2010, 1950 (2010) of 23 November 2010, 1976 (2011) of 11 April 2011 and 2015 (2011) of 24 October 2011, as well as the statement by its President of 25 August 2010,¹⁰⁷

Continuing to be gravely concerned by the ongoing threat that piracy and armed robbery at sea against vessels pose to the prompt, safe and effective delivery of humanitarian aid to Somalia and the region, to the safety of seafarers and other persons, to international navigation and the safety of commercial maritime routes and to other vulnerable ships, including fishing activities in conformity with international law, and also gravely concerned by the extended range of the piracy threat into the western Indian Ocean and adjacent sea areas and the increase in pirate capacities,

Expressing its concern about the reported involvement of children in piracy off the coast of Somalia,

Recognizing that the ongoing instability in Somalia contributes to the problem of piracy and armed robbery at sea off the coast of Somalia, and stressing the need for a comprehensive response by the international community to repress piracy and armed robbery at sea and tackle its underlying causes,

¹⁰⁷ S/PRST/2010/16.

Recognizing also the need to investigate and prosecute not only suspects captured at sea, but also anyone who incites or intentionally facilitates piracy operations, including key figures of criminal networks involved in piracy who illicitly plan, organize, facilitate or finance and profit from such attacks, and reiterating its concern over a large number of persons suspected of piracy having to be released without facing justice, reaffirming that the failure to prosecute persons responsible for acts of piracy and armed robbery at sea off the coast of Somalia undermines anti-piracy efforts of the international community, and being determined to create conditions to ensure that pirates are held accountable,

Reaffirming its respect for the sovereignty, territorial integrity, political independence and unity of Somalia, including Somalia's rights with respect to offshore natural resources, including fisheries, in accordance with international law, recalling the importance of preventing, in accordance with international law, illegal fishing and illegal dumping, including of toxic substances, stressing the need to investigate allegations of such illegal fishing and dumping, and taking note with appreciation in this respect of the report of the Secretary-General on the protection of Somali natural resources and waters prepared pursuant to paragraph 7 of Security Council resolution 1976 (2011),¹⁰⁸

Further reaffirming that international law, as reflected in the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea of 10 December 1982,¹⁰³ sets out the legal framework applicable to combating piracy and armed robbery at sea, as well as other ocean activities,

Again taking into account the crisis situation in Somalia and the limited capacity of the Transitional Federal Government to interdict or, upon interdiction, to prosecute pirates or to patrol or secure the waters off the coast of Somalia, including the international sea lanes and Somalia's territorial waters,

Noting the several requests of the Transitional Federal Government for international assistance to counter piracy off the coast of Somalia, including the letter dated 10 November 2011 from the Permanent Representative of Somalia to the United Nations expressing the appreciation of the Transitional Federal Government to the Security Council for its assistance, expressing the willingness of the Transitional Federal Government to consider working with other States and regional organizations to combat piracy and armed robbery at sea off the coast of Somalia, and requesting that the provisions of resolution 1897 (2009) be renewed for an additional twelve months,

Commending the efforts of the European Union operation Atalanta, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization operations Allied Protector and Ocean Shield, the Combined Maritime Forces' Combined Task Force 151 and other States acting in a national capacity in cooperation with the Transitional Federal Government and each other to suppress piracy and to protect vulnerable ships transiting through the waters off the coast of Somalia, and welcoming the efforts of individual countries, including China, India, Iran (Islamic Republic of), Japan, Malaysia, the Republic of Korea, the Russian Federation, Saudi Arabia and Yemen, which have deployed ships and/or aircraft in the region, as stated in the report of the Secretary-General,¹⁰⁹

Noting with concern that the continuing limited capacity and domestic legislation to facilitate the custody and prosecution of suspected pirates after their capture has hindered more robust international action against the pirates off the coast of Somalia, and in some cases has led to pirates being released without facing justice, regardless of whether there is sufficient evidence to support prosecution, and reiterating that, consistent with the provisions of the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea concerning the repression of piracy, the Convention for the Suppression of Unlawful Acts against the Safety of Maritime Navigation of 10 March 1988¹¹⁰ provides for parties to create criminal offences, establish jurisdiction and accept delivery of persons responsible for or suspected of seizing or exercising control over a ship by force or threat thereof or any other form of intimidation,

Underlining the importance of continuing to enhance the collection, preservation and transmission to competent authorities of evidence of acts of piracy and armed robbery at sea off the coast of Somalia, and welcoming the ongoing work of the International Maritime Organization, the International Criminal Police Organization (INTERPOL) and industry groups to develop guidance to seafarers on the preservation of crime scenes following acts of piracy, and noting the importance for the successful prosecution of acts of piracy of enabling seafarers to give evidence in criminal proceedings,

Noting the consensus at the ninth plenary session of the Contact Group on Piracy off the Coast of Somalia on 14 July 2011 to establish a formal Working Group 5 on illicit financial flows linked to piracy off the coast of Somalia,

Recognizing that pirates are turning increasingly to kidnapping and hostage-taking and that these activities help to generate funding to purchase weapons, gain recruits and continue their operational activities, thereby jeopardizing the safety and security of innocent civilians and restricting the flow of free commerce,

Reaffirming international condemnation of acts of kidnapping and hostage-taking, including acts condemned in the International Convention against the Taking of Hostages,¹¹¹ and strongly condemning the continuing practice of hostage-taking by suspected pirates operating off the coast of Somalia, expressing serious concern at the inhuman conditions that hostages face in captivity, recognizing the adverse impact on their families, calling for the immediate release of all hostages, and noting the importance of cooperation between Member States on the issue of hostage-taking and the need for the prosecution of suspected pirates for taking hostages,

Commending the efforts of Kenya and Seychelles to prosecute suspected pirates in their national courts, welcoming the engagement of Mauritius and the United Republic of Tanzania, and noting with appreciation the assistance being provided by the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime, the Trust Fund to Support Initiatives of States Countering Piracy off the Coast of Somalia and other international organizations and donors, in coordination with the Contact Group on Piracy off the Coast of Somalia, to support Kenya, Seychelles, Somalia and other States in the region, including Yemen, to take steps to prosecute, or incarcerate in a third State after prosecution elsewhere, pirates, including facilitators and financiers ashore, consistent with applicable international human rights law, and emphasizing the need for States and international organizations to further enhance international efforts in this regard,

¹¹¹ Ibid., vol. 1316, No. 21931.

