ANNEX

FOURTH REPORT
OF THE GOVERNMENT OF THE FEDERAL REPUBLIC OF YUGOSLAVIA ON CRIMES COMMITTED AGAINST HUMANITY AND INTERNATIONAL LAW IN THE TERRITORY OF THE FORMER SOCIALIST FEDERAL REPUBLIC OF YUGOSLAVIA

I

This is the fourth report of the Federal Government (the first was made in 1992, the second in 1993 and the third in April 1994), and the second prepared by the Committee Compiling Data on Crimes Against Humanity and International Law. It contains relevant facts concerning grave violations of international war and humanitarian law in the territories of the former Yugoslav republics, Croatia and Bosnia and Herzegovina. It maintains continuity in informing the domestic and foreign public as well as the United Nations organization of crimes committed against humanity and international law.

The Report covers the period from 1991 to 1994. The Committee gathered and processed the data presented in the Report through the direct efforts of members of the Committee and independent researchers. Much of the material was collected in cooperation with the judicial and other bodies of the FRY as well as in cooperation with the local authorities of the Republic of Srpska and the Republic of Serbian Krajina and various non-governmental organizations. Numerous teams of the Committee and recruited experts (expert assessors, eminent jurists, experts on forensic medicine) collected data directly on the spot and data was also obtained by hearing witnesses either on the spot or in the Committee's premises. Important material proof of the crimes committed was obtained and relevant medical documentation compiled. In collecting and processing evidence, special attention was paid for them to comply in form and content with legal regulations so that they might be used as such in legal proceedings. Care was also taken to ensure, since war crimes do not fall under the statute of limitations, that the evidence is usable in criminal proceedings irrespective of when they might take place. To that end only the basic data concerning individual cases have been presented and not evidence itself on the committed crimes. Instead, the number of the Committee's files under which they are registered and kept has been indicated. With a view to protecting their mental and physical integrity and dignity as well as preventing possible abuses, the Report does not state the names and places of residence of individual witnesses. More particulars on individual cases are given in the Annex to this Report by way of illustration.

The Report contains 156 cases of grave violations of international war and humanitarian law which is only a minor part of all the collected materials and data the processing of which is under way.

As a continuous and long-term task is in question, new facts on grave violations of international war and humanitarian law will be presented in later reports, after processing.

II

On the basis of the criteria adopted in the previous reports the crimes committed have been classified, as in the previous three reports, in the following categories:

- I. Willful killing of civilians (from No. 177 to 184).
- II. Willful killing of detainees and prisoners of war (from No. 056 to 067)
- III. Inhuman treatment of civilians (from No. 046 to 057)
- IV. Inhuman treatment of detainees and prisoners of war (from No. 063 to 128)
- V. Willful killing and inhuman treatment of wounded and sick persons (from 034 to 045).
- VI. Hostage taking and detention camps (from No. 029 to 038).
- VII. Wanton devastation and destruction of property (from No. 035 to 037)
- VIII. Devastation of places of worship, cemeteries, cultural and historical monuments (from No. 027 to 029).
- IX. Ethnic cleansing (from No. 072 to 101).

Within the framework of these groups, we sought to systematize the crimes committed according to the scene of the crime but could not apply that criterion consistently since some crimes were committed in a number of places and even in the territories of the former B&H and Croatia (examples given in the Annex).

The Report has two annexes.

Annex 1 contains a list of camps for Serbs in what is referred to as Bosnia and Herzegovina and Croatia. That is only an incomplete list which enumerates camps mentioned in this and previous reports submitted to the United Nations.

Annex 2 briefly lists information on foreign mercenaries, participants in the war in the territory of the former SFRY, members of Croatian and Moslem armed formations.

DESIGNATION OF CRIME: Deliberate killing of prisoners - prisoners of war.

PLACE AND TIME: Ljubuski, a prison, the middle of 1992.

BRIEF DESCRIPTION: During the Moslem feast Bairam prisoners were especially mercilessly beaten. At that time a number of prisoners from Bugojno were brought to the camp and accommodated in cell No.5. From that cell they transferred Drago Zelen to cell No.8. He had big burns on his behind, because they had made him sit on a hot stove. It was before they brought him to Ljubusko. Commander Susac asked him why his pants were that way and if he had relieved himself in them, and when Zelen answered that they had baked him on a hot stove, Susec slapped his face. The witness D.B. states that Zelen was constantly beaten for three days while he was in cell No.8 by imprisoned Croat criminals, who did it with the consent of the guards. On the third day around 4 a.m. Zelen died.

Pero Vazic from around Duvno was also in the prison in Ljubusko, and was beaten so much that he died on the way to the hospital.

One day they brought to the camp two members of the Milutinovic family from the village of Zijamat near Bugojno. They only had shirts on, while the lower parts of their bodies were burnt and full of blisters. It was obvious that both of them had been burnt earlier. They placed one of them in cell No.6 and the other one in No.8. Two days after that they beat them both in cell No.6. They tied the hands of one of them on a nail on the wall and beat him, making the other prisoners watch it. When they finished with that one, they beat the other one too. Both of them died of the inflicted injuries. They left their bodies in the cell over the day, and at night they put them into plastic bags and took them somewhere.

IV-068

DESIGNATION OF CRIME: Inhuman treatment of detainees or prisoners of war.

