EXPLANATORY NOTE

/ This note is not part of the regulations, but is intended to indicate their general effect. /

These regulations make miscellaneous amendments to the Dangerous Drugs Regulations 1951, which deal with the importing, exporting, manufacture, supply, and prescribing of dangerous drugs, and require the keeping of records.

The effect of regulation 2 is that a licence to import raw opium may be granted only if the Comptroller of Customs is satisfied that the drug is required for, and will be used solely for, medicinal or scientific purposes.

The effect of regulation 3 is that a licence to export raw opium may be granted only where the Comptroller of Customs is satisfied that the drug is required, in the country to which it is to be exported, solely for medicinal or scientific purposes.

Regulation 4 prohibits the importing or exporting of heroin, ketobemidone, and Indian hemp.

Regulation 5 adds certain drugs and preparations to the list of dangerous drugs to which the Dangerous Drugs Act 1927 and the principal regulations apply. The new clause 18 excludes certain forms of morphinan.

The effect of regulation 6 is that the principal regulations will now apply to aromatic powder of chalk with opium B P, which was previously an exempted preparation.

The effect of regulation 7 is that pholcodine and preparations containing it are partially exempted from the operation of the regulations, so as to allow dealing in them, and prescribing of them, by chemists, doctors, dentists, veterinary surgeons, hospitals, and approved institutions for the care of the sick or aged.

Issued under the authority of the Regulations Act 1936.

Date of notification in Gazette: 7 July 1955.

These regulations are administered in the Department of Health.
