Rights of the child

The General Assembly,

Reaffirming the importance of its resolution 44/25 of 20 November 1989, by which it adopted the Convention on the Rights of the Child,¹ which constitutes the standard in the promotion and protection of the rights of the child, reaffirming also that States parties to the Convention shall undertake all appropriate legislative, administrative and other measures for the implementation of the rights recognized therein, while bearing in mind the importance of the Optional Protocols to the Convention² and calling for their universal ratification and effective implementation, as well as that of other human rights instruments,

Reaffirming also all of its previous resolutions on the rights of the child, the most recent of which was resolution 71/177 of 19 December 2016, and all other relevant resolutions, including 71/167 of 19 December 2016 on trafficking in women and girls, 71/168 of 19 December 2016 on intensifying global efforts for the elimination of female genital mutilation, 71/170 of 19 December 2016 entitled “Intensification of efforts to prevent and eliminate all forms of violence against women and girls: domestic violence”, 71/175 of 19 December 2016 on child, early and forced marriage, and 71/176 of 19 December 2016 on protecting children from bullying,

Reaffirming further the Universal Declaration of Human Rights,³ which proclaims that all human beings are born free and equal in dignity and rights and that everyone is entitled to all the rights and freedoms set out therein, without distinction of any kind,

Recalling the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights,⁴ the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights,⁴ the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities,⁵ the International Convention for the Protection of All Persons from Enforced Disappearance,⁶ the 1951 Convention relating to the Status of Refugees⁷ and the 1967 Protocol thereto,⁸ the International Convention on the Protection of the Rights of All Migrant Workers and Members of Their Families,⁹ the United Nations Convention against Transnational Organized Crime¹⁰ and the Protocol to Prevent, Suppress and Punish Trafficking in Persons, Especially Women and Children, supplementing the United Nations Convention against Transnational Organized Crime,¹¹ the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women,¹² the Convention against Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment,¹³ and both the Minimum Age Convention, 1973 (No. 138),¹⁴ and the Worst Forms of Child Labour Convention, 1999 (No. 182),¹⁵ of the International Labour Organization,

Reaffirming that the general principles of the Convention on the Rights of the Child, including the best interests of the child, non-discrimination, participation and survival and development, provide the framework for actions concerning children,

Reaffirming also the Vienna Declaration and Programme of Action,¹⁶ the United Nations Millennium Declaration¹⁷ and the outcome document of the twenty-seventh special session of the General Assembly on children, entitled “A world fit for children”,¹⁸ recalling the Beijing Declaration and Platform for Action,¹⁹ the Programme of Action of the International Conference on Population and Development²⁰ and the outcome documents of their review conferences, the Copenhagen Declaration on Social Development and the Programme of Action of the World Summit for Social Development,²¹ the Declaration on Social Progress and Development,²² the Universal Declaration on the Eradication of Hunger and

Malnutrition,²³ the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples²⁴ and the outcome document of the high-level plenary meeting of the General Assembly known as the World Conference on Indigenous Peoples,²⁵ the Declaration on the Right to Development,²⁶ the Declaration of the commemorative high-level plenary meeting devoted to the follow-up to the outcome of the special session on children, held in New York from 11 to 13 December 2007,²⁷ the outcome document, entitled “The future we want”, adopted at the United Nations Conference on Sustainable Development, held in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, from 20 to 22 June 2012,²⁸ and the outcome document of the third Global Conference on Child Labour, held in Brasilia from 8 to 10 October 2013, and recalling also the World Congresses against Sexual Exploitation of Children and Adolescents, the Global Action Programme on Education for Sustainable Development²⁹ and the World Education Forum 2015, held in Incheon, Republic of Korea, from 19 to 22 May 2015,

Underscoring the importance of the implementation of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development³⁰ in ensuring the enjoyment of the rights of the child,

Noting the high-level global conferences held in Sweden in 2014 and in Austria in 2016, aimed at the complete elimination of all violent punishment of children, and supporting the continuation of this process with a conference to be held Malta in 2018,

Welcoming the work being undertaken towards the adoption in 2018 of a global compact on refugees and a global compact for safe, orderly and regular migration, and recalling the importance of mainstreaming a child-sensitive perspective and of bearing it in mind throughout the process,

Taking note with appreciation of the reports of the Secretary-General on progress made towards achieving the commitments set out in the outcome document of the twenty-seventh special session of the General Assembly³¹ and on the status of the Convention on the Rights of the Child and the issues addressed in resolution 70/137,³² as well as the report of the Special Representative of the Secretary-General on Violence against Children,³³ the report of the Special Representative of the Secretary-General for Children and Armed Conflict³⁴ and the report of the Special Rapporteur of the Human Rights Council on the sale of children, child prostitution and child pornography,³⁵ whose recommendations should be carefully studied, taking fully into account the views of Member States,

Reaffirming that States have the primary responsibility to respect, promote and protect all human rights and fundamental freedoms, including the rights of the child,

Acknowledging the important role played by national governmental and local structures for children, including, where they exist, ministries and institutions in charge of child, family and youth issues and independent ombudspersons for children or other national institutions for the promotion and protection of the rights of the child,

Recognizing that the family has the primary responsibility for the nurturing and protection of children, in the best interests of the child, and that children, for the full and harmonious development of their personality, should grow up in a family environment and in an atmosphere of happiness, love and understanding,

Noting with appreciation the work to promote and protect the rights of the child carried out by all relevant organs, bodies, entities and organizations of the United Nations system, within their respective mandates, by relevant mandate holders and special procedures of the United Nations and by relevant regional organizations, where appropriate, and intergovernmental organizations, and recognizing the valuable role of civil society, including non-governmental organizations, and human rights defenders,

Profoundly concerned that the situation of children in many parts of the world remains critical, in an increasingly globalized environment, as a result of the persistence of poverty, social inequality, inadequate social and economic conditions, pandemics, in particular HIV/AIDS, malaria, cholera and tuberculosis, non-communicable diseases, lack of access to safe drinking water and sanitation, environmental damage, climate change, natural disasters, armed conflict, foreign occupation, displacement, violence, terrorism, abuse, all forms of exploitation, including for the purposes of commercial sexual exploitation of children, such as child prostitution, child pornography and other sexual abuse material, travel and tourism for the purposes of sexual exploitation, also known as child sex tourism and trafficking in children, including for the purpose of organ removal and for the transfer of organs of the child for profit, neglect, illiteracy, hunger, intolerance, discrimination, racism, xenophobia, gender inequality and inadequate protection and access to justice, and convinced that urgent and effective national and international action is called for,

Profoundly concerned also that the situation of children in many parts of the world remains negatively affected by the prolonged effects of the world financial and economic crisis, poverty and inequality, reaffirming that eradicating poverty in all its forms and dimensions, including extreme poverty, is the greatest global challenge and an indispensable requirement for sustainable development, recognizing its impact beyond the socioeconomic context and the intrinsic interlinkage between poverty eradication and the promotion of sustainable development, in this regard underlining the importance of the implementation of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, and recognizing that a strong focus is needed on poverty, deprivation and inequality to prevent and protect children from all forms of violence and to promote the resilience of children, their families and communities,

Expressing deep concern that, despite the recognition of the right of the child to express her or his views freely on all matters affecting her or him, with her or his views given due weight in accordance with the age and maturity of the child, children are still seldom seriously consulted and involved in such matters owing to a variety of constraints and impediments and that the full implementation of this right has yet to be fully realized,

Deeply concerned that children disproportionately suffer the consequences of discrimination, exclusion, inequality and poverty,

Deeply concerned also that approximately 5.9 million children under the age of 5 die each year,³⁶ mostly from preventable and treatable causes, owing to inadequate or lack of access to integrated and quality sexual, reproductive and maternal health-care services, as well as newborn and child health care and services, early childbearing, as well as lack of access to health determinants, such as safe drinking water and sanitation, safe and adequate food and nutrition, including breastfeeding, and that mortality remains highest among children belonging to the poorest and most marginalized communities,

Recognizing that the risk of maternal mortality is highest for girls under 15 years of age and that complications in pregnancy and childbirth are a leading cause of death among girls under 15 years of age in many countries,

