I. INTRODUCTION

1. By its resolution 34/180 of 18 December 1979, the General Assembly adopted the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women. In its subsequent resolutions 35/140, 36/131, 37/64, 38/109, 39/130, 40/39, 41/108, 42/60, 43/100, 44/73, 45/124, 47/94, and 49/164, the Assembly urged States that had not yet ratified or acceded to the Convention to do so as soon as possible and requested the Secretary-General to report on the status of the Convention. In its resolution 45/124 of 14 December 1990, the Assembly requested the Secretary-General to submit this report annually. In accordance with those resolutions, the Secretary-General has submitted at each session of the Assembly a report on the status of the Convention (A/35/428, A/36/295 and Add.1, A/37/349 and Add.1, A/38/378, A/39/486, A/40/623, A/41/608 and Add.1, A/42/627, A/43/605, A/44/457, A/45/426, A/46/462, A/47/368, A/48/354, A/49/308 and A/50/346).

II. STATUS OF THE CONVENTION ON THE ELIMINATION OF ALL FORMS OF DISCRIMINATION AGAINST WOMEN

2. The Convention was opened for signature in New York on 1 March 1980 and, in accordance with its article 27, entered into force on 3 September 1981.

3. As at 1 August 1996, 153 States had ratified the Convention, of which 58 States had acceded and 6 had succeeded to it. In addition, four States had signed it without yet ratifying it. Since the last progress report (A/50/346), the following States parties have ratified, acceded or succeeded to the Convention: Algeria, Azerbaijan, Côte d'Ivoire, Eritrea, Fiji, Lesotho, Liechtenstein, Pakistan, Singapore, South Africa and Vanuatu (see annex VI for the complete list of States parties that have signed, ratified, acceded or succeeded to the Convention as at 1 August 1996, as well as the date of the signatures and dates of receipt of the instruments of ratification, accession or succession).

4. Reservations were made upon ratification to the Convention during the period from 1 August 1995 to 1 August 1996 by Algeria, Fiji, Lesotho, Liechtenstein, Pakistan and Singapore (see annex II). Objections were received during the period from 1 August 1995 to 1 August 1996 by Finland, the Netherlands and Sweden (see annex III). Withdrawals of reservations and declarations were received from Jamaica, Thailand and the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland (see annex IV). Communications were received during the period from 1 August 1995 to 1 August 1996 by Austria, Belgium and Portugal (see annex V).

III. THE COMMITTEE ON THE ELIMINATION OF DISCRIMINATION AGAINST WOMEN: WORKING METHODS AND CAPACITY TO FULFIL ITS MANDATE

A. Follow-up to the Fourth World Conference on Women

5. In the follow-up to the Fourth World Conference on Women, held at Beijing in September 1995, the Committee, at its fifteenth session in 1996, amended its reporting guidelines in accordance with the recommendation in paragraph 323 of the Declaration and Platform for Action adopted at the Conference, 1/ that States parties when reporting under article 18 of the Convention include information on measures taken to implement the Platform for Action in order to facilitate the work of the Committee in monitoring effectively women's ability to enjoy the rights guaranteed by the Convention. In preparing their initial and subsequent reports under the articles of the Convention or in supplementary oral and/or written materials supplied in connection with reports already submitted, States parties are therefore now invited by the Committee to take into account the 12 critical areas of concern in chapter III of the Platform for Action. 2/ The Committee noted that these areas of concern were compatible with the articles of the Convention and therefore within the mandate of the Committee.

6. In addition the Committee, in cooperation with the United Nations Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organization (UNESCO), prepared a manifesto entitled "Towards a gender-inclusive culture through education", in connection with the Fourth World Conference on Women, where it was distributed.

7. The manifesto emphasized the right to education, which was a fundamental human right that must be granted to all women and men by States as a public service, and that girls and women should have access on an equal footing with boys and men to all levels and forms of education. It also stressed the importance of the acquisition of basic literacy and numeracy to achieve the empowerment of all citizens, and especially to strengthen the capacities of girls and women.

8. The manifesto further stressed that it was necessary to develop an education policy which provided lifelong education for women from early childhood through adulthood and took into account the varying stages in women's life cycles. It moreover underscored that the means of ensuring that large numbers of girls and women enter the field of non-traditional scientific and technological education should be explored and implemented.

9. Finally, the manifesto stressed that education for gender equality was a vital means of combating violence throughout the world.

