Noting that contributions to the United Nations International Drug Control Programme have hitherto been made by a limited numbe of States, and that the future of the Programme depends on th retention of existing donors and an enhanced donor base,

Expressing appreciation to donors for their contributions which have been essential to the growth of the Programme as a centre of excellence,

Recognizing that to maintain and enhance its activities, th е Programme depends on general-purpose funds as well as earmarke funds,

Recognizing that the provision of appropriate and sufficien policy guidance is essential to the success of the Programme, an recalling Economic and Social Council resolution 1991/38 o 21 June 1991, in which the Council called upon the Commission o Narcotic Drugs to give policy guidance to the Programme and t monitor its activities,

Taking note of the progress of the ad hoc open-ended informal intersessional working group established by the Commission at it thirty-ninth session for the purpose of considering options fo improving the work of the Commission and its subsidiary bodies, i particular its agenda and organization, and of examining the role of the Commission as the governing body of the Programme, as well a possible options designed to enhance active participation by mor Member States,

3. Reaffirms the leadership role of the Programme as the main focus for concerted international a ction for drug abuse control and as the international coordinator of drug control activities , particularly within the United Nations system;

ANNEX

Baku Accord on Regional Cooperation against Illicit Cultivation, Production, Trafficking, Distribution and Consumption of Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances and their Precursors

A. Nature and extent of the problem

The Subcommission on Illicit Drug Traffic and Relate Matters in the Near and Middle East open ed its thirty-second session at Baku on 17 February 1997 with an expanded membership, bette r representing the diverse character of the region as a whole and o f its subregions, and affording greater possibilities for more in-dep th discussion of the illicit drug-trafficking situation and its impact on the region, and of new cooperative modalities for effectiv е counteraction. The new composition of the Subcommission is indicati ve of global developments in illicit drug trafficking, which ar е reflected in conditions in some States in the Near and Middle East.

^{*} See paragraph 113 below.

- 2. The expanding and complex system of global organized drug crime, involv ing cultivation, production, trafficking, distribution and consumption activities, which penetrate various sectors, ha s already left its mark on the region. Ass ociated criminal activities, especially narcotics-related terrorism and the arms trade, hav e assumed alarming proportions, in spite of law enforcement efforts .
- 3. The consequences of illicit drug trafficking in the Near and Middle East are a mirror image of developments at the globa level, characterized by the erosion of the hard-won benefits of development, the diversion of some countries from their development alpath, the destabilization of the socio-economic order, the destruction of the moral and social fabric of society and the undermining of the quality of life of the peoples of the region.
- 4. As the illicit traffic in and abuse of narc otic drugs and psychotropic substances are serious and growing concerns in the region, the development of an accurate annual estimate of the situation and trends is essential to the successful development and implementation of regional strategies and disconsisting programmes. An accurate assessment of the magnitude and dimensions of the illiciting trug problem in the region is the necessary starting point for both rational policy-making and the promotion of public awareness. In the absence of a reliable and comprehensive intelligence assessment, substantial misconceptions might arise and resources might be misallocated. Moreover, early detection and subsequent action aimed at controlling emerging problems might become extremely difficult.

B. Declaration

 ${\tt We, representatives \ of the \ S}$ tates members of the Subcommission on Illicit Drug Traffic and Related Matters in the Near and Middle East,

Having gathered at the thirty-second session of the Subcommission, held at Baku from 17 to 2 1 February 1997, to consider the Baku Accord on Regional Cooperation against Illicit Cultivation, Production, Trafficking, Distribution and Consumption of Narcoti Cultivation and Psychotropic Substances and their Precursors,

Deeply concerned about the spread of drug abuse in the region and its effects on youth and on future generations,

Also deeply concerned about the rising illici t cultivation of narcotic crops and illicit production of an d traffic king in drugs, which pose the main threat to the political, economic, social and cultural structure and stability of the region,

Reaffirming our commitment to combat the multidimensiona l problems involving illicit drugs,

Convinced that concerted action and comprehensive, well coordinated programmes are the only mean s by which to fight problems involving illicit drugs,

Have agreed on the following:

- 1. Nationally and regionally coordinated strategies shoul d be developed for the implementation of the mandates an d recommendation in the Global Programme of Action adopted by the General Assembly at its seventeenth special session, $\frac{1}{2}$ on 23 February 1990, the Tehran Declaration adopted by the Ministerial-level Conference at the twenty-ninth session of the Subcommission , held at Tehran in 1992, and other relevant international drug control of instruments;
- 2. Training in the field of drug law enforcement is a priority for many States of the region, and interested nationa authorities should seek the assistance of competent intergovernment al bodies in the development of inter-agency, multidisciplinary traini ng courses for law enforcement officials of the region, taking int account socio-economic differences, as well as evaluating on a nongoing basis the relevance and impact of all training material and programmes in their respective national circumstances;
- 3. Efforts should be made by the international community and intergovernme ntal bodies and organizations to establish cooperative relations with the authorities in Afghanistan in order to assist in the eradication of illicit cultivation, production and traffickin of narcotic drugs, especially in the drug-producing areas of the country, and to provide them with packages of aid and the means of economic reform, such as human development and capacity-building mobilization of resources and industrial development to enable them to resort to alternative sources of income, which would provid better economic possibilities for future generations;
- 4. Focal points sho uld be established in the capital cities of States members of the Subcommission in order to improv e cooperation and coordination at the national and regional levels, a nd their titles and addresses should be communicated to their counterparts in the region to enable the m to undertake the following action:
- (a) To discuss with each other, as frequently as necessary operational drug-control matters and other modi operandi;
- (b) To develop drug intelligence networks to en sure the rapid and secure exchange of information on all illicit drug-traffickin g operations;
 - (c) To share expertise and knowledge in drug la w enforcement;
- (d) To promote field visits for drug-control officers in the region in order to build up mutual confidence and trust, which ar conducive to smooth operations;
- (e) To exchange information on drug-trafficking trends an trend indicators, as well as intelligence information on the moveme of narcotic drugs, psychotropic substances, precursors and method of concealing assets, bearing in mind the fact that crimina lorganizations employ a wide range of sophisticated financia length mechanisms, including corporate entities and offshore financia languages, to conceal the origin of their funds;

- (f) To exchange skil ls and techniques used in the detection, investigation and suppression of offences involving illicit dru trafficking and the collection of evidence;
- (g) To cooperate and coordinate efforts towards the use o f controlled delivery in cases relating to trafficking in narcoti c drugs, psychotropic substances and precursors and to money laundering;
- (h) To harmonize dru g legislation, in particular with regard to the application of adequate penalties for drug offences;
- (i) To facilitate mutual cooperation regarding the eidentification, seizure, forfeiture and sharing of proceeds prove note to be derived from drug-related criminality;
- 5. All States should be urged to take effective action t o control and prevent the diversion of substances frequently used i n the illicit manufacture of narcotic drugs and psychotropi c substances, as well as the materials and equipment used in thei r manufacture. In particular, States of the region should:
- (a) Consider notifying the Secretary-General, under the provisions of the United Nations Convention against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances of 1988, $\underline{2}$ / article 12, paragraph 10 (a), that any country exporting to them a substance in Table I of the Convention should supply them with advance notification of such export, and request that such notification be extended to cover substances in Table II as well;
- (b) Accede, if they are exporters of substances in Table I or II of the 1988 Convention, to the request of the Internationa land land otics Control Board to provide such pre-export notification soluntarily to importing countries, even in the absence of a specific request for such notification;
- 6. States of the region should require import authorizations for all substances in Schedules III and IV of the Convention o n Psychotropic Substances of 1971; 3/
- 7. All States in the region should be urged to adopt further legislative and administrative measures to prevent and sanctio money-laundering;
- 8. All States members of the Subcommission should be urge d to make every effort to ensure that the present Accord become s generally known and is observed and implemented in full in accordan ce with their domestic laws;
- 9. The international community should be reque sted to assist and cooperate in the development of illicit crop eradicatio n programmes and to promote alternative development programmes;
- 10. As proposed in the international drug control treaties the international community, including intergovernmental bodies should assist transit countries in enhancing their capabilities t suppress illicit drug trafficking;

- 11. The international community, including intergovernmental bodies, should provide financial assistance to States of the region that lack technical equipment, and in which the Government exercises control over licit drugs and combats illicit trafficking;
- 12. To stem the flow of illicit drugs, reducing illicit drug demand is as important as reducing illicit drug supply an d trafficking. Significant progress in drug control cannot be mad e without that balanced approach. Prevention and demand reduction mu st be intensified and accorded the high priority that they deserve;
- 13. Comprehensive preventive programmes must be designed to emphasize a multisectoral and intersectoral approach as an integral part of national development planning. They should focus on protecting young people, who are at risk of becoming consumers and traffickers, and should safeguard their well-being and quality of life, thereby maintaining a drug-free society. Using all preventive, educational, medical and legal information available, such programmes should raise the awareness of youth of the negative consequences of drug abuse, and should be tailored individually to target specifications of potential young abusers;
- 14. In order to maintain the traditional privacy of the family recognized in most States in the region, States members of the Subcommission should consider ensuring anonymity to any abuser who undergoes medical examination, treatment and rehabilitation;
- 15. All States should be called upon to strengthen their national legal and judicial systems in conformity with the existing international drug control treaties, in order to improve and carry out effective drug-control activities in cooperation with othe restates;
- 16. States in the region should consider facilitating th extradition of persons accused of drug-trafficking offences an refrain from granting political asylum or other forms of protection to such persons;
- 17. All States shoul d recognize the negative impact on antitrafficking activities by customs, border-control and law enforceme nt authorities created by absence or loss of effective exercise of sovereignty in any part of a State because of internal strife foreign occupation or other causes, which may give rise to illicitatransit traffic in drugs, and should condemn any violation of national borders and territorial integrity;
- 18. The Subcommission should continue to meet on an annua l basis in a capital city of the region;
- 19. The Secretary-General is invited to consider, upo n request by interested Governments, how the various elements contain ed in the present Accord might be carried o ut, and to examine with them the most suitable modalities for following up appropriate activitie s, at the national, regional and international levels;

20. The Secretary-General is also invited to transmit the text of the present Accord to all States Members of the Unite of Nations to serve as a background documen of the special session of the General Assembly devoted to the fight against the illicity production, sale, demand, traffic and distribution of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances and related activities, to be held in June 1998.

Sweden had been one of its fiv founding memb ers (together with Afghanistan, Iran (Islamic Republic of), Pakistan and Turkey), and had played an important liaison role in the early years of the Subcommission. Now that the Subcommission had expanded into a wide-ranging regional group, the Government o f Sweden considered that it would be appropriate for Sweden, as a Sta te outside the region, to resign its membership. The Subcommission having noted with appreciation the contributions of Sweden to th е early development of its work, accepted the letter of resignatio n with understanding.

B. Deliberations

1. Policy guidance addressed to the United Nations International Drug Control Programme

- 17. The Commission commended the Executive Director of the United Nations International Drug Control Programme (UNDCP) for hi comprehensive report (E/CN.7/1997/2), which covered the wide rang of activities undertaken by UNDCP in support of the efforts of th international community to deal with the many facets of the dru problem. The report was an illustration of the excellent work an achievements of UNDCP during the past year and a reflection of its leadership role in assessing the drug problem and stimulating action at the national, regional and international levels.
- 18. UNDCP had, since its establishment in 1991, continuousl improved its performance in spite of its expanding mandates and the limited resources at its disposal. It h ad become an essential asset to Governments, as well as an institution charged with mandates o unique relevance in the United Nations system. Appreciation wa expressed to the Executive Director for his leadership, guidance initiative and sustained commitment in addressing the drug problem.
- 19. The Commission expressed support for the strategy pursued b UNDCP, which was based on a balanced approach between supply an demand reduction. It further endorsed UNDCP efforts to assis Governments in the formulation and implementation of coheren policies and strategies in drug control matters, and to generate and promote the sharing of knowledge on the evolution and nature of the drug problem. The approach of UNDCP, whereby priority emphasis was given to regions particularly vulnerable to illegal drug production, trafficking and abuse, was supported.

2. Mandate of UNDCP

- 20. Several representatives pointed to the inadequacy of th collective efforts of Governments to ensure the effectiv implementation of the international drug control treaties tha provided the framework for multilateral cooperation in the figh against illicit drug trafficking and abu se. UNDCP was called upon to continue to play a catalytic role by stimulating and assistin Governments in the pursuit of vigorous measures to implement thei treaty obligations.
- 21. Strong support was expressed for UNDCP efforts to consolidate its position as a centre of specialized knowledge and expertise, the global refere nce point for international drug control. The current preparation by UNDCP of the first World Drug Report was mentioned in that connecti on. Such a process was considered essential for UNDCP to provide guidance and support to the international community i n translating global strategies and policies into concrete action a t the national, regional and international levels.

One of the essential functions of UNDCP as a centre o competence was to gather, process and disseminate information tha would serve as the basis for the adoption and implementation o policies and strategies to address the drug problem. In the fiel of drug law enforcement, UNDCP had been cooperating with the Worl Customs Organization (WCO) (formerly known as the Customs Cooperati Council) and the International Criminal Police Organizatio (Interpol) in the joint exchange of information on drug seizures in order to bett er assess patterns and trends in illicit traffic, thus permitting the formulation of appropriate countermeasures. regard to demand reduction, UNDCP should continue to support th strengthening of national capabilities to collect and analyse dat on drug abuse, particularly by using rapid assessment surveys. O equal importance was the continued use of the International Dru Abuse Assessment System to monitor the drug abuse situatio worldwide. The recent agreement between UNDCP and the Europea Monitoring Centre for Drugs and Drug Addiction would enhanc cooperation in epidemiological research and the exchange o information on demand reduction.

Widening the donor base of the United Nations 3 International Drug Control Programme

- Several representatives poin ted to the precarious situation of UNDCP as a result of its dependence on contributions from a limited number of donors, a reduction in general-purpose contributions an d a diminishing fund balance. Should the current trend continue, UND CP would have to reduce its operational activities after the bienniu 1998-1999.
- To continue to remain an effective instrument for th 24. international community, UNDCP needed the support of Governments to ensure that the resources available to i t were commensurate with its mandate and with the activities undertaken at the request of it legislative bodies. Several representatives reasserted the stron commitment of their Governments to continue to support UNDCP b У contributing to the Fund of the United Nations International Dru Control Programme, despite a period of budget austerity. Som Governments had increased their contributions substantially, an others had begun to contribute significant amounts for the firs time.
- The Commission welcomed the fund-raising initiatives of th Executive Dir ector, and expressed its satisfaction with the results in widening the donor base for the Fund of UNDCP. Governments were requested to give prior ity to the implementation of Commission resolution 10 (XXXIX) entitled "Towards a new system o financing activities of the United Nations International Drug Contr ol Programme", in order to ensure a wider ownership of UNDCP by th 6 international community, particularly by the Commission, throug expanded participation in its financing. Some representative S pointed to the increased contributions to UNDCP in response t Commission resolution 10 (XXXIX). The representative of Mexic indicated that the contributions of her Government to the Fund o fUNDCP in 1997 would meet the target of 3 00,000 United States dollars (US$) recommended in that resolution.

- 26. The Commission expressed concern at the decrease in general purpose contributions, which had strained UNDCP administrative an d backstopping capabilities and hampered the development of critical aspects of its work, such as research, planning, coordination an d evaluation. Furthermore, the financial constraints would impair the flexible operational capacity of UNDCP that had enabled it to respo nd in a timely manner to new situations, such as the post-conflic t situation in the Balkan region.
- 27. Some representatives indicated that their Governments were in favour of a thorough review of the financing of UNDCP, in order t ensure that i t was provided with adequate resources to enable it to implement its mandates, which were of critical importance to th international community.

The Commission welcomed the proposals submitted by UNDCP i 28. n order to enhance its performance, its cost-effectiveness and th tran sparency in its budgetary procedures. The view was expresse Ы that further improvement in the management and governance of UNDC would increase its effectiveness. Great er cost-sharing in technical assistance programmes would also enable UNDCP to expand its delivery of technical assistance. Some representatives reiterated th importance of contributing a share of co nfiscated assets to the Fund of UNDCP, as stipulated in the United Nations Convention agains t Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances o f 1988, 1/ article 5, which would signific antly increase the resources available to the Programme in meeting government requests fo technical assistance.

4. Master plans

29. The Commission expressed sup port for the continuing efforts of UNDCP to promote the formulation and implementation of nationa 1 master plans. UNDCP was invited to increase its assistance to Stat es in adopting national master plans, which were essential to th elaboration of comprehensive, coordinated strategies aimed a treducing illicit demand for drugs and combating drug trafficking . UNDCP, particularly through its field of fices, should play a guiding role in coordinating various programmes and activities, and in the establishment and implementation of national drug-control programme s.

5. Africa

30. UNDCP was asked to pay particular attention to the drug -control situation in Africa and to increase the technical assistanc eresources allocated to that region. While UNDCP had assisted the secretariat of the Organization of African Unity (OAU) in the elaboration of a Plan of Action for Dru g Control in Africa, adopted by the OAU heads of State in July 1996, assistance to Africa had remained low in comparison with other regions. Increased UNDC pupport was required in order to ensure the full implementation of the Plan of Action.

6. Afghanistan

31. Several representatives indicated that their Government welcomed the UNDCP initiative to launch a four-year, comprehensiv drug-control programme for Afghanistan, which remained the majo source of illicit opiates in south-west Asia. One representativ stated that his Government was prepared to contribute, through UNDC to the programme for Afghanistan.

7. Post-conflict situations

32. UNDCP was commended for its prompt and proactive response i countering illicit trafficking and drug abuse, as part of th reconstruction and institution-building process in the post-conflict situation in the Balkans. The period of reconstruction should b accompanied by the timely introduction of drug control policies t prevent the re-emergence of trafficking routes and to re-establis drug law enfo reement institutions and functional judiciary systems.

8. Treaty implementation: legislative assistance

The Commission welcomed the crucial role played by UNDCP i 33. promoting adh erence to and implementation of the international drug control treaties, by assisting Governments in adopting the drug control laws and regulations required to become parties to th treaties and to implement their provisio ns. Governments should make adherence to the treaties and their effective implementation one of their priorities. Concern was expressed that the Legal Advisor Programme of UNDCP, through which States and territories wer provided with technical assistance in formulating and adoptin legislation designed to conform with the requirements of th treaties, was funded through project funds. It was therefor suggested that the whole area of promoti ng the implementation of the drug control treaties should be consider ed a core function of UNDCP, and as such should be funded from general-purpose funds an integrated into the staffing table of UNDCP.

9. Responsibility of recipient countries

34. It was indicated that Governments of States in which UNDC projects were being implemented should actively contribute to proje development and implementation, particularly by assuming, to the greatest extent possible, an expanded share of project costs. The involvement of Governments and target groups in defining an developing projects, as well as their commitment and contribution to implementation and follow-up, was considered essential to ensure the sustainability of project activities.

10. Subregional cooperation

35. The Commission commended UNDCP for its leadership role an initiative in strengthening subregional, regional and interregional cooperation between Governments in vulnerable regions, supported by a network of memoranda of understanding with and between the participating Governments. The subregional approach, supported be specific programmes requiring the involvement of all parties, had I to significant results, with a growing number of drug controdactivities currently being designed and implemented within the framework of memoranda of understanding or of regional plans of action, such as the Plan of Action for Drug Control in Africa, and the Plan of Action for Drug Control Coordination and Cooperation in the Caribbean, adopted since the thirty-ninth session of th Commission.

There was agreement that the role of UNDCP in promoting an coordinating subregional, regional and international cooperatio between Governments should remain one of the cornerstones of UNDC activities, which were of crucial importance in strengthening th commitment to counter the drug problem at the national and regional levels.