Welcoming the readiness of the national and regional administrations of Somalia to cooperate with each other and with States that have prosecuted suspected pirates with a view to enabling convicted pirates to be repatriated back to Somalia under suitable prisoner transfer arrangements, consistent with applicable international law, including international human rights law,

Welcoming also the report of the Secretary-General, as requested in resolution 1950 (2010), on the implementation of that resolution and on the situation with respect to piracy and armed robbery at sea off the coast of Somalia,¹⁰⁹

Taking note with appreciation of the report of the Secretary-General on the modalities for the establishment of specialized Somali anti-piracy courts prepared pursuant to paragraph 26 of resolution 1976 (2011),¹⁰⁵ and the ongoing efforts within the Contact Group on Piracy off the Coast of Somalia and the United Nations Secretariat to explore possible additional mechanisms to effectively prosecute persons suspected of piracy and armed robbery at sea off the coast of Somalia, including those ashore who incite or intentionally facilitate acts of piracy,

Stressing the need for States to consider possible methods to assist the seafarers who are victims of pirates, and welcoming in this regard the ongoing work within the Contact Group on Piracy off the Coast of Somalia and the International Maritime Organization on developing guidelines for the care of seafarers and other persons who have been subjected to acts of piracy,

Noting with appreciation the ongoing efforts of the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime and the United Nations Development Programme to support efforts to enhance the capacity of the corrections system in Somalia, including regional authorities, notably with the support of the Trust Fund to Support Initiatives of States Countering Piracy off the Coast of Somalia, to incarcerate convicted pirates consistent with applicable international human rights law,

Bearing in mind the Djibouti Code of Conduct, and recognizing the efforts of signatory States to develop the appropriate regulatory and legislative frameworks to combat piracy, enhance their capacity to patrol the waters of the region, interdict suspect vessels and prosecute suspected pirates,

Emphasizing that peace and stability within Somalia, the strengthening of State institutions, economic and social development and respect for human rights and the rule of law are necessary to create the conditions for a durable eradication of piracy and armed robbery at sea off the coast of Somalia, and further emphasizing that Somalia's long-term security rests with the effective development by the Transitional Federal Government of the National Security Force, including the Somali Police Force, within the framework of the Djibouti Agreement and in line with a national security strategy,

Welcoming in this regard the fact that the road map to end the transition in Somalia, of 6 September 2011, calls for the Transitional Federal Government to develop counter-piracy policy and legislation in conjunction with regional entities, and the declaration of an exclusive economic zone, as key tasks of the transitional federal institutions, and notes that the Security Council has made its future support to the transitional federal institutions contingent upon the completion of the tasks contained in the road map,

Determining that the incidents of piracy and armed robbery at sea off the coast of Somalia exacerbate the situation in Somalia, which continues to constitute a threat to international peace and security in the region,

Acting under Chapter VII of the Charter of the United Nations,

1. Reiterates that it condemns and deplores all acts of piracy and armed robbery against vessels in the waters off the coast of Somalia;

2. Recognizes that the ongoing instability in Somalia is one of the underlying causes of the problem of piracy and contributes to the problem of piracy and armed robbery at sea off the coast of Somalia;

3. Stresses the need for a comprehensive response to repress piracy and tackle its underlying causes by the international community;
4. Recognizes the need to investigate and prosecute not only suspects captured at sea, but also anyone who incites or intentionally facilitates piracy operations, including key figures of criminal networks involved in piracy who illicitly plan, organize, facilitate or finance and profit from such attacks;
5. Calls upon States to cooperate also, as appropriate, on the issue of hostage-taking, and the prosecution of suspected pirates for taking hostages;

Mahiga, and the United Nations Political Office for Somalia in facilitating progress towards peace and stability in Somalia, as well as that of the Intergovernmental Authority on Development and the African Union. The Council welcomes the relocation of the United Nations Political Office for Somalia to Mogadishu and encourages the United Nations to achieve a more permanent, full relocation to Somalia when security conditions allow.

“The Council pays tribute to the contribution of the African Union Mission in Somalia and the Somali national security forces to achieving a more peaceful and stable Somalia, and expresses its appreciation for the commitment of troops by troop-contributing countries to the Mission and the significant sacrifices made by both Mission and Somali forces. In this regard, the Council recalls its resolution 2036 (2012) authorizing an expansion of the Mission, increasing the scale and scope of the United Nations logistical support package to enhance the predictability, sustainability and flexibility of the financing of the Mission, and imposing an international ban on Somali charcoal. The Council welcomes the valuable financial support provided by the African Union’s partners to the Mission, including through bilateral support programmes from the United States of America and from the African Peace Facility of the European Union. The Council stresses the need for continued support to the Mission and calls for further support from existing and new partners to provide equipment, funding for troop stipends to the Mission and uncaveated funding, including through the United Nations trust fund for the Mission.

“The Council recalls its resolutions 1674 (2006), 1738 (2006) and 1894 (2009) on the protection of civilians in armed conflict, welcomes the progress made by the Mission in reducing civilian casualties during its operations and urges the Mission to continue to undertake enhanced efforts in this regard.

“The Council emphasizes the importance of effective governance in Somalia and the delivery of basic services to the Somali people throughout Somalia. The Council underlines the need for further efforts to fight corruption and promote transparency in Somalia, and welcomes initiatives to increase transparency and accountability in the collection, and efficient use, of Somali public revenues.

“The Council underlines that the development of the Somali security forces and institutions is vital to ensure Somalia’s long-term security and stability and calls upon the international community, in coordination with the United Nations and the Mission, to provide increased support to the Somali security and justice sectors. The Council fully supports the training of Somali security forces through the bilateral support programmes of Member States and the European Union Training Mission for Somalia.

“The Council supports efforts to expand existing stabilization plans in Somalia to new sectors, welcomes increased international support to areas of stability, including through a new stability fund, and encourages further efforts to address Somalia’s long-term reconstruction and economic development.

“The Council recognizes that, while the famine may have ended in Somalia, there are significant ongoing humanitarian needs. The Council underlines the high number of internally displaced persons in Somalia who urgently need support, and persons in need of emergency relief. The Council emphasizes the need for the international community to provide well coordinated, timely and sustained humanitarian assistance to the Somali people, and to help to build their resistance to future shocks, and stresses the importance of upholding and respecting the humanitarian principles of humanity, neutrality, impartiality and independence. The Council demands that all parties ensure full and unhindered access for the timely delivery of humanitarian aid to persons in need of assistance across Somalia, consistent with relevant humanitarian and human rights law.

“The Council welcomes the fact that effective countermeasures have led to a substantial reduction in the number of successful piracy-related attacks, although it notes with concern the increased incidence of attempted attacks. The Council remains gravely concerned about the ongoing threat posed by piracy and armed robbery off the coast of Somalia, including the issue of hostage-taking and the increasing use of violence against hostages, and the extended range of the piracy threat into the western Indian Ocean and adjacent sea areas. The Council recognizes that the ongoing instability in Somalia contributes to the problem of piracy and armed robbery at sea, and stresses the need for a comprehensive response to repress piracy and armed robbery at sea and tackle its underlying causes. The Council welcomes the commitments made at the London Conference on new efforts to repress piracy, including efforts by bilateral donors and regional organizations to strengthen the capacity of Somalia and relevant States in the region to prosecute those responsible for acts of piracy and armed robbery off the coast of Somalia and to imprison convicted pirates.

“The Council remains gravely concerned about the threat posed to Somalia and the international community by terrorist attacks by Somali armed opposition groups, in particular Al-Shabaab, and welcomes the commitment made at the London Conference for renewed international action to address this threat, while ensuring full respect for the rule of law, human rights and international humanitarian law. The Council also stresses the importance of addressing conditions conducive to the spread of terrorism.

“The Council welcomes the intention of the Government of Turkey to hold a Conference on Somalia in Istanbul.

“The members of the Council will keep the situation in Somalia under close review.”

