83. In December 2015, on the local graveyard in Gornje Selište near Glina, the exhumation of remains of the victims of the Serbian ethnicity killed during the action “Storm” started. 56 remains were exhumed and samples for identification were taken.

84. In December 2015, the trip to the Institute of Forensic Medicine and Criminology in Zagreb was organized for the members of families of the missing persons living on the territory of the Republic of Serbia, to enable the identification of the victims of Serbian nationality. The remains of 18 victims were identified, and the remains of 8 persons were brought to the Republic of Serbia.

85. The Serbian Prime Minister and the President of the Republic of Croatia signed the Declaration on improvement of relations and resolving of the opened questions between the Republic of Serbia and the Republic of Croatia on 20 June 2016.

86. On the joint session of the Serbian Government and the Council of Ministers of BaH in Sarajevo in November 2015, the Protocol on cooperation in searching for the missing persons was signed.

87. The Republic of Serbia signed the Agreement on the Status of the International Commission for the Missing Persons in the Hague in December 2015.

88. The International Commission for the Missing Persons organized the meeting with the representatives of association of families of the missing persons at Kosovo and Metohija in Belgrade in May 2016. The topic of the meeting was “Review of John Doe Cases in Kosovo” in order to point to the issue of wrong identifications performed by the classical method in 1999 and 2000.

89. In the process of harmonizing with the EU standards, Serbia will start drafting the national strategy for victim rights during 2017, in order to define the necessary reform steps in this field.

90. Apart from identifying and processing the war crimes, authorities dealing with war crimes are also working on meeting the objectives and implementing the activities stipulated by the Action Plan for Chapter 23 in which there are five recommendations improving the status in the field of war crimes.

91. The National Strategy for Processing the War Crimes in the Republic of Serbia was adopted in February 2016. This Strategy states that the existing capacities of the authorities in charge of processing war crimes are insufficient for meeting the objectives set or to meet all the activities planned by the Action Plan for 23. The lack of the existing capacity is the most prominent in the War Crime Prosecutor’s Office.

92. The Serbian State Council of Prosecutors announced the ad for the selection of one deputy prosecutor for war crimes on 8 April 2016, and the legal procedure of the selection is still ongoing.

93. The War Crime Prosecutor’s Office is currently working on establishing the service for information and contact with witnesses and engaging an expert for psychological support to witnesses and injured parties in cases of war crimes.

94. Also, in terms of the increase of the administrative capacities, the consultations among the Unit for protection of participants in the civil proceedings, War Crimes Investigation Service and the War Crime Prosecutor’s Office are ongoing.

95. The War Crimes Investigation Service cooperates and acts upon the requests of the War Crime Prosecutor’s Office, with which it has formed joint teams to improve the quality of investigations and more efficient procedure. At present, the Service is working on more than twenty cases of war crimes. There are three mechanisms for exercising the right to compensation to victims of war crimes: through the administrative procedure of recognizing the status of the civilian victim of war, through court proceedings for the compensation of damage against the Republic of Serbia and by submitting the property claim in criminal proceedings.

96. Cases of death in detention are to be immediately reported to the competent Prosecutor's Office and the police and the autopsy is ordered. In case of a reasonable doubt that the case is the result of a criminal offense, the Prosecutor's Office is to initiate the proceedings ex officio. In these cases, the Prosecutor's Offices run the proactive investigations.

97. By proceeding in accordance with the measures ordered to the Republic of Serbia by the judgement of the ECHR in the case of Zorica Marković, the Ministry of Justice, Ministry of Interior and the Ministry of Health undertook a series of activities in terms of finding ways to establish the facts regarding the whereabouts of the children suspected missing from the maternity wards in the Republic of Serbia. The position is to prepare the adoption of a special law, in accordance with the recommendation of the ECHR.

98. The Working Group in which apart from the representatives of the aforementioned ministries, the representatives of the Republic Public Prosecutor's Office, appellate courts and associations of missing babies also participated, prepared the Draft Law. A public hearing was organized, after which the comments and suggestions were accepted. The Ministry of Justice is the principal proposer of the law, and it continuously monitors the course and manner of preparation of this law to establish the legislative framework for determining the whereabouts of the "missing babies".

99. The Republic of Serbia undertook no activities in order to increase the maximum jail sentence for torture and criminal offenses and extension of the deadline for extending the statute of limitations for crimes that include torture.

100. In terms of amending the definition of torture in the Criminal Code, the amendments planned pertain to domestic violence and protection of women against violence. Regarding the plan for prevention and suppression of torture and mistreatment, the Republic of Serbia plans to strengthen the capacity of the Ombudsman, particularly in its role as the National Torture Prevention Mechanism. The plan is to achieve a higher level of coordination and raise general awareness on the necessity of complete elimination of all forms of torture through defining clear channels of communication between the police officers, NPM and CSOs. Through the initial and continuous training sessions for the police officers, institute for enforcement of criminal sanctions and enforcement judges, a higher level of expertise and awareness on the necessity of establishing zero tolerance for torture will be established. The Judicial Academy delivers the training dedicated to prohibition of torture from the international law, within the human rights module.

101. Criminal prosecution of the perpetrators of the criminal offence mistreatment and torture is performed ex officio. The Public Prosecutor, pursuant to Article 6 of the Criminal Procedure Code, is obliged to undertake criminal prosecution when there when there are grounds for suspicion that a criminal offense was performed or that a certain person performed an offense for which prosecution ex officio is stipulated.

102. IAN Centre for rehabilitation of torture victims is the only one specialized for professional, comprehensive rehabilitation of persons who experienced torture and members of their families. More than 4,500 persons and family obtained some kind of psychological, psychiatric, general and specialist medical assistance, free medicines, legal assistance and representation in court, as well as the professional capacity building (courses of IT, English language, entrepreneurship and social skills).

103. From 2008 to 2013, 13 claims for compensation of non-material damages were filed by victims of torture or their families, one of which was dismissed as premature, two of which are ongoing, and four cases have not been completed in terms of final judgment yet.

104. In the Administration for Execution of Penitentiary Sanctions, due to excessive use of coercive measures against persons deprived of liberty, the disciplinary sanctions against the staff were imposed in the previous period: in 2011 — 5 (4 monetary fines and one measure of termination of employment); in 2012 — 5 (4 monetary fines and one measure of termination of employment); in 2013 — 1 (monetary fine); in 2014 — 8 (monetary fines) and in 2015 — 7 disciplinary penalties (monetary fines).

Rights of persons with disabilities (articles 2, 16, 23, 25 and 26)

105. By adopting the Law on Protection of Persons with Mental Disabilities and the Law on Amendments to the Law on Non-Contentious Procedure, the regulatory framework was established for exercising the right to full protection of persons with mental disabilities and improvement of their mental health through prevention, care, treatment and psychosocial rehabilitation in adequate healthcare and other institutions, recovery and inclusion into the family, working and social environment, with full respect of the choice of the person with mental disabilities, whenever possible.

106. Physical restraint, forced hospitalization and isolation are permitted only in exceptional cases, when there is no other way of preventing the individual from threatening their own life and safety, or life and safety of a third party under risk. The individual's legal representative is to be immediately informed on the decision made by the psychiatrist, with a detailed written explanation. In case of admittance to the psychiatric ward without consent, emergency examinations are to be undertaken within 24 hours, with informing the competent court. Within three days from the receipt of information, the court is to have a hearing in the detention unit in question. Health inspection of the Ministry of Health performs the control of the implementation of the Rulebook on detailed conditions for use of physical restraint and isolation of persons with mental disabilities being treated in the psychiatric institutions. Between January and April 2016, seven inspection supervisions pertaining to the implementation of the aforementioned Rulebook were performed.

107. In the Republic of Serbia, the psychotropic medicaments are prescribed by both psychiatrists and neuropsychiatrist, all the medicaments have to be on the list adopted by the National Health Insurance Fund and Agency for Medicines, and they have to comply with the EU regulations. Pursuant to the Law on Patient Protection, these treatment measures may be undertaken without the consent of the person in question and/or their legal representative if the person is deprived of legal capacity.

108. Amendments to the Family Law are being prepared in the part pertaining to the notion of deprivation of legal capacity in terms of eliminating the full deprivation of legal capacity. The applicable Law on Non-Contentious Procedure governs the details of the procedure of deprivation of legal capacity.

109. There are no provisions limiting the right to marry of persons with disabilities. Provisions of the Family Law stipulate that the marriage is null and void if it includes a person incapable of making judgments, and if that person later becomes capable of making judgments, the marriage is voidable. Incapacity of making judgments results in nullity of any legal affair undertaken, including marriage. The aforementioned does not pertain to persons with disabilities exclusively. Legal provisions also provide the opportunity to persons with disability to vote outside of the polling station and with the help of an assistant, including guide dogs.