PLACE AND TIME: Celebic, camp in the former YPA storehouse near Konjic, May 26 - December 1992.

BRIEF DESCRIPTION: On May 26, 86 Serbs from Bradina and its surroundings were put in a hangar, called "6"- about 50 m. long, 30 m. wide, up to 10 meters high, with one door. The next day they brought another group of nine Serbs from Konjic. The number of people kept in this hangar later increased to as many as 280.

Each prisoner had his place beside the wall or in the middle, leaving just enough space for a guard to pass between them. The prisoners had to sit both day and night. They were not allowed to rise, move or lie down. During their entire stay in this camp the inmates were not allowed to bathe or wash their faces.

The inmates in hangar "6" were not allowed to talk to one another. They sat on the concrete floor in the presence of guards and if anyone tried to speak to anyone or move, he would immediately be beaten. The witnesses B.Dj., M.M. and V.M. state that in the first weeks it was impossible to get used to sitting all the time.

Because of the high summer temperatures, the stench in the hangar was awful, and the only door was always closed. The temperature was unbearable. Since the roof and walls were of sheet metal, they would absorb heat and the temperature would be very high. The witnesses B.Dj., M.M. and V.M. say that they would start sweating from 09.00 a.m. and that would last up to 02.00 a.m. when the temperature became a bit more bearable. The prisoners were not given water. In 24 hours they would get only a liter of water per 10 prisoners. That was not drinking water, but water from a canal, although there was drinking water in the camp.

They got very little food. A loaf of bread, 600-700 grams, would be divided into 14 to 18 parts so that in 24 hours everyone would get a slice less than 1 cm thin. Only occasionally with the bread they got some sort of soup which was sour and was not fit for human consumption. Since there were only 5 spoons, five men would come up, take that soup and then give the spoons to others, because each one was entitled to several spoons of that soup.

They were not allowed to use the toilet so at the beginning they relieved themselves in the hangar, beside the door. Food was distributed at the very place which was used as a toilet.

After July 13, the regimen in the camp became stricter, so that they got no food for three days, and after that only a piece of bread each.

One of the heard witnesses states that many inmates suffered from constipation, and that the witness did not defecate for 47 days. In the beginning they were allowed to go out of the hangar to urinate, but after July 13, a special regime was introduced. Once daily they would take out groups of 40 people to urinate. They had 40 seconds to run out of the hangar, line up, urinate, return and all sit down in their places in the hangar. While urinating they were often beaten so that many did not manage to urinate for fear.

For every act of disobedience the inmates were punished by beating, both during the day and at night.

INDICATIONS CONCERNING PERPETRATOR:

1. Mucic Zdravko, a.k.a. Pavao, camp warden in Celebici,
2. Delic Hazim, deputy camp warden.

EVIDENCE: Recorded testimonies of the witnesses B.Dj., M.M. and B.M. (kept under Nos. 283/94-3, 221/4-94-5 and 221/94 in the records of the Committee).

One of the witnesses states that in one of the classrooms there were 12 beds and that it housed 39 Serbs, so that many had to lie on the floor.

Serbs from Bradina, Konjic and their surroundings, who had previously been beaten in camps, were held in this school.

After a shorter stay in this "hospital" the detained Serbs were transferred to the camp in Celebici or to the camp Musala in Konjic.

The detainees got very little food. Babic Slobodan of father Petko from Bjelovcina near Konjic died in this hospital. Previously his palate had been pierced with a rifle barrel. It was an enormous wound, reaching up to the brain, and he died 4 days after being brought to this "hospital", without regaining consciousness.

INDICATIONS CONCERNING PERPETRATOR:

1. Mucic Zdravko, a.k.a. Pavao and others.

EVIDENCE: Depositions of heard witnesses, including P.G., a doctor who as an inmate of this "hospital" treated other inmates, although he had no drugs or instruments at his disposal - are contained in the files of the Committee, including the deposition of the witness R V No 236/94.

PLACE AND TIME: Sarajevo, May, 1992

BRIEF DESCRIPTION: The witness G.M. who was doing military service in Sarajevo, was, after having been captured and disarmed as a member of the YPA, transferred with his comrades to the Central prison operated by Moslems in green uniforms with blue emblems.

In the first fifteen days they were beaten daily around the clock. Wails and screams could often be heard during the night. The captured members of the parachutists unit were subjected to especially severe beatings.

They often brought civilians to the prison and both the civilians and the prison staff beat with sticks and rifles all the prisoners, who were handcuffed and chained to the radiators. The witness G.M. often saw them taking dead persons out of the prison: holding them by the arms and legs, two men would carry them out of the building to the yard where a truck or van was waiting to take them away.

DESIGNATION OF CRIME: Inhuman treatment of detainees or prisoners of war

PLACE AND TIME: Camp Dretelj, July to August 1992,

BRIEF DESCRIPTION: A HOS unit was stationed in the camp of Dretelj. They found fun and entertainment in torturing, maltreating and humiliating the prisoners in all sorts of ways.

If there was nothing else to do, they made the detainees pluck and graze grass making sure that they swallowed it. While the detainees were bent over plucking grass some HOS members would jump on their backs from a running start with their booted feet.

On one occasion they brought a bitch and forced the prisoners to kiss her under the tail and lick her genitals. This bitch was brought by one Marina, about 25 years of age, HOS member.