11. Inter-agency cooperation and coordination

- UNDCP had made considerable progress in ensuring effectiv е between the various international and regiona cooperation organizations active in drug control. During the six years since i establishment, UNDCP had succeeded in es tablishing close cooperation and working relations in different fields of drug control with th major regional institutions and organiza tions involved in countering the drug threat, in particular the Europ ean Commission, the Pompidou Group of the Council of Europe, the European Monitoring Centre fo r Drugs and Drug Addiction and other programmes undertaken by th European Unio n, the Inter-American Drug Abuse Control Commission of the Organization of American States, the South Asian Association for Regional Cooperation, the Economic Coope ration Organization and OAU.
- 38. Reference was made both to the memorandum of understandin signed on 6 November 1996 between UNDCP and WCO, which establishe d the basic principles of cooperation between the two organizations and to the closer cooperation with Interpol, which enhanced th е support provided to Governments in combating drug trafficking.
- The importance of enhanced inter-agency coordination in 39. of drug control was stressed. UNDCP was commended for its effort to encourage other United Nations agencies and the internationa financial institutions to take into acco unt drug control and related matters, such as money-laundering, in their programmes of work, i line with the revised United Nations Sys tem-Wide Action Plan on Drug Abuse Control (E/CN.7/1996/CRP.1). UNDCP should continue to play i coordinating role within the United Nations system i defining strategies to combat illicit drugs. Some representative considered that UNDCP should further inc rease its efforts to involve all concerned agencies, particularly at the field level. considered, however, that in order to increase the momentum fo r inter-agency coordination within the United Nations responsibility to Governments had the ensure that r representatives delivered a consistent message to the respectiv е governing bodies of such agencies, whose support was deemed essenti al to the worldwide efforts to combat illicit drugs.

12. Civil society and non-governmental organizations

Appreciation was expressed for the efforts of UNDCP to engage civil society in countering the drug problem and for strengthenin its ties with non-governmental organizations. It was noted that ov er 11 per cent of allocations from the Fund of UNDCP in 1996 wer disbursed through non-governmental organizations. representativ es considered that UNDCP should further strengthen its ties with non -governmental organizations, with a view to increasing their financial contributions to the Fund of UNDCP in support o prevention programmes. One successful result of such efforts habeen the continued support received from the Drug Abuse Preventio Centre in Japan, which contributed to UNDCP a significant share o the proceeds of its campaign to promote awareness of the dangers of drug abuse.

13. Amphetamine-type stimulants

The Commission expressed concern at the deteriorating trend 41. S illicit traffic in and abuse of stimulants, particularl У amphetamine-type stimulants. UNDCP had played a leading and proacti ve role in drawi ng the attention of the international community to the threat posed by increased illicit manufacture, abuse and traffic in stimul ants, particularly through its comprehensive global study o amphetamine-type stimulants and the conv ening of two expert meetings held, respect ively, at Vienna and Shanghai in 1996. Strong support was expressed for the recommendations adopted by the Expert Meeting on Amphetamin e-type Stimulants, held at Shanghai, China, from 25 to 29 November 1996. UNDCP was invited to support and coordinate, i collaboration with the International Nar cotics Control Board, first, the implementation of Council resolution 1996/29, on action t control precursors and their strengthen international cooperation to substitutes used in the illicit manufacture of controlled substance in particular amphetamine-type stimulants, and to prevent thei r diversion, and secondly, the recommendations of the Expert Meetin g held at Shanghai that the Commission might decide to adopt. е Programme was also invited to assist in the dissemination an d exchange of information on specific cases of clandestine manufactur e, including new methods of manufacturing, the precursors used an d illicit traff icking routes. It was suggested that such information should be included in a UNDCP database to facilitate disseminatio to Governments.

14. Precursors

42. States should give increased priority to the implementation of the 1988 Convention, article 12, concerning the monitoring of substances fr equently used in the manufacture of illicit drugs. It was indicated, however, that the monitoring of critical precursor required for the illicit manufacture of amphetamine-type stimulants remained a complex and urgent issue that merited as much attention as the issue of scheduling of new stimulants. As several precursors had legitimate uses, a flexible approach would be called for interference of the second structure of the implementation of the substance of the monitor precursors.

Several representatives indicated that their Governments were facing increased illicit traffic by sea and pointed to measures tak to counter the problem. UNDCP was commended for its success i following up the recommendations of the Working Group on Maritim Cooperation established by the Commission and for having develope a draft guide for maritime law enforcement training. Government were urged to avail themselves of the results of UNDCP initiative that would enable the adoption of concerted and uniform measure against illicit drug traffic by sea. The representative of Japa indicated that his Government would host a regional seminar o maritime coop eration at Yokohama during the second half of 1997, at which the UNDCP draft training guide would be used.

16. Demand reduction

- Demand reduction was a key objective in tackling the dru problem and a vital part of a comprehensive drug-control strategy The Commission welcomed the increased attention given by UNDCP t demand reduction, as reflected in its activities to assis Governments, particularly transit and producer countries. States lacked the resources, knowledge and skills to develop an implement sustainable programmes of prevention, treatment an rehabilitation of drug abusers.
- The view was expressed that assistance programmes aimed a fostering comprehensive, multidisciplinary and sustainable strategi es for reducing demand for illicit drugs should be given increase d priority by UNDCP and by donor countries. It was pointed out however, that Governments had the responsibility to ensure tha demand-reduct ion programmes were integrated into their policies and action designed to counter illicit drugs at the national and loca levels. Demand reduction should feature as one of the main elements of drug-control master plans drawn up by Member States with th assistance of UNDCP.
- Several representatives expressed the satisfaction of their 46. Governments for the leadership role of UNDCP in promoting th elaboration of a draft declaration on the guiding principles o demand reduction. Several representatives expressed the stron support of their Governments for the draft declaration. It was considered that an important task for UNDCP in the field of deman reduction was to facilitate the exchange of experience in deman reduction, particularly information on b est practices, on successful programmes and on research findings of G overnments and international UNDCP was invited, with the support of intereste Governments, to update the Resource Book on Measures to Reduc Illicit Demand for Drugs 2/ and to develop a glossary of terms t facilitate a common understanding of frequently used demand-reducti on terminology.

17. Youth forum

One representative indicated that her Government would b working with UNDCP in convening a youth event that was expected t take place in Canada during the first half of 1998 shortly befor the special session of the General Assembly on international dru control. One of the results of that event would be the establishme

18. Drug law enforcement

- The support of UNDCP in assisting Governments in combatin illicit drug trafficking was an important part of its strategy Several representatives pointed to the support received from UNDC in law enforcement, which had been critical in coping with dru trafficking, particularly in fostering cross-border cooperation Reference was made to the positive results achieved by the regional intelligence liaison office network established by WCO with th support of UNDCP, which had enabled customs services to develop clo se cooperation with other national law enforcement agencies.
- UNDCP should continue its efforts to improve the meetings o f heads of national drug law enforcement agencies (HONLEA) and meetin as of the Subcom mission on Illicit Drug Traffic and Related Matters in the Near and Middle East, which played an important role in fosteri ng operational cooperation between drug law enforcement agencies at the regional level. Governments were invite d to pay increased attention to the implementation of the recommendations adopted by thos UNDCP was to continue its cooperation with the Crim meetings. Prevention and Criminal Justice Division of the Secretariat, with a view to strengthening international efforts in the fight agains t organized crime and terrorist activities, which were often carrie d out in collusion with drug-trafficking networks.

19. Alternative development

- UNDCP was commended for its sustained commitment to alt 50. development as an essential tool for the reduction and eliminatio of illicit cultivation of narcotic crops. It was invited to contin efforts to involve other United Nations agencies, th international financial institutions and, through cost-sharin g arrangements, the Governments of affected States, in implementin q alternative development programmes.
- National programmes of supply reduction were an essentia 1 element in national drug-control strategies. UNDCP was encourage to continue t o support national authorities in the establishment of the sound institutional structures that were required to mount credible and sustainable strategy for supply reduction. UNDCP, the donor community and Governments of producer countries were encourag ed to give the responsibility for planning and implementation o alternative d evelopment plans to local authorities and communities.

20. Money-laundering

Preventing and countering mo ney-laundering remained one of the most important initiatives in countering the illicit drug traffic There was concern at the reservations expressed with regard to th provisions of the 1988 Convention relating to money-laundering UNDCP was inv ited to continue to assist Governments in adopting the necessary measures to implement those provisions of the 198 8 Convention. Appreciation was expressed for the joint global project on money-laundering launched by UNDCP, in cooperation with th Division, in October 1996, with the objective, in particular, o f promoting the adoption of relevant legislation and improving la

21. Special session of the General Assembly on international drug control

- Several representatives high lighted the importance which their Governments a ttached to the special session of the General Assembly to be convened in 1998. It was indicated that the special sessio n would provide the international community with an opportunity t 0 reaf firm its determination to ensure the implementation of th 0 international drug control treaties. The special session shoul consider how the leadership role of the United Nations, in fostering international cooperation, could be further strengthened and mad 0 more effective through increased support by Member States. Wit h regard to UNDCP, the special session should consider ways in whic h UNDCP could be provided with sufficient funding, and how it catalytic and leadership role within the United Nations system could be further expanded.
- 54. One representative referred to the positive outcome of a preparatory meeting on the special session held at Stockholm with the aim of sharing ideas on the event. The summary of the discussion was available to interested members of the Commission.

C. Action taken

- 55. At its 1150th meeting, on 24 March 1997, the Commissio n adopted, as orally amended, a draft reso lution entitled "Cooperation in drug control between the Zone of Peace and Cooperation of the South Atlantic and the United Nations International Drug Control Programme" (E/CN.7/1997/L.2), sponsored by Angola, Argentina, Brazil, Nigeria, South Africa and Uruguay. For the text, see chapter XIV, resolution 1(XL).
- At its 1153rd meeting on 25 March 1997, the Commission for adoption by the Economic and Social Council, as orally amended, a revised draft resolution entitled "Review of the United Nation International Drug Control Programme: strengthening the Unite Nations machinery for international drug control within the scope of the existing international drug control treaties and in accordanc with the basic principles of the Charter of the United Nations (E/CN.7/1997/L.6/Rev.1), sponsored by Australia, Colombia, Mexico Norway, South Africa, Sri Lanka, Sweden, Thailand and Turkey. statement was made by the Secretariat (E/CN.7/1997/L.14) concerning the financial implications of the draft resolution for the Fund o the United Nations International Drug Control Programme, i n accordance with the new procedure agreed to by the Commission Following that statement, the representative of Sweden emphasize that the estimates contained therein wer e preliminary in nature, and as such had to be finalized following the establishment of the expe group called for under the draft resolut ion. He further pointed out that the expe rt group should not draw on Secretariat resources when carrying out its tasks. For the text, see chapter I, section A draft resolution I. Deliberations

Report of the International Narcotics Control Board for 1996

- The Commission took note of the analysis of and views on th e worldwide drug control situation contained in the report of the Boa rd for 1996, and expressed its general support for those views.
- Appreciation was expressed to the Board for its examination of the links between drug abuse and the criminal justice system. Th importance of criminal justice systems in the fight against dru g abuse and ill icit trafficking was underlined, and the contributions of those systems to efforts aimed at preventing and combating th 0 illicit supply and abuse of drugs was acknowledged.
- The Commission took note of the recommendations made by th 0 Board in its report on possible improvements in the functioning o national criminal justice systems. There was agreement tha

Governments should continue to strengthen national drug contro legislation a nd should intensify international cooperation in order to make their criminal justice systems more effective. Majo traffickers should receive sentences that were commensurate wit their crimes. Concerning the recommendation of the Board tha Governments should consider targeting large-scale drug-traffickin operations, the view was expressed that it was important to prosecu all persons involved in drug-trafficking, including small-scal pushers. It was further suggested that impediments to effectiv targeting of large drug-trafficking netw orks should be investigated. The importance of providing alternatives to imprisonment for mino offences, in accordance with the provisions of the international dr uq control treaties, was emphasized.