B. Consideration of reports of States parties

Meeting time

10. In its resolution 49/164 of 23 December 1994, on the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women, the General Assembly recommended that the States parties to the Convention review the working situation of the Committee and its capacity to fulfil its mandate more effectively. In particular, the States parties should consider the possibility of amending article 20 of the Convention so as to allow for sufficient meeting time for the Committee. The Assembly also requested the States parties to the Convention to meet in 1995 in order to review article 20 of the Convention.

11. In its decision 49/448 also adopted on 23 December 1994, the General Assembly, aware that the Governments of Denmark, Finland, Iceland, Norway and Sweden had made a written request 3/ for the revision of article 20, paragraph 1, of the Convention by replacing the words "normally meet for a period of not more than two weeks annually in order" by the words "meet annually for a period necessary", and having noted that article 26 of the Convention stipulated that "the General Assembly of the United Nations shall decide upon the steps, if any, to be taken in respect of such a request", decided to request the States parties to the Convention to consider the request for a revision of article 20, paragraph 1, at a meeting to be convened in 1995.

12. In pursuance of General Assembly decision 49/448, the eighth meeting of the States parties to the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women was held at United Nations Headquarters in New York on 22 May 1995. On the basis of their discussion, the States parties adopted resolution 8/1, by which they decided to amend article 20, paragraph 1. The amendment specifies, inter alia, "that the Committee shall normally meet annually in order to consider the reports submitted in accordance with article 18 of the Convention. The duration of the meetings of the Committee shall be determined by the ninth meeting of the States parties."

13. By its resolution 50/202 of 22 December 1995, the General Assembly took note with approval of the resolution regarding the amendment to article 20, paragraph 1, of the Convention, adopted by the States parties to the Convention on 22 May 1995. It further "urged States parties to take appropriate measures so that acceptance by a two-thirds majority of States parties can be reached as soon as possible in order for the amendment to enter into force".

14. At its fifteenth session, the Committee adopted decision 15/1 in which it expressed its appreciation to the States parties to the Convention and to the General Assembly for their action and indicated that it looked forward to the ratification of the amendment by States parties as quickly as possible. For the interim period, the Committee urged the appropriate intergovernmental bodies to authorize adequate meeting time to enable the Committee to continue to reduce the increasing backlog in the reports of States parties awaiting review. The Committee considered that at least two three-week sessions annually, each preceded by a pre-session working group, were needed to alleviate the heavy workload of the Committee.

15. At the ninth meeting of States parties to the Convention, held on 29 February 1996, the States parties adopted a resolution (see annex I) in which they recognized the need to introduce a temporary measure to enable the Committee to reduce the backlog until the amendment to article 20, paragraph 1, entered into force. They also recommended that the General Assembly at its fifty-first session approve the request of the Committee for at least two three-week sessions annually, each preceded by a pre-session working group, within the overall existing budget framework, in order to enable the Committee to continue to reduce the backlog in the reports of States parties awaiting review. The General Assembly has this proposal before it at its present session.

16. As of 1 August 1996, Denmark, Finland, Italy, Madagascar, Norway and Sweden had deposited with the Secretary-General their respective instruments of acceptance of the amendment of article 20, paragraph 1, of the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women.

Overdue reports

17. Following the initial report, which is due one year after ratification, States parties are required under article 18 of the Convention to submit reports every four years.

18. As at 1 August 1996, 48 initial reports, 43 second periodic reports, 54 third periodic reports and 41 fourth periodic reports were overdue (see annex VII). The Secretariat is taking the initiative to propose that States parties submit combined reports, in line with procedures adopted by the Committee, especially where initial reports are well overdue, keeping in mind that consideration of overdue reports by the Committee cannot be guaranteed in the near future in view of the extent of the backlog.

19. As at 1 August 1996, the backlog of reports submitted but not yet considered by the Committee included 10 initial reports, 10 second periodic reports, 20 third periodic reports and 4 fourth periodic reports, or a total of 44 reports. Even with the failure of many States parties to submit their reports on time, the workload of the Committee has increased rapidly since its establishment (see annex VIII). There is an average time lapse of three years between the submission of a report by a State party and its consideration by the Committee. Presently the Committee considers an average of eight reports per session. Should the Committee be authorized to hold two three-week sessions a year, the present backlog could be reduced within three years, not taking into account new reports to be submitted. Otherwise, it will take at least six years to clear the backlog.

Number of reports of States parties received and considered, and time allocated for their consideration

20. One of the most striking disparities in the work of the Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women, compared to that of the other international human rights treaty bodies, lies in the amount of time available to consider reports of States parties. At its fourteenth session, the Committee decided to allocate two and a half meetings for consideration of each report of a State party. The Committee further decided that no formal time-limit would be placed on the oral introduction of a report by a State party, since the main objective was to have a dialogue with States parties, and a time-limit might inhibit such a dialogue. However, the Secretariat was requested to inform States parties of the Committee's time constraints; compared to other treaty bodies, the time currently available to hear reports of States parties by the Committee is less than that allotted to other treaty bodies. On average it considers eight reports in a three-week session. The Committee on Economic,

Social and Cultural Rights, by contrast, hears five to six global reports in a three-week session; the Human Rights Committee typically considers four to five reports per session, or between 13 and 14 reports over a period of nine weeks each year.

21. Since its establishment in 1981 the Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women has held 15 sessions, in which it reviewed 70 initial reports, 38 second periodic reports, 14 third period reports, 2 fourth periodic reports; 9 combined first and second periodic reports, 4 combined second and third periodic reports, and 1 combined first, second and third periodic report. It also considered 3 exceptional reports from Croatia, Bosnia and Herzegovina and Rwanda. The total number of reports considered is 141.

C. Content and format of the report of the Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women

22. At its fifteenth session the Committee adopted decision 15/III, by which it decided to dispense in its report on its annual meeting with a detailed summary of the discussion on reports submitted by States parties. Summary records will, however, be retained, and the concluding comments of the Committee will be preceded by a brief summary of the oral presentation of each State party.

D. Additional activities of the treaty bodies

Mainstreaming a gender perspective

23. Taking into consideration the report of the Secretary-General on the extent to which violations of women's human rights have been addressed by human rights mechanisms, <sup>4/</sup> which included a review of recent steps taken by human rights treaty bodies to mainstream the human rights of women in their work, the Division for the Advancement of Women, in cooperation with the Centre for Human Rights, continued to develop methodologies to assist in analysing, from a gender perspective, reports of States parties being considered by the various human rights treaty bodies. This work is being carried out in consultation with the respective treaty bodies, building on work already undertaken by the treaty bodies and on other initiatives, such as the expert group meeting convened by the Centre for Human Rights and the United Nations Development Fund for Women (UNIFEM) in July 1995, the recommendations of which were endorsed in September 1995 <sup>5/</sup> by the sixth meeting of persons chairing the human rights treaty bodies.

24. In December 1996, a round table will be organized to discuss ways to integrate the recommendations on women's health, including reproductive and sexual health rights from recent global conferences, into the human rights monitoring and reporting procedures. The sponsors of the round table are the United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA), the Centre for Human Rights and the Division for the Advancement of Women. The round table will bring together members of each of the six human rights treaty bodies, representatives of United Nations agencies and of non-governmental organizations (NGOs).

Input into world conferences

25. The Committee submitted to the Fourth World Conference on Women a report on progress achieved in the implementation of the Convention. 6/ All members of the Committee attended the Beijing Conference, in accordance with Commission on the Status of Women resolution 36/8, adopted at its thirty-sixth session, in 1992.

26. One expert participated on behalf of the Committee in the United Nations Conference on Human Settlements (Habitat II) and a letter was sent to the Chairperson of the Preparatory Committee for the Conference at its final session setting out the suggestions and views of the Committee's experts. A member of the Committee also participated, on behalf of the Committee, in the World Summit for Social Development, held at Copenhagen in February 1995.

E. Optional protocol

27. During its fortieth session, the Commission on the Status of Women initiated work with regard to the elaboration of a draft optional protocol to the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women on a right to petition. To that end, a parallel open-ended in-session Working Group of the Commission held a general exchange of views, followed by an in-depth consideration of major aspects to be covered by an optional protocol, using as a basis for discussion, the elements proposed by the Committee in its suggestion 7. 7/ The Chairperson of the Committee responded to questions raised by delegations with regard to the Committee's suggestion 7. Members of the Human Rights Committee briefed the Working Group on the provisions, procedures and experience of the Human Rights Committee under the First Optional Protocol, and made statements and responded to questions with regard to justiciability issues.