Resolution 2012 (2011)
of 14 October 2011

The Security Council,

Reaffirming its previous resolutions on Haiti, in particular resolutions 1542 (2004) of 30 April 2004, 1576 (2004) of 29 November 2004, 1608 (2005) of 22 June 2005, 1658 (2006) of 14 February 2006, 1702 (2006) of 15 August 2006, 1743 (2007) of 15 February 2007, 1780 (2007) of 15 October 2007, 1840 (2008) of 14 October 2008, 1892 (2009) of 13 October 2009, 1908 (2010) of 19 January 2010, 1927 (2010) of 4 June 2010 and 1944 (2010) of 14 October 2010,

Reaffirming its strong commitment to the sovereignty, independence, territorial integrity and unity of Haiti,

Recognizing that Haiti has made considerable strides since the tragic earthquake of 12 January 2010, in particular that, for the first time in its history, Haiti has experienced a peaceful transfer of power between one democratically elected president and another from the opposition,

Recognizing also, as has the Government of Haiti, that the overall security situation, while fragile, has improved since the adoption of resolutions 1908 (2010), 1927 (2010) and 1944 (2010), allowing a partial drawdown of the military and police capabilities of the United Nations Stabilization Mission in Haiti as the first step to ending the temporary surge capacities decided by the Security Council after the earthquake, while continuing to adapt the strength of the Mission without undermining the security and stability of Haiti, and recognizing the importance of condition-based and security-related decisions about the future of the Mission,

Welcoming the appointment of a Prime Minister and a Supreme Court President, and calling upon all the relevant political actors in Haiti, in particular the executive and legislative branches, to engage in an effective dialogue towards a political agreement that would consolidate a concrete forward agenda for progress in key areas, such as Haiti's security, budget, recovery and development priorities, elections and electoral reform, including the participation of women in the electoral processes and the completion of constitutional reform,

Acknowledging that Haiti continues to face significant humanitarian challenges, with more than 600,000 internally displaced persons still dependent on assistance for their basic survival, an ongoing cholera epidemic and an extreme vulnerability to natural disasters,

Emphasizing that progress in the recovery and reconstruction of Haiti, as well as in Haiti's social and economic development, including through effective international development assistance and increased Haitian institutional capacity to benefit from this assistance, is crucial to achieving lasting and sustainable stability, and reiterating the need for security to be accompanied by social and economic development,

Stressing the leading role of the Government of Haiti in the post-disaster recovery and reconstruction process, including risk reduction and preparedness efforts, and underlining the necessity for increased coordination and complementary efforts among all United Nations actors and other relevant stakeholders in assisting the Government in this regard, as well as in the overall support to Haiti's social and economic development,

Recognizing the work done so far by the Interim Haiti Recovery Commission, to which the United Nations continues to provide coherent policy advice and technical support, and also by the Haiti Reconstruction Fund, which both play a central role in the medium- and long-term reconstruction efforts in Haiti,

Commending the wide range of recovery efforts undertaken by the United Nations system in Haiti, especially the United Nations-supported housing and debris removal programmes and the successful use of military engineering units of the Mission to address urgent needs in the immediate aftermath of the 12 January 2010 earthquake, emphasizing the importance of increasing the participation of Haitian authorities and international and civilian actors in these tasks,

Urging donors to fulfil without delay the pledges made at the International Donors' Conference entitled "Towards a New Future for Haiti", held in New York on 31 March 2010, in order to continue producing tangible and visible reconstruction dividends, and underlining national responsibility to provide clear guidance and priorities,

Emphasizing the role of regional organizations in the ongoing process of stabilization and reconstruction of Haiti, and calling upon the Mission to continue to work closely with regional and subregional organizations, international financial institutions and other stakeholders, in particular the Organization of American States and the Caribbean Community,

Recognizing the interconnected nature of the challenges in Haiti, reaffirming that sustainable progress on security, the rule of law and institutional reform, national reconciliation and development is mutually reinforcing, and welcoming the continuing efforts of the Government of Haiti and the international community to address these challenges,

Expressing its concern that criminal gangs remain a threat to the stability of Haiti,

Recognizing that the overall security situation has improved, but further expressing its concern that trends since the earthquake reveal an increase in all major categories of crime, including murder, rape and kidnapping, in Port-au-Prince and the West Department,

Acknowledging that sexual and gender-based violence remains a serious concern, particularly in marginalized districts of Port-au-Prince, camps for internally displaced persons and remote areas of the country,

Welcoming the efforts of the Haitian National Police to increase patrolling and enhance its presence and direct engagement with the population, which may have contributed to an increase in the reporting of crimes,

Recognizing that strengthening national human rights institutions and respect for human rights, due process, combating criminality and sexual and gender-based violence, and putting an end to impunity are essential to ensuring the rule of law and security in Haiti,

Recognizing also the critical role of the Mission in ensuring stability and security in Haiti and recognizing further the complementary roles that the Mission and the United Nations country team have fulfilled to date in assisting Haiti in its recovery efforts, reaffirming the authority of the Special Representative of the Secretary-General for Haiti in the coordination and conduct of all activities of United Nations agencies, funds and programmes in Haiti, and stressing the importance of the Special Representative ensuring further coordination between the Mission and the United Nations country team in connection with the aspects of their respective mandates that are correlated, with special attention to the strengthening of Haitian institutional capabilities, including in the areas of reconstruction and development,

Commending the Mission for continuing to assist the Government of Haiti to ensure a secure and stable environment, expressing its gratitude to the personnel of the Mission and to their countries, and paying tribute to those injured or killed in the line of duty,

Welcoming the commitment by the Government of Haiti to strengthen the rule of law, and calling upon the Government, in coordination with the international community, to continue to advance security sector reform, including, in particular, the development and implementation of the next five-year Haitian National Police development plan, which will take effect after December 2011, underscoring the need for the Government, with the assistance of the international community, as requested, to take steps to ensure that the Haitian National Police meets the benchmarks for reform contained in the plan, and encouraging the Government, with the support of the Mission, to regularly inform the Haitian people of progress towards these benchmarks,

Underscoring the importance of the Haitian National Police being adequately funded, and encouraging the Government of Haiti to take advantage of the support being provided by the international community to guarantee the provision of adequate security for the Haitian people,

Underlining the need to further strengthen the Haitian judicial and correctional systems, in order to support a more integrated and cohesive Haitian security sector, welcoming the improvements in the judiciary towards the availability of adequate human and material capabilities, and acknowledging that the attendant human rights concerns that still remain in the correctional system, such as prolonged pretrial detentions, prison overcrowding and access to health care services, are significant challenges to sustainable administrative reforms,

Welcoming the efforts of the former President of the United States of America, Mr. William J. Clinton, as the United Nations Special Envoy for Haiti, to enhance the United Nations recovery response, in both humanitarian and development operations as well as tracking aid pledges and disbursement of funds, liaising with the Interim Haiti Recovery Commission and the international financial institutions, and working to ensure coherence across United Nations operations in Haiti, and noting the importance of regular reporting on these activities,

Stressing the importance of a strong coordination among the Office of the Special Envoy and other United Nations entities and Member States, and stressing the need for coordination among all international actors on the ground,

Underlining the need for the implementation of highly effective and visible labour-intensive projects that help to create jobs and deliver basic social services,

Welcoming the report of the Secretary-General of 25 August 2011,¹⁶⁴

“The Council welcomes the report of the Secretary-General of 29 September 2011 on women and peace and security,²³⁷ and takes note of the analysis and recommendations it contains on progress in implementing commitments on women and peace and security, including on the representation and participation of women in decision-making forums, institutions and mechanisms related to the prevention and resolution of armed conflict and to peacebuilding.

