I. INTRODUCTION

1. The Security Council, in its resolution 186 (1964) of 4 March 1964 (S/5575), recommended that the United Nations Peace-keeping Force in Cyprus (UNFICYP) be established and that the Force be stationed for a period of three months with a mandate to use its best efforts to prevent a recurrence of fighting, and, as necessary, to contribute to the maintenance and restoration of law and order and a return to normal conditions. The Council also recommended that all costs pertaining to the Force should be met in a manner to be agreed upon by the Governments providing the contingents and by the Government of Cyprus. The Secretary-General was also authorized to accept voluntary contributions for that purpose. Thus, UNFICYP became unique among United Nations peace-keeping operations in depending on voluntary contributions to meet the cost of its operation.

2. The United Nations Peace-keeping Force in Cyprus became operational on 27 March 1964. During the first four years of the Force, mandate extensions by the Security Council were mostly for three-month periods. Thereafter, the mandate of UNFICYP has been extended for six-month periods, the latest of which was extended by Security Council resolution 839 (1993) of 11 June 1993 from 16 June to 15 December 1993.

3. The present report sets out the operational plan of the Force, and the cost estimates for the maintenance of the Force for the period from 16 June to 15 December 1993. It also provides the historical background for the period from inception through 15 June 1993 on the financing of the Force, its financial administration, the voluntary contributions received and the status of reimbursements due to troop-contributing countries.

II. OPERATIONAL PLAN

4. The Security Council, in its resolution 831 (1993) of 27 May 1993 decided that UNFICYP should be restructured to a strength of three infantry battalions of approximately 350 personnel each, the minimum number required to maintain effective control of the buffer zone, with the addition of a limited number of military observers for reconnaissance. The operational plan for UNFICYP, at the present stage, as called for by Council resolution 831 (1993), is described below.

5. The main headquarters of the mission, which was located at Nicosia since the inception of UNFICYP, will continue to be based in the United Nations Protected Area, Nicosia. For operational purposes, UNFICYP will be divided into three sectors and six line companies. Until recently, the three sectors were covered by battalions provided by Austria, Canada and the United Kingdom, with each battalion comprising two line companies together with headquarters and first line support. The Canadian battalion has since withdrawn and a replacement battalion of some 350 personnel, to be drawn from a new troop-contributor, is expected to arrive by 1 September 1993.

6. It is envisaged that Sector West will be responsible for the area from Kokkina to the Ovgos River. Sector Centre will be responsible for the area covering Nicosia and Sector East will be responsible for the area from Nicosia to the east coast. An armoured squadron and a helicopter flight unit will be based in the United Nations Protected Area.

7. The main functions of the Force have been to maintain the military status quo and to use its best efforts to prevent a recurrence of fighting. These functions will continue and under normal conditions, they will be carried out through the use of permanent and temporary observation posts along with helicopter, vehicle and foot patrols in the buffer zone. In addition, UNFICYP also conducts, supervises as necessary, encourages and facilitates such humanitarian and economic activities that may be considered "civilian activity" and which in no way could contribute to confrontation or to a violation of the military status quo.

8. UNFICYP is in the process of being restructured as the first step on the basis of the proposal by the Secretary-General in his report of 30 March 1993, 1/ paragraphs 16-19. The restructured UNFICYP would continue to interpose itself between the Greek Cypriot and the Turkish Cypriot forces and to supervise the cease-fire lines that define the buffer zone by observing and reporting any violations of the cease-fire and the status quo. The cease-fire lines extend approximately 180 kilometres from Kokkina enclave and Kato Pyrgos on the north-west coast to the east coast south of Farmagusta in the area of Dherinia. The total area between the cease-fire lines, the width of which varies from 20 metres to 7 kilometres, covers about 3 per cent of the island. In addition, UNFICYP is required to maintain effective liaison with both sides at all levels.

9. In order for UNFICYP to achieve the tasks set for the mission and to be able to control the buffer zone, a minimum strength of at least six companies on the cease-fire line is required. The current authorized troop strength of the Force is 1,323 and consists of infantry personnel (1,050), support personnel (223), including 37 military personnel forming the headquarters unit, civilian police (38) and military observers (12).