Liberty and security of person and treatment of persons deprived of liberty with humanity (articles 7, 9 and 10)

110. Within the two newly built facilities, the Police Station in Bač and the Police Department in Batajnica, premises for detention were also built in accordance with all recommendations for construction, adaptation and equipping. In September 2015, the reconstruction of premises for detention at the Police Administrations in Novi Pazar and Kikinda and Police Stations in Sjenica, Tutin and Kanjiža was performed.

111. The implementation of the Strategy for reduction of overload of the accommodation facilities at the institutes for enforcement of criminal sanctions in the Republic of Serbia in the period between 2010 and 2015 resulted in the reduction of the overpopulation (on 31 December 2010, there were 11,211 persons deprived of liberty in the institutes, and on 1 January 2016, there were 10,064 persons). The accommodation capacities in the institutes are 9,459 places.

112. Offices for enforcement of alternative sanctions were opened at the seats of all the higher courts (25 offices), additional commissioners were hired, numerous roundtables and training sessions for holders of judicial office and commissioners were organized, along with public promotion of the results achieved in order to raise public awareness. In 2015, the number of the enforced alternative sanctions and measures increased (368 penalties of working in the public interest imposed; 7 conditional sentences with the protective supervision; 1214 jail sentences without leaving the premises in which the sentenced person is living (house arrest) and 178 measures for ensuring the presence of the defendant and smooth conduct of criminal proceedings — prohibition to leave an apartment (house arrest).

113. The Administration was continuously working on improving the conditions of accommodation and capacity increase. Four wards in the District Prison in Belgrade were renovated along with three wards in the Special Prison Hospital; new capacities in the District Prison in Subotica were provided; capacities of the admission department of the Youth Correctional Institution in Kruševac were renovated; the reconstruction of the Juvenile Correctional Institution in Valjevo was completed; the facility for the accommodation of the elderly and persons with disabilities in the Penal Correctional Institution in Požarevac — Zabela was reconstructed, and the reconstructions of the accommodation facilities in the Penal Correctional Institution in Niš and Penal Correctional Institution in Sremska Mitrovica were completed.

114. Numerous investments are planned according to the Strategy for development of the system of enforcement of criminal sanctions until 2020.

115. Between 2012 and 2016, there was the constant increase in the number of persons discharged on parole after the prison sentence. In 2012, 600 persons were discharged on parole (8.14% of the total number of discharges) and in 2015 — 1,581 convicted persons were discharged on parole, which is 26.4 % of the total number of the persons discharged from prison.

116. The total number of persons deprived of liberty has been at an approximately the same level since the end of 2012, although the number of persons discharged from prison on the basis of amnesty has reduced (in 2012, 1228 persons were discharged, in 2013 — 1221 persons, in 2014 — 282 persons and during 2015 — 49 persons).

117. The Administration for Execution of Penitentiary Sanctions obtained funds from the EU — IPA 2013 for training of staff and promotion of the work of the Centre for Training and Vocational Education of the Administration. After signing an agreement with the twinning partner, training sessions will be delivered for trainers-staff of the department for treatment about conducting the specialized treatment programmes for the convicted persons.

118. In cooperation with the ministry in charge in education, the programme of Functional primary education of adult convicted persons serving time in prisons is implemented.

119. The Law on Enforcement of Criminal Sanctions stipulates the right of persons deprived of liberty to healthcare. Reconstruction of the Special Prison Hospital in Belgrade is planned for the end of 2017. In 2016, the centralized procurement of medical equipment was performed. In cooperation with the Ombudsman and CSOs, training sessions for healthcare professionals are organized.

Elimination of all forms of slavery (article 8)

120. The police, social workers and other government authorities identify the victims of human trafficking and inform the Centre for Human Trafficking Victims Protection (CHTVP). The efficient identification of human trafficking victims, including the asylum seekers and unaccompanied minors, as well as their referral, is enabled by forming of special police units within the Border Police Administration (including the Regional Centres of Border Police towards the neighbouring countries), Criminal Police Administration, Police Administration for the City of Belgrade and all regional police administrations. Reporting of potential cases and their investigation regarding the asylum seekers and unaccompanied minors is made easier in Serbia, as the Asylum Office is located within the Border Police Administration and they daily share informations.

121. Regarding the application of Indicators for the preliminary identification of human trafficking victims, the team of 20 trainers was formed for the systems of social welfare, police and education. 496 experts were trained, among which 118 police officers.