28. The Commission recommended that the mandate of the Working Group be renewed, and that its next session be convened in parallel with the forty-first session of the Commission on the Status of Women. The Secretariat informed the Commission that the resources required to hold the Working Group session would need to be approved by the General Assembly at its fifty-first session from within the approved programme budget for the biennium 1996-1997. The Economic and Social Council, in adopting the report of the Commission on the Status of Women on its fortieth session, decided to renew the mandate of the in-session open-ended Working Group so that it might continue its work, and to authorize it to meet within existing resources in parallel with the forty-first session of the Commission. The Council also decided that a representative of the Committee should be invited to attend the next session of the Working Group as a resource person.

29. The Secretary-General was requested to submit two reports to the Commission on the Status of Women at its forty-first session on the issue of a draft optional protocol, namely a comparative summary of existing communications and inquiry procedures and practices under international human rights instruments and under the Charter of the United Nations, and a comprehensive report, including a synthesis of additional views of Governments and intergovernmental and non-governmental organizations on an optional protocol, taking into account the elements contained in suggestion 7 (see para. 27) and the deliberations of the Working Group. Member States and observer States have therefore been invited by the Secretary-General to submit their additional views to the Division for the Advancement of Women by 1 October 1996.

IV. IMPLEMENTATION OF GENERAL ASSEMBLY RESOLUTION 47/94

A. Servicing of the Committee by the Secretariat

30. Following the fifteenth session of the Committee, the Secretary-General wrote to the Chairperson of the Committee indicating that in the light of the recommendation of the Beijing Platform for Action that the substantive servicing of the Committee should be provided by the Division for the Advancement of Women, the Committee would continue to be serviced by the Division for the Advancement of Women, which is currently based at United Nations Headquarters in New York. He pointed out that the programme budget for 1996-1997 had not made provision for any change in the servicing arrangements for the Committee. The Secretary-General underlined the importance of linking the work of the Committee to the mainstream of human rights activities and emphasized that close collaboration between the Division and the Centre for Human Rights would continue, including the exchange of information between the Committee, other human rights treaty bodies and Special Rapporteurs on human rights.

B. Publicity

31. In response to the request of the General Assembly for continued dissemination of information relating to the Committee and the Convention, the Division for the Advancement of Women has created a home page on the World Wide Web which includes a space for the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women. Documents of the Committee, the Convention itself and other relevant information are being posted on the page for easy access. The page is still under development, but it is expected that some electronic mailing lists will be created in future to facilitate exchange of information with interested NGOs and individuals in the human rights field, on the Convention and its implementation.

32. An advocacy kit was prepared on the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women for the Fourth World Conference on Women. This was a joint effort of the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) and UNIFEM. It includes information on women and human rights, women and political participation, gender-based violence, women and armed conflict, reproductive rights and sexual rights, culture and traditional practices, the girl child, women's rights in relation to children's rights, and legal status versus legal reality.

ANNEX I

Resolution 9/1, adopted at the ninth meeting of States parties to the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women

Meeting time of the Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women

The States parties to the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women,

Recalling General Assembly resolution 49/164 of 23 December 1994 on the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women and decision 49/448 of 23 December 1994 on the consideration of the request for the revision of article 20, paragraph 1, of the Convention,

Noting with appreciation General Assembly resolution 50/202 of 22 December 1995, in which the Assembly called for the early acceptance and entry into force of the amendment to the Convention,

Reiterating the importance of the Convention on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women as well as the contribution of the Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women to the United Nations efforts to eliminate discrimination against women,

Noting that the workload of the Committee has increased because of the growing number of States parties to the Convention and that the annual session of the Committee is the shortest of all the annual sessions of the human rights treaty bodies,

Recalling Decision 1 on increasing the meeting time of the Committee adopted by the Committee at its fifteenth session, as well as its General Recommendation 22 on the same subject,

Welcoming the efforts made by the Committee to improve its procedures and working methods, and encouraging it to continue such efforts,

Convinced that an adequate amount of time for the meetings of the Committee is one of the vital factors in ensuring the continued effectiveness of the Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women in future years,

1. Recognize the need to introduce a temporary measure to enable the Committee to reduce the backlog until the amendment to article 20, paragraph 1, enters into force;

2. Support the request made by the Committee at its fifteenth session for additional meeting time so as to allow it to hold two sessions annually, each of three weeks' duration, and each preceded by a pre-session working group, starting from 1997 for an interim period;

3. Recommend that the General Assembly at its fifty-first session approves the request of the Committee, within the overall existing budget framework, in order to enable the Committee to continue to reduce the backlog in States parties' reports awaiting review.

