Section 19

Economic and Social Commission for Western Asia

Overview

- 19.1 The mandate of ESCWA derives from Economic and Social Council resolution 1818 (LV) of 9 August 1973, which established the Economic Commission for Western Asia. The terms of reference of the Commission were amended by Council resolution 1983/69 of 26 July 1985, in which the Commission was redesignated the Economic and Social Commission for Western Asia.
- 19.2 The ESCWA region has been witnessing rapidly changing political, economic and social events that have necessitated a reassessment of the development approaches and identification of a framework of a new development paradigm that would allow economic growth coupled with social equity. In addition to the economic and social transformations triggered by endogenous forces, the globalization process will also have a long-lasting impact on the national economies of ESCWA member States. Furthermore, the initiated peace process brings its own challenges not only in the political arena, but also in the economic, social and technological spheres.
- 19.3 In order to reflect those changes, ESCWA redirected the focus of its programme so as to meet the emerging immediate and long-range needs of its member States and to strengthen its role as a forum for coordinating developmental efforts at the regional and subregional levels. The outcome was a major restructuring in an effort to streamline its activities, become more focused and increase interaction with member States. This entailed moving from a sectoral programming approach encompassing 15 subprogrammes to 5 thematic subprogrammes. One of the characteristics of the new approach is that the activities under the new subprogrammes would be implemented in an integrated manner, through task forces representing the various disciplines involved, in order to take advantage of the complementarities and increase efficiency. This new programme structure was approved by the Commission.
- 19.4 The work programme for the biennium 1996-1997 will focus on clusters of issues brought into the spotlight by recent events, such as energy, natural resources, environment, human development, economic cooperation and the impact of global changes and the peace process on the region. Emphasis on the development of a social and economic information system and the expansion of databases has become crucial in assisting member States of the region to understand the changes that are taking place and to develop the capacity and the information to assess the issues at hand and to evaluate the options available to them.
- 19.5 The Economic and Social Council, in its resolution 1994/43, decided that the permanent headquarters of the Commission should be relocated to Beirut and requested the Secretary-General to take the necessary steps to effect the transfer. At the present juncture, consultations with the Government of Lebanon have not yet been finalized.
- 19.6 The overall level of resources proposed under this section reflects a growth rate of 1.5 per cent, which is due mainly to the delayed impact of the five reclassifications approved in the biennium 1994-1995 but funded only in part, and the reclassification of one Local level post to the Professional category proposed for the biennium 1996-1997.

19.7 The estimated distribution of the resources proposed for ESCWA in 1996-1997 would be as follows:
