Foreword

1. I have the honour to submit the proposed programme budget for the biennium 1998-1999. This is the first programme budget proposal within the medium-term plan for the period 1998-2001. It is also the first programme budget proposal prepared within the context of an outline in which the General Assembly envisaged a real level of resources well below that of the programme budget for the current biennium, which was itself the subject of a significant reduction mandated by the Assembly.
2. To formulate proposals within the parameters outlined above, it has been necessary more than ever to seek ways and means for more effective programme implementation and for the most productive arrangements for the delivery of output and services. This is not an exercise I intend to pursue once every two years at the time of budget preparation, but one that will be done as a matter of routine, on a continuing basis.
3. This is also the first programme budget proposal that I am presenting to the General Assembly since becoming Secretary-General. As I undertook when assuming office, I am leading a thorough and wide-ranging review of the activities of the United Nations and the manner in which they are conducted with a view to reconfiguring the Organization to meet the changing needs of the world community as it moves into the next millennium. I have brought to the attention of Member States in my letter of 17 March to the President of the General Assembly (A/51/829) the immediate management and organizational measures I was taking and at the same time expressed my intention to complete in July, for submission to the Assembly, a complete review of the overall reform process. These initiatives have not been reflected in the programme budget proposals. They will be submitted separately to the Assembly at its fifty-second session.
4. It is my hope and expectation that following approval of the programme budget, Member States will, without exception, pay their contributions in full in accordance with the Charter.
5. I commend these proposals to the General Assembly.

Kofi A. ANNAN
Secretary-General

Part one

Introduction

1. The formulation of the proposed programme budget is guided by two paramount considerations — the medium-term plan and the programme budget outline. The medium-term plan, as approved by the General Assembly, provides the framework for the programme budget. The outline, as decided by the Assembly, guides the Secretary-General on the level of resources to be included in the programme budget and the priorities.
2. The proposed programme of activities has been formulated with a view to meeting the objectives and mandates set by Member States. In formulating such a programme every effort has been made to ensure that these objectives and mandates are met in the most cost effective manner. This has required a thorough review with programme managers and the continuation on a sustained basis of efforts for increased productivity.
3. The results are reflected in the proposals contained in the programme budget, which includes a level of resources before recosting that is consistent with the directive of the General Assembly on the outline, a total level of resources that is below the appropriations for the current biennium and a significant reduction in the number of posts.
4. The proposals contained in the present programme budget do not take into account the consolidation of departments in the economic and social fields, the streamlining of services for intergovernmental processes and the reorientation of public information to which the Secretary-General referred in his letter of 17 March to the President of the General Assembly (A/51/829). Details regarding these could not be completed in time for inclusion in the proposed programme budget. They will be the subject of revised estimates that will be submitted to the Assembly at its fifty-second session. The consolidation of departments in the economic and social fields, the streamlining of services for intergovernmental processes and the reorientation of public information are expected to lead to economies of scale that will translate into proposals for a further reduction in overall resources and posts.
5. The proposals contained in the programme budget can be summarized as indicated below.

Resources	Millions of United States dollars
		Reduction compared with revised 1996- 1997 appropriations
Revised 1996-1997 appropriation . . . . .	2 603.3*

Introduction

- The recosted resources of $2,583 million shown above have been determined on a preliminary basis, reflecting inflation expected in 1998 and 1999 and rates of exchange prevailing in December 1996. The United States dollar has strengthened significantly since that time. Should the current level of the dollar continue to prevail, the recosting of requirements in December 1997 before the Assembly adopts the programme budget would result in an additional reduction of around $50 million.
- In respect of posts, the proposals are as follows:

	Number of posts
Approved for 1996-1997 . . . . .	10 021
Proposed for 1998-1999 . . . . .	8 839
Reduction . . . . .	(1 182)

- These proposals show a continuing downward trend both in the overall level of resources and in staffing level.

Biennium	Resources (Millions of United States dollars)	Posts
1994-1995 (final appropriation) . . . . .	2 632.0*	10 115
1998-1999 . . . . .	2 583.0	8 839

* includes $24 million approved in the context of the final appropriations.

- The distribution of resources by budget part compared with current appropriations is as follows:

Faded table of budget parts and resources, mostly illegible.

10. Recosting at the present stage is based on rates of exchange applied to 1997 in the first performance report, approved by the General Assembly in December 1996 (A/C.5/51/38) and on inflation assumptions for 1998 and 1999. In accordance with established practice, the proposed programme budget will be recosted again prior to its adoption by the Assembly in December 1997. At that time, the latest data on actual inflation experience, the outcome of salary surveys and the movement of post adjustment indices in 1997 will be taken into account; a similar exercise will be followed relative to exchange rates, taking into account the evolution of operational rates of exchange.
11. The proposed programme budget does not include provision for special missions that have no legislative mandates in 1998-1999. In presenting the preliminary estimates for the outline, the Secretary-General had included $70 million to provide for the continuation of existing special missions whose mandates may be renewed for part or all of the biennium 1998-1999 and for the potential establishment of new ones. The General Assembly did not approve that proposal. The current appropriation contains $56.8 million in respect of special missions whose mandates do not extend beyond the end of 1997. These resources are being relinquished in the proposed programme budget, with the exception of $7.8 million for MINUGUA, for which the Assembly has mandated financing until 31 March 1998.
12. The proposed programme budget does include provision for net budgeting for the International Civil Service Commission and its secretariat, the Joint Inspection Unit and its secretariat and the services provided by the United Nations at the Vienna International Centre. Those expenditures have heretofore been presented in the programme budget on a gross basis under the relevant expenditure sections and the corresponding income reflected under income section 2. Starting with the biennium 1998-1999, as was indicated in the Secretary-General's report on the outline, they are reflected in the expenditure sections of the programme budget on a net basis corresponding to the United Nations share of such expenses. The full budgets are still presented to the General Assembly for consideration and approval. This change in presentation leads to a reduction of $35.2 million. It also results in the deletion from the staffing table of 356 posts, of which 39 are proposed for abolition.
13. The proposed programme budget shows a 4.8 per cent reduction before recosting. The rates of reduction or growth for most of the parts and sections of the programme budget are not by themselves significant in this proposed programme budget. The norms that govern the programme budget had to be set aside in 1996-1997 to meet a predetermined level of budget involving a significant reduction that had to be achieved in a limited amount of time. The General Assembly, while recognizing that the amounts under the expenditure sections represented a provisional total of $2,712 million, decided that the total level of expenditures provided for 1996-1997 would be $2,608 million.

14. To effect reductions of that magnitude in a short time-frame, a number of ad hoc measures were taken, the most significant of which was achieving vacancies and maintaining vacant posts. As a result, the revised 1996-1997 appropriations do not reflect a uniform rate of vacancy in terms of costing as is the case under normal circumstances. They reflect instead different vacancy levels for different sections and within each section based on the number of vacant work/months that each programme manager anticipated within his/her programme in order to achieve reductions. For 1998-1999, a uniform vacancy rate is proposed for posts at the Professional level and for posts at the General Service level. The difference between these uniform rates and the ad hoc rates reflected in the 1996-1997 appropriations affects the level of resources before recosting and thus precludes the establishment of a comparable basis to measure changes among budget sections.
15. With regard to the vacancy rate for 1998-1999, a rate of 5 per cent for Professionals and a rate of 2.5 per cent for General Service staff is proposed. This reflects the anticipation that, with a smaller number of posts in 1998-1999, the number of vacancies resulting through the normal attrition process and other unforeseen factors, the number of vacant posts will be smaller than was the case in preceding bienniums. Currently, there are 1,089 posts vacant.
16. Estimates of income for 1998-1999 amount to $40.4 million compared with estimates of $84.2 million for 1996-1997 — a reduction of $43.8 million. Of this amount, $35.2 million is attributable to the provision of resources for the International Civil Service Commission and its secretariat, the Joint Inspection Unit and its secretariat and the services provided by the United Nations at the Vienna International Centre on a net basis under the expenditure sections of the budget, as explained in paragraph 12 above.
17. For 1998-1999, a staffing level of 8,839 is proposed. This represents a reduction of 1,182 posts when compared with the staffing level approved for 1996-1997. The difference is broken down as follows:

	Number of posts
Approved for 1996 .....	10 021
Proposed for 1998-1999 .....	8 839

18. In his letter to the President of the General Assembly, the Secretary-General indicated his decision to propose for the consideration of Member States a reduction of approximately 1,000 posts in the proposed programme budget for the biennium 1998-1999 when it is finally submitted. The current proposals, excluding posts transferred out of the budget as a result of net budgeting, includes the reduction of 904 posts. It is anticipated that the level of 1,000 reductions will be reached in the context of the revised estimates referred to in paragraph 4.
19. The overall grading structure of posts in the Professional category and above would remain essentially the same:

Level	1996-1997		1998-1999
	Posts	Percentage	Posts	Percentage
USG/ASG	40	1.0	40	1.1
D-2	83	2.1	79	2.2

Total	3 964	100.0	3 647	100.0

20. The proposals also reflect a reduction in the proportion of General Service to Professional staff. In the programme budget for the biennium 1996-1997, General Service posts represent 60.4 per cent of total posts. In 1998-1999, this percentage would go down to 58.7.
21. The distribution of posts by parts is as follows:

UNMOGIP	1 P-4
Office of Legal Affairs	1 P-3
Office of the Adviser on Gender Issues	1 P-5, 1 P-4 and 1 General Service

24. The General Assembly decided that the priorities for the biennium 1998-1999 were the maintenance of international peace and security, the promotion of sustained economic growth and sustainable development, in accordance with its relevant resolutions and the outcomes of recent United Nations conferences, the development of Africa, the promotion of human rights, effective coordination of humanitarian assistance, the promotion of international justice and law, disarmament, drug control, crime prevention and combating terrorism in all its forms and manifestations. The budget has been formulated in the light of those priorities.
25. At the same time, in a context of a significant budget reduction, the emphasis had to be placed on ensuring the continuation of all mandated programmes combined with sustained attempts at keeping down administrative costs.
26. In his letter to the President of the General Assembly, the Secretary-General also indicated his intention, progressively over the next two bienniums, to reduce the proportion of resources of the regular budget devoted to administration and other non-programme costs by at least one third. The Secretary-General also indicated that resources released would be redirected to substantive programme areas in the economic, social and related fields. A plan to effect such a reduction will be presented at a later stage. In the current programme budget, proposals have been made to accommodate within the overall reduction a significant increase in the resources devoted to the regular programme of technical cooperation, thereby redirecting resources to areas in the economic and social field.
27. There are two areas to which particular attention has also been paid: the need to maintain and enhance the skills of staff and the need to ensure adequate maintenance for the premises of the Organization. With regard to the training of staff, an increase of 25 per cent in resources is proposed with a view to supporting the introduction of managerial change and improving the effectiveness of staff. With regard to premises, provisions are made to restore in part the significant reductions decided upon by the General Assembly in the budget for the current biennium.

This section covers the direct costs of the sessions of the General Assembly, the Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions (including its secretariat), the Committee for Programme and Coordination, the Committee on Contributions, the United Nations Board of Auditors (including its secretariat) and the Organization's share of the United Nations Joint Staff Pension Fund. It also covers the overall executive direction and management of the Organization, including the requirements of the Secretary-General and his Executive Office, and the Offices of the Directors-General of the United Nations Offices at Geneva and Vienna.

29. For 1998-1999, additional provisions are proposed for the Advisory Committee of Administrative and Budgetary Questions because the number of its members who are not stationed in New York has been increasing. Additional provisions are also made for the United Nations reimbursement to the United Nations Joint Staff Pension Fund of costs of administrative services the Fund renders to the United Nations Staff Pension Committee. The regular budget provides for one third of the costs of the secretariat of the Fund and the additional provision stems from the increase in the number of posts for the Pension Fund secretariat as approved by the General Assembly. Provision is also made for the reclassification from P-5 to D-1 of the post of Executive Secretary to the United Nations Board of Auditors.

30. The Executive Office of the Secretary-General contains provision for the reclassification of two D-1 posts to D-2 and the establishment of a new P-3 post for a speechwriter to replace the P-4 speechwriter's post redeployed to the Office of External Relations. One post at the Assistant Secretary-General level is proposed for the transfer, in exchange for the redeployment of a post at the D-2 level, to the Department for Policy Coordination and Sustainable Development for the post of Special Adviser to the Secretary-General on Gender Issues and Advancement of Women. The structure of the Office itself has been streamlined and seven posts have been redeployed to a newly established Office of External Relations. In the Office of the Director-General, Geneva, a streamlining of functions would result in the net reduction of one Professional post, representing 10 per cent of the staffing of the Office, and the proposed reclassification of a P-5 post to D-1 for the post of Chef de Cabinet and a P-3 to the P-4 level for the NGO Liaison Officer. With regard to the Office of the Director-General, Vienna, a 25 per cent reduction in support staff (from eight to six) based on a review of the ratio of General Service posts to posts in the Professional category. The redeployment of the post at the D-1 level and one at the P-5 level is proposed for transfer to the Crime Prevention and Criminal Justice Division in exchange for one post at the P-4 level and one at the P-3 level.

31. The Department of Political Affairs is responsible for programmes 1, Political affairs, and 26, Disarmament, of the medium-term plan for the biennium 1998-2001 (A/51/6/Rev.1 and Rev.1/Corr.1). In the implementation of programme 1, the Department provides support to the Secretary-General in carrying out his mandates relating to the prevention, control and resolution of conflicts, in the political aspects of his relations with Member States, in the provision of electoral assistance when requested by Member States and in the servicing of the General Assembly and the Security Council and a number of their subsidiary bodies. The Department also provides substantive and technical services to the Special Committee on the Situation with regard to the Implementation of the Declaration on the Granting of Independence to Colonial Countries and Peoples and assists the Committee on the Inalienable Rights of the Palestinian People. With regard to programme 26, the Centre for Disarmament will provide organizational and substantive secretariat support to multilateral bodies entrusted with deliberation and negotiation of disarmament issues and to review conferences and other international meetings related to multilateral disarmament agreements, and will follow and assess trends in the field of disarmament and security.

Other costs . . . . .	19.2	17.7
Total . . . . .	100.0	100.0

32. For 1998-1999, a reduction of 17 posts is envisaged, including a reduction at the D-2 level from 10 to 8. This follows a review of the grade structure of the Department, as had been requested by the General Assembly. A substantial part of the Department's budget proposals are for its regional divisions. Following a review of the structure of the Department, the regional divisions would be streamlined and reduced from six to four. A liaison capacity will be established in Addis Ababa to strengthen cooperation between the United Nations and regional organizations engaged in the prevention, control and resolution of conflict in Africa.

33. Electoral assistance will be strengthened, primarily through the addition of a post through redeployment, in response to the continuing demand for services from Member States and consistent with General Assembly resolution 50/185 of 22 December 1995. The General Assembly Affairs Division faces a continuing increase in demand for services, owing essentially to the various high-level open-ended working groups of the Assembly. With regard to the Security Council, in view of the reduction in the number and activities of its Sanctions Committees, it is envisaged that the level of resources will be less than is required in the current biennium.

34. Greater use of internal reproduction will be made for producing the records of both the General Assembly and of the Security Council. This will result in a reduction of 80 per cent in external printing requirements, equivalent to $0.6 million dollars. Reductions also relate to one-time provisions for the International Commission of Inquiry in Burundi and office automation equipment, for which a significant amount of funds were provided for in 1996-1997.

Peacekeeping operations and special missions

Comparison of overall resources and posts

35. The Department of Peacekeeping Operations is responsible for programme 2, Peacekeeping operations, of the medium-term plan. The Department is responsible for the management and direction of peacekeeping operations; the provision of comprehensive administrative and logistic support to all field missions; and the development, maintenance and enhancement of a ready, flexible capacity to undertake peacekeeping and other field operations. Included under the section are the first two peacekeeping missions, UNTSO and UNMOGIP, which were established in 1948 and 1949, respectively, and continue to be funded from the regular budget; UNSCO; and MINUGUA for the period from 1 January to 31 March 1998, as decided by the General Assembly in its resolution 51/198 B of 27 March 1997.

Posts . . . . .	44.6	56.2
Other costs . . . . .	55.4	43.8
Total . . . . .	100.0	100.0

36. The reduction in resources results from not carrying over provisions made in 1996-1997 for special missions whose mandates do not extend beyond 1997. Within the overall amount requested, $13.6 million relate to the Department of Peacekeeping Operations and $55.1 million and $16.1 million to UNTSO and UNMOGIP, respectively; $6.6 million to UNSCO; and $8.4 million to MINUGUA.
37. The proposed staffing reflects a reduction of 70 posts, of which 33 are temporary posts approved by the General Assembly on an annual basis during its fiftieth and fifty-first sessions in connection with the implementation of its resolutions on the Central American peace process and the situation in Afghanistan; 8 posts in the Department of Peacekeeping Operations resulting from the closing of the United Nations Supply Depot in Pisa; and a total of 29 posts under UNTSO and UNMOGIP combined. Included in the 1998-1999 staffing are proposals for the establishment of a Political Affairs Officer post at the P-4 level in UNMOGIP and the reclassification from P-2 to P-3 of a Budget Officer post in UNTSO.
38. The total resources requested under the regular budget do not reflect the full requirements for the activities undertaken under the section. In respect of the Department of Peacekeeping Operations, the Secretary-General will continue to seek additional staffing through the support account for peacekeeping operations. Resources for ad hoc missions undertaken at the request of the Security Council and/or the General Assembly and Governments, or at the initiative of the Secretary-General in the exercise of his good offices related to preventive diplomacy and peacemaking, will continue to be sought during the course of the biennium 1998-1999 in accordance with the terms of the enforcing resolutions.

39. The Office for Outer Space Affairs is responsible for the implementation of programme 3, Peaceful uses of outer space, of the medium-term plan. The Office services the Committee on the Peaceful Uses of Outer Space and its Legal and Scientific and Technical Subcommittees and their subsidiary bodies, as well as the Working Group of the Whole on space-related agenda items of the Fourth Committee of the General Assembly; provides assistance to those bodies in formulation and adoption of legal instruments relating to space activities; implements the activities of the United Nations Programme on Space Applications; and serves as a focal point for the coordination of space activities among the specialized agencies of the United Nations system and other international organizations.

44. The Office of Legal Affairs is responsible for the implementation of programme 4, Legal affairs, of the medium-term plan and for the achievement of its objectives, which are to provide a unified central legal service for the Secretariat and the principal and other organs of the United Nations; to ensure proper legal arrangements in support of the activities of the United Nations with respect to the maintenance of international peace and security; to contribute to the progressive development and codification of international public and trade law; to promote the strengthening, development and effective implementation of the international legal order for the seas and oceans; to register and publish treaties and to perform the depository functions of the Secretary-General. Drawing upon its basic orientation, the salient features of the work programme include the provision of legal services to and liaison between Headquarters and United Nations organs, offices and field and peacekeeping missions, and the examination of questions and the preparation of legal opinions on the interpretation of the Charter, resolutions, decisions, rules and regulations of the United Nations, treaties and questions of public international law.

45. The Office also provides legal assistance in connection with the development and implementation of the Staff Regulations and Rules and the Financial Regulations and Rules, procurement activities, property arrangements and other commercial activities in support of all aspects of the work of the Organization, including the provision of personnel and equipment for peacekeeping and other missions. In addition, the Office has primary responsibility for the resolution of legal disputes before judicial and arbitral bodies, including the United Nations Administrative Tribunal, and in negotiations and other procedures involving the Organization, including commercial disputes and third-party liability claims, and to maintain respect for the privileges and immunities and the legal status of the Organization. The Office also prepares draft international conventions, agreements and rules of procedure of United Nations organs and conferences and other legal instruments, publications and articles on legal matters and studies to assist the progressive development and codification of international law and the law of international trade. In this context, the Office provides secretariat services for the Sixth Committee of the General Assembly, the International Law Commission, the United Nations Commission on International Trade Law, the relevant intergovernmental bodies established by the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea and other United Nations bodies dealing with legal matters. It also provides information, advice and assistance to States, including the monitoring of and reporting on developments relating to the law of the sea and ocean affairs, consistent with the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea. Significant changes will follow upon the entry into force of the Convention. The Office discharges the Secretary-General's depository functions, the Secretariat's responsibilities under Article 102 of the Charter of the United Nations on the registration and publication of treaties and the Secretary-General's responsibilities under the Statute of the International Court of Justice, except those of a budgetary nature.
46. For 1998-1999, the proposed staffing includes a proposal for the reclassification of one D-1 level post to D-2 for the Deputy to the Under-Secretary-General and establishment of a new Professional level post (P-3) for a systems analyst with responsibility for information systems, database design and development and office automation.