ANNEX II

Reservations and declarations made upon ratification from 1 August 1995 to 1 August 1996

Reservations made by the Government of Algeria upon ratification

Article 2

The Government of the People's Democratic Republic of Algeria declares that it is prepared to apply the provisions of this article on condition that they do not conflict with the provisions of the Algerian Family Code.

Article 9, paragraph 2

The Government of the People's Democratic Republic of Algeria wishes to express its reservations concerning the provisions of article 9, paragraph 2, which are incompatible with the provisions of the Algerian Nationality Code and the Algerian Family Code.

The Algerian Nationality Code allows a child to take the nationality of the mother only when:

- The father is either unknown or stateless;
- The child is born in Algeria to an Algerian mother and a foreign father who was born in Algeria.

Moreover, a child born in Algeria to an Algerian mother and a foreign father who was not born on Algerian territory may, under article 26 of the Algerian Nationality Code, acquire the nationality of the mother providing the Ministry of Justice does not object.

Article 41 of the Algerian Family Code states that a child is affiliated to its father through legal marriage.

Article 43 of that Code states that "the child is affiliated to its father if it is born in the 10 months following the date of separation or death".

Article 15, paragraph 4

The Government of the People's Democratic Republic of Algeria declares that the provisions of article 15, paragraph 4, concerning the right of women to choose their residence and domicile should not be interpreted in such a manner as to contradict the provisions of chapter 4 (art. 37) of the Algeria Family Code.

Article 16

The Government of the People's Democratic Republic of Algeria declares that the provisions of article 16 concerning equal rights for men and women in all matters relating to marriage, both during marriage and at its dissolution, should not contradict the provisions of the Algerian Family Code.

Article 29

The Government of the People's Democratic Republic of Algeria does not consider itself bound by article 29, paragraph 1, which states that any dispute between two or more States parties concerning the interpretation or application of the Convention which is not settled by negotiation shall, at the request of one of them, be submitted to arbitration or to the International Court of Justice.

The Government of the People's Democratic Republic of Algeria holds that no such dispute can be submitted to arbitration or to the International Court of Justice except with the consent of all the parties to the dispute.

Reservations made by the Government of Fiji upon ratification

... with reservations on articles 5 (a) and 9 of the Convention.

Declaration made by the Government of Lesotho upon
ratification

The Government of the Kingdom of Lesotho declares that it does not consider itself bound by article 2 to the extent that it conflicts with Lesotho's constitutional stipulations relative to succession to the throne of the Kingdom of Lesotho and the law relating to succession to chieftainship. The ratification by the Government of Lesotho is subject to the understanding that none of its obligations under the Convention, especially in article 2 (e), shall be treated as extending to the affairs of religious denominations.

Furthermore, the Government of Lesotho declares that it shall not take any legislative measures under the Convention where those measures would be incompatible with the Constitution of Lesotho.

Reservation made by the Government of Liechtenstein
upon ratification

In the light of the definition given in article 1 of the Convention, the Principality of Liechtenstein reserves the right to apply, with respect to all the obligations of the Convention, article 3 of the Liechtenstein Constitution.

The Principality of Liechtenstein reserves the right to apply the Liechtenstein legislation according to which Liechtenstein nationality is granted under certain conditions.

Reservation made by the Government of Pakistan upon
ratification

The Government of the Islamic Republic of Pakistan declares that it does not consider itself bound by paragraph 1 of article 29 of the Convention.

Reservations made by the Government of Singapore upon
ratification

In the context of Singapore's multiracial and multi-religious society and the need to respect the freedom of minorities to practise their religious and personal laws, the Republic of Singapore reserves the right not to apply the provisions of articles 2 and 16 where compliance with these provisions would be contrary to their religious or personal laws.

Singapore is geographically one of the smallest independent countries in the world and one of the most densely populated. The Republic of Singapore accordingly reserves the right to apply such laws and conditions governing the entry into, stay in, employment in and departure from its territory of those who do not have the right under the laws of Singapore to enter and remain indefinitely in Singapore, and to the conferment, acquisition and loss of citizenship of women who have acquired such citizenship by marriage and of children born outside Singapore.