“The Council welcomes the commitments and efforts of Member States, regional organizations and the Secretary-General to implement its resolutions on women and peace and security. The Council, however, remains concerned about the persistence of gaps and challenges that seriously hinder the implementation of resolution 1325 (2000), including the continued low number of women in formal institutions of conflict prevention and resolution, particularly in preventive diplomacy and mediation efforts.

“The Council stresses the importance of promoting and protecting the human rights of women and girls in the context of the implementation of resolution 1325 (2000), fully implementing international humanitarian law and human rights law in armed conflict and post-conflict situations, increasing women’s participation in conflict prevention, resolution and peacebuilding and incorporating a gender perspective into United Nations field missions.

“The Council welcomes the contributions and role of the United Nations Entity for Gender Equality and the Empowerment of Women (UN-Women) in implementing resolutions on women and peace and security. The Council expresses its intention to welcome briefings by the Under-Secretary-General and Executive Director of UN-Women. The Council notes with satisfaction the increased coordination and coherence in policy and programming for women and girls within the United Nations system since the creation of UN-Women. to Member States to continue to implement resolution 1325 (2000), including through the development of national action plans or other national-level strategies.

“The Council recalls the statement by its President of 22 September 2011²³⁸ on preventive diplomacy, in which it, inter alia, recognized the important role of women in the prevention and resolution of conflicts and in peacebuilding, and reiterated its call to increase the equal participation, representation and full involvement of women in preventive diplomacy efforts. The Council recalls General Assembly resolution 65/283 on strengthening the role of mediation in the peaceful settlement of disputes, conflict prevention and resolution and the encouragement it contains to promote equal, full and effective participation of women in all forums and at all levels of the peaceful settlement of disputes, conflict prevention and resolution, particularly at the decision-making level.

“The Council encourages efforts by Member States, the United Nations Secretariat, United Nations field missions, United Nations agencies, funds and programmes, international financial institutions and regional and subregional organizations to, as appropriate, provide support and strengthen the capacities of relevant government institutions and women’s organizations engaged in issues related to armed conflict or post-conflict situations. The Council underlines the importance of the participation of women in conflict prevention and resolution efforts, including in the negotiation and implementation of peace agreements, as well as international dialogues, contact groups, engagement conferences and donor conferences in support of conflict resolution. In this regard, the Council reiterates the need to support, as appropriate, local women’s peace initiatives, processes for conflict resolution and initiatives that involve women in implementation mechanisms of the peace agreements, including through the local-level presence of United Nations field missions.

“The Council acknowledges the significant contribution that women can have in conflict prevention and mediation efforts and encourages Member States and international and regional organizations to take measures to increase the number of women involved in mediation efforts and the number of women in representative roles in regional and international organizations. The Council therefore stresses the importance of creating enabling conditions for women’s participation during all stages of peace processes and for countering negative societal attitudes regarding full and equal participation of women in conflict resolution and mediation.

“The Council continues to encourage Member States to deploy greater numbers of female military and police personnel to United Nations peacekeeping operations and reiterates that all military and police personnel should be provided with adequate training to carry out their responsibilities.

“The Council encourages negotiating parties and mediation teams to adopt a gender perspective in negotiating and implementing peace agreements and to facilitate increased representation of women in peacebuilding forums. In this regard, the Council requests the Secretary-General and relevant United Nations entities to assist, as appropriate, in enabling regular consultations between women’s groups and relevant participants in conflict mediation and peacebuilding processes. The Council also requests the Secretary-General to ensure that regular briefings are provided to his mediators and their teams on gender issues relevant to peace agreement provisions and specific obstacles to full and equal political participation of women.

“The Council thanks the Secretary-General for his report on conflict-related sexual violence,²⁴⁰ and takes note of the analysis and recommendations contained therein.

“The Council is deeply concerned about incidents, trends and patterns of sexual violence in armed conflict and post-conflict situations, including the deliberate targeting of civilians for sexual violence, inter alia, for political motivations, and its use as a tactic of war. The Council further notes with concern that sexual violence disproportionately affects women and girls, while also affecting men and boys. ²³⁹ S/PRST/2012/3.

²⁴⁰ S/2012/33.

“In the context of the full implementation of resolution 1960 (2010), the Council stresses the need for continued timely, verified and accurate data collection through the monitoring, analysis and reporting arrangements on sexual violence in situations of armed conflict and post-conflict and other situations relevant to the implementation of resolution 1888 (2009), which will contribute to better informed discussions and assist the consideration by the Council of appropriate action, possibly including targeted and graduated measures. The Council stresses that approaches to data collection and reporting should adhere to safe and ethical practices and maintain the dignity of the victim at all times.

“The Council stresses the importance of prevention, early warning and effective response to sexual violence when it is used as a tactic of war or as part of a widespread or systematic attack against civilian populations.

“The Council encourages United Nations peacekeeping missions to draw upon, where appropriate, the United Nations Action against Sexual Violence in Conflict publication which compiles peacekeeping practices, as a reference tool to prevent sexual violence more effectively.

“The Council urges all parties to conflict to comply fully with their obligations under applicable international law, including the prohibition of all forms of sexual violence. The Council reiterates its strong condemnation of all violations of applicable international law, including international humanitarian law and international human rights law, in armed conflict and post-conflict situations, in particular acts of sexual violence. The Council urges the complete cessation of such acts with immediate effect. The Council notes that impunity for perpetrators can undermine confidence in existing institutions and promote instability.

“The Council reiterates that the fight against impunity for the most serious crimes of international concern committed against women and girls has been strengthened through the work of the International Criminal Court, ad hoc and mixed tribunals, as well as specialized chambers in national tribunals. The Council also reiterates its intention to enhance its efforts to fight impunity and uphold accountability for serious crimes against women and girls with appropriate means and draws attention to the full range of justice and reconciliation mechanisms to be considered, including national, international and mixed criminal courts and tribunals, truth and reconciliation commissions, as well as national reparation programmes for victims, institutional reforms and traditional dispute resolution mechanisms.

“The Council encourages Member States and the United Nations system to continue raising awareness of the impact that sexual violence in armed conflict and post-conflict situations has on victims, families, communities and societies. The Council stresses the importance of countering negative societal attitudes towards survivors of sexual violence that can lead to their exclusion from communities or other discriminatory practices.

“The Council calls upon Member States with the support of the United Nations system and other relevant stakeholders to increase access to health care, psychosocial support, legal assistance and socioeconomic reintegration services for victims of sexual violence, in particular in rural areas. The Council stresses the importance of ensuring that such incidents can be reported safely.

“The Council continues to encourage Member States to deploy greater numbers of female military and police personnel to United Nations peacekeeping operations and reiterates that all United Nations military and police personnel, and other personnel should be provided with adequate training, including on sexual and gender-based violence, to carry out their responsibilities. The Council acknowledges the efforts of the Secretary-General to continue and strengthen efforts to implement the zero-tolerance policy on sexual exploitation and abuse by all United Nations personnel. The Council looks forward to the deployment of women’s protection advisers to United Nations missions, as called for in resolutions 1888 (2009), 1889 (2009) and 1960 (2010).

“The Council reiterates the important role of women in the prevention and resolution of conflict and in peacebuilding. The Council notes with concern the continuing underrepresentation of women in formal peace processes and recognizes the efforts of the Secretary-General to address this underrepresentation. In this regard, the Council reiterates the call made by the General Assembly in its resolution 66/130 to increase the role of women in decision-making with regard to conflict prevention and resolution in accordance with Council resolution 1325 (2000).

“The Council reiterates the importance of addressing sexual violence issues from the outset of peace processes, mediation efforts, ceasefires and peace agreements, particularly in provisions for security arrangements, transitional justice and reparations. The Council stresses the need for mediators and ceasefire monitors to be properly trained to address sexual violence.

“The Council stresses the importance of addressing sexual violence in armed conflict and post-conflict situations in the context of security sector reform initiatives and arrangements, including training, vetting and capacity-building of national security actors.

“The Council commends the work of the Special Representative of the Secretary-General on Sexual Violence in Conflict in carrying out her mandate in accordance with relevant resolutions of the Council. “The Council reaffirms its commitment to international law and the Charter of the United Nations and to an international order based on the rule of law and international law, which are essential for cooperation among States in addressing common challenges, thus contributing to the maintenance of international peace and security.

“The Council is committed to and actively supports the peaceful settlement of disputes and reiterates its call upon Member States to settle their disputes by peaceful means as set forth in Chapter VI of the Charter. The Council emphasizes the key role of the International Court of Justice, the principal judicial organ of the United Nations, in adjudicating disputes among States and the value of its work. To this end the Council calls upon States that have not yet done so to consider accepting the jurisdiction of the Court in accordance with its Statute.

“The Council reiterates its concern over the devastation and suffering caused by armed conflict and emphasizes the need to prevent conflict and, where conflict has already broken out, to restore peace and security. The Council acknowledges that political will and the concerted efforts of both national Governments and the international community are critical to preventing conflict and achieving success in the restoration of and respect for the rule of law.

“The Council reiterates its concern about the situation of the most vulnerable in societies affected by armed conflict, including women and children as well as other vulnerable groups and displaced persons. The Council expresses particular concern about sexual and gender-based violence in conflict situations and recalls in this regard resolution 1325 (2000) and other relevant resolutions.

“The Council reaffirms that sustainable peace requires an integrated approach based on coherence between political, security, development, human rights, including gender equality, and rule of law and justice activities. In this regard the Council emphasizes the importance of the rule of law as one of the key elements of conflict prevention, peacekeeping, conflict resolution and peacebuilding.

“The Council recognizes the importance of national ownership in rule of law assistance activities, strengthening justice and security institutions that are accessible and responsive to citizens’ needs and which promote social cohesion and economic prosperity. In this regard, the Council takes note of the initiatives being taken by some conflict-affected countries to help to ensure national ownership in rule of law assistance activities and improve the quality of support to those countries.

“The Council recognizes the need for enhanced efforts aimed at capacity-building in justice and security institutions, especially in the police, prosecutorial, judicial and corrections sectors. In this regard, the Council notes the need for increased efforts to ensure that conflict-affected countries are able to access a broad range of relevant expertise, in particular from developing countries, in order to effectively build the capacity of justice and security institutions.

“The Council welcomes efforts by the Rule of Law Unit and the Rule of Law Coordination and Resource Group within existing mandates and encourages further efforts to ensure greater coordination and coherence in rule of law activities in conflict-affected societies. The Council further emphasizes the responsibility of States to comply with their relevant obligations to end impunity and to thoroughly investigate and prosecute persons responsible for war crimes, genocide, crimes against humanity or other serious violations of international humanitarian law in order to prevent violations, avoid their recurrence and seek sustainable peace, justice, truth and reconciliation.

“The Council recalls the statement by its President of 29 June 2010,²⁶⁶ which included the contribution of the International Criminal Court, ad hoc and mixed tribunals, as well as chambers in national tribunals to the fight against impunity for the most serious crimes of concern to the international community. In this regard, the Council reiterates its previous call on the importance of State cooperation with these courts and tribunals in accordance with the respective obligations of States.

“The Council reaffirms that the failure to prosecute persons responsible for acts of piracy and armed robbery at sea off the coast of Somalia, including hostage-taking, negatively affects the rule of law, and recalls its decision, contained in resolution 2015 (2011), to continue consideration, as a matter of urgency, without prejudice to any further steps to ensure that pirates are held accountable, of the establishment of specialized anti-piracy courts in Somalia and other States in the region with substantial international participation and/or support.

“The Council considers sanctions an important tool in the maintenance and restoration of international peace and security. The Council reiterates the need to ensure that sanctions are carefully targeted in support of clear objectives and designed carefully so as to minimize possible adverse consequences and are implemented by Member States. The Council remains committed to ensure that fair and clear procedures exist for placing individuals and entities on sanctions lists and for removing them, as well as for granting humanitarian exemptions.

“The Council looks forward to the high-level meeting of the General Assembly on the rule of law at the national and international levels, to be held on 24 September 2012, and notes with appreciation the intention to extend an invitation to the President of the Council to participate in the event.

“The Council requests the Secretary-General to provide a follow-up report within 12 months to consider the effectiveness of the support by the United Nations system to the promotion of the rule of law in conflict and post-conflict situations.”

The Council encourages all Governments in the region, working through the Initiative, to renew and strengthen their collaboration to end the Lord’s Resistance Army threat. The Council also calls upon the African Union, the Lord’s Resistance Army-affected States and the international community to work together to secure the necessary resources for successful implementation. The Council welcomes the ongoing efforts of the African Union to increase tactical coordination, information-sharing and joint planning between the relevant militaries through the Regional Task Force, based in Yambio, South Sudan.

“The Council underlines the primary responsibility of States in the Lord’s Resistance Army-affected region to protect civilians and calls upon them to take all appropriate measures in this regard. The Council notes the important role being played by United Nations peacekeeping missions in the region in protecting civilians and stresses the need for continued coordination and information-sharing between these missions. The Council stresses the importance of coordination among humanitarian, development, gender, child protection, peacekeeping and military actors in the region. The Council recognizes the challenges that the Governments in the region face and urges the international community, in coordination with the African Union and the United Nations, to continue to strengthen the operational capabilities of countries participating in the Regional Task Force initiative in order to conduct effective operations against the Lord’s Resistance Army and better protect civilians. The Council underlines the need for all military action against the Lord’s Resistance Army to be conducted in compliance with applicable international law, including international humanitarian, human rights and refugee law, and to minimize the risk of harm to civilians in those areas.

