In that regard, please comment on reports that those laws were approved with minimal debate, despite opposition from the journalists' union and others, and that they actually limit freedom of expression, by, inter alia, giving the Ministry of Social Communication the authority to oversee how media organizations carry out editorial decisions, and to fine or suspend the activities of violators. Please also comment on reports that arrested migrants may be subjected to harsh, overcrowded and unsanitary detention conditions.

28. In the light of the Committee's previous concluding observations (see CCPR/C/AGO/CO/1, para. 16) and taking into account the fact that approximately 30,000 people fled the Kasai region to Angola between April and June 2017, please comment on continuing reports of torture, ill-treatment, detention, harassment and human rights abuses by the police and security forces of registered and unregistered refugees, particularly refugees from the Democratic Republic of the Congo. Please comment on reports that although Act No. 10/15 of 2015 provides that refugees can apply for permission to leave the refugee camp in which they are living, there is no such mechanism in practice. Please also report on collective expulsions of undocumented migrants, particularly at the border with the Democratic Republic of the Congo, and comment on allegations that migrants have no opportunity to apply for a judicial remedy.

29. Taking into account the Committee's previous concluding observations, (see CCPR/C/AGO/CO/1, para. 20), please respond to the following concerns and provide information on the steps taken to address them: (a) the problem of widespread corruption in the judiciary; (b) the reportedly large number of cases in which lack of independence and impartiality has been denounced; (c) a reported lack of adequately trained judges and lawyers; (d) the limited number of courts and tribunals (both municipal and provincial) throughout the country and; (e) the generally high cost of legal fees, which may prevent many citizens from accessing justice.

Rights of minorities (art. 25)

30. Please provide information on the measures taken to ensure that ethnic and indigenous minority populations are not adversely affected by development projects and that such projects are undertaken only after all efforts have been made to attain free, prior and informed consent. Please respond to concerns about the lack of recognition of the special needs and status of indigenous peoples in the State party.
