1152 (XLI). United Nations Development Decade

The Economic and Social Council,

Reaffirming the solemn undertaking embodied in the Charter of the United Nations to promote economic and social progress and better standards of life in larger freedom,

Recognizing that planning on a long-term, continuing basis would contribute towards the realization of this undertaking,

Having considered the interim report prepared by the Secretary-General, on behalf of the Administrative Committee on Co-ordination, on the United Nations Development Decade¹⁴ and the report of the Committee for Development Planning on its first session,¹⁵

Having regard to the statement by the Secretary-General to the Council on 5 July 1966,¹⁶

Noting that progress in the achievement of the goals and objectives set for the United Nations Development Decade has been disappointingly slow,

Considering it desirable, in addition, to look ahead to the period after the United Nations Development Decade,

1. Requests the Secretary-General to consider, in consultation with all the organizations of the United Nations family concerned and, in particular, with the assistance of the Committee for Development Planning :

(a) What preparations are required in order to further and to facilitate planning for concerted international action for the period after the Development Decade, having regard to the experience gained during this Decade ;

(b) How such planning might best reflect and might best be co-ordinated with the national development programmes of the developing countries ;

2. Invites the Secretary-General to report to the Council at its forty-third session ;