- While the continued increase in the number of parties to th international drug control treaties was recognized, concern wa express ed that some States members of the Commission had not ye adhered to the treaties. The Commission called for universa adherence to the international drug control treaties and ful implementation of their provisions, and commended the work of th Board in monitoring and promoting adherence to the treaties. Th view of the Board that Governments should refrain from makin reservations to core provisions of the 1 988 Convention was endorsed. reservations would undermine the functioning of international drug control system. Parties must implement th treaties in their totality. The importance of country mission carried out by the Board was also stressed. Such mission a constructive dialogue, particularly on sensitiv facilitated issues. The Commission and the Economic and Social Council would be informed by the Board if a Government refused to receive a missio of the Board, in accordance with the tre aties. It was proposed that the role of the Board should be further strengthened.
- The Commission noted with concern the increasing magnitude of clandestine manufacture and abuse of stimulants, particularl У amphetamine-t ype stimulants, and requested the Board to continue to assist Governments in controlling those substances and their With respect to psychotropic substances listed i precursors. Schedules III and IV of the Convention o n Psychotropic Substances of 1979, 5/ the Commission requested Govern ments of exporting countries to undertake all necessary measures to prevent their diversion t illicit markets. As demonstrated by some major cases of diversio of psychotropic substances to the illici t traffic, the provisions on control of international trade contained in the 1971 Convention were not sufficient to prevent diversions, and must be supplemented b У the measures provided for in various Council resolutions. The role of the Board in ensuring the availability of opiates for medica purposes was stressed, and Governments were requested to implemen the recommendations made by the Board in its special report entitled Availability of Opiates for Medical Needs , 6/ published in 1996 Furthermore, the Board should continue to advise Governments o action to be taken to ensure a worldwide balance between the supply of and the demand for opiates for licit use.
- The Commission echoed the concerns voiced by the President of the Board on movements that would allow the non-medical use o cannabis, the use of cannabis in various food products and othe developments that would contribute to a wider acceptance of drugs f or recreational or non-medical use. 2. Report of the International Narcotics Control Board for 1996 on the implementation of article 12 of the 1988 Convention

- 66. The Commission found the report of the Board for 1996 on th implementation of article 12 of the 1988 Convention to be comprehensive overview of the current status of precursor control worldwide, providing practical proposals for further action b Governments to improve the situation, as well as a systemati analysis of global trends in seizures of, and illicit traffic in precursors.
- 67. The Commission recognized that the strict control of precursors to prevent their diversion from licit to illicit channels was a neffective means of combating the illicit manufacture of drugs. I talso noted the efforts made in recent years by a still limited bu tincreasing number of chemical-exporting, importing and transit tountries and territories that had taken practical steps to prevent diversions, thereby making it more difficult and expensive for traffickers to obtain the chemicals that they required.
- 68. While the Commission welcomed the fact that major succe sses had been achieved in preventing diversions from international trade, it noted with concern the continued availability of chemicals for us in the illicit manufacture of drugs. It recognized that to possibilities for diversion would decrease as more Government sthroughout the world established practical systems of control.
- 69. It was recognized that a key step in strengthening existin control mechanisms was for Governments to exchange information, i a timely way, through the Board where necessary, to check th legitimacy of transactions involving scheduled chemicals, and t identify, investigate and, as appropriate, stop suspicious shipment. The Commission also welcomed the fact that a number of States has begun to share information on suspicious cases, in order to aler other States that might be targeted as points of diversion. I recognized the need to establish mechanisms for the rapid exchang of information on shipments of chemicals, particularly suspiciou shipments, and the key role played by the Board in facilitating such an exchange. It welcomed the progress already made toward establishing a global system of sharing information for precurso control.
- 70. The Commission shared the concerns expressed by the Board, and by some Governments, particularly those affected by large-scal esmuggling of precursors through their territories, that som eschemical-manufacturing and exporting countries did not have adequate territories in place to prevent exports from being diverted for illiciting purposes. The Commission noted the need for importing countries to set up systems designed to monitor imports and assist in controlling both the domestic distribution of chemicals and their possible reexport. In that connection, the Commission welcomed the proposal by the Board that all Governments should re-examine their current

71. The Commission welcomed the fact that resources had been made available for the Board to establish a limited international special surveillance list of substances currently not listed in Table I or II of the 1988 Convention but used in the illicit manufacture of drugs, as requested by the Council in it seresolution 1996/29, and to make recommendations for appropriate control measures for the substances included in that list. Caution should be exercised in expanding that list of substances to cover all possible situations, and the measures applied to any extended list of non-schedule desubstances should not be too restrictive, in order to avoid adverse ly affecting industry. Monitoring measures should be applied in a flexible way, on the basis of voluntary cooperation between national authorities and industry.

- 72. At its 1151st meeting, on 24 March 1997, the Commission adopted a revised dra ft resolution entitled "Development and implementation of domestic legislation to strengthen justice systems and ensur e compliance with the provisions of the United Nations Conventio n against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substanc es of 1988 relating to law enforcement and judicial cooperation "(E/CN.7/1997/L.5/Rev.1), sponsored by Bahamas, Bulgaria, Croatia, France, Germany, Guatemala, Italy, Madag ascar, Malta, Nigeria, Papua New Guinea, Philippines, Republic of Korea, Romania, Russia n Federation, S outh Africa, Tunisia, Ukraine, United Kingdom of Great Britain and N orthern Ireland, United States of America and Uruguay. For the text, see chapter XIV, resolution 2(XL).
- 73. At the same meeting, the Commission also adopted, as orall y amended, a revised draft resolution entitled "Availability of opiat es for medical needs" (E/CN.7/1997/L.10/Rev $\,$.1), sponsored by Australia, France and So uth Africa. For the text, see chapter XIV, resolution 3(XL).
- 74. At its 1152nd meeting, on 25 March 1997, the Commission adopted a revised draft resolution entitled "Pilot maritime drug la wenforcement project of the United Nation s International Drug Control Programme" (E/CN.7/1997/L.4/Rev.1), sponsored by Argentina, Australia, Canada, Chile, Côte d'Ivoire, Croatia, Dominican Republi c, Germany, Guatemala, Italy, Japan, Madagascar, Malaysia, Malta, Morocco, Netherlands, Pakistan, Papua New Guinea, Philippines, Portugal, Qat ar, Republic of Korea, Saudi Arabia, Spain, Sri Lanka, Thailand, Tunisia, Ukraine, United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, United States of America and Uruguay. For the etext, see chapter XIV, resolution 4(XL).
- 75. Following the adoption of re solution 4(XL), the representative of the United States placed on record the understanding of the Commission that the activities called for in operative paragraph would have to be financed strictly from voluntary extrabudgetar y resources.
- 76. At its 1152nd meeting on 25 March 1997, the Commission approved for adoption by the Economic and Social Council a revised draf t resolution entitled "Demand for and supply of opiates for medical a nd scientific needs" (E/CN.7/1997/L.8/Rev.1), sponsored by Belgium , France, India, Russian Federation, Spain , Turkey, Ukraine and United States of America. For the text, see chapter I, section A, draf t resolution II.

Chapter IV

ILLICIT DEMAND FOR DRUGS

A. Structure of the debate

- 77. At its 1149th meeting, on 21 March 1997, the Commissio n considered agenda item 5 entitled "Illicit demand for drugs". Fo its consideration of the item, the Commission had before it the following documents:
- (a) Report of the Secretariat on the world situation wit h regard to drug abuse (E/CN.7/1997/3);
- (b) Report of the working group with expertise in deman d reduction (E/CN.7/1997/CRP.4).
- 78. At the first meeting of the Committee of the Whole, on 19 March 1997, following an introductory stateme nt by the Secretariat on the item, statements were made by the representatives of Australia , Canada, Iran (Islamic Republic of), Japan, Mexico, Netherlands , Poland, Republic of Korea and United Kingdom of Great Britain an d Northern Ireland. The observer for Norway made a statement. The observer for the World Health Organization also made a statement.
- 79. At its 1149th meeting, on 21 March 1997, the Commission too k note of a statement by the Secretariat reflecting the work of the Committee of the Whole.