47. Special radical changes designed to rationalize the work of the Treaty Section have been implemented. The computerization programme in this Section is well under way. The backlog that had developed over a number of years in the publication of the Monthly Statement of Treaty Series (15 months), the United Nations Treaty Series (8 years) and the United Nations Treaty Series Cumulative Index (14 years) is being addressed through a multifaceted approach and is expected to be eliminated by 1999. To that effect, the redeployment to the Treaty Section of four Professional posts and one General Service post from the Copy Preparation and Proof Reading Section of the Department of Management is proposed, together with the reclassification of five General Service posts to the Principal level.
48. Special efforts will also be pursued to expedite the preparation and publication of the Repertory of Practice of the United Nations organs.
49. In respect of the law of the sea and ocean affairs, the abolition of six Professional and three General Service level posts is envisaged subsequent to the restructuring of the programme of work. Important developments have occurred in the field of the law of the sea that have made it necessary to redefine in part the role of the Division for Ocean Affairs and the Law of the Sea, which has been reorganized to reflect current needs. In particular, account has been taken of the establishment of two new treaty organs, which, although they are autonomous, are nevertheless linked to the United Nations: the International Tribunal for the Law of the Sea and the International Seabed Authority. The focus of this Division will now be on its new mandate from the General Assembly, inter alia, to assist States and international organizations in ensuring consistency of ocean-related legal instruments and programmes with the provisions of the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea and related agreements and to provide to the Assembly an overview of developments and emerging issues in law of the sea and ocean affairs.

51. The Department will continue to focus on promoting an integrated approach to economic, social, environmental and gender aspects of development, including the elaboration of perspectives that will provide for sustainable, equitable and participatory development. It will develop and promote a coordinated approach to key policy issues in the fields of sustainable and social development, including poverty, the advancement of women and integration into the development process of all social groups. In this context all activities related to gender issues and advancement of women have been consolidated within this section under the responsibility of the Special Adviser to the Secretary-General on Gender Issues and Advancement of Women. The Department will also provide support to the intergovernmental processes that will review the implementation of the programmes of actions adopted by relevant global conferences, as well as the programmes of activities relating to Africa and the least developed countries, with the overall objective of ensuring a coordinated and integrated follow-up. The Department will provide substantive support and technical secretariat services to the Commission on Sustainable Development, the High-level Advisory Board on Sustainable Development, the Commission on Social Development, which in accordance with Economic and Social Council decision 1996/7 will hold annual sessions with an increased membership, the Commission on the Status of Women, the Committee for Development Planning, the Committee on New and Renewable Sources of Energy and on Energy for Development, the Committee on Natural Resources and, at the inter-agency level, to the Administrative Committee on Coordination and its Organizational Committee, the Inter-Agency Committee on Sustainable Development and other subsidiary bodies of the Administrative Committee on Coordination dealing with both operational and programme questions. The Department will also continue into 1998, in accordance with General Assembly resolution 51/180 of 16 December 1996, its substantive responsibility in assisting the Intergovernmental Negotiating Committee for the Elaboration of a Convention to Combat Desertification in Those Areas Experiencing Serious Drought and/or Desertification, particularly in Africa.
52. Special emphasis will also be placed on improving services to the Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women, which from 1997 onwards will hold two regular sessions, in accordance with General Assembly resolution 51/68 of 12 December 1996, as well as improving the monitoring of the extent of women's enjoyment of their human rights and whether violations of those rights are dealt with by all human rights mechanisms.
53. Following the consolidation of the responsibilities of the Special Adviser to the Secretary-General on Gender Issues and Advancement of Women, which include the Focal Point on Women, under the Department, the redeployment of a post at the Assistant Secretary-General level from the Executive Office of the Secretary-General in exchange for the redeployment of a post at the D-2 level is proposed. The further strengthening of the Office is also envisaged through the proposed creation of one P-5, one P-4 and one General Service post.

On the other hand, following the entry into force of the Convention on Desertification and the establishment of a separate independent secretariat and funding arrangements for the Convention, provision under the regular budget for posts (one D-2, one D-1, one P-5, three P-4/3 and five General Service posts) and related operational resources will not be required beyond the end of 1998. 56. The legislative authority for the activities under this section derives from General Assembly resolutions 46/151 of 18 December 1991, annex II, which contains the United Nations New Agenda for the Development of Africa in the 1990s, 48/214 of 23 December 1993 and 49/142 of 23 December 1994, from the medium-term plan for the period 1998-2001 and from General Assembly resolution 51/32 of 6 December 1996, on the mid-term review of the United Nations New Agenda. The activities are among the overall priorities of the medium-term plan. The activities will focus on implementation of the United Nations New Agenda and related relevant initiatives.
57. The implementation of the programme will be under the joint responsibility of the Department for Policy Coordination and Sustainable Development, ECA and the Department of Public Information. The Department for Policy Coordination and Sustainable Development, through the Office of the Special Coordinator for Africa and the Least Developed Countries, provides overall coordination and leadership, ECA exercises team leadership and responsibility for coordination and cooperation at the regional level in the implementation of the programme through, in particular, the United Nations Inter-Agency Task Force on African Economic Recovery and Development. The Department of Public Information is responsible for a special programme highlighting Africa's economic concerns.

58. To strengthen the activities under the programme in line with the priority attached to it in the medium-term plan and the requirements of resolution 51/32, an additional P-4 post is proposed through redeployment from the Department of Public Information and additional resources are sought for ad hoc expert groups and other meetings and related travel and operational requirements.

59. The main objective of section 9 is to promote an integrated approach to economic, social and environmental aspects of development, by providing information on, promoting understanding of and enhancing insight into development processes. This programme is the responsibility of the Department for Economic and Social Information and Policy Analysis. The Department assembles, evaluates and disseminates data, analyses development policies and experiences and provides technical cooperation to assist Governments, the international community and non-governmental organizations both in determining development priorities and in devising policies and measures to achieve them at the international, national and local levels. The programmes of action adopted by the United Nations Conference on Environment and Development, the International Conference on Population and Development, the World Summit for Social Development and the Fourth World Conference on Women have added new dimensions to the programme.

Within each subprogramme, the analytical information and technical cooperation functions operate in an increasingly synergistic manner. In particular, technical cooperation activities, notably in statistics and population, take advantage of the broad base of knowledge and skills built up by the Department.

62. The Department for Development Support and Management Services acts as an executing agency, as required, for programmes and projects relating, respectively, to institutional development and human resource development. Its main objective is to support the national efforts of the developing countries, in particular the least developed among them, as well as economies in transition, at their request, in strengthening their capacities in the interrelated fields of public administration and finance, economic and social development management and natural resource and energy planning and management. It also provides substantive support to intergovernmental bodies in public administration and finance and in natural resources and energy. Particular attention will be paid to the implementation of the United Nations System-wide Special Initiative for Africa and to assistance to least developed and small island developing countries. As an active partner in action-oriented national and community programmes and projects that integrate sectoral measures in coherent, multi-sectoral strategies, this programme represents a practical interface between global development consensus and national action.

65. At its ninth session, held at Midrand, South Africa, in April 1996, the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development adopted far-reaching reforms encompassing a more focused work programme, in particular in areas where UNCTAD has a clear comparative advantage; a streamlined intergovernmental machinery; improved working methods; a reduced number of meetings; and a restructuring of the secretariat.

66. The Conference recognized that the dual phenomena of globalization of production and trade liberalization offered opportunities but also posed challenges. The rapidly evolving situation, along with the conclusion of the Uruguay Round, had created a new situation. The Conference therefore decided that UNCTAD should concentrate on four areas: globalization and development; investment, enterprise development and technology; international trade in goods and services, and commodity issues; and services infrastructure for development and trade efficiency. Within those four areas, the focus will be on examining specific development challenges and successful development experiences and drawing out appropriate lessons; assessing the challenges and helping countries exploit opportunities for enterprise development arising from the new economic conditions; enhancing the capacity of beneficiary countries to improve their investment climate; assisting in the effective integration of developing countries into the international trading system; and assisting developing countries and countries in transition in generating trade supporting services. The Conference also decided that the problems of least developed, land-locked and island developing countries, sustainable development, poverty alleviation, the empowerment of women and cooperation among developing countries should become cross-cutting issues and should be integrated into every aspect of the work of UNCTAD. UNCTAD will continue to monitor the implementation of the Programme of Action for the Least Developed Countries for the 1990s and, if the General Assembly approves it at its fifty-second session, prepare for a global review and appraisal of the implementation of the Programme. UNCTAD will also strengthen its contribution to the implementation of the United Nations New Agenda for the Development of Africa in the 1990s.

67. At the ninth session of the Conference, Member States recognized that UNCTAD had made a significant contribution to the reform process of the United Nations through the comprehensive changes that were adopted encompassing its programme of work, intergovernmental machinery and its secretariat. These are reflected in the budget proposals. Twenty-five posts in the Professional category and above (2 D-2, 7 D-1, 5 P-5, 6 P-4/3 and 5 P-2/1) and 18 General Service posts are proposed for abolition as the reorganization of the secretariat has led to a leaner organizational structure and the rationalization of the substantive programmes has resulted in the reduction in the number of divisions from nine to four. The latter step included the discontinuance of the Division for the Least Developed Countries and since the ninth session the work in this area has come to constitute a cross-cutting issue coordinated by the Office of the Special Coordinator for Least Developed, Land-locked and Island Developing Countries. At the same time, in view of the increased responsibilities that the demands of strategic planning and management of the new structure place on the Deputy to the Secretary-General of the Conference, the reclassification of one D-2 post to Assistant Secretary-General level is proposed.
68. The resources, including 11 posts, allocated to the UNCTAD/Regional Commissions Joint Units will be transferred to the respective regional commissions.

69. ITC is operated jointly by WTO and the United Nations, the latter acting through UNCTAD. The Centre's programme of work is guided by the Intergovernmental Joint Advisory Group, composed of the States members of WTO and UNCTAD. The primary objective of ITC is to promote the trade and export development of developing countries and to improve their import operations and management in order to achieve a greater economy and efficiency in their export-import activities. To that end the Centre will continue to act as the focal point for all United Nations technical cooperation activities in trade promotion in accordance with Economic and Social Council resolution 1819 (LV), directing those activities towards the development of country projects and, where feasible, linking them to regional and interregional projects in order to increase overall impact.
70. The budget of the Centre has been equally funded by GATT/WTO and the United Nations since its establishment in 1968. It is proposed to modify the procedure for review and approval of the Centre's budget in order to accommodate the WTO practice of annual budgeting. The Centre's annual programme of work and budget would be reviewed and approved annually by both the General Assembly and the governing body of WTO.
71. Pending such reviews, it is proposed to include in the proposed programme budget an amount of $21,973,400.