I

Implementation of the Convention on the Rights of the Child and the Optional Protocols thereto

1. Reaffirms paragraphs 1 to 5 of its resolution 71/177 of 19 December 2016 and 1 to 10 of its resolution 68/147 of 18 December 2013, urges States that have not yet done so to consider acceding to the Convention on the Rights of the Child¹ and to the Optional Protocols thereto² as a matter of priority, to implement them effectively and fully and to withdraw reservations that are incompatible with the object and purpose of the Convention or the Optional Protocols thereto, and encourages further efforts by the Secretary-General in this regard;

II

Promotion and protection of the rights of the child and non-discrimination against children

Non-discrimination

2. Reaffirms paragraphs 6 to 10 of its resolution 71/177 and 11 to 14 of its resolution 68/147, and calls upon States to ensure the enjoyment by all children of all their civil, political, economic, social and cultural rights without discrimination of any kind, and calls upon States to address the particular needs of children belonging to national, ethnic, religious and linguistic minorities, migrant children, refugee or asylum-seeking children, internally displaced children, indigenous children and children with disabilities;

Registration, family relations, adoption and alternative care

3. Reaffirms paragraphs 11 and 12 of its resolution 71/177 and 15 to 19 of its resolution 68/147, and urges all States parties to intensify their efforts to comply with their obligations under the Convention on the Rights of the Child to protect children in matters relating to birth registration, family relations and adoption or other forms of alternative care;

Economic and social well-being of children

4. Reaffirms paragraphs 13 to 15 of its resolution 71/177 and 20 to 29 of its resolution 68/147, calls upon all States and the international community to create an enabling environment in which the well-being of the child is ensured, including by strengthening international cooperation in this field and by implementing their commitments, including the Sustainable Development Goals, reaffirms that investment in children, especially for early childhood development, has high

economic and social returns and that all related efforts to ensure that resources allocated and spent for children, especially on children's education and health, should serve as a means for the fulfilment of the rights of the child, and notes in this regard general comment No. 19 (2016) of the Committee on the Rights of the Child on public budgeting for the realization of children's rights;³⁷

Child labour

5. Reaffirms paragraphs 16 to 18 of its resolution 71/177 and 30 to 33 of its resolution 68/147, urges States to take immediate and effective measures to secure the prohibition and elimination of the worst forms of child labour and to end child labour in all its forms, by 2025 at the latest, and to promote education as a key strategy, in this regard notes that the Global Conference on the Sustained Eradication of Child Labour will be held in Buenos Aires from 14 to 16 November 2017, and urges States to continue to promote the engagement of all sectors of society in creating an enabling environment for the eradication of child labour;

Promoting and protecting the rights of children, including children in particularly difficult situations

6. Reaffirms paragraphs 26 to 28 of its resolution 71/177 and 40 to 48 of its resolution 68/147, and calls upon all States to promote and protect all human rights of all children, to implement evidence-based programmes and measures that provide them with special protection and assistance, including access to health care and inclusive and equitable quality education and social services;

Migrant children

7. Reaffirms paragraphs 40 to 87 of its resolution 71/177, and calls upon States to effectively promote and protect the human rights and fundamental freedoms of all children affected by migration, regardless of their migration status, and to address international migration through international, regional or bilateral cooperation and dialogue and through a comprehensive and balanced approach, while recognizing the roles and responsibilities of countries of origin, transit and destination in promoting and protecting the human rights of all children affected by migration and in avoiding approaches that might aggravate their vulnerability;

8. Expresses the commitment to protect the human rights of migrant children, given their vulnerability, in particular unaccompanied migrant children, to ensure that they receive appropriate protection and assistance and to provide for their health, education and psychosocial development, ensuring that the best interests of the child are a primary consideration in policies on integration, return and family reunification;

Children and the administration of justice

9. Reaffirms paragraphs 29 to 31 of its resolution 71/177 and 49 to 57 of its resolution 68/147, and calls upon all States to respect and protect the rights of child victims and witnesses, and children alleged to have infringed or recognized as having infringed penal law, as well as children of persons alleged to have infringed or recognized as having infringed penal law, and to ensure compliance with the principle that deprivation of liberty of children should be used only as a measure of last resort and for the shortest appropriate period of time;

³⁷ CRC/C/GC/19.