B. Deliberations

1. General considerations

80. There was agreement on the assessment of two aspects of th item under consideration by the Commission:

- (a) With regard to the use of alternative sources o information to supplement the annual reports questionnaire, it was considered that in view of the difficulties in obtaining reliable data on the prevalence of and trends in drug abuse, it would be necessary to supplement the gaps in data by consulting reputable publications containing research findings;
- (b) With regard to the frequency of reporting on the eimplementation of the targets of the Come prehensive Multidisciplinary Outline of Future Activities in Drug Abuse Control, $\frac{7}{}$ it was considered that reporting of demand-reduction responses at three-ye are intervals would be sufficient.
- 81. Note was taken of the progre ss made by UNDCP towards improving the annual re ports questionnaire by establishing a working group to deal with the matter.
- 82. Drug abuse continued to increase in many parts of the world plant-b ased drugs such as heroin, cocaine and cannabis bein particularly prevalent. At the same time, the increasin availability and abuse of synthetic drugs such as amphetamine-typ stimulants was a cause of concern, particularly in view of their prevalence among young people. There was wide support for the view

- 83. Success in tackling drug abuse depended on effective pr evention and treatment strategies, backed up with the resources to implement them. There was a need for increased cooperation between Membe r States, international and regional organizations and non-government al organizations, in all aspects of prevention. The widesprea d dissemination of information on prevention approaches and forms of treatment that had proved to be effective was important. A number of initiatives at the national level for increasing the availability of timely and accurate data on drug abuse were noted.
- 84. Another cause of concern was the evidence of reduction in the age at which young people experimented w ith drugs. There was strong support for the elaboration of drug-control policies that wer e designed to address the needs of young people and other high-ris k groups, in particular through comprehensive, multidimensional , integrated, community-based programmes of prevention, treatment , rehabilitation and social integration. The use of the Internet a s a means of disseminating both harmful an d positive messages on drugs was noted.
- 85. The need for a balanced approach in formulating drug st rategies was also emphasized. Prevention policies needed to be set in the context of multisectoral strategies addressing all aspects of the drug problem. Although the validity of making rigid distinction substance between producer and consumer countries was questioned, the view was expressed that the major consumer countries should invest mor expressed in reducing the demand for drugs.

2. Draft declaration on the guiding principles of demand reduction

- 86. The Commission noted the considerable progress that had bee made in advancing the development of a draft declaration on the guiding principles of demand reduction. Strong support was express ed for such a draft declaration, and the Commission was pleased that the timetable for its preparation would ensue that it would be possible to submit it to the Commission at its forty-first session, and thereafter to the special session of the General Assembly to be held in June 1998.
- 87. It was stressed that the declaration must be seen as only one part of a broader range of activities. It was an important ste p toward putting the subject high on the agenda of Governments an d improving the quality of demand reduction programmes. The need to have practical outcomes from the special session was also noted.
- 88. In order to support the declaration and maximize it s significance, as well as to ensure that there were tangible an d useful outcomes, strong support was given to the idea that, a s requested in Council resolution 1995/16, the Resource Book on Measures to Reduce Illicit Demand for Drugs 2/ should be updated, perhaps through a series of publications, some of which, it was hoped, might be available for the special session.

C. Action taken

89. At its 1152nd meeting, on 25 March 1997, the Commission adopted a revised draft resolution entitled "Ana lysis of regional and global demand reduction strategies" (E/CN.7/1997/L.3/Rev.1), sponsored by Iran (Islamic Republic of), Kazakstan, Pakistan, Slovenia, Syria nab Republic and Turkey. For the text, see chapter XIV, resolution 5(XL).

Chapter V

ILLICIT DRUG TRAFFIC AND SUPPLY, INCLUDING REPORTS OF SUBSIDIARY BODIES OF THE COMMISSION

A. Structure of the debate

- 90. At its 1150th meeting, on 24 March 1997, the Commissio n considered ag enda item 6 entitled "Illicit drug traffic and supply, including rep orts of subsidiary bodies of the Commission". For its consideration of the item, the Commission had before it the following documents:
- (a) Report of the Secretariat on the world situation wit h regard to illicit drug trafficking (E/CN.7/1997/4 and Corr.1 (Engli sh only) and Add.3);
- (b) Addenda to the report of the Secretariat on the worl d situation with regard to illicit drug trafficking: activities of subsidiary bodies of the Commission on Narcotic Drug s (E/CN.7/1997/4/Add.1, 2 and 4);
- (c) Conference room paper on poverty eradicatio n (E/CN.7/1997/CRP.11).
- 91. At the second meeting of the Committee of the Whole, o n 19 March 1997, following introductory statements by the Secretariat on the item, statements were made by the representatives of Bolivi a, Colombia, Cuba, Ecuador, Egypt, India, Iran (Islamic Republic of), Japan, Lebano n, Mexico, Morocco, Netherlands, Republic of Korea and United States of America. The observers for Afghanistan, Azerbaijan and Turkey made statements. Statements were also made by the observers for the International Criminal Police Organization and the World Customs Organization.
- 92. At its 1150th meeting, on 24 March 1997, following a statement by the Secretariat reflecting the work of the Committee of the Whol e a statement was made by the representati ve of Ukraine. The observer for Turkey also made a statement.
- 93. As was agreed when adopting its agenda (see paragraph 17 3 below), the Commission decided to addres s the topic of poverty under agenda item 6 in response to a request received from the Economic a nd Social Council (see E/CN.7/1997/4/Add.3). In the course of the general debate, a number of speakers referred to the issue of pover ty eradication. At the 1150th meeting of the Commission, on 24 Marc h 1997, the representative of Mexico and the observer for Madagasca r made specific statements on the issue.

B. Deliberations

1. Supply reduction

- 94. Despite the rising trend in seizures of drugs, the worldwid e drug problem had shown no significant decline during the past year. The measures necessary to tackle the problem, however, were set for the in the relevant international drug control of treaties, and States must improve their efforts to implement those measures fully.
- Although liberalization of w orld trade was not a cause of drug trafficking, it did provide greater opportunities for traffickers w ho took advantage of modern means of transport and the increasingly op en borders of recent years. Such developme nts posed an added challenge to law enforcement, and highlighted the need for international an Ы regional cooperation to interdict trafficking. Possible la W enforcement countermeasures included those designed to cope wit h increased tra de by identifying and controlling suspicious shipments and persons. It was therefore important to develop and implemen t profiling and targeting programmes, and the need for regional an d inter-agency cooperation in such programmes wa international S emphasized.

- 96. The Commission stressed the importance of a multilateral la enforcement response to the growing threat of global dru trafficking. Success would require a partnership among States an an integrated strategy. The fight against drug trafficking must be seen as a shared responsibility of States, and greater resource should be made available to support their efforts. UNDCP had central role to play in stimulating such cooperation. It would also be important to use confiscated criminal assets to fund mor effective action against drugs at both national and internationa levels.
- 97. Success against traffickers was seen as dependent in part upon the timely exchange of information between States with a view t disrupting the eir operations. The use of memoranda of understanding was described as an excellent means of promoting regional an subregional cooperation in law enforceme nt, and the role of UNDCP in promoting such memoranda was acknowledged. Continued improvement in mutual legal assistance and extradition arrangements were als crucial in combating the form of transnational crime unde consideration.
- 98. It was noted that many States had introduced or were in th process of introducing new legislation to conform with the three ma international drug control treaties, in particular the 198 Convention, which provided a framework for international actio against drug trafficking. Many of the laws currently in plac awaited testing in the area of implementation by law enforcemen services and interpretation by courts of law. States were urged to share their experiences in that regard, and to enhance their cooperation in law enforcement activities such as controlled eliveries and the exchange of information. In all such matters international cooperation, as opposed to unilateral action, shoul be the rule.
- 99. The Commission noted the continued growth in the use of th postal system and of the services of couriers of more divers nationalities in drug trafficking, particularly for small and mediu sized shipments. Further growth in the use of such methods b traffick ers was expected as a means of reducing their risk o interception.

100. Also noted was the continued growth in maritime dru g trafficking, particularly in the Caribbean region and in Europea n seaports, involving the use of pleasure craft, fishing boats an d commercial container vessels. The scope for movement of larg e quantities of drugs by such methods called for greater attention to techniques of maritime interdiction. The recent efforts of UNDCP in maritime drug law enforcement were noted , including preparations for the UNDCP Asia-Pacific Training Seminar on Maritime Drug La w Enforcement, to be held in Japan in October 1997.

101. The importance of transnational organized crime in dru trafficking continued to grow, with criminal organizations fro different States and regions cooperating in their efforts. Thos organizations were extremely well financed, had access t sophisticated logistics, used the latest technology, and were abl to adapt their routes and methods quickly to changes in la enforcement responses. Their wealth and power gave them the capaci to infiltrate and corrupt legitimate business and Governments. The point was made that law enforcement must increasingly target th heads of drug-trafficking organizations, despite the evidentia difficulties in mounting successful prosecutions. Effective moneylaundering laws - involving detection, seizure and confiscation including forfeiture where applicable, of criminal assets - wer important app roaches in that regard, since the main motive for such illegal activity was the acquisition of wealth. Given the link between drug trafficking and organized crime, the Commission welcom cooperation between UNDCP and the Crime Prevention and Crimina Justice Division, as exemplified by the recently launched Globa Programme against Money-laundering. Several representative considered that greater attention should be paid, including i documents prepared for the Commission, to the involvement o terrorist groups in drug trafficking.

102. South-west Asia was noted as a region particularly hard-hit by the effects of heroin trafficking, becau se of the situation produced by years of war in Afghanistan. The neighbours of that State wer e struggling to control the flow of drugs across their borders, mostly destined for onward transit to Europe. In that regard, the importance of subregional cooperation, particularly in law enforcement, was stressed.

103. The special session of the General Assembly to be held i n June 1998 wou ld provide a good opportunity to review and revise the Global Programme of Action adopted by the Assembly at its seventeen th special session, $\underline{8}$ / on 23 February 1990, and to concentrate o n practical approaches to the problem of illicit trafficking.

2. Subsidiary bodies

104. There was no divergence of views concerning the useful rol played by mee tings of the subsidiary bodies. However, the view was expressed that the recommendations adopted by those meetings woul remain meaningless if Governments did not take action, includin where necessary the enactment of domestic legislation, to implement the recommendations.

