II. INFORMATION RECEIVED FROM MEMBER STATES

AUSTRALIA

[Original: English]

[1 July 1996]

1. Protocol I was signed for Australia on 7 December 1978. Australia's instrument of ratification with declarations regarding articles 5, 44 and 51 to 58 was deposited on 21 June 1991. The Protocol thus entered into force for Australia on 21 December 1991. A declaration was deposited for Australia on 23 September 1992, accepting the competence of the International Fact-finding Commission pursuant to article 90.2 (a).
2. Protocol II was also signed for Australia on 7 December 1978. The instrument of ratification was deposited on 21 June 1991 and entry into force occurred on 21 December 1991.
3. In December 1994, Australia hosted the Second Regional Conference on International Humanitarian Law, convened by the Australian Red Cross in cooperation with the Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade and the Australian Defence Studies Centre. The Conference was designed to reinforce the implementation of and respect for international humanitarian law and to examine ways of bringing regional perspectives to bear on the debates that followed in 1995, in particular at the International Conference of the Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies.
4. The genesis of the Conference reflects its focus on the modernization and dissemination of international humanitarian law. In 1993, Australia was one of over 160 countries that took part in the International Conference for the Protection of War Victims, convened in Geneva by the Government of Switzerland. Debate at the Conference encouraged the Government of Australia to join with other countries of the region to look for ways of improving the level of attention being given to the protection of war victims.
5. The Conference was given additional immediacy by its timing in the lead up to the 1995 Intergovernmental Expert Meeting on the Protection of War Victims. The review of the 1980 Convention on Prohibitions or Restrictions on the Use of Certain Conventional Weapons which May Be Deemed to Be Excessively Injurious or to Have Indiscriminate Effects, and the 26th International Conference of the Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies.
6. The Conference was enriched by a diverse group of participants, from a wide variety of countries as well as from a wide range of individual backgrounds, including government, military, academic and non-governmental organization participants. It provided an opportunity to discuss the most pressing contemporary issues relating to international humanitarian law, including the protection of women and of children in armed conflict, the provision of emergency relief, peace-keeping, protection of cultural property and developments in international criminal law.

7. The Second Regional Conference represented an important step towards the modernization of international humanitarian law, and in encouraging regional adherence to existing instruments including the Protocols. The proceedings are published in Shelters from the Storm: Developments in International Humanitarian Law, edited by William Maley and published by the Australian Defence Studies Centre, Canberra (1995).

8. Australia's statement to the Sixth Committee of the General Assembly at its fiftieth session under agenda item 140, "United Nations Decade of International Law", referred in more detail to the Second Regional Conference on International Humanitarian Law, hosted by Australia.

(b) Paragraph 4 (h) is not incompatible with legal provisions authorizing the reopening of proceedings that have resulted in a final declaration of conviction or acquittal."

(d) Reservation with regard to Articles 85 and 86 of Protocol I

"For the purposes of judging any decision taken by a military commander, articles 85 and 86 of Protocol I will be applied on the understanding that military imperatives, the reasonable possibility of recognizing them and the information actually available at the time that decision was taken, are determinative."

(e) Reservation with regard to Article 6 of Protocol II

"Article 6, paragraph 2 (e), of Protocol II will be applied insofar as it is not incompatible with legislation providing that any defendant, who causes a disturbance at the trial or whose presence is likely to impede the questioning of another defendant or the hearing of a witness or expert witness, may be removed from the courtroom."

2. In addition, at the time of ratification of Protocols I and II Austria made also the following declaration provided for under article 90 of Protocol I:

UKRAINE

[Original: Russian]

[21 March 1995]

1. Recognizing the enduring significance of the rules of humanitarian law relating to the victims of armed conflicts, Ukraine has consistently advocated, and continues to advocate, the need for constant respect for those rules, which have been elaborated through a process of international cooperation in this sphere.

2. It is from this standpoint that Ukraine approaches the solution of specific problems of a humanitarian character. For instance, representatives of Ukraine participated directly in the preparation of such instruments of international law as the Geneva Conventions of 1949 and the Protocols Additional thereto of 1977. Ukraine has ratified these important international instruments and accordingly complies with their provisions in practice. It should be noted that, in ratifying the Additional Protocols, Ukraine declared that it recognized the competence of the International Fact-finding Commission established pursuant to article 90 of Additional Protocol I.

3. Representatives of Ukraine also participated in the work of the International Conference for the Protection of War Victims, held in Geneva from 30 August to 1 September 1993. They actively supported the concluding declaration adopted at the Conference regarding the necessity of preventive measures and of ensuring the strict observance of the rules of international humanitarian law in the armed conflicts that have been taking place in recent times in a number of regions of the world. In this connection, reference might also be made to the fact that the delegation of Ukraine was one of the sponsors of General Assembly resolution 49/48 of 9 December 1994.

4. It goes without saying that Ukraine will in the future continue to support the efforts of the international community aimed at ensuring respect for the rules of international humanitarian law during armed conflicts.

"On 21 June 1989, the Federal Department for Foreign Affairs received a communication of 14 June 1989 from the Permanent Observer of Palestine to the United Nations Office at Geneva concerning Palestine's participation in the four Geneva Conventions of 12 August 1949 and their two additional Protocols of 8 June 1977. On 18 September 1989, the Federal Department for Foreign Affairs sent to the States parties to the Conventions an information note of 13 September 1989 regarding this communication, accompanied by the text of the latter. In the information note, the Swiss Federal Council, depositary of the Conventions, brings to the attention of the States parties that it is not in a position to settle the question whether the communication should be considered an instrument of accession within the meaning of the relevant provisions of the Conventions and their Additional Protocols."