10. The civilian police are provided by Australia and Sweden and are based in five stations across the island. Their main functions are:

(a) To investigate criminal or other matters having inter-communal connotations or the possibility of political escalation;

(b) To provide support as required for the prevention of civil disorder within the buffer zone;

(c) To maintain liaison with civilian police from both communities;

(d) To support directly the humanitarian activities of UNFICYP in two main sectors.

11. The military observers are provided by Austria, Ireland and Hungary. The main function of the observers is for liaison and reconnaissance.

12. As decided by the Security Council in its resolution 831 (1993), a comprehensive reassessment of UNFICYP will be carried out with a view to further restructuring, at the time of the consideration of the Force's mandate in December 1993. That reassessment will include an evaluation of progress made in the area of confidence-building towards a political settlement.

III. COST ESTIMATE FOR THE PERIOD FROM 16 JUNE
TO 15 DECEMBER 1993

13. It is estimated that the cost of maintaining UNFICYP for the current mandate period of six months from 16 June to 15 December 1993 is $21,512,000 gross ($21,153,300 net). Annex I to the present report sets out by budget line item a summary of the estimated costs, and supplementary information thereon is presented in annex II.

IV. PREVIOUS FINANCING OF THE UNITED NATIONS PEACE-KEEPING FORCE IN CYPRUS

14. In paragraph 6 of its resolution 186 (1964), the Security Council recommended that the costs of UNFICYP should be met by the Governments providing contingents, by the Government of Cyprus in accordance with article 19 of the Status of the Force Agreement, 2/ and by voluntary contributions to UNFICYP. Appeals for voluntary contributions for the financing of UNFICYP, addressed to all Member States of the United Nations and to members of the specialized agencies, were issued by the Secretary-General twice a year. However, the receipts from the appeals for voluntary contributions have never been sufficient to meet the United Nations share of the cost of UNFICYP based on the financial arrangements agreed between the United Nations and the troop-contributing Governments.

15. As early as August 1964, in paragraph 7 of his report to the Security Council on the financial situation of UNFICYP, 3/ the Secretary-General noted, inter alia, that there was a gap of over $2 million between the estimated costs for UNFICYP for the period through 26 September 1964 and the amount of cash pledged for its support. The Secretary-General considered it essential that action should be taken immediately to obtain the additional financial support required for the continuing maintenance of the Force.

16. In his report to the Security Council dated 7 June 1977, 4/ the Secretary-General stated that by 7 June 1977, the deficit had increased to $51.4 million and as a result, payments to troop-contributing Governments in respect of their extra and extraordinary costs for which they sought reimbursement by the United Nations had begun to lag behind. It therefore became necessary for the Secretary-General to undertake a special effort to try to improve the financial situation of UNFICYP by making certain high-level approaches to a number of Governments which had not yet contributed to the UNFICYP account or which might give consideration to an increase in their contributions.

17. This financial situation continued to deteriorate and in paragraph 65 of his report to the Security Council dated 2 December 1986, 5/ the Secretary-General indicated that he believed that unless there was a more generous response to his appeals for voluntary contributions than had been the case in recent years, the Council might wish to consider whether it would be appropriate to change the system of financing so that the costs to the United Nations would, in the future, be financed by means of assessed contributions.

18. The Security Council, by its resolution 682 (1990) of 21 December 1990, decided to examine the problem of the costs and financing of UNFICYP in all its aspects, bearing in mind the financial crisis facing the Force and the report of the Secretariat Review Team of 7 December 1990. 6/

19. The report of the Secretariat Review Team had made proposals for further reducing the costs of UNFICYP, but had also indicated that these proposals would only be possible if accompanied by a move to assessed contributions. In its resolution 682 (1990), the Council also decided to report, by 1 June 1991, on alternative arrangements for meeting the costs of the Force for which the United Nations was responsible.

20. Between April and June 1991, there was a series of informal meetings of the members of the Group of Friends of the President of the Security Council to consider the implications of Security Council resolution 682 (1990). The group concluded that those countries that had not yet accepted the case for assessed contributions would need to be persuaded that the costs of UNFICYP would be kept to a minimum.

21. In paragraph 3 of its resolution 698 (1991) of 14 June 1991, the Council requested the Secretary-General to hold consultations with members of the Council, troop-contributing countries and others concerned, on the question of costs, taking into account both the report of the United Nations Secretariat Review Team of 7 December 1990 and the report of the Group of Friends of the President of the Security Council of 31 May 1991. The Security Council further requested the Secretary-General to report to the Council by 1 October 1991 and undertook to decide on measures to be taken to put the Force onto a sound and secure financial basis.

22. Subsequently, after an extensive series of consultations with members of the Council, troop-contributing countries and others concerned, a report of the Secretary-General dated 15 October 1991 was presented to the Council. 7/ The report contained proposals on possible means of placing UNFICYP on a sound and secure financial basis. However, on 12 December 1991, following the extension of UNFICYP for a further six-month period ending 15 June 1992, the President of the Security Council, on behalf of the members of the Council, indicated that in light of the discussion at the informal consultations of members of the Security Council, it had been concluded that the necessary agreement did not exist in the Council for a decision to change the financing of UNFICYP. The members of the Council did agree to keep the issue under review.

23. The Secretary-General, in a report to the Security Council dated 1 December 1992, 8/ indicated that he was pursuing consultations with troop-contributing Governments about a restructuring of the Force. Subsequently, in a further report 1/ on 30 March 1993, the Secretary-General indicated that the size of UNFICYP had been significantly reduced owing to the withdrawal of 323 personnel from the Danish battalion, 198 personnel from the United Kingdom contingent, 63 personnel from the Austrian contingent and 61 personnel from the Canadian contingent. This resulted in a reduction in the combined military personnel and civilian police strength from 2,141 in May 1992 to 1,513 in March 1993. It was also indicated that the remaining 445 Canadian personnel would withdraw in June 1993.

24. On 27 May 1993, the Security Council adopted its resolution 831 (1993) in which, inter alia, it decided that the costs of UNFICYP which were not covered by voluntary contributions should be treated as expenses of the Organization, effective from the extension of the mandate on 15 June 1993.

V. FINANCIAL ADMINISTRATION

25. From the inception of the Force, the Secretary-General established an account outside the regular budget, covering all financial transactions pertaining to UNFICYP. The UNFICYP account is kept on a calendar-year basis; the financial statements are produced and audited on a biennial basis in accordance with United Nations financial regulations 11.1 and 11.4.

26. The Regulations for UNFICYP issued on 25 April 1964 (ST/SGB/UNFICYP/1) indicated, under paragraph 19, that "Financial administration of the Force shall be limited to the voluntary contributions in cash or in-kind made available to the United Nations and shall be in accordance with the Financial Rules and Regulations of the United Nations and the procedures prescribed by the Secretary-General". Consequently, the Secretary-General has no authority to provide United Nations funds to meet costs pertaining to UNFICYP other than through voluntary contributions received for the purpose.

27. The Security Council, prior to its decision to extend the mandate of UNFICYP, is informed by the Secretary-General of the cost estimate for maintaining the Force during the extension period, including the operational expenses to be borne by the Organization as well as the amounts required to reimburse the troop-contributing Governments for the extra and extraordinary expenses which they would seek to be reimbursed by the United Nations.

28. Allotments are issued within the limits of the overall funds available to UNFICYP. In the issuance of such allotments, the current operational requirements, and those of the immediate future if an extension of the mandate is approaching, take precedence over reimbursement commitments to troop-contributing Governments. Allotments for any one mandate period, therefore, may be greater than the contributions received for the same period, provided the total amount of funds available to UNFICYP for that and all other mandate periods is not exceeded. Reimbursement commitments are reflected in the account only to the extent of available funds with the outstanding balance indicated by a footnote to the account.

29. As regards the period beginning 16 June 1993, the Secretary-General recommends the establishment of a special account for UNFICYP, under the authority of regulation 6.6 of the Financial Regulations of the United Nations, for the purpose of accounting for income received and expenditure incurred in respect of the Mission.

VI. VOLUNTARY CONTRIBUTIONS

30. As indicated in section IV above, prior to 16 June 1993 the financing of the administrative and logistic costs of the Force, as well as certain extra and extraordinary costs incurred by troop-contributing Governments, which were borne by the Organization, were dependent entirely on voluntary contributions from Governments. Under those arrangements, the troop-contributing Governments made available to the United Nations troops whose regular pay and allowances and normal matériel expenses they agreed to pay themselves. In addition, in accordance with article 19 of the Status of the Force Agreement, 2/ the Government of Cyprus provides, without cost to the Force and in agreement with the Force Commander, areas for headquarters, camps, and other premises as may be necessary for the accommodation and the fulfilment of the functions of UNFICYP.

31. As stated earlier, the voluntary contributions received have never been adequate to meet the costs to the United Nations of UNFICYP. In this regard, the Secretary-General, in his latest letter dated 25 March 1993, 9/ containing an appeal for voluntary contributions to all States Members of the United Nations or members of the specialized agencies for the financing of UNFICYP pointed out that receipts continued to fall far short of the Organization's share of expenditures and expressed deep concern about the precarious financial situation of UNFICYP.

32. For the period since the inception of the Force until 15 June 1993, 79 countries, including a number of the troop-contributing Member States (see annex VII), have provided voluntary financial support to UNFICYP totalling some $490.2 million in cash contributions ($474.5 million) and pledges ($15.7 million). However, owing to consistent shortfalls during the period to meet the costs for which the Organization is responsible, the UNFICYP account is in arrears by over $200 million.

33. As regards the period beginning 16 June 1993, two pledges of contributions have been received for UNFICYP. By a letter dated 15 April 1993 10/ addressed to the Secretary-General, the Government of Cyprus conveyed its offer to contribute, on a continuing basis, a voluntary contribution equal to one third of the annual cost of UNFICYP, which had been estimated at $47.1 million in the report of the Secretary-General of 30 March 1993. 1/ In a subsequent letter dated 10 May 1993, the Government of Cyprus confirmed that its voluntary contribution for the 12-month period beginning 16 June 1993 would be increased to $18.5 million.

34. A second pledge was received from the Government of Greece, by letter dated 7 May 1993, which informed the Secretary-General of the decision of the Government of Greece to increase its annual voluntary contribution to UNFICYP to $6.5 million, should the financing system of UNFICYP be converted to assessed contributions. Therefore, a total of $25 million is expected from voluntary contributions towards the estimated annual cost of UNFICYP for the period beginning 16 June 1993.

VII. STATUS OF REIMBURSEMENT TO TROOP-CONTRIBUTING STATES

35. Under existing agreements made prior to 15 June 1993, UNFICYP troop-contributors volunteered to absorb the regular costs that would be incurred by them if their contingents were serving at home (i.e., regular allowances and normal expenses for matériel). However, as mentioned in paragraph 30 above, the cost to the United Nations for maintaining UNFICYP included amounts to reimburse the troop-contributing Governments for certain of the expenses they incurred for providing troops to the Force. These claims were referred to as extra and extraordinary costs, for which they sought reimbursement by the United Nations. Owing to the lack of sufficient voluntary contributions to UNFICYP, the latest reimbursement to the troop-contributing Governments for extra and extraordinary costs was made in June 1992 and covered claims for the six-month period ending December 1981. As indicated in the Secretary-General's report of 9 June 1993 11/ to the Security Council, an estimated amount of over $200 million remains outstanding, based on actual and estimated claims for the period from January 1982 through June 1993.

36. The composition of the claims for extra and extraordinary costs differed among the troop-contributing Governments and included a variety of costs for such items as overseas/special/expatriation/hardship allowances, transportation within the home country to and from embarkation points, medical examinations, inoculations, travel documents, personal clothing and equipment, special issues of battalion equipment furnished at the request of the United Nations and other stores and expendable supplies not provided by the United Nations.

37. Beginning 16 June 1993, the cost estimates provide for standard troop-costs reimbursement, based on the rates established by the General Assembly in its resolution 45/258 of 3 May 1991. No reimbursement to the troop-contributors has been made for this period.

VIII. INITIAL MEASURES AUTHORIZING COMMITMENTS FOR THE UNITED NATIONS PEACE-KEEPING FORCE IN CYPRUS

38. In order to provide UNFICYP with the necessary funding for its maintenance for the period beginning 16 June 1993, the Secretary-General, in a letter dated 23 June 1993, sought the concurrence of the Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions to enter into commitments in an amount not to exceed $6.9 million for the period from 16 June to 30 September 1993, pending the submission of a detailed report on the financing of UNFICYP to the General Assembly.

39. The Advisory Committee, in responding to the request, noted that voluntary contributions pledged and which were expected to be paid shortly, exceeded the commitment authority sought. The Committee also noted, inter alia, that as the General Assembly had not considered the issue, the Committee should not act on this matter.

40. To enable UNFICYP to meet its operational requirements, and pending the submission of the present report to the General Assembly, spending authority in an amount not to exceed $2 million was authorized by the Controller under the provisions of United Nations financial rule 110.6. On 4 August 1993, payment of the pledged contribution by the Government of Cyprus in an amount of $18 million was received. A payment of $500,000 had been received previously for the current mandate period.

IX. OBSERVATIONS

41. As stated in the Secretary-General's report of 9 June 1993, 11/ prior to 15 June 1993 UNFICYP was funded entirely from voluntary contributions from Governments. Presently, there is an accumulated deficit of over $200 million due to the troop-contributing countries. This amount represents outstanding reimbursements of UNFICYP to the troop-contributing countries under the financing scheme heretofore in place. Consequently, the General Assembly may wish to consider necessary arrangements for financing the outstanding amount to UNFICYP troop contributors and to make the required provisions therefor.

X. ACTION TO BE TAKEN BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY AT ITS FORTY-SEVENTH SESSION

42. The action that would appear to be required in connection with the financing of UNFICYP would be an appropriation of the amount of $9,012,000 gross ($8,653,300 net) and the apportionment thereof, after taking into consideration voluntary contributions of $12,500,000, for the period from 16 June to 15 December 1993.

Annex II

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION TO THE COST ESTIMATE FOR THE PERIOD FROM 16 JUNE TO 15 DECEMBER 1993

I. COST PARAMETERS

1. These estimates were calculated where applicable on the basis of the cost parameters indicated below.

A. Deployment of military personnel

2. The cost estimate provides for up to a maximum contingent strength of 1,273 military personnel consisting of 1,050 infantry and 223 logistic support personnel. It takes into account the withdrawal of the Canadian contingent in June 1993, a replacement battalion of 350 military personnel with an estimated deployment date of 1 September 1993; it also assumes that the 145 military personnel of the United Kingdom support regiment who will withdraw over the period October to December 1993 will not be replaced during the current six-month mandate period.

B. Mission subsistence allowance

3. All military observers and civilian police are provided with food and accommodation. The related mission subsistence allowance, in effect since 18 May 1993, of $15 per person per day is applied.

C. Travel

4. An average rotation/travel cost of $2,000 per person has been used for each one-way trip to or from the mission area by commercial air for military observers, civilian police and international personnel. This cost is inclusive of 100 kilograms of unaccompanied baggage and travel subsistence allowance where applicable.

5. The cost of rotation travel every six months for the infantry and support personnel by group arrangements is estimated at $980 per person per round trip by commercial air or chartered aircraft and is based on current expenditure experience. The estimate includes a provision for 10 kilograms of accompanied baggage as well as the cost of bus transport between ports of arrival/departure and baggage service.

D. Civilian personnel costs

6. Salaries and common staff costs of international staff are net of staff assessment and are based on standard costs for United Nations Truce Supervisory Organization (UNTSO) which is applicable to Cyprus. Salaries of local staff are based on the salary scale established by the United Kingdom Command Secretariat and are included under section 9 of the cost estimate as contractual services.

II. REQUIREMENTS

United States dollars

A. Military personnel costs

1. Military observers

(a) Mission subsistence allowance 22 100

7. Provision is made for mission subsistence allowance for 12 observers for 123 days, that is, from 15 August to 15 December 1993, at the rate specified in paragraph 3 above.

(b) Travel costs 24 000

8. Provision is made for the emplacement travel of 12 observers at the rate mentioned in paragraph 4 above.

(c) Clothing allowance 800

9. Provision is made for the payment of four months of clothing allowance based on the rate of $200 per annum per person.

2. Military contingents

(a) Standard troop cost reimbursement 7 484 200

10. Reimbursement to Governments is based on the existing standard rates, set by the General Assembly in its resolution 45/258 of 3 May 1991, at $988 per person per month for basic pay all ranks; $291 per person per month for a limited number of specialists (10 per cent of infantry personnel and 25 per cent of logistic support units); and $70 per person per month for the usage factor in respect of personal clothing, gear and equipment, including $5 per person per month for personal weaponry and ammunition.

11. The cost estimate provides for reimbursement to Governments in respect of pay and allowances at the standard rates outlined in paragraph 10 above for 6,828 troop months ($6,746,500), plus a supplement for specialists ($259,700) and includes an overlap factor of 0.5 per cent during rotation.