Singapore interprets article 11, paragraph 1, in the light of the provisions of article 4, paragraph 2, as not precluding prohibitions, restrictions or conditions on the employment of women in certain areas, or on work done by them where this is considered necessary or desirable to protect the health and safety of women or the human foetus, including such prohibitions, restrictions or conditions imposed in consequence of other international obligations of Singapore, and considers that legislation in respect of article 11 is unnecessary for the minority of women who do not fall within the ambit of Singapore's employment legislation.

The Republic of Singapore declares, in pursuance of article 29, paragraph 2, of the Convention, that it will not be bound by the provisions of article 29, paragraph 1.

ANNEX III

Objections made from 1 August 1995 to 1 August 1996

[Original: English]

[17 January 1996]

Objection by the Government of Finland to reservations made by the Government of Kuwait

The Government of Finland has examined the contents of the reservations made by the Government of Kuwait upon accession to the said Convention, by which it expresses, inter alia, the following:

"The Government of Kuwait enters a reservation regarding article 7 (a), inasmuch as the provision contained in that paragraph conflicts with the Kuwait Electoral Act, under which the right to be eligible for election and vote is restricted to males.

"The Government of Kuwait reserves its right not to implement the provision contained in article 9, paragraph 2, of the Convention, inasmuch as it runs counter to the Kuwait Nationality Act, which stipulates that a child's nationality shall be determined by that of his father.

"The Government of the State of Kuwait declares that it does not consider itself bound by the provision contained in article 16 (f) inasmuch as it conflicts with the provision of the Islamic Shariah, Islam being the official religion of the State." (A/50/346, annex III)

The Government of Finland recalls that, by acceding to the Convention, a State commits itself to adopt the measures required for the elimination of discrimination, in all its forms and manifestations, against women. In particular, article 7 requires States parties to undertake actions to eliminate discrimination against women in the political and public life of the country. This is a fundamental provision of the Convention the implementation of which is essential to fulfilling its object and purpose.

Reservations to article 7 (a) and article 9, paragraph 2, are both subject to the general principle of the observance of treaties according to which a party may not invoke the provision of its internal law as justification for its failure to perform its treaty obligations. It is in the common interest of States that contracting parties to international treaties are prepared to undertake the necessary legislative changes in order to fulfil the object and purpose of the treaty.

Furthermore, in the view of the Government of Finland, the unlimited and undefined character of the reservation to article 16 (f) leaves open to what extent the reserving State commits itself to the Convention and therefore creates serious doubts about the commitment of the reserving State to fulfil its obligations under the Convention. Reservations of such unspecified nature may contribute to undermining the basis of international human rights treaties.

In their present formulation the reservations are clearly incompatible with the object and purpose of the Convention and therefore inadmissible under article 28, paragraph 2, of the Convention. Therefore, the Government of Finland objects to these reservations. The Government of Finland further notes that the reservations made by the Government of Kuwait are devoid of legal effect.

The Government of Finland recommends that the Government of Kuwait reconsider its reservations to the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women.

[16 January 1996]

Objection by the Government of the Netherlands to reservations
made by the Government of Kuwait

The Government of the Kingdom of the Netherlands considers the reservations made by Kuwait incompatible with the object and purpose of the Convention (art. 28, para. 2).

The Government of the Kingdom of the Netherlands therefore objects to the above-mentioned reservations. These objections shall not preclude the entry into force of the Convention between Kuwait and the Kingdom of the Netherlands.

[17 January 1996]

Objection by the Government of Sweden to reservations made by the Government of Kuwait

The Government of Sweden has examined the content of the following reservations made by the Government of Kuwait upon accession to the said Convention:

1. Article 7 (a)

The Government of Kuwait enters a reservation regarding article 7 (a), inasmuch as the provision contained in that paragraph conflicts with the Kuwait Electoral Act, under which the right to be eligible for election and to vote is restricted to males.

2. Article 9, paragraph 2

The Government of Kuwait reserves its right not to implement the provision contained in article 9, paragraph 2, of the Convention, inasmuch as it runs counter to the Kuwait Nationality Act, which stipulates that a child's nationality shall be determined by that of his father.

3. Article 16 (f)

The Government of the State of Kuwait declares that it does not consider itself bound by the provision contained in article 16 (f) inasmuch as it conflicts with the provision of the Islamic Shariah, Islam being the official religion of the State.