72. The secretariat of UNEP is responsible for the implementation of programme 10, Environment, of the medium-term plan. UNEP derives its mandate from General Assembly resolution 2997 (XXVII) of 15 December 1972, by which the Assembly decided to establish the UNEP Governing Council as the policy-making body, a small secretariat to serve as the focal point for environmental action and coordination within the United Nations system, and the Environment Fund. The costs of servicing the Governing Council and the small secretariat are borne by the regular budget. The operational programme costs, programme support and administrative costs of the Environment Fund are borne by the Fund. The Executive Director of UNEP is responsible for the administration of the Environment Fund, under the authority and policy guidance of the Governing Council.
73. Agenda 21 emphasized the need for an enhanced and strengthened role for UNEP and its Governing Council and outlined action that UNEP should undertake to contribute to its implementation. 74. UNEP has undertaken an in-depth review of its programme of work with a view to achieving a better integration of its activities. The integrated programme for the biennium is built, first, on developing and promoting state-of-the-art scientific assessments; second, on formulating policy options for enhancing environmental management; third, on acquiring knowledge for building consensus on critical environmental problems and issues; fourth, on assisting Governments at the global, regional, subregional and national levels in formulating environmental management strategies; and, fifth, on promoting more effective cooperation and coordination in the field of the environment with partners within and outside the United Nations system.
75. The programme for 1998-1999 will be the basis for the new United Nations system-wide strategy in the field of environment for the period 1998-2001. The strategy will incorporate the outcome of the 1997 special session of the General Assembly for the purpose of an overall review and appraisal of the implementation of Agenda 21. 76. In February 1997, the UNEP Executive Director submitted to the Governing Council at its 19th session three resource-level scenarios for the 1998-1999 Fund programme budget. The scenario with the lowest level of resources described a programme budget of $80 million and a management and administrative support costs budget of $32.4 million for the biennium. The Governing Council approved a Fund programme budget of $75 million, 17 per cent lower than the budget originally approved for the biennium 1996-1997 ($90 million), and a management administrative support costs budget of $28.5 million.

77. The Secretariat is currently in the process of revising the proposed 1998-1999 environment programme and the management and administrative support costs budgets to bring them to their respective level as adopted by the Governing Council. Consequently, the extrabudgetary figures presented in section 12 are provisional and will be revised in line with Governing Council decision 19/22 and any decision the Council may take at its special session in November 1997.

82. The Centre will direct its efforts to providing support to, and work in partnership with, Governments, local authorities, non-governmental organizations and the private sector in responding to the social, economic and environmental challenges of rapid urbanization and in ensuring that settlements of all sizes have the capacity to play their key developmental role and provide for the basic needs of their people. These efforts are expected to contribute to increased institutional and technical capacity at the national and local levels and to elaborate, execute, monitor and evaluate shelter and sustainable human settlements programmes in order to implement the Habitat Agenda and, through it, the objectives of Agenda 21 at the local level. This will be achieved through an integrated approach consisting of policy advice, targeted technical cooperation and the exchange and learning from experience and best practices through new networks and partnerships at the international, national and local levels.

84. The Crime Prevention and Criminal Justice Division at the United Nations Office at Vienna is responsible for programme 12, Crime prevention and criminal justice, of the medium-term plan. The objective of the United Nations Crime Prevention and Criminal Justice Programme is to promote more effective international cooperation in crime prevention and criminal justice by devising strategies to deal with global problems and by assisting Governments in their national and multilateral efforts both to respond to changing crime trends and to develop the necessary machinery for a more accountable, transparent, efficient and fair crime prevention and control system. This will be achieved through the promotion of fundamental principles of maintenance of the rule of law, the strengthening of the capacity of Governments to review or reform their legislation, when necessary, and criminal justice systems, the improvement of the ability of Member States to fight the various forms of transnational crime, the implementation of measures and strategies for crime prevention and control, public awareness of the importance of United Nations standards and norms and the mobilization of increased resources for technical cooperation activities. The Programme will also endeavour to transfer expertise in the effective and humane handling and treatment of offenders.

87. The normative functions of the Programme are derived from the international drug control treaties and concern the provision of secretariat and substantive servicing to both the International Narcotics Control Board and the Commission on Narcotic Drugs. 88. The strategic directions of the Programme during 1998-1999 continue to be the same as in the previous biennium, where priority was assigned to international cooperation at the global, regional and subregional levels, given the transnational nature of the drug problem. As part of its efforts in support of Governments, the Programme will continue functioning as a repository of expertise on issues such as precursor control, the establishment of standards for chemical analysis and quality control, anti-money-laundering measures, drug control legislation, alternative development and aspects of drug abuse prevention. It will also develop further the systematic processing and dissemination of research results and new methodologies to Member States. Advances in electronic data processing will support this task related to the dissemination of data. The Programme will support preparations for a special session of the General Assembly on international drug control to be held in 1998, which is expected to constitute a new platform for collective action by the international community and to help set the agenda for international drug control for the following decade.

91. The past few years have witnessed a modest resumption of economic growth in Africa, spurred mainly by economic reforms being undertaken by African countries. The main focus of the work programme in the biennium will be to assist countries in the region to sustain the momentum of reforms and to accelerate the rate of growth as a critical element in reducing poverty in the region. Providing support to the member States to implement such a strategy is a major element of this programme. Though the nature and scope of support to be provided in each of the subprogrammes will vary, the modalities will be broadly similar. The reform in the Commission's programme structure in the current biennium has resulted in five subprogrammes. These are facilitating economic and social policy analysis; enhancing food security and sustainable development; strengthening development management; harnessing information for development; and promoting regional cooperation and integration. Two cross-cutting programme considerations will underpin the five areas, namely, promotion of women in development and capacity-building.

92. The Commission's main modalities for assisting countries in the region in support of sustainable economic growth and poverty reduction will consist of disseminating best practices to member States; bringing together policy makers — in public and private sectors — as well as non-governmental organizations to share experiences; providing technical advisory services; and undertaking comparative studies to draw the lessons of experience relating to a variety of policy issues.
93. The subregional development centres, formerly known as the multinational programming and operational centres — which are an integral part of ECA, operating in the various subregions — will be the vehicle for providing effective technical support to the member States at the subregional level. The centres play an essential catalytic role in their subregions by networking and information exchange and by providing forums for public sector, civil society and private sector actions in the subregion to share experience.
94. The recognition that proactive policies and measures are needed to combat poverty is growing in the region. The Commission envisages that by the end of the biennium the imperative of pursuing policies to reduce poverty in the context of growth would have been better and widely appreciated in Africa. The biennium 1994-1995 focused on capacity-building encompassing human, institutional and infrastructural dimensions as critical elements for accelerated growth. The current biennium will take that effort one step further by helping member States to develop and apply those capacities in support of poverty-alleviating growth.
95. The ability of the Commission to respond creatively to the changing needs of member States depends to a critical degree on staff excellence, partnership and cost-effectiveness. These have been the guiding principles of reform and renewal in the Commission. To be cost-effective requires a different distribution in the use of resources. Consequently, an important change in the budget structure is the reduction in posts and increase in budget lines for consultancy and ad hoc expert group meetings, to achieve a better balance in the use of expertise from within and outside the Commission as warranted by circumstances.
96. In line with the changes mentioned above, the proposed programme budget includes the abolition of 15 Professional and 40 Local level posts and a significant increase in resources for consultants and computer equipment. Additional provisions are also proposed for the maintenance of the conference facilities that were recently completed. Three posts will be redeployed from the UNCTAD/ECA Joint Unit on Transnational Corporations.

The work programme in the biennium will further accelerate follow-up to the global conferences at the regional level to support national and subregional efforts. Further emphasis will be placed on improving the capacities of least developed, landlocked and island developing countries and of countries with economies in transition to be integrated more closely into the region's dynamic development and in international development in the economic and social fields.

Three posts will be redeployed from the UNCTAD/ESCAP Joint Unit on Transnational Corporations. An increase of 8.1 per cent is proposed for consultants and experts for the implementation of its work programme, as well as an increase of 37.7 per cent in other staff costs to provide the Commission with increased flexibility in the use of resources for administrative services. Total resources for travel are also proposed to be increased by 13.5 per cent; 81.6 per cent of these resources is for the functioning of the Commission and the implementation of the programme of work.

100. ECE is responsible for programme 16, Economic development in Europe, of the medium-term plan. The Commission's main objective is to develop principles, information systems and instruments that facilitate understanding and harmonious economic relations between all the countries of the region despite their diversity. The actions of ECE complement those of other intergovernmental bodies active in Europe and involve major non-governmental actors, in particular enterprises, local authorities and non-governmental organizations. ECE pays particular attention to those groups of countries less advanced in their transition to a market economy or whose economies have been affected by conflict.
101. In this perspective, ECE will continue to produce statistics, information and analyses on all the countries of the region and on their increasing interdependence. It will also continue to develop conventions, norms, standards and guidelines by involving interested economic actors. ECE will cooperate with the main intergovernmental bodies active in Europe in its areas of activity and will seek complementarities in order to avoid duplication and to increase efficiencies.

102. A better understanding among countries of the region, based on the dissemination of more accurate information on all States, is expected to develop during the biennium 1998-1999. The adoption of new conventions, norms and standards is also expected and a better implementation of the instruments previously developed in ECE. A narrowing of the institutional gap among the countries of the region is also anticipated.
103. As a result of a comprehensive reform process carried out with the full participation of its member countries, its principal subsidiary bodies and the secretariat, ECE has refocused its activities on those strategic areas which correspond to the strength of the Commission, which are sustainable in the long run and for which there is widespread support throughout the region. A consequence of this refocusing has been a streamlining and rationalization of the programme of work and a reduction in the corresponding intergovernmental machinery, from 14 subsidiary bodies reported in the previous biennium to 7.

104. In addition, the reform envisages two mechanisms that will introduce more flexibility in the Commission's methods of work and thereby permit it to adapt to the dynamics of present and future changes. The first involves requiring subsidiary bodies to define precise programmes of work accompanied by time-frames for any new related bodies limited by "sunset" clauses and by requiring new activities to be offset by the termination of other activities requiring a similar level of resources. In the event of additional demands from principal subsidiary bodies that cannot be accommodated by the above mechanisms, the Group of Experts on the Programme of Work will advise the Commission on arbitration between the competing additional demands from principal subsidiary bodies when they imply significant shifts among programmes.

105. The second mechanism for ensuring flexibility in the methods of work involves the establishment of a coordinating unit for operational activities, whose role will be to deal with issues and activities, which, within the mandate of ECE, respond to the needs of only specific groups of countries. The unit will coordinate or organize seminars and workshops in all sectors, but particularly in areas no longer covered by intergovernmental bodies. Its programme will be adjusted regularly and adopted during the year by the Commission.
106. The activities to be carried out by the Commission in 1998-1999 are in conformity with the overall objectives of the medium-term plan for the period 1998-2001 as submitted to member States. Activities in the field of industry and energy have been refocused and reduced, and all principal subsidiary bodies related to industry have been dismantled and activities retained are to be dealt with in the framework of the Committee for Trade, Industry and Enterprise Development or the above-mentioned unit.
107. As a result of the comprehensive reform and the streamlining and rationalization of the programme of work and the intergovernmental structure, a reduction of 4 Professional and 12 General Service posts is envisaged in 1998-1999.