On one occasion the witness S.B. was forced to hold his mouth wide open for about fifteen minutes while a guard put a knife in his mouth. The guard spat in his mouth repeatedly while holding the knife.

On one occasion, four detainees (the names are known to the Committee) were forced to take off their clothes and were first forced to masturbate each other and then to abuse each other sexually.

A detainee going to fetch water from the tap would be beaten there.

They forced the inmates to sing Ustashi songs with them in which Serbs are blackened. They forced them to cross themselves as Catholics do.

They forced individuals to imitate an airplane, the inmate would run around with his arms spread out and produce the sound of a plane and a guard would mock shoot. The prisoner would then have to fall down. If he landed on his hands he would have to repeat everything until he fell flat on the ground with his full weight and hit his head.

Occasionally, they pushed the heads of some prisoners into a slop bucket.

This was repeated on a number of occasions and they always told the citizens that the men were captured Chetniks, although they were pensioners arrested only for being Serbs.

They were brought there from Mostar and other places in Herzegovina as well as from the territory of Croatia. There were also about 200 women in this camp and even seventy-year olds.

The imprisoned Serbs were beaten every day. Often about ten drunk soldiers would come and take the prisoners out into the corridor where they beat them so severely that they could return to the cells only on all fours. Witnesses list the names of persons whose arms and ribs were broken and spines damaged. Civilians were occasionally enabled access to the prison to beat and humiliate the prisoners.

During the day the prisoners often had to do forced labour. They had to dig graves for killed Croats and Moslems and to bury them. They forced them to kiss the corpses which were decomposing.

They cut the prisoners' hair by making the letter "U" or a crescent on their heads. BRIEF DESCRIPTION: During his stay in this prison the prisoner was subjected to various forms of maltreatment. One night two guards walked into cell No. 6, the one in which he was, and then one of them took out a knife saying that he would taste some Chetnik blood. Then he rammed the knife into the prisoner's palm. When the other guard warned him that he might slash the prisoner's veins, he said that he would then try from the other side of the hand and he stabbed him in the back of the hand. The witness fainted from the pain.

The commander, whom they called "Libe", was particularly fond of drawing his gun and pointing it at the prisoners. Once when he was indulging himself pointing the gun at the witness's temple, the latter reached for the gun with his right hand wanting to shoot and kill himself. "Libe" prevented him and said: "We will be needing you for this game yet".

One night they beat up a youth, about 17 years old and then they called the witness to clean up the room in which they had interrogated the young man. He found him there unconscious, in a pool of blood. There was clotted blood all over the room, still warm, and the witness had to clean and wash it up.

One night a policeman, member of the intervention police unit, came into the room in which the witness was, brandishing a white club which was bloodstained. He forced the witness to lick the blood off the club. The witness became nauseous and started to vomit. Then the policeman forced him to take his pants off and rammed the club first up his anus and then into his throat. He started to choke and grit his teeth. His torturer abruptly pulled out the club and broke two of the witness's teeth.

One day the witness was viciously beaten on the head, back and stomach and he repeatedly fainted, was brought to and then beaten again. In the end they poured hot water on him causing him intolerable anguish as the hot water burned his open wounds.

One night the commander came into the witness's cell and asked him whether he was homosexual. The witness replied that he did not feel like joking, being an elderly man (the witness is around 60). The commander said that o.k., he was not gay but that he would have to do something to him anyway. Soon a uniformed young man, around 30, came into his cell, ordered him to unzip his fly and to perform fellatio on him. When he ejaculated, the witness had to swallow his semen. Throughout the ordeal, the young man held a knife to his throat and in fact cut it. The witness urinated from fear and humiliation and was forced by the guards to clean it up. The witness considers this to be the greatest humiliation and tragedy that he experienced in prison.

DESIGNATION OF CRIME: Inhuman treatment of detainees and prisoners of war

PLACE AND TIME: Lipno selo near Ljubuski, camp situated in the school building, beginning of May 1992.

BRIEF DESCRIPTION: On coming to this camp for Serbs the witness was taken with the rest of the Serbs into a room which was full of blood. There they beat them telling them that Serbs will be no more, that they would destroy them all and round them up in the Belgrade pashadom, swearing all the while at Karadzic and Milosevic and saying that everything would be Turkish and Ustashi. They beat them with iron bars and one of them cut the witness' hand, drawing blood which he then licked saying : " how sweet Chetnik blood is".

The witness and others in the camp were hit on their legs and arms with hammers. They used welding torches to burn his arms leaving visible scars on both of them. There are also scars in the area of his right upper arm, on his left thigh, on his chest and back. They put out cigarettes on his palms and upper arms also leaving visible scars. Apart from this the witness was ordered to have sexual intercourse with four inmates

Kraljevic Blaz toured the camp every day and told his men: "Do not beat them for I cannot have them exchanged in this condition, I'd rather you killed them".

The imprisoned Serbs had to greet the staff with "Heil Hitler!" and the Ustashi greeting "Ready for the Homeland!", and were forced to do so by beating.

One night one of the HOS members asked the witness whether he was thirsty and when the latter said that he was, he handed him a bottle. In the bottle was urine mixed with salt. When he refused to drink it, the guard started to hit him and forced him to drink up two liters of this concoction.