Prevention and eradication of the sale of children, child prostitution and child pornography

10. Reaffirms paragraph 32 of its resolution 71/177 and 58 of its resolution 68/147, and calls upon all States to prevent, criminalize, prosecute and punish all forms of the sale and trafficking of children, including for the purposes of removal of organs of the child for profit, child slavery, forced labour and the sexual exploitation of children, including child prostitution, child sexual exploitation material and other child sexual abuse material, with the aim of eradicating those practices and the use of the Internet and other information and communications technologies for these purposes, to combat the existence of a market that encourages such criminal practices and take measures to eliminate the demand that fosters them, as well as to address the rights and needs of victims effectively, including universal access to comprehensive social, physical and mental health and legal services, without discrimination of any kind, and counselling for all victims to ensure their full recovery and reintegration into society, and take effective measures against the criminalization of children who are victims of exploitation;

Children affected by armed conflict

11. Reaffirms paragraphs 33 to 39 of its resolution 71/177 and 59 to 70 of its resolution 68/147, condemns in the strongest terms all violations and abuses committed against children in armed conflict, and in this regard urges all States and other parties to armed conflict that are engaged, in contravention of applicable international law, in the recruitment and use of children, in patterns of killing and maiming of children and/or rape and other sexual violence against children, acknowledging that sexual violence in these situations disproportionately affects girls, but that boys are also targets, in recurrent attacks on schools and/or hospitals and related personnel, and in patterns of abduction of children, as well as in all other violations and abuses against children, to take time-bound and effective measures to end and prevent them, and to encourage age- and gender-specific support services, including sexual and reproductive health-care services and reintegration programmes, and takes note in this regard of the adoption of Security Council resolution 2225 \(2015\) of 18 June 2015;

12. Underlines that the rehabilitation needs of children should constitute a central theme of post-conflict and peacebuilding programmes and that the promotion and protection of the rights of children affected by armed conflict is crucial to break cycles of violence and prevent recurring conflicts;

13. Calls upon States to protect children affected by armed conflict, in particular from violations of international humanitarian law and human rights law, and to ensure that they receive timely, effective humanitarian assistance, noting the efforts taken to end impunity by ensuring accountability and punishing perpetrators, and calls upon the international community to hold those responsible for violations accountable, inter alia, through the International Criminal Court;

14. Calls upon States, regional and subregional organizations to integrate the rights of the child into all activities in conflict and post-conflict situations aimed at promoting peace and preventing and resolving conflict, as well as negotiating and implementing peace agreements, and, given the long-term consequences for society, underlines the importance of including specific provisions for children, including resourcing, in peace agreements and in arrangements negotiated by parties;

15. Recalls that 2016 marked the twentieth anniversary of resolution 51/77 of 12 December 1996, by which the mandate of the Special Representative of the Secretary-General for Children and Armed Conflict was created, welcomes its tangible achievements in protecting children affected by armed conflict, underlines the need for the Office of the Special Representative of the Secretary General to collect, assess and disseminate best practices and lessons learned since the inception of the mandate, to increase public awareness-raising activities and to expand its cooperation with subregional organizations, and notes with appreciation the efforts of the Secretary-General and United Nations bodies to implement the monitoring and reporting mechanism on children and armed conflict;

III Violence against children

16. Recalls article 19 of the Convention on the Rights of the Child, in which States parties are required to take all appropriate legislative, administrative, social and educational measures to protect the child from all forms of physical or psychological violence, injury or abuse, neglect or negligent treatment, maltreatment or exploitation, including sexual abuse, while in the care of parent(s), legal guardian(s) or any other person who has the care of the child;

17. Also recalls the United Nations study on violence against children submitted to the General Assembly in 2006,³⁸ and welcomes the efforts of the Special Representative of the Secretary-General on Violence against Children in mainstreaming the study recommendations in the international, regional and national agenda;

18. Further recalls general comment No. 13 (2011) of the Committee on the Rights of the Child on the right of the child to freedom from all forms of violence;³⁹

19. Expresses deep concern at the fact that every five minutes a child dies as a result of violence and that globally 1 billion children, between 2 and 17 years of age, experience physical, sexual, emotional or multiple types of violence, with an estimated 120 million girls and 73 million boys having been the victims of sexual violence at some point in their lives;

20. Condemns all forms of violence against children in all settings, including physical, psychological and sexual violence, torture and other cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment, neglect, child maltreatment, domestic violence, abuse and exploitation, including sexual abuse and exploitation of children online, in prostitution, pornography, travel and tourism, the trafficking in or sale of children or of their organs, as well as armed violence in the community, harmful practices, bullying and cyberbullying, on any basis, and urges all States to implement the measures set out in paragraph 34 of its resolution 68/147 and paragraph 3 of its resolution 69/168 of 18 December 2014, including to strengthen efforts to prevent and protect children from all such violence through a comprehensive approach and to develop a multifaceted and systematic legal and policy framework that is integrated into national planning processes to prevent and respond to violence against children, and recalls resolution 71/176 on protecting children from bullying;

21. Calls upon all States to implement the commitment to end abuse, exploitation, trafficking and all forms of violence and torture against children, as set out in the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development;

22. Urges all States to exercise leadership to end all forms of violence against children in all settings and to support advocacy in this regard at all levels, including at the local, national, regional and international levels, and by all sectors, especially by political, community and religious leaders, as well as the public and private sectors, the media and civil society;

³⁹ Official Records of the General Assembly, Sixty-seventh Session, Supplement No. 41 (A/67/41), annex V.

23. Requests the relevant organizations of the United Nations system, in particular the organizations that are members of the Inter-Agency Working Group on Violence against Children, to continue to explore ways and means, within their respective mandates, by which they can contribute more effectively to addressing the need to prevent and to respond to all forms of violence against children;

24. Expresses support for the work of the Special Representative of the Secretary-General on Violence against Children, and recognizes the progress achieved since the establishment of her mandate in promoting the prevention and elimination of all forms of violence against children in all regions and in advancing the implementation of the recommendations of the United Nations study on violence against children, including through her regional and thematic consultations and field missions and thematic reports addressing emerging concerns, including Ending the Torment: Tackling Bullying from the Schoolyard to Cyberspace, Protecting Children Affected by Armed Violence in the Community and Safeguarding the Rights of Girls in the Criminal Justice System: Preventing Violence, Stigmatization and Deprivation of Liberty;

25. Recognizes the consolidated partnerships promoted by the Special Representative of the Secretary-General on Violence against Children, including the platform for dialogue and communication initiated and led by the Special Representative with regional organizations and institutions, which is an important mechanism, in the framework of the United Nations, for sharing knowledge and good practices, facilitating cross-fertilization of experiences, coordinating efforts, enhancing synergies, identifying trends and anticipating future challenges, and contributing to the acceleration of progress in protecting children from violence;

26. Also recognizes the importance of international, regional and bilateral multi-stakeholder partnerships and initiatives to advance the effective protection and promotion of the rights of the child and the elimination of violence against children, and in this regard notes the Global Partnership to End Violence Against Children, the “High time to end violence against children” initiative, the Together for Girls partnership, the Global Alliance to Eradicate Forced Labour, Modern Slavery, Human Trafficking and Child Labour, the Global Youth Partnership for the Sustainable Development Goals, the Global Partnership on Children with Disabilities; the Global Coalition to Protect Education from Attack, the WeProtect Global Alliance to combat online child sexual exploitation and the Global Alliance for Reporting Progress on Promoting Peaceful, Just and Inclusive Societies;

27. Urges all States to address the gender dimension of all forms of violence against children and incorporate a gender perspective in all policies adopted and actions taken to protect children against all forms of violence and harmful practices, including female genital mutilation, acknowledging that girls and boys face varying risks from different forms of violence at different ages and in different situations, including in schools;