- 105. While there was strong support for the continuation of meetings of the subsidiary bodies, there was no a greement on the frequency of the meetings. Suggestions for annual and biennial sessions wer e made. Regrets were expressed about the current inability to hol d annual meetin gs because of the financial difficulties of the United Nations. On the other hand, support was expressed for biennia l sessions in order to make better use of scarce resources and to all ow time for extensive follow-up action, as well as to review and assess the action taken at the regional level.
- 106. An appeal was made to UNDCP to provide technical assistance to meetings of the subsidiary bodies, in particular the meetings of HONLEA, Africa, in their efforts to ensure the updating an dharmonization of legislation to enable States in the region concern ed to implement the provisions of the 1988 Convention.
- 107. Several representatives referred to a proposal made at the informal inter-sessional meetings of the Commission, held on 27 September and 11 December 1996, to the effect that the meeting sof the subsidiary bodies to be held during 1997 could serve as a filter for subjects to be examined by the General Assembly at it special session. To that end, they supper orted the inclusion of a new agendalitem reflecting that proposal, as was done by the Subcommission on Illicit Drug Traffic and Related Matters in the Ne and Middle East at its thirty-second session, held at Baku from 1 to 21 February 1997.
- 108. Particular mention was made of the Baku Accord on Regiona 1 Cooperation against Illicit Cultivation, Production, Trafficking , Distribution and Consumption of Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropi c Substances and their Precursors, adopted by the Subcommission at its thirty-second session (E/CN.7/1997/4/Add.2, chap. I). The Bak u Accord was re garded as an important instrument, providing a region-specific perspective and approach in the fight against dru g trafficking a nd abuse, on the one hand, and contributing to similar efforts by the international community, on the other.
- 109. At the request of the Govern ment of Turkey, chapter III of the report of the Subcommission (UNDCP/SUBCOM/1997/5) was reproduced as an annex to document E/CN.7/1997/4/Add.4.
- 110. Referring to the more than 17 years of civil strife that ha ravaged his country, the representative of Afghanistan appealed t UNDCP and the international community to take the necessary measures to assist its authorities in their efforts to eradicate illici cultivation and production of, and trafficking in, narcotic drugs In that connection, he drew attention to the Baku Accord, section B, international paragraph 3, in which the community d intergovernmental bodies and organizations were called upon to assi st the authorities in Afghanistan.

3. Poverty eradication

111. There was a clear linkage, under certain circumstances, between poverty and drug abuse and trafficking. Understanding that linkag e could assist the international community in exploring solutions t the problem of poverty as a means of alleviating the drug problem It was therefore imperative that the eradication of poverty, whic was relevant to several chapters of the Global Programme of Action, be given high priority.

112. Poverty affected the human, social and ecological environment and was the cause of numerous evils. Because of poverty, many peop le succumbed to substance abuse as an escape from ambient reality . Conversely, drug abuse also negatively affected the economi c situation of individuals and groups. Poverty incited people t o become involved in illicit cultivation and trafficking as a sourc of income. With regard to rural poverty, in many instances the problem should also be addressed in the context of alternative e development activities.

C. Action taken

- 113. At its 1150th meeting on 24 March 1997, the Commission approved for submission to the Economic and Social Council, as orally amende d, a draft resolution entitled "Baku Accord on Regional Cooperatio n against Illicit Cultivation, Production, Trafficking, Distributio n and Consumption of Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances an d their Precursors" (E/CN.7/1997/4/Add.2, chap. I). The text had been submitted to the Commission by the Subcommission on Illicit Dru g Traffic and Related Matters in the Near and Middle East. For the text of the draft resolution, see chapter I, section A, draf t resolution III.
- 114. At its 1151st meeting on 24 March 1997, the Commission approved for submission to the Economic and Social Council the draf t resolution entitled "Working languages of the Subcommission o n Illicit Drug Traffic and Related Matters in the Near and Middle Eas t" (E/CN.7/1997/ 4/Add.2, chap. I). The text had been submitted to the Commission by the Subcommission. For the text of the draf t resolution, see chapter I, section A, draft resolution IV.
- 115. Before the approval of draft resolution IV, the Secretaria t made a statement clarifying its financial implications (se e annex IV). The representative of Japan placed on record hi s understanding of the rationale for the request contained in the dra ft resolution. He agreed with the consensus reached on the draf t resolution, subject to submission of a c omplete and formal statement of programme budget implications to the Council when it considere d the proposal.

Chapter VI

MEASURES TAKEN BY GOVERNMENTS TO IMPLEMENT THE GLOBAL PROGRAMME OF ACTION ADOPTED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY AT ITS SEVENTEENTH SPECIAL SESSION

A. Structure of the debate

- 116. The Commission, in adopting its agenda, decided to merg e agenda item 7, entitled "Measures taken by Governments to implement the Global Programme of Action adopted by the General Assembly at it seventeenth special session", with agenda item 3, entitled "General debate". The refore, all statements relating to item 7 were made in the course of the general debate (see paragraphs 10 to 16 above).
- 117. For its specific consideration of item 7, the Commission ha d before it the report of the Secretary-General on the implementation of the Global Programme of Action adopte d by the General Assembly at its seventeenth special session (A/51/436).

B. Deliberations

- 118. The Global Programme of Action and the international dru control treaties were of central importance in the fight agains illicit drugs. The Global Programme of Action, which endorsed the balanced approach and the principles of shared responsibility provided a comprehensive framework for cooperation in addressing the drug problem.
- 119. Implementation of the Global Programme of Action, which would involve translating its objectives and guidelines into practica 1 action at the national, regional and international levels, remained a high priority for Governments. In that connection, it was recall ed that the General Assembly, at its specia l session to be held in June 1998, had been requested, inter alia , to review the progress o imple mentation. The special session would also provide a bal Programme of Action, and opportunity to review and revise the Glo to produce concrete and practical recommendations on how best t ensure its implementation, taking into c onsideration the significant that had taken place since its adoption. Severa representatives considered that measures to reduce the illicit dema nd for drugs should be given priority in the implementation of th Global Programme of Action.

C. Action taken

- 120. At its 1150th meeting, on 24 March 1997, the Commissio n approved for adoption by the Economic and Social Council, as orally amended, a draft resolution entitled "Contribution to the strengthening of the Global Programme of Action: anti-drug strategy in the Americas" (E/CN.7/1997/L.7), spon sored by Argentina, Bahamas, Bolivia, Brazil, Canada, Chile, Colombia, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Mexico, Panama, Paraguay, Peru, Spain, United States of America and U ruguay. For the text, see chapter I, section A, draft resolution V.
- 121. Before approving draft resolution V, the representative of Cuba stated that she would propose only two slight amendments, so that t he terms of the resolution would not give the erroneous impression that all States of the Americas had been involved in the process of negotiation and adoption of the strategy. Her country was a victim of the illicit traffic in drugs, and therefore committed to combating the phenomenon, but for political reasons it had been excluded from the Organization of American States and the Inter-American Drug Abuse Control Commission for decades.

Chapter VII

IMPLEMENTATION OF RESOLUTIONS OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY ON INTERNATIONAL DRUG CONTROL

A. Structure of the debate

- 122. The Commission, in adopting its agenda, decided to merg e agenda item 8, entitled "Implementation of resolutions of the Genera l Assembly on international drug control", with agenda item 3, entitl ed "General debate". Therefore, all statem ents relating to item 8 were made in the course of the general debate (see paragraphs 10 to 1 6 above).
- 123. For its specific consideration of item 8, the Commission ha d before it the "Report of the Secretariat on the implementation o f resolutions of the General Assembly on international drug contro (E/CN.7/1997/5)".

B. Deliberations

1. Adherence to and implementation of the international drug control treaties

- 124. There was widespread satisfaction that the number of State parties to the international drug control treaties had increase since the thirty-ninth session of the Commission. It was acknowledged, however, that the increasing number of ratification of, and accessions to, those treaties was in itself not enough, and that the wider implementation of the treaties was urgently needed.
- 125. The scourge of illicit trafficking in and abuse of narcoti c drugs and psychotropic substances was re cognized as a global problem that required cooperation at national, bilateral, regional an d international levels. In that connection, the distinction betwee n consumer and producer countries was found to be counter-productive, as it shifted the focus of the discussion from the real issues.

2. International action against drug abuse and illicit trafficking

126. UNDCP was commended for its work in the field of deman reduction. The concentration of UNDCP activities in regions tha were particularly vulnerable to the problem of illicit production trafficking a nd abuse of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances was supported , and it was suggested that such an approach should be continued in the future.

127. The alleviation of the health, social and economic problem s associated with the illicit cultivation, trafficking, supply an d abuse of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances depended largely on the provision of preventive education, treatment, care an d rehabilitation of drug addicts. The involvement of communities an d non-governmental organizations in demand-reduction programmes wa s also important. As most States and terr itories affected by the drug problem lacked adequate financial and human resources to carry ou t preventive education, care, treatment an d rehabilitation programmes, UNDCP was urged to continue its assistance to such States an d territories.

128. Strong opposition to the legalization of the non-medical use of drugs was expressed.

Chapter VIII

ABUSE OF AND ILLICIT TRAFFICKING IN STIMULANTS

Structure of the debate

- 129. At its 1150th meeting, on 24 March 1997, the Commissio n considered ag enda item 9 entitled "Abuse of and illicit trafficking in stimulants". For its consideration of the item, the Commissio n had before it the following documents:
- (a) Report of the Expert Meeting on Amphetamine-typ Stimulants, held at Shanghai, China, from 25 to 29 November 199 of the Expert Meeting on Amphetamine-typ 0 (E/CN.7/1997/6);
 - Policy options for countermeasures (E/CN.7/1997/CRP.5); (b)
- Summary of views of Governments on countermeasure S against illicit traffic, manufacture and abuse of amphetamine-typ stimulants and their precursors (E/CN.7/1997/CRP.6);
- Recent trends in the use of stimulants as anorectic (d) (E/CN.7/1997/CRP.7);
- Control of use of methylphenidate in the tr eatment of ADD (e) (E/CN.7/1997/CRP.8).
- 130. At the 3rd meeting of the Committee of the Whole, o March 1997, following an introductory statement by th Secretariat, statements were made by the representatives of Canada, China, Egypt, France, Germany, Japan, Mexico, Pakistan, Poland Russian Federation, Republic of Korea, Sri Lanka, Spain and Unite d Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland. The observers fo Slovenia and Turkey made statements. The observer for the Worl Health Organization also made a statement.
- 131. At its 1150th meeting, on 24 March 1997, the Commission too k note of an oral report by the Secretaria t reflecting the work of the Committee of the Whole on the item.