The prisoners were also visited by Paraga with "Jastreb" (the Hawk), and a TV crew in front of which the witness and other prisoners had to confess that they were snipers, one had to confess that he possessed a radio station, and another that he was Karadzic's deputy.

"Jastreb" asked the witness where he had gotten all of his marked wounds and when the witness answered, as previously ordered, that he had sustained them during a fall, "Jastreb" ironically said that he was surely an epileptic which was a frequent affliction among Chetniks.

After the TV crew had filmed the prisoners, this witness was viciously beaten, probably because he had refused to confess to being a sniper before Paraga as he had been ordered to. At night, frequently, a friar would come to lecture HOS members and on one occasion the witness heard him say as he was leaving : "just keep bringing them in, do your job, do not worry about the money".

In this camp the tongue of the witness S.B. was pierced with a knife, nails and knives were driven under his fingernails and toenails, sticks and a thick cable were pushed up his anus.

They forced the prisoners to cross themselves as Catholics do.

On two occasions the witness S.B. was taken to a mock execution, when they shot beside him. On another occasion he was placed in front of a tree and a HOS member brought an assortment of knives which he threw at him and which stuck in the tree.

The inmates were forced to have intercourse with a dog which was brought into the camp.

The inmates were forced to graze grass, eat insects, drink detergent for washing dishes, machine oil and urine.

They used to say to them that it served them right because they were Serbs, that they were schismatics, that they were not a people, that both they and Orthodoxy would disappear. That only Catholics and Moslems would remain. That they would convert a third of them to Catholicism, kill another third, and expel the remaining third to the island of Corfu and to the Belgrade pashadom. PLACE AND TIME: Zagreb, Kerestinec prison, March-August 1992

BRIEF DESCRIPTION: When this female witness was taken to this camp with other imprisoned Serbs the commander of the camp, Klajic said: We have no room for them, take them to the Sava river, kill them, let them flow down the Sava to their Serbia and to their Milosevic. They took them in anyway and placed them in totally empty rooms where there was no furniture at all, so that they had to lie on the concrete floor. Immediately on arrival the witness was taken to the "Black room" for interrogation; the room was sprinkled with blood. On a table was an array of torture implements: eye gouging pincers, knives of various forms for slaughter and cutting off body parts, saws, scissors, hanging ropes and other. In that room there were waiting for them men who said that they were the "Black legion".

They took them out into the snow and ordered them to take off their shoes and walk barefoot on the snow holding their hands behind their necks, and they kept hitting them throughout this ordeal. They forced them to carry 50-kg sandbags from one pile to another and back and the female witness who is 55 years of age had to do this also

They brought children to the camp and showed the prisoners to them as Chetniks, gave the children stones and encouraged them to throw the stones at the prisoners.

At night they forced the male prisoners to dance with the female prisoners. They would order the men to strip to the waist and the women to strip from the waist and to take off their shoes and to dance thus. The dancing would last from 6-7 hours during which time they would keep turning the lights on and off.

After some 10 days, the "Black legion" was replaced by the military police, the unit "Cobra". They would take the prisoners out into the compound and order them to look for mines allegedly laid by the Chetniks, and several of them would be killed at a time when a mine exploded. They were taken away and thrown into a canal in which they were breeding fish.

The situation improved somewhat in June when the prison was visited by a Red Cross team.

Members of the Black legion administered electric shocks to interrogate the inmates and in the case of women, as was also the case with our witness, they connected electrodes to their breasts, their backs, heads and necks, causing intolerable pain and fainting. The witness describes that after such electric shocks she would lie unconscious for 2-3 days. As for men they would connect the electrodes to their genitals, they would hang them up by their feet or their hands, strip them naked and hold them in such a position the whole night.

Younger women were raped and the witness states the names of 5 women who were the victims of rape.

They would be at one prisoner for 15-20 minutes at a time, depending on how much he could take before fainting.

The worst beating took place on the Bayram when they viciously beat up all the prisoners having previously gagged them with rags and put plastic bags on their heads.

She would kick the prisoner in such a position holding him to prevent him from falling, which he usually did when she stopped kicking and moved away.

Before exchanging them they asked each of the prisoners whether they wanted to be exchanged. If the answer was yes the prisoner would be viciously beaten up, and if the answer was no the prisoner would be viciously beaten up all the same.

When the witness V. N. was exchanged on May 22 in Lipovac he was in no condition to walk so that they brought him in an ambulance

They received only one ration of food a day; one loaf of bread for 5-6 people and a 30-gram tin of meat paste. The bread was stale and often obviously trampled on by boots.

PLACE AND TIME: Zagreb, Kerestinec prison, July - August, 1992.

BRIEF DESCRIPTION: Since he was seriously wounded, the witness was treated for 82 days in KPD Hospital, Zagreb, bb Shimunska Street, after which he was transferred to Kerestinec, where he stayed for about a month. He was sent to Kerestinec, as he was told, to serve time, because while he was in the hospital in Slavonski Brod, he was interrogated in the hospital room and charged with two murders. However, he was neither taken to a court nor given any court decision; he was only told that he had been sentenced.

In Kerestinec, he was tortured with electric power in such a way that a wire was tied to his ear and another wire to his sexual organ, and telephone handle was then turned on exposing him to high voltage electric shocks, causing convulsions of his entire body and paralysis of certain parts of his body, along with awful pain and fear.