28. Stresses the importance of taking an integrated and multifaceted approach based on the rights and well-being of children when designing and implementing measures to protect children from all forms of violence;

29. Emphasizes that no child should be left behind and that States should pay particular attention to the protection of marginalized children and children who belong to vulnerable groups or are in vulnerable situations, or who face stigmatization, discrimination or exclusion, and ensure the enjoyment of all their human rights, without discrimination of any kind;

30. Reiterates the need for all States to strengthen international cooperation and mutual assistance to prevent and protect children from all forms of violence and to end impunity for crimes against children;

31. Encourages States to consider accession to or ratification of The Hague Convention on Jurisdiction, Applicable Law, Recognition, Enforcement and Cooperation in respect of Parental Responsibility and Measures for the Protection of Children, of 19 October 1996;⁴⁰

32. Recalls the importance of actively engaging with children and respecting their views in all aspects of prevention, response and monitoring of violence against them, taking into account article 12 of the Convention on the Rights of the Child;

33. Expresses its concern about situations of violence in communities worldwide, including widespread armed violence linked to the illegal arms trade and the availability of small arms, organized crime, including drug-related crime, as well as gang-related violence, which put the well-being of children and the right to life and security of person at severe risk;

34. Recognizes that there has been significant progress at the international, regional and national levels since the submission of the United Nations study on violence against Children, and calls upon all States to maintain and enhance their efforts to protect children from all forms of violence, in particular:

(a) To take effective and appropriate legislative and other measures to prohibit, prevent and eliminate all forms of violence against children in all settings, including harmful practices in all situations, and to strengthen international, national and local cooperation and mutual assistance in this regard;

(b) To respect fully the rights, human dignity and physical integrity of children and to prevent and address any psychological, physical or sexual violence or any other humiliating or degrading treatment or punishment;

(c) To give priority attention to the prevention of all forms of violence against children and to addressing its underlying causes and its gender dimension through a systematic, comprehensive and multifaceted approach, recognizing that witnessing violence, including domestic violence, also causes harm to children;

(d) To develop a well-coordinated and well-resourced national strategy for the prevention and elimination of all forms of violence against children, including measures aimed at, inter alia, raising awareness, building the capacity of professionals working with and for children, supporting effective parenting programmes, fostering research, conducting surveys and collecting data on the incidence of violence against children and developing and implementing appropriate national monitoring tools to periodically assess progress, and to follow a system-strengthening approach, with a focus on establishing integrated child protection systems, in which the components and services are multi-disciplinary, cross-sectorial and inter-agency, and work together in a coherent manner;

(e) To end impunity for perpetrators of crimes against children, to undertake thorough and prompt investigations of all acts of violence against children and to prosecute such acts of violence and impose appropriate penalties, recognizing that persons convicted of violent offences against children, including sexual abuse, who continue to pose a risk of harm to children should be prevented from working with children;

(f) To protect children from all forms of violence or abuse in all settings by all those who work with and for children, including in educational settings, in alternative care and residential care settings, and in international development activities and humanitarian relief work, as well as by government officials, such as the police, law enforcement authorities, employees and officials in detention centres or welfare institutions and health-care personnel;

(g) To establish and develop safe, well-publicized, confidential and accessible mechanisms to enable children or their representatives to seek counselling, to report violence against children and file complaints on incidents of violence and to ensure that children have access to such mechanisms;

(h) To develop coherent and coordinated protection systems, to provide universal access to quality comprehensive social, physical and mental health and legal services, including sexual and reproductive health-care services, and counselling, for all victims and survivors, to ensure their full recovery and reintegration into society, and to strengthen social welfare systems and effective service delivery for children affected by violence, in particular in the justice, education and health sectors;

(i) To strive to change attitudes that condone or normalize any form of violence against children, including cruel, inhuman or degrading forms of discipline, harmful traditional practices and all forms of sexual violence;

(j) To strengthen the role of education, including human rights education, as the most effective means of promoting tolerance, in preventing the spread of extremism by instilling respect for human rights and promoting the practice of non-violence, moderation, dialogue and cooperation, and to encourage all relevant actors to contribute actively to this endeavour by, inter alia, placing emphasis on civic education and life skills as well as democratic principles and practices at all levels of formal, informal and non-formal education;