The Swedish Government considers that the reservations made by Kuwait are incompatible with the object and purpose of the Convention. According to article 28 (2), reservations incompatible with the object and purpose of the Convention shall not be permitted.

By acceding to the Convention, a State commits itself to adopt the measures required for the elimination of discrimination, in all its forms and manifestations, against women. If the reservations made by Kuwait were to apply, they would inevitably have the effect of discrimination against women on grounds of sex.

In this context the Swedish Government wishes to make the observation that reservations incompatible with the object and purpose of a treaty not only cast doubts on the commitments of the reserving State, but moreover contribute to undermining the basis of international law. It is in the common interest of States that treaties to which they have chosen to become parties also are respected, as to object and purpose, by other parties and the States are prepared to undertake legislative changes necessary to comply with such treaties.

In view of the above the Government of Sweden objects to the above-mentioned reservations made by the Government of Kuwait to the Convention.

Withdrawal of reservation and declaration by Thailand

Whereas the United Nations Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women (hereinafter referred to as "the Convention") was adopted on 18 December 1979;

Whereas in accordance with article 25 (3) the Government of the Kingdom of Thailand ratified the Convention on 5 July 1985,

Whereas this ratification was subject to reservation to article 7 and article 10 of the Convention; and

Whereas article 28 (3) of the Convention provides that reservations may be withdrawn at anytime;

Now therefore I the undersigned Minister for Foreign Affairs, on behalf of the Government of the Kingdom of Thailand, do hereby withdraw the reservation to article 7 and article 10 of the Convention.

Done at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Saranrom Palace, Bangkok, this ____ day of July in the Two thousand Five hundred and Thirty-ninth year of the Buddhist Era, corresponding to the One thousand Nine hundred and Ninety-sixth year of the Christian Era.

[22 March 1996]

Withdrawal of reservations and declarations by the Government of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland

On 22 March 1996, the Government of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland notified the Secretary-General of its decision to withdraw the following reservations and declarations made upon ratification of the Convention in respect of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, as circulated by depositary notification C.N.108.1986.TREATIES-4 of 7 August 1986:

"(b) The United Kingdom reserves the right to regard the provisions of the Sex Discrimination Act 1975, the Employment Protection (Consolidation) Act 1978, the Employment Act 1980, the Sex Discrimination (Northern Ireland) Order 1976, the Industrial Relations (No. 2) (Northern Ireland) Order 1976, the Industrial Relations (Northern Ireland) Order 1982, the Equal Pay Act 1970 (as amended) and the Equal Pay Act (Northern Ireland) 1970 (as amended), including the exceptions and exemptions contained in any of these Acts and Orders, as constituting appropriate measures for the practical realisation of the objectives of the Convention in the social and economic circumstances of the United Kingdom, and to continue to apply these provisions accordingly; this reservation will apply equally to any future legislation which may modify or replace the above Acts and Orders on the understanding that the terms of such legislation will be compatible with the United Kingdom's obligations under the Convention.

"Article 1

"With reference to the provisions of the Sex Discrimination Act 1975 and other applicable legislation, the United Kingdom's acceptable of article 1 is subject to the reservation that the phrase 'irrespective of their marital status' shall not be taken to render discriminatory any difference of treatment accorded to single persons as against married persons, so long as there is equality of treatment as between married men and married women and as between single men and single women.

"Article 2

"In the light of the substantial progress already achieved in the United Kingdom in promoting the progressive elimination of discrimination against women, the United Kingdom reserves the right, without prejudice to the other reservations made by the United Kingdom, to give effect to paragraphs (f) and (g) by keeping under review such of its laws and regulations as may still embody significant differences in treatment between men and women with a view to making changes to those laws and regulations when to do so would be compatible with essential and overriding considerations of economic policy. In relation to forms of discrimination more precisely prohibited by other provisions of the Convention, the obligations under this article must (in the case of the United Kingdom) be read in conjunction with the other reservations and declarations made in respect of those provisions including the declarations and reservations of the United Kingdom contained in paragraphs (a)-(d) above.

"With regard to paragraphs (f) and (g) of this article the United Kingdom reserves the right to continue to apply its law relating to sexual offences and prostitution; this reservation will apply equally to any future law which may modify or replace it.