122. The structure of courtrooms and equipment in courts make the protection of victims impossible, both when using ICT and during making statements. Support and empowerment of victims to participate in the court procedure is provided through the protection plan, and during the testimony, there are always persons that victims trust present (usually CHTVP staff or CSO associate), and in case of children, those persons are usually their guardians, appointed by the centre for social work. In all the proceedings, victims have attorneys provided through the victim support.

123. Within the twinning project implemented by the consortium of experts from the Netherlands, Austria and Slovenia, “Police Reform — Promotion and Implementation of Mechanisms for a Comprehensive and Consistent Monitoring of Legal Migrations in the Republic of Serbia”, the Draft Law on Foreigners is prepared. According to the Draft Law from September 2016, trafficking victims, including children who are victims, will be approved temporary residence of up to one year and a possibility of an extension for the same period, in accordance with their best interest.

124. In cooperation with the Border Police Administration, Touristic Inspection, Market Inspection and Tax Administration, the Labour Inspection controlled the hospitality facilities on the territory of the Republic of Serbia, particularly the areas near the border, during the late night hours and found unregistered workers. Some of them were foreign citizens, and some of them were suspected to be the potential victims of trafficking.

125. As far as the cases of labour exploitation in the Russian Federation and Sochi in 2014, as well as measures for identifying and processing those cases, all the injured parties — trafficking victims are the citizens of the Republic of Serbia.

126. In 2014, the following were filed: 2 criminal charges for labour exploitation (35 persons affected) and 3 criminal charges for multiple exploitation (3 persons affected). Mostly adult males were affected by the labour exploitation.

127. The result of checking the “shady advertisements” in 2014 was filing the total of three criminal charges against five persons (4 citizens of Serbia and 1 citizen of BaH) by the police officers due to existence of grounded suspicion that they had performed criminal offense of “Unauthorized practice of a particular activity”.

128. In May 2014, criminal charges were filed against one person who, for the purpose of acquiring illegal material benefit, mediated in finding employment in Germany, on the territory of Novi Sad from January to March 2014. Criminal charges were also filed against one person who mediated in employment of nine persons abroad, without authorization.

129. In six cases, decisions on temporary ban on practicing activities in employment and advertising were made. The Market Inspection filed charges for commercial offense against legal entities and responsible persons of those legal entities. In two cases, misdemeanour charges were also filed, as those were the cases of natural persons mediating in employment.

130. The Labour Law prohibits labour of children younger than 15, and persons younger than 18 are prohibited from performing jobs: requiring particularly hard physical work, working underground, under water or at high altitude; jobs including exposure to harmful radiation or agents that are toxic, carcinogenic or that cause hereditary diseases, as well as health risk due to cold, heat, noise or vibration; that, based on the finding of the relevant health authority, could harmfully and with an increased risk affect their health and lives, considering their psychophysical abilities.

131. Certain types of work engagement of minors are explicitly prohibited by the Family Law, and a parent abusing the rights or grossly neglecting the duties referred to in the contents of the parental rights will be completely deprived of the parental right.

132. In 2015, labour inspectors found persons younger than 15 at work. 36 persons aged between 15 and 18 were found: 17 persons in wholesale and retail businesses, 8 in agriculture, 6 in foodstuff production, two in accommodation and food services, one in personal services, one in financial services and one in construction business.

133. The Law on Inspection Supervision extended the jurisdiction of the Labour Inspection, so apart from the registered entities, it may control the unregistered ones as well.

134. The Coordination Commission was established by the Government Decision, and it formed 7 Working Groups and 2 Expert Teams, one of which undertakes measures and activities for the informal labour suppression.

In July 2016, the Ministry in charge of labour formed the Inter-ministerial Working Group for preparing the Draft List of Hazardous Jobs for Children.

135. The International Labour Organization Project “National Level Engagement and Support for Reduction of Child Labour” is being implemented during 2016 and 2017. Labour Inspectorate, CSW representatives, MoI, CHTVP, and Ministry of Education are participating in this Project. The Project includes analysis and promotion of the legislative framework, consultative workshops for the representatives of government institutions, labour unions, associations of employers and CSOs, delivering training for labour inspectors and representatives of other relevant institutions. Drafting of a study on exploitation of children and child labour is planned, with emphasis on abuse of children for begging and pornography, along with drafting of a comprehensive National Strategy and National Action plan for combating child labour. A pilot programme for rehabilitation of Roma children in order to get them off the street and motivate them to return to school will be implemented.