Across the prison was a medieval castle and in its cellar a torture chamber, where the witness was taken to be beaten.

A few days after the witness had been brought to the Kerestinec detention camp and placed in a cell with 18 other prisoners, Mato Lausic came in and called this witness's name, saying that he wanted to see a chetnik from Posavina. When the witness responded, Lausic told him to take off his clothes and show his wounds, and then said: "Nothing but an ax can kill you, Bosnian", and put an instrument, that looked like a gun, on his bosom. At that moment, the witness felt a strong electric shock which threw him back so that his back hit against the wall and he fell down. The witness was hit so hard that he was in a state of shock for some 15-20 minutes and he believes that he is still suffering the consequences of that electric shock.

PLACE AND TIME: Bradina, May 1992.

BRIEF DESCRIPTION: Two months prior to the attack on Bradina, which was launched on May 25, 1992, witness N. G. left by car, like he did every morning, for his place of work but was stopped by armed Muslims who ordered him to turn his vehicle round and return to where he had come from and not to go back to work any more nor to try by any means to pass by that road.

Something similar to this happened to N.G.'s wife who had also been working at Konjic.

The village of Bradina, previously inhabited almost exclusively by Serbs, was surrounded by the Croatian Armed Force (HOS) and by Muslim forces which prevented the Serbs from leaving Bradina for no less than two months.

The locals entered into negotiations with the Muslims and an agreement was reached. But the accord notwithstanding, strong Muslim-Croatian forces launched an attack on Bradina at around noon on May 25. They put all Serbs to death without any exception including even old men. Milan Kuljanin, aged about 75, was killed that way after having been tortured and battered.

On the following day, May 26, they ordered the Serbs who had surrendered to line up in front of a coffee-house in the village centre and made women and children stand on one side and men on another. They proceeded to kick the men, batter them with rifle butts, with different truncheons, planks and other objects. This lasted about an hour. They then ordered the men to hand over watches, bracelets and other valuables as well as documents which they burned immediately. Before getting on a lorry which was to take them to a detention camp at Celebici, they had to pass between two ranks of armed Muslims and Croats who punched them as they walked.

INDICATIONS CONCERNING PERPETRATOR: 1) Redzo Baletic from the village of Bale, aged around 40.

EVIDENCE: Testimony by witness N.G. filed with the Committee for Compiling Data on Crimes against Humanity and International Law under case No. 260/94, along with those by N.V. (221/4-1) and by P.G. (380/94).

DESIGNATION OF CRIME: Ethnic cleansing

PLACE AND TIME: Konjic, May 1992

BRIEF DESCRIPTION: Witness P.G. had been living at Konjic from 1965 and worked as a medical specialist at the Public Health Home. In early May the attitude toward the Serbs at Konjic became intolerable.

The head of the Public Health Home, Dr. Jusufbegovic told witness P.G. and other Serbs working at the Home that they were his hostages and that in case anything happened to them, meaning the Muslims, the Serbs would perish on the rebound.

When on May 7, 1992, he came back home from work, witness P.G. established that his three-room apartment area 90 sq. m. had been broken into and that Muslim Bajra Dzajic had moved in; Dzajic's sons were members of the notorious Mitke's team which all the Serbs feared. While witness P.G. was away at work with his wife, Dzajic broke into his fully appointed apartment and moved in. Witness P.G. was disallowed from entering the apartment and from taking some belongings out of it. As a result, witness P.G. was forced to abandon his home and all his possessions, another house area 85 sq.m. at Jablanica Lake, two garages and two motor-cars, an "Audi" and a "Yugo". He left behind a library comprising 1,500 volumes, a piano, a collection of paintings - all possessions worth no less than half a million DEM.

DESIGNATION OF CRIME: Ethnic cleansing.

PLACE AND TIME: Zagreb, March 1990 - November 1991.

BRIEF DESCRIPTION: Following the HDZ's victory in the elections, the situation in Zagreb changed completely: there was a great hue and cry against everything Yugoslav and Serb. The town witnessed the emergence of graffiti like "Serbs out", "No Entry for Dogs and Serbs" (this writing was found in the subway at Vrapce), "No entry for Serbs" (in many shop windows), "Long Live Ante Pavelic" or only the acronym ZAP. On sale in town were black T-shirts with the markings of the black ustashi legion (which fought together with the Germans at Leningrad in WWII), stickers with well-known ustashi symbols, cassettes and records with ustashi songs, stickers with derisive comments on the Serbs.

At the telecommunications plant "Nikola Tesla", where witness J.B. used to work, 420 workers out of a total of 5,300 belonged to the Serb nationality. The climate at this factory soon became unbearable for the Serbs. The Serbs' working duties and discipline were tightened and a rigorous control was imposed. Each absence was linked to the current developments, i.e. war clashes, and innuendos were made that they spent weekends fighting on the Serb side. When the son of Ana Vojtisek, a Croat, perished as a member of the Croatian National Guard (ZNG), the Croat women working at the electrical plant with witness J.B., sought to lynch their female Serb co-workers.

In the wake of such pressures and threats, workers belonging to the Serb nationality started leaving the factory on a massive scale. When witness J.B. was also forced to give in notice, the personnel service official told her that she was the fiftieth Serb woman to leave.

At residential buildings in Zagreb guard duty was organized at the entrances so as to inspect and register any person entering or leaving the buildings. Each and every visitor had to report to the guard on coming and on leaving, including even the tenants. Although there were just several bombings of non-civilian targets, they often raised the alarm concerning an alleged bombing. Lists were drawn up of those who refused to go to the bomb shelters. They were declared fifth columnists.

Due to such an atmosphere and persistent pressures, witness J.B. had to flee Zagreb and is currently living with her family as a refugee in Serbia.

INDICATIONS CONCERNING PERPETRATOR

At the factory "Nikola Tesla":

- 1) Zdravko Balenovic, assistant general manager,
- 2) Josip Djuzel, engineer, electric plant chief,
- 3) Stipe Marin, foreman at the electric plant,

EVIDENCE: Minutes on the hearing of witness J.B. dated July 3, 1994 filed with the Committee for Compiling Data on Crimes against Humanity and International Law under case No. 283/94-5.

DESIGNATION OF CRIME: Ethnic cleansing.

PLACE AND TIME: Rijeka, May 20, 1992.

BRIEF DESCRIPTION: The interrogated witness S. V. lived in Rijeka for 15 years and worked at the shipyards. He had a two-room apartment and a family.

On May 20, 1992, witness S. V. left for work, like he did every day, and while waiting for the bus to arrive at Franje Supila Street a military police patrol comprising 4 or 5 uniformed military policemen appeared. They asked him whether he is a Bosnian and when he replied that he was born in Bosnia they ordered him into the vehicle and without asking to see his identity documents they took him direct to the harbour in Rijeka and made him board the passenger ship "Osijek". The ship remained in the harbour for a whole day until around 8:00 p.m.

They meanwhile made several persons originating from Bosnia-Herzegovina, mainly Serbs and a smaller number of Muslims, board the ship. According to witness S.V.'s assessment, around 800 Serbs and Muslims were made to get on that ship, people who had, like the witness himself, been rounded up by the police in the town and in its surroundings. The witness asked one of the military policemen who stood guard by the ship why there were brought there and where would they go and was told that Franjo Tudjman and Alija Izetbegovic had agreed to have all the military conscripts born in B-H and residing in Rijeka, irrespective of whether they had Croatian citizenship or not, surrender to the military authorities of Bosnia-Herzegovina.

The following morning the ship arrived in the Split harbour. They got on buses waiting for them and were taken to Mostar where they arrived around 16:00 hrs. on May 21. It was only then that they collected identity documents and other documents which they never returned to witness S.V. The Muslims separated all the Serbs from the rest - according to witness S.V. there were around 200 Serbs - and took them to some faculty at Mostar. They ordered the Serbs to take off all their clothes and when the latter did so, they lined them up, their faces against a wall. They started battering them with their truncheons and some rubber hammers, calling them chetniks. This lasted two days and two nights and they had to remain standing by the wall stark naked all the time.

Two or three Serbs fell to the ground dead as a result of the beating. They were then all taken to the detention camps for the Serbs.

INDICATIONS CONCERNING PERPETRATOR:

1. The most responsible leaders of Croatia and Bosnia-Herzegovina.

EVIDENCE: Minutes on the hearing of witness S.V. dated July 2, 1994 filed with the Committee for Compiling Data on Crimes and Humanity and International Law under No. 283/94-4. YU/SC 780-92/DOC-4/S

PLACE AND TIME: Vodice, June - December 1991.

RIEF DESCRIPTION: Witness B.M. who worked as a help in the kitchen of a hotel at Vodice was, along with other Serbs, totally insulated at her place of work subsequent to the HDZ's victory in the elections. The Serbs were avoided by everyone and in June 1991 hotel manager Stipe Loncar told them: "You are in for trouble. You Serbs had better not come to work any more and had better leave this place". After this warning, the frightened Serbs dared no longer come to work.

The village of Dragisic near Vodice where witness B.M. used to live was surrounded by uniformed Croats in September 1991. Serb children then stopped going to school at the nearby village of Cista Mala. In those days even the Serb Orthodox church was shelled. JNA members protected local Serbs at the village of Dragisici, but when the military withdrew the Serb houses were devastated and razed to the ground.

Witness B. M.'s house, which had been fully appointed, went up in flames. The house had previously been ransacked, the cattle and valuables taken away, so that the witness lost goods estimated to have been worth around DEM 1 million.

DESIGNATION OF CRIME: Ethnic cleansing.

PLACE AND TIME: Bjelovar, 1990 - 1992.

BRIEF DESCRIPTION: As a specialist in occupational medicine, witness M.M. worked as a member of the Disability Committee at Bjelovar from 1978 to July 28, 1992 when the manager told him not to come to work anymore and to find himself another job. In those days also other Serbs who had lived and worked at Bjelovar were given notice on a massive scale.

From the HDZ's victory in the 1990 elections onwards, witness M.M. was daily subjected to various kinds of harassment for being a Serb, he received anonymous telephone calls, threats, insults and was boycotted and insulated at his place of work. He was called a chetnik. He was charged with stealing sanitary supplies and medicaments and with sending them to chetniks, even though he had no access to those supplies as a member of the disability committee. Following his father's death in August 1991, the Croatian authorities unlawfully deprived him of his father's apartment and falsely accused witness M.M. of opening fire from that apartment as a sniper.

Seeing no other way out, witness M.M. fled Bjelovar and is currently living as a refugee.

INDICATIONS CONCERNING PERPETRATOR:

1. Filip Sijic, Director of the Pension and Disability Insurance Area Service at Bjelovar, who was the witness' superior, and the top-ranking authorities at Bjelovar.

DESIGNATION OF CRIME: Ethnic cleansing

PLACE AND TIME: Bjelovar, 1990 - 1991

BRIEF DESCRIPTION: The witness was a respectable citizen and expert at Bjelovar, and as such he held the following political and business offices: President of the Commune, President of the Communal Executive Council, Vice-President of the Management Board of the "Cesma" Wood Industry.

Subsequent to HDZ's victory in the 1990 elections, the witness like all Serbs holding leadership positions were systematically replaced, dismissed, harassed, persecuted over the phone, insulted, threatened, etc. As a result, the witness was forced to invoke his illness and to retire.

On September 8, 1991 around 22.15 hours, three armed persons in National Guard uniforms broke into the witness' house by force, knocking down the entrance. They demanded from the witness to come along for they had arrested him. However, since they had no warrant, the witness offered resistance. In return, they applied force, beat him with the butt of a "Kalashnikov" on his loins and dragged him on to the street with the intention of pushing him by force into the parked car in which sat the fourth ZNG member. The witness escaped thanks to the arrival of an Interior Ministry patrol which intervened on seeing that the witness was offering resistance. The witness was taken into custody by the Ministry of the Interior where he was detained for another day when he was released without any further explanation. During the above attack, both the witness and his wife were subjected to severe beating and their clothes were torn.

Nobody wished to give an explanation to the witness on that score from the authorities and the police at Bjelovar, nor would they extend protection which is why he had to flee Croatia and come to Yugoslavia.

The witness found out from his friends later on that he was bound to be killed that night like it happened to a Radonjic from Bjelovar.

Upon his departure from Bjelovar, the witness' house was drilled with bullets, an explosive device was thrown on the yard fence, and another explosive device demolished his cottage at Jabuceta Vinogradi. Yet another explosive device was laid in the house of the witness' father-in-law at the village of Gudovac near Bjelovar; the house was demolished and totally destroyed as well as his father-in-law's tomb.

DESIGNATION OF CRIME: Ethnic cleansing.

PLACE AND TIME: Livno and its surroundings, 1991 - 1993.

BRIEF DESCRIPTION: Following HDZ's victory in the elections the persecution of Serbs began from Livno and its surroundings.

Houses were searched and valuables taken away, and such raids were often repeated. The Serbs were asked: when will you move out.

The Serbs were systematically arrested and taken to the police station where they were interrogated on account of allegations that they possessed weaponry or because of their relatives' absence. Initially, they were detained for several days, but several days after their release they were invariably summoned for the same reason and detained again. When they were not beaten up, they were shown those who had been covered in blood and wounded.

At night Serb houses were shot at.

Serbs were intercepted and ill-treated in the streets. The Serbs who had jobs were systematically sacked.

Individuals went missing, and their bodies were later on recovered in the vicinity.

The Serbs were eventually forced to apply for exchange of their own free will. Thus they abandoned their houses and estates, and were only able to take along the barest necessities.

BRIEF DESCRIPTION: On June 5, strong Muslim forces launched an assault on the villages inhabited purely or largely by Serbs in the vicinity of Zenica - on Janicki vrh, Drivusa, Raspotočje, Perin Han, Gornja Vraca, Mutnica and Lokve. A large number of Serbs perished in the attack and the Serbs from the nearby villages demanded that the assault be stopped, which the Muslims agreed to on the condition that all men from the mentioned Serb villages rally at a certain place for the Muslim forces to verify that there were no military and para-military formations in those villages; the Muslims assured the Serbs that they wouldn't harm them in any way, which was a set-up.

The Serbs from the above-mentioned villages rallied at certain points, and the Muslim army, on the pretext of taking them to sign certain statements, escorted all those citizens to the penitentiary-reformatory Zenica where a wing had been vacated and adapted to serve as a detention camp for the Serbs; the inmates who had been living in that reformatory by that date and who were Muslims by nationality were released, clad in uniforms and assigned to different units.

PLACE AND TIME: Nova Gradiska, 1991 - 1992.

BRIEF DESCRIPTION: Witness V.M. lived with his family in Nova Gradiska for 30 years and had a job there, too.

On October 20, 1991 at around 23.45 hrs. a bomb was thrown on witness B.N.'s house which damaged the facade, smashed the window panes, destroyed the panelings and damaged parts of furniture. The Police undertook an enquiry and pledged to trace down those responsible, but they have never established who was to blame. Asked by witness V.N. about it, they replied that the bomb had been thrown because the owner was a Serb and that he was told to flee Gradiska since his life was under threat there. After this incident, the attitude of witness V.N.'s neighbours of Croat nationality toward him and his family changed, namely they all avoided him, he started receiving threats over the phone, and sometimes even the phone line was cut off. The police took him twice to the Ministry of the Interior for informative talks and then let him go.

DESIGNATION OF CRIME: Ethnic cleansing.

PLACE AND TIME: Travnik, 1992 - 1994.

BRIEF DESCRIPTION: Witness D. Lj. was born and lived at Travnik. When JNA left Travnik members of HOS and the green berets began making rounds of Serb houses and executing searches. They normally did this at night. Whoever opposed them was battered. They took away whatever caught their fancy.

On June 21, 1992 they threw two bombs into the house of witness D. Lj. who sustained injuries as a result. The police was informed, they made an enquiry but the perpetrators were never found. The witness was taken to hospital but the physician on duty, Dr. Mirsad Granov, declined to administer aid to the woman who was a Serb by nationality.

In September 1992, the Muslim police came to her place and told her that she had to leave the house which consisted of two two-room apartments, both in her ownership, to make room for Muslim refugees.

She was given a flatlet, but as the harassment continued, she fled to the Serb-held territory in May 1994 and is currently living at a collective centre at Ljubija.

DESIGNATION OF CRIME: Ethnic cleansing.

PLACE AND TIME: Mostar, April 30, 1992.

BRIEF DESCRIPTION: Witness S.B. was in the street when he was approached by members of the Croatian Defence Council (HVO) who asked to see his identity card. As they were inspecting his identity card, some HOS members in black uniforms came by and asked the HVO members whether the witness and others were Serbs, and this being the case, the HOS members ordered them to put their hands up and to follow them. They caught several more Serbs which they had found in the town, and took them to the premises of the Ljubljanska banka. Having established that all five were Serbs, they cursed their chetnik mother, put the barrels of their guns in their mouths, kicked them and beat them on their various body parts telling them that they had stayed on in Mostar in order to spy. They took them to the cellar of a Kragujevac restaurant which served as a HOS point; all HOS members there wore black uniforms and had iron crosses around their necks and swastikas on the sleeves of their uniforms. They battered them once more there. They took them to the Main Post Office building in Mostar, another point for men in black uniforms who beat them once more as well while showing them around to passers-by as chetniks-snipers whom they had caught.

On having arrested witness S.B. they took away from him, beside his identity documents, DEM 1,000 which he had with him, a wrist watch, his wedding ring and a necklace he wore around his neck.

DESIGNATION OF CRIME: Ethnic cleansing.

PLACE AND TIME: Veliki Gubar near Livno, May 1992 - July 1993.

BRIEF DESCRIPTION: The Serb population at the village of Veliki Grubar, where 350 citizens of Serb nationality used to live, was systematically pressurized by the Croats ever since May 1992 to leave that region so that it might become an ethnically pure Croat area.

Houses and auxiliary buildings were burnt down and mined, apartments were broken into and movables and valuables looted. Serbs were often arrested and detained for several days without being guilty, individuals were taken to unidentified destinations never to return and, presumably, were killed. This is how Manojlo Radeta and his wife Vesna who had gone missing disappeared. There were murders as well. Thus Milena Laganin was killed at her own doorstep while her husband Dejan was in prison.

Fifty tractors, as well as motor-cars and lorries were seized from local Serbs.

Witness S.A. was put behind bars five times and he spent a month in prison. They regularly claimed him at his home at night and took him to the military jail at Livno, demanding invariably from witness S.A. to see his weapons and making threats but did not subject him to beating. During his stay in prison he was not given any food.

Upon the approval of the Croatian authorities, witness S.A. left his village in an UNPROFOR vehicle on July 26, 1993 and has since been living as a refugee in Serbia.

PLACE AND TIME: Progosevo, Olovo, August 1992.

BRIEF DESCRIPTION: On August 6, members of the Muslim armed forces laid siege to the village of Progosevo, burst into Serb houses - there were some 20 of them in that village - and ordered all Serbs to abandon their houses and leave the village within half an hour without permitting them to take anything along.

The villagers had to cover on foot the way to Sokolac in the territory of the Republic of Srpska which took them two days.

According to witness S.V., all Serb houses in this village had first been looted, the cattle was driven away and the houses then burnt to the ground.

As a result, witness S.V., currently living as a refugee in Serbia, was left without his house area 102 sq.m., a cowshed and a sheep pen, a motor-car make "Skoda", a cauldron for boiling brandy, a power mower, a sewing machine, a TV set, a radio set, an electric stove, a deep freezer and other home appliances. DESIGNATION OF CRIME: Ethnic cleansing.

PLACE AND TIME: Karlovac, January 1992.

BRIEF DESCRIPTION: While on the eve of the New year 1992, a 100% war disabled Serb M.S., an educator and a civilian victim of the Second World War, was in hospital in Karlovac, his wife Marica died. After her funeral, his apartment at No. 14 L. Musickog Str. remained vacant for a while. In January 1992 in collusion with the Karlovac communal authorities, Ivan Bicanic broke into it and squatted there to be followed by Ivan Sabljak and eventually Jozo Pavlic. When Bicanic moved in, the lock was changed and an inscription put on the door reading "MUP".

Witness M.S. approached the competent communal and other authorities of Croatia requesting to have his apartment and his belongings in it returned to him. His request went unanswered. Thus, on June 3, 1993, the Commission for the temporary use of apartments belonging to the Karlovac commune addressed a letter to him which, among other, stated: "... the above-mentioned Commission has settled the family of an exile at No. 14 L. Musickog Str. When the Vance-Owen Peace Plan is executed with the assistance of UNPROFOR and the exiles start returning to their villages, it will also be possible to put on the agenda the (moving out of) exiles from socially-owned apartments... Until then, and with full respect for the high degree of your disability, may I ask for your understanding and patience...".