“The Council encourages the remaining Lord’s Resistance Army fighters to leave the group’s ranks and participate in the disarmament, demobilization, repatriation, resettlement and reintegration process. The Council emphasizes its support for continued efforts across the affected countries to disarm, demobilize and reintegrate former Lord’s Resistance Army fighters back into normal life. The Council acknowledges the important ongoing efforts under the disarmament, demobilization, repatriation, resettlement and reintegration programme of the United Nations Organization Stabilization Mission in the Democratic Republic of the Congo to encourage and facilitate further Lord’s Resistance Army defections. The Council urges the Mission to continue to work with the United Nations Integrated Peacebuilding Office in the Central African Republic, the United Nations Mission in South Sudan and other United Nations actors in the Lord’s Resistance Army-affected region to help to implement a coordinated region-wide effort to promote defections and support the disarmament, demobilization, repatriation, resettlement and reintegration efforts across the Lord’s Resistance Army-affected area. The Council calls upon international partners to provide strategic support.

“The Council recalls the arrest warrants issued by the International Criminal Court for Mr. Joseph Kony and two other senior Lord’s Resistance Army leaders on charges of, inter alia, war crimes and crimes against humanity, including murder, rape and the enlistment of children through abduction, and calls upon all States to cooperate with the Ugandan authorities and the Court in order to implement those warrants and to bring to justice those responsible for the atrocities. The Council recalls the statement by its President of 22 June 2006²⁷⁰ and reaffirms the vital importance of promoting justice and the rule of law, including respect for human rights, as an indispensable element for lasting peace.

“The Council commends efforts by international donors to provide humanitarian assistance to Lord’s Resistance Army-affected populations in the Central African Republic, the Democratic Republic of the Congo and South Sudan. The Council reiterates the need for an enhanced, comprehensive and more regional approach to the humanitarian situation, including assistance to victims of sexual violence and other attacks, and reaffirms the requirement for all parties to promote and ensure safe and unhindered access for humanitarian organizations to the civilian population, in accordance with international law, including applicable international humanitarian law, and guiding principles of humanitarian assistance.

“The Council requests that the Secretary-General keep it informed of the activities of the United Nations Regional Office for Central Africa, the progress of implementation of the regional strategy and the efforts being undertaken respectively by missions in the region and other relevant United Nations agencies to that end, including through a single report on the Regional Office and the Lord’s Resistance Army, to be submitted before 30 November 2012.”

“The Council demands that all parties cease military operations in the border areas and put an end to the cycle of violence. The Council condemns actions by any armed group aimed at the forced overthrow of the Government of either the Sudan or South Sudan. The Council affirms its strong commitment to the sovereignty and territorial integrity of both the Sudan and South Sudan.

“The Council reiterates that the core objectives of the international community and all stakeholders in the Sudan and South Sudan are the peaceful coexistence of two fully viable States, embracing democratic governance, the rule of law, accountability, equality, respect for human rights, justice and economic development, in particular the establishment of the conditions for conflict-affected communities to build strong and sustainable livelihoods.

“The Council recalls the Framework Agreement between the Government of the Sudan and the Sudan People’s Liberation Movement-North on Political and Security Arrangements for Blue Nile and Southern Kordofan States of 28 June 2011, and urges them to return to direct talks to resolve all political and security issues on the basis of the Comprehensive Peace Agreement of 9 January 2005²⁷⁷ and of the agreed principles of the Framework Agreement. The Council urges them to resolve the underlying issues that have fuelled the current conflict in Southern Kordofan and Blue Nile, to end all violence and to agree to an immediate cessation of hostilities. Underlining, without prejudice to the primary responsibility of the Council for the maintenance of international peace and security, the importance of the partnership between the United Nations and the African Union, consistent with Chapter VIII of the Charter of the United Nations, with regard to the maintenance of peace and security in Africa, particularly in the Sudan, and welcoming, in particular, the efforts of the African Union High-level Implementation Panel under the leadership of President Thabo Mbeki, working in cooperation with the African Union-United Nations Hybrid Operation in Darfur, to address in a comprehensive and inclusive manner the challenges of peace, justice and reconciliation in Darfur,

Welcoming the report of the Secretary-General of 16 July 2012 on the African Union-United Nations Hybrid Operation in Darfur,³⁰¹

Stressing the need for the Council to pursue a rigorous, strategic approach to peacekeeping deployments, with a view to enhancing the effectiveness of peacekeeping missions, encouraging the full implementation by the African Union-United Nations Hybrid Operation in Darfur of its Chapter VII mandate, underlining in this regard the importance of the Operation deterring any threats to the implementation of its mandate and the safety and security of its peacekeeping personnel in accordance with the Charter, and noting the need to raise the operational and self-sustainment capabilities of military and police contingents to the agreed levels,

Expressing deep concern at the increased violence and insecurity in some parts of Darfur in recent months and at confrontations between the Government of the Sudan and the armed groups, expressing deep concern that such clashes, including attacks by rebel groups and aerial bombardment by the Government, inter-tribal fighting, banditry and criminality, continue to threaten civilians and that attacks on humanitarian personnel and peacekeepers continue to restrict humanitarian access to conflict areas where vulnerable civilian populations reside, while noting the observation of the Secretary-General that the security situation in Darfur has improved since the deployment of the African Union-United Nations Hybrid Operation in Darfur, and calling upon all parties to cease hostilities, including all acts of violence committed against civilians, and urgently facilitate unhindered humanitarian access in accordance with international law, including applicable international humanitarian law and guiding principles of humanitarian assistance,

³⁰¹ S/2012/548.

Recalling the commitments made by the Government of the Sudan and the Liberation and Justice Movement in the Doha Document for Peace in Darfur to ensure the unimpeded access of humanitarian assistance to the population in need and the protection of humanitarian workers and their operations in areas under their control, as well as to guarantee the African Union-United Nations Hybrid Operation in Darfur unimpeded freedom of movement in all areas and at all times in Darfur in the exercise of its mandate,

Welcoming the potentially encouraging trend of voluntary returns of internally displaced persons and refugees to their villages and places of origin, which were, according to the figures available to the Secretary-General, greater than new displacements in recent months, but expressing deep concern that new displacements continue to occur and at the fact that approximately two million internally displaced persons and refugees remain displaced, recognizing that some displaced will settle permanently in urban areas, but underlining the need to ensure security in areas of return,

Expressing its concern about the hostilities between the Government of the Sudan and the Sudan Liberation Army, Abdul Wahid faction, the Sudan Liberation Army, Minni Minawi faction, and the Justice and Equality Movement, and reiterating that there can be no military solution to the conflict in Darfur and that an inclusive political settlement is essential to re-establishing peace,

Expressing its concern also about reported links between non-signatory armed groups in Darfur and groups outside Darfur, and demanding that any form of direct or indirect external support for such groups cease,

Reiterating its condemnation of all violations of international human rights and humanitarian law in Darfur and in relation to Darfur, calling upon all parties to comply with their obligations under international human rights and humanitarian law, emphasizing the need to bring to justice the perpetrators of such crimes, and urging the Government of the Sudan to comply with its obligations in this respect,

Reaffirming its concern over the negative effect of ongoing violence in Darfur on the stability of the Sudan as a whole as well as the region, welcoming improved relations between the Sudan and Chad, as well as the deployment of a joint force, including forces from the Central African Republic under a joint command along the border, and encouraging the Sudan, Chad and the Central African Republic to continue to cooperate in order to achieve peace and stability in Darfur and the wider region,

“Threats to international peace and security

“Securing borders against illicit cross-border trafficking and movement

“Letter dated 5 April 2012 from the Permanent Representative of the United States of America to the United Nations addressed to the Secretary-General (S/2012/195)”.