114. The United Nations regular programme of technical cooperation complements assistance available to developing countries under other programmes. The procedures applicable to the regular programme of technical cooperation were established by the General Assembly in its resolution 2514 (XXIV) of 21 November 1969.
115. Orientation and guidance for activities under the regular programme of technical cooperation come from the medium-term plan and biennial programme budget, and resolutions of the General Assembly and the Economic and Social Council. Individual activities under the regular programme are determined by the nature of requests received from developing countries.
116. The programme, which comprises activities in human rights, the environment and social development, human settlements, poverty alleviation, energy, economic development, international trade and development finance, population, public administration, finance and development, crime prevention and criminal justice, international drug control, statistics, transport and disaster mitigation and emergency humanitarian assistance, is divided into the following components: (a) sectoral advisory services, executed, as appropriate, by the Department for Development Support and Management Services, the Department for Economic and Social Information and Policy Analysis, the Department of Humanitarian Affairs, the secretariat of UNCTAD, the United Nations Centre for Human Settlements (Habitat), the Centre for Human Rights, the Crime Prevention and Criminal Justice Division and the United Nations International Drug Control Programme; and (b) regional and subregional advisory services, which are executed by the secretariats of ECE, ECA, ECLAC, ESCWA and ESCAP.
117. There are three main types of technical cooperation activities, namely, short-term advisory services, field projects and training.
118. For 1998-1999, an increase in the level of resources from the regular programme is envisaged, consistent with the Secretary-General's proposal to increase resources in the economic, social and related fields.

119. Programme 19, Human rights, of the medium-term plan is implemented by the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights. The programme's objectives include playing the leading role on human rights issues and emphasizing the importance of human rights on the international and national agendas. In addition, the programme, through the adoption of a comprehensive and integrated United Nations approach to the promotion and protection of human rights, aims at increasing international cooperation and coordination, as well as the effectiveness of the human rights machinery, and at devising more efficient methods to prevent human rights violations and remove obstacles to the full realization of human rights.

120. The programme will aim at the adoption of a multidimensional strategy for the right to development, a significant enhancement of support for that right from relevant United Nations bodies and a significant increase in recognition of economic, social and cultural rights through activities for their protection and their integration into the programmes of international development and financial organizations. Other aims include the full integration of the human rights of women and the girl child into United Nations activities, more effective measures to promote equality, dignity and tolerance, to fight racism and xenophobia and to protect minorities, indigenous populations, migrant workers, the disabled and other vulnerable groups.
121. The programme further aims at reinforcing the United Nations as the unique worldwide forum for the discussion and resolution of human rights matters of international concern through its support for human rights bodies and organs, at ensuring the effective functioning of the treaty monitoring system and its progressive improvement and providing support to the human rights complaint procedures.
122. The programme also has as an objective to assist States, at their request, to develop and implement national human rights plans of action strengthening, inter alia, national structures having an impact on democracy and the rule of law and the establishment of national institutions, to give effect to the right to development and economic, social and cultural rights, and seeks to develop a comprehensive United Nations programme for that purpose. Other objectives include effective education and public information programmes, and strengthened contribution of non-governmental organizations, grass-roots organizations and civil society in United Nations human rights activities. In addition, the programme's aims encompass human rights field activities and operations and support for the implementation of a strengthened system of special procedures based on harmonization and rationalization of work.
123. The programme of activities has been divided into three subprogrammes, each of which focuses on a specific area of competence and methods of work, with the aim of avoiding duplication and permitting a more efficient use of limited resources, while at the same time implementing all the mandates of the programme.

126. UNHCR is responsible for the implementation of programme 21, Protection of and assistance to refugees, of the medium-term plan. The overall objectives of this programme are set out in the statute of the Office, namely, to provide international protection to refugees and to seek permanent solutions to their problems (General Assembly resolution 428 (V)). Closely linked to the discharge of its mandate to ensure international protection of refugees is the provision of humanitarian assistance to people of concern to the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees. The General Assembly has also called upon the High Commissioner to provide assistance to returnees, as well as to monitor their safety and well-being on return (resolution 40/118). In addition, on the basis of specific requests from the Secretary-General or the competent principal organs of the United Nations, and with the consent of the State concerned, UNHCR provides humanitarian assistance and protection to internally displaced persons (resolution 48/116). As regards UNHCR assistance activities, the basic provisions of the statute were expanded by the General Assembly in its resolution 832 (IX) of 21 October 1954. In complex humanitarian emergencies, UNHCR, in addition to discharging its particular international protection mandate, also contributes to the provision of humanitarian assistance coordinated by the United Nations Emergency Relief Coordinator according to the provisions of General Assembly resolution 46/182 of 19 December 1991.
127. Of direct relevance to the programme is the change management process that UNHCR launched in late 1995 under the name Project Delphi. This process is aimed at ensuring a major overhaul of the way UNHCR goes about its work; its aim is to improve the delivery, accountability and performance of the Office. The plan of action presented to the Standing Committee of UNHCR at its fourth meeting, in 1996, sets out a series of detailed objectives that will be of direct relevance to the way UNHCR will be able to deliver its programme in the biennium 1998-1999.

128. In accordance with article 20 of the statute of UNHCR, no expenditure other than administrative expenditures relating to the functioning of the Office are to be borne by the budget of the United Nations, while all other expenditures relating to the activities of the High Commissioner are to be financed from voluntary contributions.
129. The level of resources proposed under the regular budget represents approximately 2.2 per cent of the totality of resources anticipated for UNHCR in 1998-1999 and reflects a reduction of 24 posts, accompanied by increased provision for resources for general temporary assistance. Provision is also made for the partial rental and maintenance of the premises occupied by UNHCR in Geneva, which had until the current biennium been made under the Division of Administration of the United Nations Office at Geneva.

130. UNRWA is responsible for programme 22, Palestine refugees, of the medium-term plan. As decided by the General Assembly, the expenses relating to the emoluments of international staff in the service of UNRWA, which would otherwise have been charged to voluntary contributions, are provided for under the regular budget for the duration of the Agency's mandate. The current mandate of UNRWA extends until June 1999. It is anticipated that the programme will be continued throughout the biennium 1998-1999.
131. The level of resources would provide for the continuation of 75 posts in the Professional category and above and 9 General Service posts funded by the regular budget. This proposed resource level reflects the deletion of seven posts in the Professional category and one General Service post funded from the regular budget.

132. The Department for Humanitarian Affairs is responsible for programme 20, Humanitarian affairs, of the medium-term plan. The broad orientation of the work programme of the Department derives from General Assembly resolution 46/182 of 19 December 1991, in which the Assembly established an expanded legislative mandate for the coordination of humanitarian assistance activities. The objectives of the Department are to ensure better preparation for as well as a rapid and coherent response to humanitarian emergencies, both natural and man-made, to promote prevention and preparedness and to facilitate the smooth transition from relief to rehabilitation and long-term development. The programme is funded largely through extrabudgetary resources.

133. In the biennium 1998-1999, the Department will continue its focus on adding value to the emergency humanitarian operations of the international community and, to that end, will strive towards achieving progress in a number of areas that govern humanitarian actions. The Department will, on the basis of lessons learned, promote preparedness and early warning measures related to natural and technological disasters and humanitarian emergencies. It will ensure the coherent and efficient response to disasters and emergencies through timely consultations with its partners, rapid deployment of inter-agency assessment missions, development of humanitarian strategies, establishment of coordination structures, allocation of responsibilities among agencies and facilitation of humanitarian assistance delivery to those in need. The Department will continue to strengthen mechanisms available to support its coordination mandate, including the leadership of the Inter-Agency Standing Committee, the management of the Central Emergency Revolving Fund and the consolidated appeals process; and serve as a strong humanitarian advocate, formulating and refining principles and policies, as well as emphasizing the human dimension of crisis situations while contributing to the overall peace-building efforts of the United Nations. The Department will accelerate and strengthen the coordination of the United Nations demining programmes and ensure the effective implementation of mitigation programmes, consolidating the results achieved by the International Decade for Natural Disaster Reduction.

The resources for 1998-1999 reflect the strengthening of the capacity of the Department to respond to complex and other emergencies through the reorganization of its coordination functions and streamlining of responsibilities, with corresponding reductions of resources for the management functions. The establishment of four Professional posts is proposed, together with a reduction of four General Service posts.

136. The Department will be consolidated and expand its worldwide outreach to its core audiences, in particular those who shape policy and opinion, including the influential new media groups that are having an increasingly crucial impact in every part of the world. This enlarged outreach will be achieved through the Department's strengthened circles of partnerships and continued deployment of advanced information technologies, as well as through the refinement of its more traditional media.

138. The level of resources for the biennium 1998-1999 reflects a reduction of 82 posts. As mentioned above, revised estimates will be submitted for the Department.

139. The Department of Administration and Management, which will become the Department of Management, will take the lead in the implementation of the Secretary-General's proposed reorientation and transformation of the management of the United Nations. Priority will be given to the effective and coherent exercise of management functions in the Organization, as well as the establishment and maintenance of clear lines of responsibility and accountability. Similar priority is accorded to the initiation and implementation of management improvements, aimed at enhancing the responsiveness of the Secretariat to the changing and growing needs of the Organization.