Rights of displaced persons, refugees and asylum seekers (articles 7 and 13)

136. In cooperation with local self-government units, the Commissariat for Refugees and Migration continued with resolving the housing issue of the displaced persons and refugees in the informal collective centres. Housing issues of Roma families were resolved and the following informal centres were closed in Kraljevo, Novi Pazar and Kragujevac. The number of displaced persons and refugees in the collective centres was reduced from 495 to 171. The collective centre in Rača was closed, and 142 Roma displaced persons and refugees were taken care of. Improvement of living conditions for 4,309 displaced persons and refugees in private accommodation was made possible along with economic empowerment for 3,618 displaced persons and refugees, with the assessed share of Roma of about 20%.

137. The Law on Registry Books and Guide for keeping the registry books and forms of registry books govern the procedure of renewal of the destroyed or missing registry books maintained for the territory of the Autonomous Province Kosovo and Metohija, pursuant to which 2,919 registrations in total were performed in 2015.

138. Pursuant to the Rulebook on the form of temporary residence registration at the address of the institution, or SCW, the Ministry of Interior made decisions on establishing residence and issuing personal documents for 1,686 persons (majority of them being Roma in the informal settlements).

139. Persons who are displaced from under the Gazela Bridge in the Belville residential complex, were issued documents through urgent procedure and registration of residence was performed for 1,095 persons.

140. The Law on Asylum stipulates that every foreigner, when passing the border control at the entrance to the Republic of Serbia or within its territory, may verbally or in writing express an intention to seek the asylum. The police officer will issue the Certificate on the expressed intention to seek asylum in Serbia to the foreigner, and the asylum seeker will be entered in the electronic database of the Ministry of Interior, with an obligation to report to one of five asylum centres within 72 hours.

141. The Law on Asylum stipulates that an asylum seeker will not be punished provided that they submit the application for the asylum without delay and provide valid explanation for the illegal entrance. Persons may not be deported or returned against their own will to the territory where their lives and liberty would be threatened because of their race, gender, language, religion, nationality, affiliation with a certain social group or political attitudes, unless the person does not endanger the security of the country or a that person has been convicted of a serious crime by a final verdict and poses a danger to public order.

142. The Law on Asylum stipulates the principle of a special care about the asylum seekers with special needs, among which are the minors. A guardian will be appointed to an unaccompanied minor before submitting the application for the asylum. Admission of juvenile asylum seekers in Serbia is performed in the Centre for accommodation of the minor foreigners who are not accompanied by parents or guardians.

143. The ministry in charge of social issues drafted the Instruction on actions of the centres for social work and social welfare institutions for accommodation of beneficiaries in providing protection and accommodation to unaccompanied minor migrants. The accommodation may last until the moment when the minor immigrant expresses the wish to obtain asylum, pursuant to the Law on Asylum, when he or she will be provided accommodation at the asylum centre. Minor foreigners are put to the reception centres accompanied by the police officers and CSW staff on duty, with their identity previously established by CSW, based on the statement of the minors themselves. Treatment is short-term, focusing on stabilizing a child/young person, assessment of their needs and further form of protection. The psycho-social assistance in the reception centres is also provided by the psychologists from the CSOs.

144. In 2016, the Commissariat expanded its capacities, in accordance with the current migrant crisis, so that the accommodation for 1,210 migrants was provided in the permanent centres, whereas the accommodation for 3,360 persons was provided in the transit centres. Capacities for the accommodation of about 770 persons more are in preparation stage.

145. The Asylum Office has no knowledge of abuse and extortion over the asylum seekers by the Serbian Police and members of the Border Police.

Right to fair trial and judiciary independence (article 14)

146. During the last elections of Public Prosecutors' Deputies for the period of three years (elections for probation period), the legislative authorities accepted all the proposals of the National Council of Prosecutors, and all the proposed candidates were elected, so that the National Assembly transformed its right to select into some kind of nomination of candidates previously identified by the Council. In a similar manner, at the beginning of this year, elective member of the Council were selected among public prosecutors and deputy public prosecutors. This practice created assumptions that even before the constitutional changes, the political influence on the selection of holders of public prosecutor's office could be reduced or excluded.

147. The amendments to the Law on Judges stipulate that expertise and capacity of a candidate for judge, elected for that position for the first time in the basic and misdemeanour court, is to be verified on the exam organized by the High Judicial Council.

148. In 2016, the Government adopted the Code of Conduct for the members of the Government stipulating the limits of commenting on judicial decisions and procedures, and the Draft of a code like this for the MPs is being prepared. Guide for communication between the Public Prosecutor's Offices, media and public, with recommendation for specific actions, was developed.