В. Deliberations

132. The Commission stressed the seriousness and global nature o the problem of amphetamine-type stimulants. It welcomed UNDC efforts in preparing the study entitled Amphetamine-type Stimulants: a Global Revi ew, 9/ and in bringing the issue onto the international agenda. The recommendations contained in the report of the Exper Meeting on Amphetamine-type Stimulants, held at Shanghai, China, fr om25 to 29 November 1996, on countermeasures against the illici manufacture, trafficking and abuse of amphetamine-type stimulants a nd their precursors were discussed. The Commission stressed th comprehensive nature of the recommended countermeasures and th balanced appr oach on which they were based. It was emphasized that only by addressing supply as well as demand could the problem o amphe tamine-type stimulants be dealt with successfully. There wa general agreement that the issue of amphetamine-type stimulant should remain a priority on the agenda of the Commission and that t countermeasures, in appropriate form, should be conveyed to th special session of the General Assembly, to be held in 1998, fo discussion, approval and subsequent implementation. It was als 0 suggested that the countermeasures should be developed into an acti on plan for impl ementation at the regional and subregional levels. The importance of regional cooperation in countering the problems o f amphet amine-type stimulants was emphasized. UNDCP was requested t 0 assist in efforts aimed at fostering such cooperation, and t 0 continue its work in the field of amphetamine-type stimulants. Th issue of scheduling amphetamine-type sti mulants and their precursors considered crucial by many representatives. Severa 1 representatives proposed considering the introduction of generi С scheduling systems. It was also proposed that better use should b made of emergency scheduling procedures.

- 133. The special session of the G eneral Assembly to be held in 1998 was described as an opportunity to reach a global consensus o possible amen dments to the international drug control treaties. It was emphasized that possible amendments could include changes in the current scheduling procedures.
- 134. Other areas in need of improvement included the monitoring of precursor che micals. Fostering the exchange of information between States was also cited as a necessary improvement in the internation al control system. Similarly, it was suggested that the use of pre export notifications should be strengthe ned. In that context, it was suggested that the recommendations on the monitoring of precursor as contained in the Report of the International Narcotics Contro Board for 199 6 and its supplement entitled Precursors and Chemicals Frequently Used in the Illicit Manufacture of Narcotic Drugs an Psychotropic Substances: Report of the International Narcotic Control Board for 1996 on the Implementation of Article 12 of th United Nation s Convention against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances of 1988 should be implemented fo substances in Tables I and II of the 198 8 Convention. It was pointed out that monitoring difficulties often a rose because some substances had multipurpose industrial uses. Possible responses ranged fro obligatory licensing of product movements to voluntary exchange o information between industrial companies, trade companies an regulatory or police authorities. A review by UNDCP as well as serious technical debate on those issues was suggested. UNDCP wa also requeste d to promote the further development of the project on drug signature analysis of amphetamine-type stimulants, which wa S considered particularly important for the work of law enforcemen authorities.
- 135. On the demand side, it was emphasized that there was a better unders tanding of the reasons why young people were attracted to amphetamine-type stimulants. The role played by the media including the phenomenon of inadvertent promotion, might need to be investigated and the results integrated into prevention work. Th use of amphetamine-type stimulants as anorectics and as a means o f treatment for attention deficit disorder also needed to be monitore In general, there was a need for more cross-national studies tha t would contribute to better understanding of the extent and healt consequences of the use and abuse of amp hetamine-type stimulants. In that regard, effective approaches to the prevention and treatment of the abuse of amphetamine-type stimulants should be identified an d tested. It was suggested that UNDCP, the World Health Organizatio n (WHO) and oth er collaborating partners should identify and document such approaches, disseminate the findings accordingly, d

136. The Commission was informed of the development of an early warning mechanism designed to alert States members of the Europea Union to new amphetamine-type stimulants. Information would b shared with other States and international organizations when th system became operational.

C. Action taken

137. At its 1152nd meeting, on 25 March 1997, the Commissio approved for adoption by the Economic and Social Council, as orally amended, a draft resolution entitled "Implementation of comprehensi ve measures to counter the illicit manufacture, trafficking and abus 0 amphetamine-type stimulants their precursors and (E/CN.7/1997/L.9), sponsored by Argentina, Australia, Austria Bahamas, Belarus, Belgium, Bolivia, Bulgaria, Chile, China, Colombi a, Côte d'Ivoire, Czech Republic, Denmark, Dominican Republic, Finland, German y, Ghana, Greece, Guatemala, Hungary, Ireland, Italy, Japan Jordan, Libyan Arab Jamahiriya, Luxembourg, Madagascar, Malaysia Netherlands, Nigeria, Norway, Pakistan, Papua New Guinea Philippines, Poland, Portugal, Qatar, Republic of Korea, Romania Russian Feder ation, Saudi Arabia, Slovakia, Slovenia, South Africa, Spain, Sweden, Thailand, Tunisia, Turkey , Ukraine, United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, United States of America an d Uruguay. EFFECTS ON INDIVIDUALS, SOCIETY AND INTERNATIONAL DRUG CONTROL OF THE PRESCRIPTION OF NARCOTIC DRUGS TO DRUG ADDICTS

A. Structure of the debate

- 138. At its 1149th meeting on 21 March 1997, the Commissio n considered agenda item 10, entitled "Eff ects on individuals, society and international drug control of the pr escription of narcotic drugs to drug addicts". For its consideration of the item, the Commission had before it the "Report of the Secretariat on the effects o n individuals, society and international drug control of the prescription of narcotic drugs to drug addicts" (E/CN.7/1997/7).
- 139. At the first meeting of the Committee of the Whole, on 19 March 1997, following an introductory statement by the Secretariat , statements were made by the representati ves of Belgium, China, Cuba, Egypt, France, Greece, Japan, Netherlands, Poland, Russia n Federation, Sweden, United Kingdom of Great Britain and Norther n Ireland and United States of America. The observers for the Holy See, Hungary, Switzerland and Turkey made statements.
- 140. The observer for the World Health Organization also made statement.
- 141. At its 1149th meeting on 21 March 1997, the Commission too k note of an oral report by the Secretaria t reflecting the work of the Committee of the Whole.

B. Deliberations

142. The observer for the World Health Organization expressed th view of WHO t hat the advocacy of the non-medical use and controlled supply of heroin, without medical supervision, was not founded on a scientific or practical experiments, and would be likely to b deleterious to any country in which such a practice might b initiated. The current state of scientific knowledge did not allo a fully informed opinion to be given on whether prescription o heroin to selected heroin addicts under carefully supervise treatment conditions could be generally regarded as medical use o not. There was currently no scientific evidence to support the view that controlled supply of heroin to addi cts was, or could be, a safe and effective form of treatment. WHO did not take any position o n whether there should be any additional studies. However, befor considering any clinical studies on the efficacy of heroin for th e treatment of heroin addicts, very careful consideration must be giv en to the possible impact of such studies on overall drug-contro 1 For example, it was noted at the meeting of the WH 0 Executive Boa rd that such studies might lead to greater advocacy of heroin use and could compromise the effectiveness of demand reducti on and supply control. Any treatment involving the prescription o heroin for defined therapeutic purposes would be likely to have very limited appli cability. Among the conditions for such applicability would be a well-developed and comprehensive treatment system in whi ch alternatives to intravenous opioids were available, for example oral methadone and similar long-acting opioid s. The current view of WHO was that most countries would find it difficult, if not impossible, to meet those conditions. WHO strongly recommended, therefore, that

Member States should strengthen and apply proven methods of treatme and rehabilitation such as oral methodone and similar long-actin opioids. The position taken by WHO on the matter was endorsed b many delegations.

nt

У

- 143. Many representatives noted that the legal prescription of heroin would have serious implications for the international druge control system and that any proposal advocating such a practice should be firmly opposed. The opinion expressed on that question by the International Narcotics Control Board at the thirty-ninth sessign on of the Commission was endorsed. Moreover, since a wide range of treatment options was available, includignged methadone maintenance and the prescription of buprenorphine, it was considered that prove methods of treatment and rehabilitation should be used in the attempt to reduce demand for drugs.
- 144. Two representatives, however, expressed the view that i n certain specific contexts, where a developed and funded treatmen system existed, States should have the option to prescribe heroin under tight control, to a limited number of addicts, as a means o f improving the health of individuals who were unable to recover from their addiction using the available trea tment options. The observer for one State reported that initial indications were that a tria 1 involving the medical prescription of heroin to a number of long-te rm heroin addicts, who had not proved amenable to other forms o f treatment, had yielded some encouraging results. A higher proporti on of addicts had remained in treatment under that trial than was th case for many other forms of treatment. The evaluation of the trial would be available within six months.
- 145. A number of delegations felt that maintenance programmes could not, in their opinion, accurately be described as treatment.
- 146. Some representatives noted t hat the evaluation of prescription programmes te nded to focus on the patient and not on the impact of such programmes on society at large. In that connection, the long-term implicat ions of the prescription of heroin to drug addicts was a matter of concern. Such a measure might have an impact on the attitudes of young people toward drugs, and could jeopardiz exprevention efforts already undertaken. In addition, the legal prescription of heroin might also be interpreted negatively in States in which the opium poppy was cultivated, and might hamper supply reduction efforts. Finally, the legal prescription of heroin could be the gateway to wider legalization of narcotic drugs, which should be firmly opposed by the international community.
- 147. The large majority of delega tions remained of the opinion that treatment involving the injection of heroin should be avoided.

ADMINISTRATIVE AND BUDGETARY MATTERS

A. Structure of the debate

- 148. At its 1149th meeting, on 21 March 1997, the Commissio n considered agenda item 11, entitled "Administrative and budgetar y matters". For its consideration of the item, the Commission ha before it the following documents:
- (a) Report of the Executive Director on the response t or equests by the Commission on Narcotic Drugs contained in it s resolution 15 (XXXVIII) and related matters (E/CN.7/1997/8);
- (b) Report of the Ex ecutive Director on the proposed revised budget for the biennium 1996-1997 and proposed outline for the biennium 1998 -1999 for the Fund of the United Nations International Drug Control Programme (E/CN.7/1997/9);

- 150. The Commission noted the improvement in presentation an expressed general support for the proposed revised budget for th biennium 1996-1997 and proposed outline for the biennium 1998-199 for the Fund of UNDCP. The need to strengthen UNDCP as a centre o competence and to maintain a critical ma ss at UNDCP headquarters was emphasized. Support was expressed for t he proposal of the Executive Director to move from a project-by-project concept towards a integrated ap proach to operational activities. It was pointed out, however, that the implications of the new approach needed to b further clarified. It was stressed that higher priority should b given to national capacity-building, in particular in least develop ed countries in Africa, and that UNDCP and the United Nation S Development Programme (UNDP) should strengthen their collaboratio in efforts to alleviate poverty as a cause of the production an consumption of illicit drugs. The valuable work done through th UNDCP Goodwil 1 Ambassadors Programme was noted. The development of indicators to evaluate the efficiency of projec quantitative delivery was emphasized.
- 151. Appreciation was expressed for the efforts of the Executiv е Director to widen the donor base, and further efforts to diversif У the funding base were called for. The fiscal flexibility of the Fu nd of UNDCP provided by the existing fund balance was noted. У representatives stressed the need to increase the level of suppor for the Fund of UNDCP, in particular by contributing general-purpose resources.