At the same meeting, in accordance with the understanding reached in its prior consultations, the Council also decided to extend invitations, under rule 39 of its provisional rules of procedure, to Mr. Thomas Mayr-Harting, Head of the Delegation of the European Union to the United Nations, and Mr. Tête António, Permanent Observer of the African Union to the United Nations.

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:³¹⁴

“The Security Council reaffirms its primary responsibility for the maintenance of international peace and security, in accordance with the Charter of the United Nations.

“The Council acknowledges the evolving challenges and threats to international peace and security, including armed conflicts, terrorism, the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction and small arms and light weapons, transnational organized crime, piracy and drug and human trafficking. The Council has addressed, when appropriate, related to these challenges and threats, illicit cross-border trafficking in arms, drug trafficking, trafficking by non-State actors in nuclear, chemical and biological weapons, their means of delivery and related materials, trafficking in conflict minerals and the movement of terrorists and their funds, in violation of United Nations sanctions regimes imposed by the Council in accordance with Chapter VII of the Charter and other decisions taken under Chapter VII, in particular resolutions 1373 (2001) and 1540 (2004) as well as its other relevant decisions (hereinafter ‘illicit cross-border trafficking and movement’). The Council is concerned that such illicit cross-border trafficking and movement contributes to these challenges and threats. The Council recognizes that such illicit cross-border trafficking and movement often involves cross-cutting issues, many of which are considered by the General Assembly and other United Nations organs and bodies.

“The Council notes relevant international conventions such as the Single Convention on Narcotic Drugs of 1961 as amended by the 1972 Protocol,³¹⁵ the Convention on Psychotropic Substances of 1971,³¹⁶ the United Nations Convention against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances of 1988,³¹⁷ the United Nations Convention against Transnational Organized Crime of 2000 and the Protocols thereto,³¹⁸ the United Nations Convention against Corruption of 2003³¹⁹ and the relevant international conventions and protocols related to terrorism. The Council recalls the Programme of Action to Prevent, Combat and Eradicate the Illicit Trade in Small Arms and Light Weapons in All Its Aspects³²⁰ as well as the International Instrument to Enable States to Identify and Trace, in a Timely and Reliable Manner, Illicit Small Arms and Light Weapons³²¹ and the United Nations Global Plan of Action to Combat Trafficking in Persons.³²²

“The Council reaffirms the benefits of transborder communication, international exchange and international migration. The Council notes, however, that the various challenges and threats to international peace and security posed by illicit cross-border trafficking and movement have increased as the world has become more interconnected. The Council notes that, in a globalized society, organized criminal groups and networks, better equipped with new information and communications technologies, are becoming more diversified and connected in their illicit operations, which in some cases may aggravate threats to international security.

“The Council reaffirms that securing their borders is the sovereign prerogative of Member States and, in this context, reaffirms its commitment to the purposes and principles of the Charter, including the principles of sovereign equality and territorial integrity. The Council calls upon all Member States to improve border management to effectively constrain the spread of transnational threats. The Council reaffirms that Member States shall refrain in their international relations from the threat or use of force against the territorial integrity or political independence of any State, and shall also give the United Nations every assistance in any action it takes in accordance with the Charter and shall refrain from giving assistance to any State against which the United Nations is taking preventive or enforcement action.

“The Council acknowledges that distinct strategies are required to address threats posed by illicit cross-border trafficking and movement. Nevertheless, the Council observes that illicit cross-border trafficking and movement is often facilitated by organized criminal groups and networks. The Council further notes that such illicit cross-border trafficking and movement, which in some cases exploits similar vulnerabilities experienced by Member States in securing their borders, can be addressed by improving the abilities of Member States to secure their borders. The Council further acknowledges the importance of adopting a comprehensive and balanced approach, as necessary, to tackle the conditions conducive to facilitating illicit cross-border trafficking and movement, including demand and supply factors, and underlines the importance of international cooperation in this regard.

The Council calls upon all Member States to fully respect and implement all of their relevant international obligations in this regard.

The Council acknowledges the importance of coherent, system-wide United Nations action, in order to offer coordinated responses to transnational threats, including through the use of best practices and exchange of positive experiences from relevant initiatives elsewhere, such as the Paris Pact initiative.³²³

“The Council invites the Secretary-General to submit in six months a report providing a comprehensive survey and assessment of the relevant work of the United Nations to help Member States to counter illicit cross-border trafficking and movement, as defined in the second paragraph above.”

The Council underlines the importance of the regular briefings it receives on such efforts and further calls upon the Secretary-General to continue this good practice.

“The Council recalls that a comprehensive conflict prevention strategy should include, inter alia, early warning, preventive deployment, mediation, peacekeeping, practical disarmament, accountability measures as well as post-conflict peacebuilding, and recognizes that these components are interdependent, complementary and non-sequential.

“The Council recognizes that conflict prevention strategies should address the root causes of armed conflict, and political and social crises in a comprehensive manner, including by promoting sustainable development, poverty eradication, national reconciliation, good governance, democracy, gender equality, end of impunity, the rule of law and respect for and protection of human rights.

“The Council encourages the peaceful settlement of local disputes through regional arrangements in accordance with Chapter VIII of the Charter. The Council acknowledges the efforts undertaken to strengthen operational and institutional cooperation between the United Nations and regional and subregional organizations for conflict prevention, and in this regard reiterates the need to continue strengthening strategic dialogue, partnerships and more regular exchange of views and information at the working level, with the aim of building national and regional capacities in relation to the preventive diplomacy tools of, inter alia, mediation, gathering and analysis of information, early warning, prevention and peacemaking.

Equally, security sector reform underscores that effectiveness, accountability and good governance are mutually reinforcing elements of security.

“The Council notes that the bulk of the international community’s assistance in the area of security sector reform takes place in and is directed to countries in Africa. At the same time, a number of African countries are becoming important providers of such assistance. The Council welcomes this intra-African collaboration and emphasizes that there is a need to expand the consideration given to African perspectives on security sector reform. This includes enhancing cooperation with regional and subregional organizations, as well as sharing knowledge and experience with women and members of civil society. Focusing security sector reform efforts on the needs and priorities of populations in post-conflict countries will considerably enhance the legitimacy, viability and sustainability of such support.

“The Council recognizes that security sector reform is a long-term process and reiterates the sovereign right and primary responsibility of the country concerned to determine its national approach and priorities for security sector reform. It should be a nationally owned process that is rooted in the particular needs and conditions of the country in question. The successful coordination of security sector reform efforts must be based on national consensus and driven by political leadership and political will to progress reform. In this regard, the Council underlines the responsibility of States to coordinate security sector reform support, including but not limited to establishing a strategic vision and the parameters for reform, identifying gaps and needs, prioritizing areas for technical support and avoiding duplication of donor efforts.