149. The High Judicial Council and the National Council of Prosecutors are also working on amending their Rules of Procedure to regulate this field, too.

150. In terms of assigning cases to the so-called "randomly selected judge", we cannot talk about failure, as the exception to that rule may be stipulated only by a special law, if there is a justified reason for that. Such an exception is stipulated by the Law on Protection of Right to Trial in a Reasonable Period, and even then the case is assigned to a judge whose turn it is to obtain to be assigned the next case.

151. Judicial reform is implemented through the National Strategy for Judicial Reform and the Action Plan for Chapter 23 (more than 90% of the activities due have been fully or partially realized).

152. In terms of automatic allocation of cases, analysis of the existing ICT system through assessment of hardware components and HR analysis was performed. Guidelines determining the development of ICT system were developed. Sector Council for ICT was also established.

153. Establishing the system of private enforcement agents, public notaries and mediation in resolving disputes should reduce the burden of the courts, accelerate resolving of old cases, shorten the duration of court proceedings and promote access of citizens to justice.

154. The Court Rules of Procedure were amended, and special labelling of old cases on the front page was introduced: OLD CASE — for cases lasting for more than two years; URGENT-OLD CASE — for cases lasting for more than five years; VERY URGENT-OLD CASE — for cases lasting for more than ten years. Through “Case Duration Tracking”, courts of first instance may track cases older than 2 years, courts of second instance may track procedures regarding legal remedies lasting more than one year. Teams for the reduction of the number of old cases were formed in all courts.

155. In 2015, the Supreme Court of Cassation started training of judicial assistants and advisors of the republic level courts, appellate and higher courts on data sharing. Standards in terms of format, manner of keeping and management of the final court decisions sent to the courts of first instance and/or parties were adopted through use of the application for vertical and horizontal sharing.

156. The Supreme Court of Cassation adopted the Amended Single Programme of Resolving the Old Cases.

157. The Draft Law on free legal aid includes suggestions of the bar chambers. The draft was submitted to the competent ministries for their opinion, and the adoption of this law is expected by the end of the year. The Ministry of Justice will monitor and publish the annual report on the implementation of the Law.

158. Regarding promotion of access to regulation and court practice, PE Official Gazette made available to all the Internet users, free of charge, the following: unofficial consolidated versions of the applicable regulations at the level of the Republic, original official gazettes in PDF format in which both basic texts of the regulations and their amendments were published. Access to database of court practice is also free of charge.

Right to privacy and family life (article 17)

159. The Draft Law on Protection of Personal Data is being developed, in accordance with the tables of compliance and expert recommendations, the Draft Law of the Commissioner for the Information of Public Importance and Protection of Personal Data and Draft Regulation of the European Parliament and Council on protection of individuals regarding processing of personal data and free movement of such data.

Freedom of conscience and religion (articles 2, 18 and 26)

160. Starting from the fact that existence and activities of all churches and religious communities is based on the principles of religious pluralism and because of many different churches and religious communities in the in the legal order of the Republic of Serbia, there are procedures and criteria for registration. The Law on Churches and Religious Communities identifies various religious entities and legally verifies their existence. This does not prohibit creation of new churches and religious communities, but stipulates conditions under which they may acquire dignity and status of churches and religious communities and enter the legal order as the entity of religious freedoms (as the religious community). Registration pursuant to the law is an option to obtain the status of church and religious community and acquire legal personality in the Republic of Serbia.

Freedom of expression and peaceful assembly (articles 19 and 21)

161. The Law on Public Information and Media introduced the Registry of Media, kept by the Serbian Business Registers Agency, to provide data about the media to the public <http://www.apr.gov.rs/%D0%A0%D0%B5%D0%B3%D0%B8%D1%81%D1%82%D1%80%D0%B8/%D0%9C%D0%B5%D0%B4%D0%B8%D1%98%D0%B8.aspx>.

162. Public information is free and not subject to censorship. The Ministry of Culture and Information supervises the implementation of media laws and within its competence initiates the misdemeanour proceedings.

163. Pursuant to the Code of Ethics of journalist, the self-censorship is considered as violation of professional and ethical norms, and it is under the competence of the self-regulatory bodies, such as the Media Council. When the Ministry observes certain types of conduct not sanctioned by the law which it finds to be violations of certain ethical standards in the field of media, it will always address the self-regulatory bodies with the initiative to review these types of conduct and undertake certain measures within their competence.