Programme support cost arrangement, budget methodology and financial rules for the Fund of the United Nations International Drug Control Programme

- 152. The proposal for a revised programme support arrangemen on identifying actual requirements and increasing income, wa There was also support for the recommendation of th Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions t 0 undertake further study of the appropriate support charge arrangeme nt for national execution. Moreover, it was suggested that an interim rate of 5 per cent of support charges for national execution should be approved, pending the conclusion of a further study on th subject. An arrangement by which a stan dard support charge would be levied on all contributions was also suggested.
- 153. There was wide endorsement of the recommendation of th Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions t present the budget of the Fund of UNDCP as far as possible i accordance with the harmonized model approved for UNDP, the Unite Nations Children's Fund and the United Nations Fund for Populatio Activities. With regard to the proposals on the budget approva process, the need to strengthen the role of the Executive Directo in the management of operational activities was emphasized. 3. Medium-term plan for 1998-2001

154. The Commission had before it the text of the proposed mediumterm plan as issued in General Assembly document A/51/6 (Prog.13) a nd the relevant parts of resolution 51/219 by which the General Assemb ly adopted it (E/CN.7/1997/CRP.13). The Commission took note of the medium-term plan without comment.

C. Action taken

155. At its 1150th meeting, on 24 March 1997, the Commissio n approved for submission to the Economic and Social Council the draft decision entitled "Initial programme budget for the biennium 1998 - 1999 and second and final version of the programme budget for the biennium 1996 -1997 for the Fund of the United Nations International Drug Control Programme" (E/CN.7/1997/L.11). For the text of the draft decision, see chapter I, section B, draft decision III.

156. At its 1152nd meeting, on 25 March 1997, the Commission adopted a revised draft resolution entitled "Rev ised budget for the biennium 1996-1997 and outline for the biennium 1998-1999 for the Fund of the United Nations International Drug Control Programme and the program me support cost" (E/CN.7/1997/L.12/Rev.2), sponsored by Argentina, Australia, Austria, Belgium, Bulgaria, Canada, Croatia, Cyprus, Denmark, Finl and, France, Germany, Greece, Hungary, Ireland, Italy, Japan, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Nigeria, Norway, Poland, Portugal, Romania, Slovakia, Slovenia, Spain, Sudan, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey, United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland and United States of America. Chapter XI

PROVISIONAL AGENDA FOR THE FORTY-FIRST SESSION OF THE COMMISSION AND ITS FUTURE WORK

A. Structure of the debate

- 157. At its 1150th and 1151st meetings, on 24 March 1997, th e Commission considered agenda item 12 entitled "Provisional agenda f or the forty-first session of the Commissio n and future work". For its consideration of the item, the Commission had before it a note by t he Secretariat on the topic (E/CN.7/1997/11).
- 158. During the discussion of the item, statements were made by the representatives of Colombia, Ecuador, Germany and Poland and by the observer for Austria. The Secretary of the Commission made a explanatory statement.

B. Deliberations

- 159. There was agreement that the Commission, at its forty-firs t session, should devote more time to the special segment. The proposal to allocate three days to the regular segment and five days to the special segment, contained in a draft decision discussed in the Committee of the Whole (E/CN.7/1997/L.13), was endorsed, on the understanding that it would be amended to permit greater flexibilit y. The Secretary of the Commission indicated that there was agreemen to an amendment to the draft decision whe ereby the Commission, should it complete its regular segment earlier, would immediately take up its special segment devoted to consideration of preparations for the special session of the General Assembly.
- 160. It was confirmed that the discussion of measures designed to strengthen the International Narcotics Control Board could be discussed under item 4 of the provisiona all agenda for the forty-first session.
- 161. The Commission noted that a shortened regular segment at it forty-first session could be contemplated only if its agenda wa reduced to the elements included in the note by the Secretaria t (E/CN.7/1997/11). That would entail the decision to have no general debate and to concentrate on essential treaty functions, on the one hand, and on the administrative, budgetary and programmatic functio ns of the Commission, on the other. It was understood that al resources for a Committee of the Whole would be required during the special segment, and that, accordingly, no Committee of the Whole would be established during the regular segment of the forty-firs t session.
- 162. The Commission took note of the availability of interpretation to service two informal open-ended inter —sessional meetings of three days each with interpretation in early July and October 1997. I tdecided to re quest the Secretariat to proceed with the organization and convening of those meetings, in order to further the preparatio in the special session of the General Assembly in 1998.

C. Action taken

Annex III

FINANCIAL IMPLICATIONS FOR THE FUND OF UNDCP OF THE DRAFT RESOLUTION ON THE REVIEW OF THE UNITED NATIONS INTERNATIONAL DRUG CONTROL PROGRAMME: STRENGTHENING THE UNITED NATIONS MACHINERY FOR INTERNATIONAL DRUG CONTROL WITHIN THE SCOPE OF THE EXISTING INTERNATIONAL DRUG CONTROL
TREATIES AND IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE BASIC PRINCIPLES OF THE CHARTER OF THE UNITED NATIONS*

Statement by the Executive Director

A. Request contained in the draft resolution

- 1. By operative paragraph 4 of the draft resolution entitled "Review of the United Nations International Drug Control Programme: strengthening the United Nations machinery for international drug control within the scope of the existing international drug control treaties and in accordance with the basic principles of the Charter of the United Nations" (E/CN.7/1997/L.6/Rev.1), the Economic and Social Council would request the Secretary-General:
- (a) To convene a small group of independent experts, selected after appropriate consultations, inter alia with Governments, and with due regard to equitable geographical distribution and relevant sectoral expertise, to undertake a comprehensive review of how the efforts against illicit drugs have evolved within the United Nations system since the creation of the United Nations International Drug Control Programme pursuant to General Assembly resolution 45/179, with the aim of identifying measures to strengthen future international cooperation against illicit drugs;
- (b) To instruct the expert group, inter alia, to identify any measures necessary to strengthen the core activities of the Programme, taking into account the work of the task force on reform of the United Nations established by the Secretary-General and the ability of the United Nations system to perform its increasing tasks in the light of existing mandates;
- (c) To prepare a progress report on the issues identified by the expert group, to be submitted to the General Assembly at its special session on international drug control, to be held in June 1998;
- (d) To prepare a final report based on the work of the expert group, taking into account the views expressed, during the special session of the General Assembly, on how to strengthen the United Nations machinery for international drug control, to be submitted to the Commission on narcotic drugs at its forty-second session.

2. By operative paragraph 5, the Commission would decide that the work of the expert group should be financed entirely through voluntary funds, and would urge Member States to provide financial and other support.

B. Activities by which the request would be implemented and costing

Should the draft resolution be adopted, the Secretary-General 3. would convene a small group of 12 independent experts acting in their individual capacity. The expert group would meet two times for one week at Vienna prior to the special session of the General Assembly on international drug control, to be held in June 1998. A report containing 24 pages, in the English language only, would be submitted by the Secretariat to the meetings of the expert group. A report of the expert group containing 24 pages, in all official languages of the United Nations, would be presented to the General Assembly at its special session. In addition, a third meeting of the expert group would be held for one week at Vienna during the second half of 1998, following the special session of the General Assembly and prior to the forty-second session of the Commission. A final report of the expert group containing 24 pages, in all official languages of the United Nations, would be presented to the Commission at its fortysecond session. Secretariat support would be provided for the work of the expert group by UNDCP, requiring staff support of three months at the P-4 level and three months at the General Service level. In addition, two months of consultants' service would be required. A representative of the Secretary-General would attend the three meetings of the expert group. Meeting services would be provided to the meetings of the expert group, excluding interpretation services.

4. Estimated total resource requirements would be as follows:

	United States dollars
Group of 12 experts, three meetings, five	e days
each, Vienna	144,300
(travel and per diem) Travel of staff	13,200

 (two documents, 24 pages, languages: A/C/E/F/R/S)

TOTAL

286,500

C. Funding of additional activities

5. Should the draft resolution be adopted, additional requirements of $286,500 would result in 1997. It is proposed to cover the additional requirements through an increase in the proposed revised budget for the biennium 1996-1997 for the Fund of UNDCP in accordance with the estimates provided by object of expenditure in paragraph 4 above. The increase would need to be funded through voluntary contributions to be made available for the purpose specified in the draft resolution. Should insufficient funds be made available, the activities would be either curtailed or not implemented.

Annex IV

EXPLANATION OF FINANCIAL IMPLICATIONS OF THE DRAFT RESOLUTION ON WORKING LANGUAGES OF THE SUBCOMMISSION ON ILLICIT DRUG TRAFFIC AND RELATED MATTERS IN THE NEAR AND MIDDLE EAST*

Statement by the Chief of the Financial and Budget Section

- 1. By operative paragraph 1 of the draft resolution entitled "Working languages of the Subcommission on Illicit Drug Traffic and Related Matters in the Near and Middle East" (E/CN.7/1997/4/Add.2, chap. I), the Economic and Social Council would decide "that the Subcommission on Illicit Drug Traffic and Related Matters in the Near and Middle East shall use Arabic, English and Russian as its working languages for future sessions". The implementation of that decision would have no financial implications in 1997. However, there would be additional costs, estimated at $67,200, for Conference Service support in 1998-1999. Those costs would not be borne by the programme budget section pertaining to international drug control.
- 2. In light of the order of magnitude of the above-mentioned financial implications, it has not yet been determined whether the expenditures arising from the use of Russian as a working language would be absorbed from available resources, or whether recourse to additional funds will be sought. If the latter course of action is taken, a statement of programme budget implications will be presented for consideration at a subsequent session of the Council for eventual approval by the Fifth Committee of the General Assembly.

^{*} For the text of the draft resolution, which originally appeared in document E/CN.7/1997/4/Add.2, see chapter I, section A, draft resolution IV. For the discussion, see paragraphs 114 and 115 above.