“The Council encourages reforming States, while taking into account their capacity constraints, to strive to allocate national resources to security sector reform efforts to ensure the long-term sustainability and viability of such reform. In this context, the Council emphasizes the importance of improving women’s participation in discussions pertinent to the prevention and resolution of conflict and the maintenance of peace and security, and encourages women to participate in the national armed and security forces in accordance with relevant international law. In this regard, the Council encourages the development of a security sector that is accessible and responsive to all, including women and other vulnerable groups.

“The Council recognizes the importance of regional frameworks as a foundation for multilateral security sector reform efforts. In this regard, the Council welcomes the partnership between the United Nations and the African Union in developing a continental security sector reform policy framework, for its implementation. The Council encourages other regions to consider establishing such partnerships in order to better facilitate the exchange of lessons learned and best practices, as well as develop regional frameworks for security sector reform support, reflecting the participation of regional and subregional organizations. The Council also recognizes the support provided by bilateral actors, as well as regional actors, including the European Union, to security sector reform efforts in Africa and other initiatives in the area of security sector reform in Africa carried out by organizations such as the Economic Community of West African States and the Community of Portuguese-speaking Countries.

“The Council recalls the previous statements by its President concerning the need for early and adequate support in priority areas of peacebuilding, including security sector reform, as well as the importance of security sector reform programmes for conflict prevention. In the light of ongoing conflict in Africa, the Council reiterates the link between security sector reform and socioeconomic development, and underlines that such reform efforts should be situated within the broader and more comprehensive spectrum of peacebuilding. In this regard, the Council emphasizes the important role of the Peacebuilding Commission and the Peacebuilding Fund in supporting security sector reform, including in African countries. The Council encourages the Commission to continue to promote coordination among and between national and external actors involved in security sector reform in the countries on its agenda.

“The Council underlines that United Nations support to security sector reform must take place within a broad framework of the rule of law and should contribute to the overall strengthening of the United Nations rule of law activities as well as wider reconstruction and development efforts. This will require continued coordination with relevant United Nations actors to ensure an increasingly coherent approach. In this context, the Council stresses the need for security sector reform efforts to be cognizant of the issue of impunity.

“The Council notes that peacekeeping has evolved significantly over the past decades from primarily monitoring ceasefires to complex multidimensional operations which seek to undertake peacebuilding tasks and address underlying causes of conflict. In this regard, the Council notes that an increasing number of peacekeeping and special political missions are mandated to support national security sector reform programmes, including those in Africa, through strategic assistance to develop security sector frameworks and capacity-building of the security and law enforcement institutions in key areas, including training in human rights, child protection and protection from sexual and gender-based violence. The Council stresses the need to continue to include, as appropriate, security sector reform aspects as an integral part of the planning of United Nations operations.

“The Council recognizes the important role that the United Nations has played in supporting national efforts to build sustainable security institutions, and commends the efforts of the United Nations, in particular the Department of Peacekeeping Operations of the Secretariat, including the Security Sector Reform Unit and the United Nations Inter-Agency Security Sector Reform Task Force, in further strengthening a comprehensive United Nations approach to security sector reform, through the development of guidance and civilian capacities, coordination mechanisms and collaboration with regional and subregional organizations, in particular the African Union.

“The Council requests the Secretary-General to submit, by early 2013, an assessment of the United Nations support for security sector reform, including those efforts in Africa, and to make recommendations on how best to strengthen the United Nations comprehensive approach to security sector reform, taking into account the linkages between United Nations assistance and conflict prevention and peacebuilding, and also taking into consideration the views of relevant United Nations organs and actors.”

“The Council is also strongly concerned by the increasing violence perpetrated by armed groups in the region, which has been exacerbated by the proliferation of weapons, from within and outside the region, that threaten the peace, security and stability of States, recalls in this context its resolution 2017 (2011) and its previous resolutions and the statements by its President on the impact of the transnational threats mentioned above and welcomes regional initiatives such as the Economic Community of West African States Convention on Small Arms and Light Weapons, Their Ammunition and Other Related Materials.

In a letter dated 21 February 2012, the President of the Security Council informed the Secretary-General of the selection of Colombia and Morocco as the two members of the Council’s elected member category for the Organizational Committee of the Peacebuilding Commission for a term of one year, until the end of 2012.⁴¹⁰

On 5 June 2012, the President of the Security Council issued the following note:⁴¹¹

“1. The members of the Security Council reaffirm their commitment to enhancing the efficiency of the work of the Council and agree on the following:

“Conference resources

“2. While ensuring the capacity to hold meetings of the Council at any time and at short notice, in accordance with rules 1 and 2 of its provisional rules of procedure, the members of the Council, during their respective presidencies, should ordinarily request the Secretariat to plan no more than four days per week of Council business, with Fridays normally being reallocated to facilitate the work of the subsidiary organs of the Council.

“3. Where appropriate, the members of the Council should ordinarily seek to avoid the need for draft resolutions or other documents to be translated over the weekend.

“Interactivity

“4. The members of the Council encourage the President of the Council, with the assistance of the Secretariat, to actively promote additional appropriate measures to increase interactivity and a more efficient use of time in briefings during informal consultations of the whole.

“5. The members of the Council intend to resort more often to the use of video teleconferencing for briefing the Council, where appropriate, while preserving a balanced approach between video teleconferencing and briefings in person, including during open meetings in the open chamber.

⁴¹⁰ The letter, which was issued as a Security Council document under the symbol S/2012/103, has been reproduced on page 241 of the present volume.

⁴¹¹ S/2012/402.

“6. The members of the Council encourage briefers to be succinct and to focus on key themes rather than reading out lengthy prepared statements. They invite the Secretariat to follow the practice of circulating the briefing texts at briefings and, in particular, where their statements contain extensive or complicated factual information, encourage briefers to circulate written summaries of that information, whenever possible in advance, to allow for a more focused discussion during informal consultations. In cases where information or clarification requested by Council members is not readily available during the briefing in informal consultations, briefers may provide it at a later time.

“7. The members of the Council plan to minimize, to the extent possible, the reading out of lengthy prepared statements in informal consultations of the whole.

“8. The members of the Council encourage the use of practical measures such as those above, which would make it feasible, whenever possible, to hold informal consultations on two issues in a three-hour Council meeting, notably with regard to situations routinely on its agenda, thereby promoting planning accuracy and overall efficiency in the work of the Council.

“9. The members of the Council express general support for continuing the practice of holding monthly ‘luncheons with the Secretary-General’. Members of the Council and the Secretariat should continue to use the ‘any other business’ agenda item during informal consultations to raise issues of concern. The members of the Council will continue their consideration of additional ways to increase interactivity in informal consultations.

“10. The members of the Council will consider ways and means of further enhancing interaction with and seeking the views of non-Council members, particularly the interested or concerned States, on issues on its agenda.”

On 13 June 2012, the President of the Security Council issued the following note:⁴¹²

“Pursuant to paragraph 4 (b) of the note by the President of the Security Council dated 30 October 1998,⁴⁰⁸ and after consultations among the members of the Council, it was agreed to elect the Chairs and Vice-Chairs of subsidiary bodies for the period ending 31 December 2012 as follows:
