Violence against women migrant workers

The Commission on the Status of Women,

Bearing in mind the Charter of the United Nations, which reaffirms faiths in human rights and fundamental freedoms, in the dignity and worth of the human person, and in the equal rights of women and men,

Reaffirming the principles set forth in the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination Against Women,  $\underline{1}$ / adopted by the General Assembly on 18 December 1979,

Stressing that the promotion of the human rights of women constitutes an integral part of the human rights activities of the United Nations, as reaffirmed in the Vienna Declaration and Programme of Action  $\underline{2}$ / adopted by the World Conference on Human Rights,

* In accordance with rule 69 of the rules of procedure of the functional commissions of the Economic and Social Council.

Welcoming the Programme of Action of the International Conference on Population and Development  $\underline{3}$ / held at Cairo from 5 to 13 September 1994, which called upon all countries to take full measures to eliminate all forms of exploitation, abuse and harassment, and all violence against women,

Welcoming also the Copenhagen Declaration and Programme of Action of the World Summit on Social Development,  $\underline{4}$ / which was held at Copenhagen from 6 to 12 March 1995, which declared that countries should take concrete and effective measures against the exploitation of migrant workers,

Welcoming further the adoption by the General Assembly at its forty-eighth session of the Declaration on the Elimination of Violence Against Women, 5/

Recalling General Assembly resolutions 47/96 of 16 December 1992, 48/110 of 20 December 1993, and 49/165 of 23 December 1994, as well as Commission on the Status of Women resolution 38/7 of 18 March 1994, on violence against women migrant workers,

Noting the large numbers of women from developing countries and from some economies in transition who continue to venture forth to more affluent countries in search of a living for themselves and their families, as a consequence of poverty, unemployment and other socio-economic conditions, which can be attributed partially to the negative impact of structural adjustment programmes and the burden of debt-servicing, or are due to situations of armed conflict in their home countries, while acknowledging the primary duty of States to work for conditions that provide employment and security to their citizens,

Recognizing that it is the duty of sending countries to protect and promote the interests of their citizens who seek or receive employment in other countries, to provide them with appropriate training/education, and to apprise them of their rights and obligations in the countries of employment,

Aware of the moral obligation of receiving or host countries to ensure the human rights and fundamental freedoms of all persons within their boundaries, including migrant workers and in particular women migrant workers, who are doubly vulnerable because of their gender and their being foreigners,

 $\underline{\text{Aware}}$  that documented and undocumented migrant women whose citizenship status is dependent on their spouses are at increased risk for gender-based violence,

Noting the measures adopted by some receiving States to alleviate the plight of women migrant workers residing within their areas of jurisdiction,

Noting with concern, however, the continuing reports of grave abuses and acts of violence committed against women migrant workers by some of their employers in some host countries,

Convinced of the need to eliminate all forms of discrimination against women and the need to protect them from gender-based violence,