"The United Kingdom reserves the right to take such steps as may be necessary to comply with its obligations under article 2 of the First Protocol to the Convention for the Protection of Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms signed at Paris on 20 March 1952 and its obligations under paragraph 3 of Article 13 of the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights opened for signature at New York on 19 December 1966, to the extent that the said provisions preserve the freedom of parental choice in respect of the education of children; and reserves also the right not to take any measures which may conflict with its obligation under paragraph 4 of article 13 of the said Covenant not to interfere with the liberty of individuals and bodies to establish and direct educational institutions, subject to the observation of certain principles and standards.

"Moreover, the United Kingdom can only accept the obligations under paragraph (c) of article 10 within the limits of the statutory powers of central Government, in the light of the fact that the teaching curriculum, the provision of textbooks and teaching methods are reserved for local control and are not subject to central Government direction; moreover, the acceptance of the objective of encouraging coeducation is without prejudice to the right of the United Kingdom also to encourage other types of education.

"Article 11

"The United Kingdom interprets the 'right to work' referred to in paragraph 1 (a) as a reference to the 'right to work' as defined in other human rights instruments to which the United Kingdom is a party, notably article 6 of the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights of 19 December 1966.

"The United Kingdom interprets paragraph 1 of article 11, in the light of the provisions of paragraph 2 of article 4, as not precluding prohibitions, restrictions or conditions on the employment of women in certain areas, or on the work done by them, where this is considered necessary desirable to protect the health and safety of women or the human foetus, including such prohibitions, restrictions or conditions imposed in consequence of other international obligations of the United Kingdom; ...

"The United Kingdom reserves the right to apply the following provisions of United Kingdom legislation concerning the benefits specified:

(a) social security benefits for persons engaged in caring for a severely disabled person under section 37 of the Social Security Act 1975 and section 37 of the Social Security (Northern Ireland) Act 1975;

(c) retirement pensions and survivors' benefits under the Social Security Acts 1975 to 1982 and the Social Security (Northern Ireland) Acts 1975 to 1982;

(d) family income supplements under the Family Income Supplements Act 1970 and the Family Income Supplements Act (Northern Ireland) 1971.

"This reservation will apply equally to any future legislation which may modify or replace any of the provisions specified in subparagraphs (a) to (d) above, on the understanding that the terms of such legislation will be compatible with the United Kingdom's obligations under the Convention.

"Article 15

In relation to article 15, paragraph 2, the United Kingdom understands the term 'legal capacity' as referring merely to the existence of a separate and distinct legal personality.

"Article 16

"...

"The United Kingdom's acceptance of paragraph 1 of article 16 shall not be treated as either limiting the freedom of a person to dispose of his property as he wishes or as giving a person a right to property the subject of such a limitation."

By the same communication, the Government of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland confirmed, for the avoidance of doubt, that the declaration and reservedness entered in respect of the dependent territories on behalf of which the Convention was also ratified continue to apply, but are under active review.

ANNEX V

Communications received by States parties from 1 August 1995 to 1 August 1996

[Original: English]

[28 March 1996]

Communication received by the Government of Austria

The Federal Government of the Republic of Austria has examined the reservations made by the Government of Kuwait with regard to article 7 (a), article 9, paragraph 2, and article 16 (f) of the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women of 18 December 1979.

The Federal Government of the Republic of Austria considers the reservations made by the Government of Kuwait concerning article 7 (a) and article 16 (f) as incompatible with the object and purpose of the said Convention and, therefore, as prohibited by virtue of its article 28, paragraph 2.

[Original: French]

[19 January 1996]

Communication received from the Government of Belgium

The Government of Belgium has examined the content of the reservations made by the Government of Kuwait to article 7 of the Convention on the Elimination of All forms of Discrimination against Women.

The Government of Belgium objects to these reservations, which are incompatible with the object and purpose of the Convention and, consequently, are not permitted, in accordance with article 28 (2) of the Convention.

[Original: English]

[16 May 1996]

Communication received from the Government of Portugal

The Government of Portugal has examined the content of the reservations made by Kuwait to article 7 (a), article 9, paragraph 2, and article 16 (f) of the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women of 18 December 1979.

The Government of Portugal considers that these reservations are incompatible with the object and purpose of the said Convention and are, therefore, not permitted, according to its article 28 (2).

In view of the above, the Government of Portugal objects to the reservations made by the Government of Kuwait to the Convention.

This objection does not constitute an obstacle to the entry into force of the Convention between Portugal and Kuwait.