140. The Department is responsible for the implementation of programme 24, Administrative services, of the medium-term plan. The Department currently includes the Office of the Under-Secretary-General, the Office of Programme Planning, Budget and Accounts, the Office of Human Resources Management, the Office of Conference and Support Services and the administrative offices at Geneva, Vienna and Nairobi. The integration of conference services into a new Department of General Assembly Affairs and Conference Services will be the subject of revised estimates.
141. The reduction in resources and in staff reflect efforts made at streamlining and improving the performance of the Department and reduced requirements for the Integrated Management Information System (IMIS). In the area of financial management, the reclassification of the post of Treasurer from P-5 to D-1 is proposed, together with the abolition of one P-4 and two General Service posts.
142. With regard to the Office of Programme Planning, Budget and Accounts, the proposed staffing reflects a net reduction of 13 posts. Sixteen posts (5 Professional and 11 General Service) are proposed for abolition, of which 4 posts (1 Professional and 3 General Service) are expected to become redundant with the further implementation of IMIS and 5 posts (2 Professional and 3 General Service) will be discontinued as the costs and related staff pertaining to work in respect of the reimbursement of national income tax is now charged against the Tax Equalization Fund, 4 posts (1 Professional and 3 General Service) that deal with the accounting of revenue-producing activities will be included under income section 3 in 1998-1999, 2 posts (1 Professional and 1 General Service) are from the Programme Planning and Budget Division, and one General Service post is from the Office of the Controller. Two posts will be redeployed to the IMIS maintenance team for maintenance functions relating to Releases 3 and 4, and five General Service posts will be redeployed to the Accounts Division from the Procurement and Transportation Division in an effort to streamline the invoice-processing functions. The development of a new budget information system will be initiated and provision for resources to this effect have been made.
143. The Office of Human Resources Management has undergone structural modifications in 1996-1997, resulting in the introduction of "one-stop shopping" clusters dedicated to providing integrated personnel services to departments and offices and the strengthening and rationalization of the Office of the Assistant Secretary-General. With the establishment of the Office of the Special Advisor to the Secretary-General on Gender Issues and Advancement for Women, the Office of the Focal Point for Women was moved from the Office of Human Resources Management as a means of integrating organizational units focused on improving the status of women.
144. The emphasis on improving training and development opportunities for staff at all levels will continue and will be enhanced. A 25 per cent increase in training resources is proposed to enable staff, through training, to contribute to their maximum potential and respond effectively to meet the rapidly evolving needs of the Organization. Staff development represents an essential investment in the future organizational capacity to improve, change and adapt.
145. A reduction of 16 posts (6 Professional and 10 General Service) is envisaged as the impact of managerial reform, including fuller delegation of authority within an integrated management system and the worldwide implementation of IMIS global capacity materializes and coordination is enhanced among the three Divisions. One General Service (Principal level) is also to be redeployed to the IMIS maintenance team.
146. Support Services is responsible for those activities relating to security and safety, integrated management information and information technology services, procurement and transportation, buildings management and archives and records management required to support the substantive programmes of the Organization, including peacekeeping, humanitarian and other field operations, and conference and other common service programmes.

147. In 1998-1999, both the optical disk and IMIS, formerly budgeted under the section on technological innovations, will be incorporated into section 27D, Support services. In addition, eight posts in Conference Services related to the optical disk system would be redeployed to Support Services. As regards IMIS, this would be the first budget to provide for the maintenance team for the operation of IMIS. In this connection, proposals have been included for the conversion of 29 general temporary assistance positions into posts and the transfer of 5 posts to IMIS from other parts of the Department. In view of the level of responsibility, the post of the Chief of IMIS has been proposed at the D-2 level.
148. A total of 48 posts are proposed for abolition in 1998-1999 as a result of increased reliance on outsourcing, discontinuance of functions or as part of efforts to find less costly, alternative working arrangements. The proposals also include a request for reclassification from D-1 to D-2 in the Procurement and Transportation Division in order to provide the appropriate level of executive direction and management within that Division.
149. With regard to conference services, the main objective will continue to be to provide to the intergovernmental organs and expert bodies of the United Nations the high-quality meeting and documentation services they require to support their work, making the most cost-effective use of the conference-servicing resources and facilities available worldwide.
150. In 1998-1999, Conference Services will aim at the timely provision of high-quality services with improved management methods and techniques to ensure the most effective use of resources. Managerial functions will be consolidated and streamlined and computer applications developed to support the integrated planning of meetings and documentation in New York, Geneva and Vienna. Cooperation will continue with substantive departments to achieve the optimal use of conference services, reducing the volume of documentation while ensuring its quality, early availability and simultaneous distribution in all official languages.
151. Wider use will be made of on-screen translation and machine-assisted translation will be introduced, while remote translation, which has become standard practice for the servicing of meetings away from Headquarters, will also be used to redistribute peak workloads between New York, Geneva and Vienna. Arrangements for establishing a network of off-site verbatim reporters will be put in place and remote interpretation will be tested. Terminological resources will be shared through a common database accessible to translators, interpreters, editors and verbatim reporters.

Distribution of conference service resources

New York .....	229.4	242.7
Geneva .....	181.9	167.4
Vienna (gross) .....	47.9	44.4

152. The reduction of 80 posts in New York, 90 posts in Geneva and 27 posts in the gross budget in Vienna is proposed. These reductions, which are mainly in the document-processing areas, are attributable in large part to streamlining and past investment in technological innovations. Interpretation and translation capacity will be maintained. The proposals also reflect a redistribution of resources among New York, Geneva and Vienna consistent with the expenditure pattern and trends in workload. Reductions in New York also include the transfer of the Treaty Series Copy Preparation Unit to the Office of Legal Affairs.
153. In the case of Vienna, conference-servicing requirements formerly included those of other Vienna-based organizations for which the United Nations manages unified conference services. As in the case of other jointly financed activities, while the gross budget will continue to be presented for the approval of the General Assembly, an appropriation is being requested only for the United Nations share of these activities. This accounts for a reduction of 196 posts from the staffing table.

154. At the United Nations Office at Geneva, the Division of Administration will continue to provide budgetary, personnel, financial, management and general services to the Office and to all other organizational units under its purview. In addition, it will provide administrative and general services for United Nations meetings held at Geneva and for specialized agencies under standing or special arrangements between the United Nations and the agencies concerned.
155. During 1998-1999, the focus of attention will continue to be on streamlining and consolidation of processes and tasks, increasing automation of routine actions and encouraging wider use of technological innovations related to desk-top technology in an effort to achieve a paperless office. With the implementation of IMIS Releases 1 and 2 it is expected that there will be significant changes in certain operations in the personnel area, in particular, the release of resources for more substantive aspects regarding liaison with local authorities and related procedures.
156. A significant reduction in resources is proposed under posts and general operating expenses, reflecting the proposed abolition of 51 posts as well as reductions under general operating expenses such as rental and maintenance of premises and communications.
157. At the United Nations Office at Vienna, the Division of Administrative and Common Services will continue to provide administrative support, including human resources and financial management, general and electronic support and security and safety services to the substantive units and other Secretariat entities and other international organizations with headquarters in the Vienna International Centre. The Division will continue to streamline administrative procedures and to increase the use of computer-supported processes.
158. For 1998-1999, a reduction of eight posts is envisaged. In addition, with the introduction of net budgeting for the Security and Safety Service, which is provided on behalf of and financed by all the organizations occupying the Vienna International Centre, all 96 posts currently in the section have been removed and 11 of them are scheduled for abolition. The Human Resources Management Section will put a new language training service into operation in July 1997 following the discontinuance of the Joint Language Training Service provided by UNIDO.
159. The United Nations Office at Nairobi, which was established in January 1996 as a successor to the divisions of administration of UNEP and the United Nations Centre for Human Settlements (Habitat) and the Common Services, provides common administrative and support services, including personnel, financial and general support, telecommunications, electronic support and conference services. It is proposed to maintain the same number of posts in the biennium 1998-1999.

163. During the biennium, the Office will establish priorities for its work in line with the needs of the substantive departments and the Organization as a whole. Emphasis will be placed further on self-monitoring and self-evaluation on the part of the programme managers with guidance from the Office. The investigation function will be enhanced by the establishment of terms of reference and written procedures and by the experience gained by the staff. Compliance with the recommendations of the Office will be systematically monitored.

164. Provision is made to cover the full biennial cost of 12 posts approved in the biennium 1996-1997. In addition, an increase in resources for travel and communications is envisaged to enable the Office to have adequate resources to fulfil its functions. Of the total amount of resources requested for 1998-1999, $1.8 million relates to evaluation, $8.6 million relates to audit and management consulting, $2 million relates to monitoring and inspection and $4 million relates to investigations.
165. The proposed staffing reflects an additional General Service post, redeployed from the Department of Administration and Management, to perform administrative support functions formerly provided to the Office of Internal Oversight Services by the Department of Administration and Management. The staffing requirements also include conversion of seven temporary posts currently in the Office to established posts and reclassification of one General Service post from the Principal level to the Other level.

167. The costs of the other jointly financed activities are shared on the basis of formulas agreed to by the participating organizations. Provisions previously made on a gross basis for the requirements of the International Civil Service Commission and the Joint Inspection Unit are now being requested on a net basis. The full budgets of those activities are still presented to the General Assembly for its consideration and approval, but the appropriations requested for the biennium 1998-1999 relate only to the United Nations share.
168. Within the overall level of resources, $3.1 million relates to the International Civil Service Commission, $1.9 million to the Joint Inspection Unit, $0.5 million to the Consultative Committee on Administrative Questions, $0.4 million to the Information Systems Coordination Committee and $0.2 million to the Consultative Committee on Programme and Operational Questions. Resources previously provided for the International Computing Centre under this section are now being sought under the various units that use the Centre.
169. With regard to the International Civil Service Commission, a reduction of two posts is envisaged. With regard to the Joint Inspection Unit, in line with the General Assembly's request that the Unit be strengthened, the establishment of two Research Officer posts and one information technology post is proposed, offset by the abolition of two posts. The establishment of a new system of allocating travel funds in relation to the work programme of the Unit will result in savings.

170. Resources are provided under section 28 to cover specific expenditure requirements for after-service health insurance, compensatory payments, general insurance charges, bank charges, inter-organizational security measures and pension payments to former Secretaries-General. The increase relates primarily, as in the biennium 1996-1997, to an anticipated rise in membership in the after-service health insurance programme during 1998-1999.

Construction, alteration, improvement and major maintenance

Comparison of overall resources and posts

	1996-1997	1998-1999	Change
Resources ($ thousands) . . . . .	28 648.8	35 893.4	7 244.6
Posts . . . . .	—	—	—

171. This section covers alteration, improvement and major maintenance of the premises occupied by the Organization. No resources are sought for construction in 1998-1999 following completion of the last construction project, involving the conference facilities at Addis Ababa, during the biennium 1996-1997. Under alteration and improvement, resources are specifically requested in the biennium 1998-1999 for the United Nations Office at Vienna, in accordance with the cost-sharing arrangements at the Vienna International Centre, for a long-term plan of works on the premises. Contrary to previous years, greater emphasis is now being placed by all offices on a programme of major maintenance of the premises of the Organization to address health and safety issues and the progressive deterioration of the buildings occupied by the Organization.
172. The increase in the level of resources requested in 1998-1999 should be viewed in the context of the significant reductions effected on this section during deliberations on the proposed programme budget for the biennium 1996-1997 (A/50/6/Rev.1), as well as the mandated reductions described in the report of the Secretary-General (A/C.5/50/57 and Add.1).

Presentation and methodology

173. The budget is presented in terms of:
- 1994-1995 expenditures;
  - 1996-1997 revised appropriations;
  - Changes proposed for 1998-1999 in relation to the 1996-1997 appropriations (both in dollar and percentage terms);
  - The total 1998-1999 proposals before recosting;
  - Recosting;
  - 1998-1999 estimates.
174. The standard list of objects of expenditure has been further refined and, as requested by the Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions, provisions for hospitality are presented.
175. The methodology followed for the preparation of the programme budget is the same as that used for the previous biennium and endorsed by the General Assembly in its resolution 47/212 A of 23 December 1992. Under that methodology, the appropriations for the current biennium are used as the starting point, that is, the base against which change is calculated.
176. Proposed increases and reductions are measured against the 1996-1997 revised appropriations, indicating changes that are being proposed to the current budget. These are presented at the same nominal value as the revised appropriation in order to permit comparability.

177. The appropriation and the changes (increases/reductions) are then recosted to make provision for inflation and to adjust the rate of exchange used for the first year of 1996 to that of 1997.
178. With regard to currency, as the budget is expressed in United States dollars, the movement of currencies in relation to the dollar can have a sizeable impact on expenditures in other currencies. In the recosting, no attempt is made to forecast the movement of currencies vis-à-vis the United States dollar. This will be dealt with in accordance with existing procedures. The only adjustment made at the present stage is to bring the 1996 portion of the appropriations to the exchange rates assumed for 1997, as approved by the General Assembly in the context of consideration of the first performance report for 1996-1997 (A/C.5/51/38).
179. With regard to inflation, adjustments have to be made to bring the appropriations and changes to 1998-1999 prices.
180. With regard to staff in the Professional category and above, adjustments relate to the forecast of movement of post adjustment indices during 1998 and 1999.
181. With regard to General Service salaries, recosting includes the forecast of probable cost-of-living adjustments in 1998 and 1999 based on anticipated inflation rates.

Annex

Outputs deferred, postponed or curtailed in 1996-1997 and their disposition in 1998-1999

1. The General Assembly, in its resolution 51/220 of 18 December 1996 on the proposed programme budget outline for the biennium 1998-1999, requested the Secretary-General, inter alia, to provide information on the outputs deferred, postponed or curtailed in 1996-1997 and their disposition in the proposed programme budget for the biennium 1998-1999 (A/52/6/Rev.1). In that connection, reference is made to the report of the Secretary-General on his proposals to achieve the budget reduction of $154 million to the programme budget for the biennium 1996-1997 (A/C.5/50/57/Add.1) and to the second report of the Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions (A/51/7/Add.1). In those reports, outputs that were to be cancelled, postponed, delayed or reduced in scope were listed.
2. The activities and outputs that were listed in the above-mentioned reports as cancelled or reduced in scope have not been reproduced in the present annex. Also not reproduced are the outputs that were listed as delayed but which, at the time of preparation of the present document, are expected to be implemented during the current biennium.
3. The table below presents, in the first column, the outputs that were proposed for deferral or postponement, as listed in the above-mentioned reports, and which, at the time of preparation of the present annex, will not be implemented or completed in the current biennium. The second column indicates the disposition of those outputs in the proposed programme budget for the biennium 1998-1999.

2. Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions (including its secretariat)

- 1.7 The Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions, a subsidiary organ of the General Assembly, consists of 16 members appointed by the Assembly in their individual capacity. The functions and responsibilities of the Committee and its composition are governed by the provisions of General Assembly resolution 14 (I) of 13 February 1946 and of rules 155, 156 and 157 of the rules of procedure of the Assembly. The budgetary resources requested under this heading cover the payment of the travel and subsistence expenses of the Chairman and members of the Committee for attendance at its sessions in accordance with the provisions of General Assembly resolutions 1798 (XVII) of 11 December 1962, 32/198 of 22 December 1977, 41/176 of 5 December 1986, 42/414 and 42/225, section VI, of 21 December 1987 and 47/219, section XV, of 23 December 1992. The conditions of service and compensation of the Chairman of the Advisory Committee have been determined in accordance with resolutions 35/221 of 17 December 1980, 40/256 of 18 December 1985 and 45/249 of 21 December 1990 and the Organization's related contribution to the United Nations Joint Staff Pension Fund pursuant to resolution 37/131 of 17 December 1982. The resources requested also provide for the salaries and common staff costs of the Advisory Committee's secretariat as well as other support costs, including the travel and subsistence of substantive staff to service meetings of the Advisory Committee away from Headquarters.

Resource requirements (at current rates)

Posts

- 1.8 Provisions under this heading would cover the cost of posts indicated in table 1.9 above, reflecting the continuation in 1998-1999 of the current staffing structure of the secretariat of the Advisory Committee, namely, one D-2, two P-5, one P-4, one General Service (Principal level) and three General Service (Other level). In addition to the established posts, the continuation of the P-5 extrabudgetary post, jointly funded from the support account for peacekeeping operations and from support to extrabudgetary administrative structures, and two posts (one P-4 and one General Service) funded from the support account for peacekeeping operations is proposed.

Other staff costs

- 1.9 Under other staff costs, the requirements of $14,300 relate to general temporary assistance ($6,200) and overtime ($8,100). Provisions for general temporary assistance would cover the cost of the replacement of staff on maternity leave and sick leave and provisions under overtime relate to the support staff required during periods of peak workload of the Committee's meetings.

Travel

- 1.10 Provisions of $2,128,000 under this heading relate to the following:
- (a) $2,073,900 for travel of representatives, based on the assumption that during the biennium 1998-1999 the Advisory Committee will hold six sessions totalling 70 weeks (33 in 1998 and 37 in 1999), including 66 weeks at Headquarters and 4 weeks (3 in 1998 and 1 in 1999) away from Headquarters. The estimates are based on the assumption that 12 members, not stationed in New York, are entitled to the payment of travel and subsistence allowance. This compares with the assumptions made in the programme budget for the biennium 1996-1997 whereby nine members were entitled to travel and subsistence. Actual requirements during the biennium 1998-1999, however, will be based on the detailed programme of work for 1988-1999, depending on the requirements of the General Assembly and other legislative bodies. Also included in the estimates, pursuant to the provisions of Assembly resolution 47/219 A, section XV, of 23 December 1992, is an amount of $80,300 relating to the reimbursement of airfares for the spouses of the 12 members of the Advisory Committee, provided that in the preceding year the Advisory Committee met for at least six months;
  - (b) A provision of $54,100 is requested to cover the travel and subsistence of members of the secretariat of the Advisory Committee during its sessions away from Headquarters.

Non-staff compensation

- 1.11 Requirements of $318,000 relate to the compensation ($274,600) and pension ($43,400) provision for the Chairman of the Advisory Committee. The provision reflects the relevant resolutions and related procedures for determining the levels of compensation and pension that are cited above.

General operating expenses and supplies and materials

- 1.12 Resources requested relate to general operating expenses ($14,100) and supplies and materials ($3,100). The estimates under general operating expenses will provide for maintenance of office automation equipment, while those under supplies and materials relate to the purchase of data-processing supplies.

Furniture and equipment

- 1.13 Estimated requirements of $16,400 under this heading relate to replacement of office automation equipment.

3. Committee on Contributions

- 1.14 The Committee on Contributions is a subsidiary organ of the General Assembly consisting of 18 members appointed by the Assembly in their individual capacity. The responsibilities of the Committee, its nature and composition, and the terms of appointment of its members are governed by the provisions of Assembly resolution 14 (I) of 13 February 1946 and of rules 158, 159 and 160 of the rules of procedure of the Assembly.

Travel

- 1.15 Estimated requirements of $346,700 relate to the payment of travel and subsistence expenses of the members attending sessions of the Committee and the travel and subsistence of its Chairman for a period of four weeks during each session of the General Assembly. It is anticipated that the Committee will meet for four weeks in 1998 and three weeks in 1999. Actual requirements may be affected by changes in the membership of the Committee and in the duration of its sessions.

4. United Nations Board of Auditors (including its secretariat)

- 1.16 The United Nations Board of Auditors, consisting of the Auditor-General (or officers holding the equivalent title) of three Member States appointed by the General Assembly subject to the terms and conditions laid down in regulations 12.1 to 12.3 of the Financial Regulations of the United Nations, performs the audit of the accounts of the United Nations, including all its trust funds and special accounts, and submits related reports to the Assembly for its consideration. The main terms of reference of the Board are set forth in regulations 12.4 to 12.12 and are elaborated upon in an annex to the Financial Regulations. The Board of Auditors, in addition to expressing an opinion on the financial statements, is also required to make observations with respect to the efficiency of financial procedures, the accounting system, the internal financial controls and, in general, the administration and management of the United Nations.
- 1.17 Coordination with other audit activities in the United Nations system is ensured through the Panel of External Auditors of the United Nations, the specialized agencies and IAEA, which was established by the General Assembly in its resolution 1438 (XIV) of 5 December 1959.
- 1.18 The secretariat of the Board provides liaison between the Board and the Panel as well as administrative and substantive support to the Board, its Audit Operations Committee and the Panel of External Auditors. It also makes the necessary arrangements for the holding of two sessions of the Board and one Panel session each year, develops the working papers and drafts reports needed in respect of items on the agenda of the sessions, prepares summary records of the meetings of the Board, the Panel and the Audit Operations Committee and provides liaison between those organs and other United Nations bodies.
- 1.19 During the biennium 1998-1999, the Board of Auditors will carry out the programme of work relating to non-peacekeeping activities funded from the regular budget on approximately the same resource base as for 1996-1997.
- 1.20 External audit costs relating to peacekeeping activities funded by individual assessments and other extrabudgetary programmes are charged directly to those peacekeeping activities and programmes.

Resource requirements (at current rates)

- 1.21 In addition to the costs of the secretariat of the Board, the budgetary requirements for the biennium include travel and subsistence expenses of the three Board members, as well as the expenses of their supporting national staff. These requirements, excluding those of the secretariat, are determined by the Board with reference to the particular audits to be performed during each year of the biennium, as concurred in by the Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions, and are borne in part by the regular budget and in part by extrabudgetary resources.

Posts

- 1.22 The provision under this heading relates to salaries and common staff costs of the secretariat of the Board, consisting of one D-1 and four General Service (Other level) posts. The positive growth of $5,800 reflects the combined effect of the application of new standardized vacancy rates and the reclassification of a P-5 post to the D-1 level. In line with the request made by the General Assembly in its resolution 50/214 of 23 December 1995 to keep under review the level of the post of the Executive Secretary of the Board of Auditors and resolutions 48/218 A and B of 23 December 1993 on the strengthening of the external oversight bodies, and given the increased responsibility of the Executive Secretary and the increased workload of the Board, the reclassification of the post of the Executive Secretary from P-5 to D-1 is proposed.

Other staff costs

- 1.23 Resource requirements of $25,700 relate to general temporary assistance ($15,700) and overtime ($10,000) to provide coverage during periods of peak workload.

Travel

- 1.24 The requirements of $17,100 relate to the servicing of meetings of the External Auditors and special sessions of the Board of Auditors when held away from Headquarters.