(k) To accelerate efforts to scale up scientifically accurate age-appropriate comprehensive education that provides adolescent girls and boys and young women and men, in and out of school, consistent with their evolving capacities, with information on sexual and reproductive health, gender equality and women's empowerment, human rights, physical, psychological and pubertal development and power in relationships between women and men, to enable them to build self-esteem and informed decision-making, communication and risk reduction skills and develop respectful relationships, in full partnership with young people, parents, legal guardians, caregivers, educators and health-care providers;

35. Expresses concern at the persistent and growing challenges to eliminating all forms of violence against children, and urges States to intensify their efforts, and particularly:

(a) To adopt and/or strengthen policies and clear and comprehensive measures, including, where required, legislation, that seek to prevent and protect children from bullying and provide for safe and child-sensitive counselling and reporting procedures and safeguards for the rights of affected children, ensuring that those who work with and for children protect children from bullying;

(b) To strengthen the capacities of schools in early detection and response to prevent and respond to bullying, including cyberbullying, in particular initiatives to mobilize support to prevent and address this phenomenon, and to ensure that children are informed of any existing public policies to secure their protection;

(c) To raise public awareness, involving family members, legal guardians, caregivers, young people, schools, community health centres, communities, community leaders and the media, as well as civil society organizations, with the participation of children, regarding the protection of children from bullying;

(d) To promote constructive and positive forms of discipline and child development approaches in all settings, including the home, schools and other educational settings, and throughout care and justice systems, and to take measures towards the elimination of all forms of violence against children, including violent forms of discipline;

(e) To adopt all appropriate measures to ensure that school discipline is administered in a manner consistent with the child's human dignity and human rights by taking all appropriate legislative, administrative, social and educational measures, in accordance with the best interests of the child, to protect the child from all forms of physical or psychological violence, injury or abuse, neglect or negligent treatment, maltreatment or exploitation, including sexual abuse in schools, and in this context to take measures to promote non-violent forms of discipline in schools;

(f) To accelerate efforts to develop, review and strengthen inclusive and gender-responsive policies, including by allocating adequate resources, to address the structural and underlying causes of violence against girls, to overcome gender stereotypes and negative social norms, to encourage the media to examine the impact of gender-role stereotypes, including those perpetuated by commercial advertisements, that foster gender-based violence, sexual exploitation and inequalities, to promote zero tolerance for such violence and to remove the stigma of being a victim and survivor of violence, thus creating an enabling and accessible environment where girls can easily report incidents of violence and make use of the services available, including protection and assistance programmes;

(g) To condemn all harmful practices that affect girls, in particular female genital mutilation, whether committed within or outside a medical institution, and to take all necessary measures, especially through educational campaigns, including enacting and enforcing legislation, to prohibit female genital mutilation and to protect girls from this form of violence, and to hold perpetrators to account;

(h) To enact, enforce and uphold laws and policies aimed at preventing and ending child, early and forced marriage and protecting those at risk, to amend relevant laws and policies to remove any provision that enables perpetrators of rape, sexual abuse or abduction to escape prosecution and punishment by marrying their victims, and to ensure that every girl and woman at risk of or affected by child, early and forced marriage has equal access to affordable quality services such as education, counselling, shelter and other social services, psychological, sexual and reproductive health-care services, medical care and legal assistance;

(i) To enact and enforce the necessary legislative or other measures, in cooperation with relevant stakeholders, including the private sector and the media, to prevent the distribution over the Internet of child sexual exploitation material, including depictions of child sexual abuse, ensuring that adequate mechanisms are in place to enable the reporting and removal of such material and that its creators, distributors and collectors are prosecuted, as appropriate;

(j) To ensure the legal protection of children from sexual abuse and exploitation online, ensure that perpetrators are held accountable, remove obstacles to effective investigations of and prosecutions for child sexual abuse and exploitation online and offline, establish fast and effective procedures for the removal or blocking of child sexual abuse or pornographic materials involving children and establish well-trained and well-resourced dedicated law enforcement investigative units to investigate, pursue and combat any sexual and gender-based violence against children committed through the use of information and communications technologies, and to promote the use of victim identification processes on children depicted in sexual exploitation material;

(k) To make efforts to ensure that the opportunities provided by information and communications technologies, in the lives of children, as tools for learning, socialization, expression, inclusion and fulfilment of their rights and fundamental freedoms, such as the right to education, the right to freedom of expression, the freedom to seek, receive and impart information, and the right to express their views freely, are used to their fullest;

(l) To protect children deprived of their liberty from torture and other cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment, to ensure that, if they are arrested, detained or imprisoned, children are provided with prompt access to legal and other appropriate assistance, as well as the right to challenge the legality of the deprivation of their liberty before a court or other competent, independent and impartial authority, and to a prompt decision on any such action, that, from the moment they are arrested, children will have the right to maintain contact with their family through correspondence and visits, save in exceptional circumstances, that no child is sentenced or subjected to forced labour or corporal punishment or deprived of access to and the provision of health care and services, hygiene and environmental sanitation, education, basic instruction and vocational training, access to safe, confidential, independent mechanisms to report on violence and that the conditions in such settings are regularly and effectively monitored, and to undertake prompt investigations of all reported acts of violence and ensure that perpetrators are held accountable;

(m) To take effective measures for the dissemination and implementation of the United Nations Model Strategies and Practical Measures on the Elimination of Violence against Children in the Field of Crime Prevention and Criminal Justice,⁴¹ and invites relevant United Nations actors to support Member States, where appropriate, to this end through concerted efforts;

(n) To develop and implement, as appropriate, comprehensive policies and programmes that, by fostering social development, are aimed at the prevention of crime and violence against children and that address the multiple factors that contribute to marginalization, crime and victimization, in close cooperation with relevant stakeholders, including civil society, and based on scientific evidence and taking into account good practices;

(o) To ensure that the best interests of the child shall be a primary consideration in all decisions concerning children and to underline that migrant children, including undocumented and unaccompanied children, should be provided with effective protection from discrimination and from violence, as well as with access to due process in all legal and administrative proceedings affecting them, including for the determination of their age and legal status, should be rapidly assigned a legal guardian when unaccompanied and be placed in safe, community based contexts that are sensitive to their age, gender and special needs; and in this context reaffirms paragraphs 66 and 67 of its resolution 71/177;

(p) To devise, enforce and strengthen effective gender- and age-sensitive measures to combat and eliminate all forms of trafficking in children, including for sexual and economic exploitation, as part of a comprehensive anti-trafficking strategy that integrates a human rights perspective, and to draw up, as appropriate, national action plans in this regard;

(q) To strengthen measures to eliminate sex tourism demand, especially of children, and to ensure the effective protection of children from exploitation through all possible preventive actions, including legislative measures and other relevant policies and programmes;

⁴¹ See Economic and Social Council resolution 2014/18.

(r) To continue to seek to prevent, respond to, investigate and prosecute violations and abuses against children in humanitarian emergencies, to strengthen support services for children affected by humanitarian emergencies, including those who have experienced violations and abuses, and to call for a more effective response in that regard;

(s) To invest in the development and implementation of data systems to monitor violence against children and track progress, and to promote innovation in the area of data collection and monitoring, including the use of benchmarks and indicators to ensure access to robust and reliable data, disaggregated according to income, gender, age, race, ethnicity, migratory status, disability, geographic location and other characteristics relevant in the national context;

(t) To encourage and support the private sector with regard to adopting operational practices that protect children from violence and exploitation and promote children's well-being;

(u) To support the work of the Independent Expert for the global study on the situation of children deprived of their liberty;

IV Follow-up

36. Recalls paragraph 52 (d) of its resolution 69/157 of 18 December 2014 and paragraph 88 of its resolution 71/177, in this regard encourages Member States and United Nations agencies, funds, programmes and offices, as well as other relevant stakeholders, to support the elaboration of the study, and invites the designated independent expert to update Member States at its seventy-third session on the progress made and to submit a final report to the General Assembly at its seventy-fourth session;