Contractual services

- 1.25 The amount of $3,075,900 covers the share of the regular budget in the costs of the salaries, travel and subsistence of staff provided by the members of the Board of Auditors and the costs associated with attendance by the members of the Board at the regular meetings of the Board and the Panel of External Auditors.

General operating expenses

- 1.26 The provision of $40,700 under general operating expenses relates to maintenance of office automation equipment, consisting of 11 personal computers ($15,400) and communications ($25,300).

Furniture and equipment

- 1.27 The requested amount of $4,300 will provide for the upgrade of 11 existing personal computers, including one-time installation costs, and the replacement of one desktop printer.

5. United Nations Joint Staff Pension Board (including United Nations participation in the costs of the secretariat of the United Nations Joint Staff Pension Fund)

- 1.28 The United Nations Joint Staff Pension Fund was established by the General Assembly in 1949 to provide retirement, death, disability and related benefits for the staff of the United Nations and such other organizations as might be admitted to membership. In accordance with regulations and rules adopted by the Assembly, the Fund is administered by the United Nations Joint Staff Pension Board, a staff pension committee for each member organization and a secretariat to the Board and to each such committee. The Board has established a Standing Committee with power to act on its behalf when it is not in session. In accordance with the request made by the Assembly at its forty-sixth session that its subsidiary bodies adjust their work programmes to conform to the biennial work programme of the Fifth Committee, it is anticipated that a regular session of the Board would be held only once during the biennium (i.e. in 1998) and its Standing Committee would meet in New York in 1999. The Assembly exercises legislative authority on behalf of all participating organizations.

Resource requirements (at current rates)

- 1.29 The resources requested below reflect the current arrangements between the United Nations and the United Nations Joint Staff Pension Fund. At the time of the preparation of these proposals, a review is being undertaken of the services provided by the Fund to the United Nations Staff Pension Committee. Proposals in that respect will be subject to the approval of the Standing Committee of the Pension Fund during its meeting in 1997. Implications for the regular budget of action to be taken by the Standing Committee and the decision by the General Assembly in connection with the recommendations of the Fund will be the subject of a statement of programme budget implications that will be submitted to the Assembly during its consideration of the report of the Fund.

Travel

- 1.30 The resources requested ($142,300) are based on the assumption that the Board will meet once in 1998, most probably in Europe, and that there will be at least one meeting of the Standing Committee in 1999. It is assumed that all 20 members and alternates will attend the Board session and that only 12 members and alternates will attend the meeting of the Standing Committee.

Grants and contributions

- 1.31 The estimated requirements ($3,103,900) relate to the share of the United Nations in the expenses of the central secretariat of the United Nations Joint Staff Pension Fund for the services provided by it to the United Nations Staff Pension Committee and the United Nations share of the costs of the sessions of the Board. One third of the total staff costs of the secretariat of the Fund and a contribution to the cost of identifiable costs of communications (long-distance telephone calls) is paid by the United Nations regular budget, offset by the UNDP and UNICEF share based on the relative numbers of participants of those organizations in the Pension Fund. The relative share of the regular budget in the contribution of one third of the cost of the central secretariat of the Fund is estimated at 61 per cent. The staff costs are based on the staffing table for the biennium 1996-1997 (1 D-2, 2 D-1, 5 P-5, 11 P-4, 14 P-3, 1 P-2 and 72 General Service, 4 at the Principal level). Of the 106 posts, 95 are in New York and 11 in Geneva. Compared with the assumptions made in the proposed programme budget for the biennium 1996-1997, there was a net increase of 3 in the number of approved posts (1 Professional and 2 General Service).

6. Committee for Programme and Coordination

- 1.32 In its decision 42/450 of 17 December 1987, the General Assembly decided that the Committee for Programme and Coordination should be composed of 34 States Members of the United Nations, elected for three-year terms on the basis of equitable geographical distribution. In paragraph 12 of its resolution 31/93 of 14 December 1976, the Assembly authorized the payment to the members of the Committee of travel expenses (economy class air fare) and subsistence allowance (at the standard rate established for secretariat officials plus 15 per cent) as a special exception to the basic principles contained in paragraph 2 of resolution 1798 (XVII) of 11 December 1962. This arrangement was approved for an experimental period beginning in 1978 and was to have been reviewed by the Assembly at its thirty-fourth session. It has been assumed that the duration of the Committee's sessions will remain six weeks in the plan year and four weeks in the budget year. In paragraph 18 of its resolution 42/211 of 21 December 1987, the Assembly decided that the date of submission of the outline of the programme budget for the next budget period should be 15 August of the off-budget year. In its resolution 46/185 of 20 December 1991, the Assembly decided, inter alia, that, starting in 1992, the travel expenses and subsistence of the members of the Committee for attendance at the joint meetings of the Committee for Programme and Coordination and the Administrative Committee on Coordination should be authorized. The provisions under this heading reflect the continuation of the arrangements called for by the Assembly in the resolutions mentioned above.

Travel

- 1.33 The provision of $792,900 would cover the travel and subsistence of members of the Committee to attend its sessions and the joint meetings of the Committee and the Administrative Committee on Coordination as well as attendance by the Chairman of sessions of the Economic and Social Council and the General Assembly. It is assumed that the Committee for Programme and Coordination will meet for six weeks in 1998 and four weeks in 1999, and that a resumed session of the Committee will be required in 1998 in order to consider the outline of the programme budget for the biennium 2000-2001.

B. Executive direction and management

- 1.34 Executive direction and management covers the requirements of the Secretary-General, the Executive Office of the Secretary-General, the Office of the Director-General of the United Nations Office at Geneva and the Office of the Director-General of the United Nations Office at Vienna. For the biennium 1998-1999, the total resources requested amount to $23,351,800.

1. The Secretary-General

- 1.35 The Secretary-General is the chief administrative officer of the Organization and is entrusted with a broad range of responsibilities under the Charter. Within the sphere of competence of his office, the Secretary-General takes action on his own initiative on a wide range of political, economic, social and humanitarian questions. The Secretary-General uses his best efforts to assist in settling disputes between States and he may bring to the attention of the Security Council any matter that in his opinion may threaten the maintenance of international peace and security. He plays a key role in efforts to secure the observance of human rights. He provides policy direction to the departments, offices and other organizational units of the Secretariat in the execution of their functions, as well as guidance and coordination to the programmes and other elements of the Organization. The Secretary-General also discharges functions entrusted to him by the other principal organs. In addition, as Chairman of the Administrative Committee on Coordination, he has a coordinating function in relation to the entire United Nations system of organizations.

Posts

- 1.36 The requirements of $530,200 relate to the salary and allowances of the Secretary-General.

Travel

- 1.37 The actual travel requirements of the Secretary-General cannot be foreseen with great accuracy. Based on most recent experience, however, estimated resources of $736,800 are requested.

General operating expenses

- 1.38 A provision of $261,600 under general operating expenses is proposed for maintenance of the Secretary-General's residence. The provision would cover the cost of certain regular operating costs such as utilities, real estate taxes, contractual services and other miscellaneous maintenance services.

Hospitality

- 1.39 The provision of $225,200 under this heading relates to requirements for official functions. The Secretary-General extends official hospitality on the occasion of visits to Headquarters of Heads of State and other dignitaries and of other state functions.

Furniture and equipment

- 1.40 The provision of $45,200 relates to the replacement of one official vehicle. In the past, provisions under this heading were not utilized as the requirement for vehicles was met through the loan of vehicles from outside sources. The continuation of the existing loans for 1998-1999 cannot be guaranteed at this point. A provision for the replacement of one vehicle purchased in 1989 has therefore been included in the estimates.

2. Executive Office of the Secretary-General

- 1.41 The Executive Office assists the Secretary-General in the establishment of general policy and in the executive direction, coordination and expeditious performance of the work of the Secretariat and of the programmes and other elements of the Organization, as well as in his contacts with Governments, delegations, the press and the public. This organizational unit is also responsible for protocol, liaison and representation. Resources for the Office of External Relations are included under this Office.

Resource requirements (at current rates)Posts*

- 1.42 The estimated requirements of $12,096,600, reflecting a negative growth of $22,100, would provide for 75 posts in place of the existing 77. The negative resource growth represents the combined effect of the application of new standardized vacancy rates, post exchanges, reclassifications and the abolition of two posts. Included in the estimates are resources related to the establishment of the Office of External Relations, consisting of an Assistant Secretary-General, supported by seven staff (one D-1, one P-5, one P-4 and four General Service). The staffing of the new Office has been accommodated through redeployments from the Executive Office of the Secretary-General. For the biennium 1998-1999 the following changes are proposed: (a) the redeployment of an Assistant Secretary-General's post to the Department for Policy Coordination and Sustainable Development in order to support the consolidation of the functions of the Secretary-General's Adviser on Gender Issues and the Advancement of Women in that Department, in exchange for a post at the D-2 level; (b) the redeployment of one P-4 post to the Office of Human Resources Management; (c) the reclassification of the two Executive Assistants of the Secretary-General from the D-1 to the D-2 level; (d) the establishment of one P-3 post for a speech-writer to replace a P-4 post that was redeployed to the Office of External Relations; and (e) the abolition of two posts (one P-4 and one Security Service).

Other staff costs

- 1.43 The resources of $844,700 relate to general temporary assistance ($267,300) and overtime ($577,400). The resources requested for general temporary assistance would cover the cost of the replacement of staff on maternity leave or sick leave and for additional staff required during periods of peak workload. Included in these estimates are provisions for general temporary assistance for the fifty-third and fifty-fourth sessions of the General Assembly. Overtime requirements are based on experience during past bienniums.

Consultants and experts

- 1.44 The amount of $181,000 proposed relates to outside expertise required by the Secretary-General to provide him with independent advice and assessments and to explore options on issues in a number of areas, including preventive diplomacy and peacekeeping, reconstruction, rehabilitation and development, communication and administrative and financial reform.

Travel

- 1.45 The resources requested ($1,030,000) relate to the costs of travel undertaken by individual staff members at the request of the Secretary-General and of costs of travel by staff from the Executive Office who accompany the Secretary-General as members of his immediate party, as well as of the personal aides who are responsible for the security and administrative support of the Secretary-General while he is travelling.

Contractual services

- 1.46 Provisions of $34,300 relate to the printing costs of stationery for the Secretary-General, as well as such items as invitations and menu cards required by the Protocol and Liaison Service for use in connection with official functions hosted by the Secretary-General. The provision would also cover the costs of miscellaneous printed cards and stationery for the Protocol and Liaison Service and the Executive Office and for courtesy tickets.

General operating expenses

- 1.47 Estimated requirements of $400,400 would cover the costs of maintenance of office automation equipment ($194,200) and communications ($206,200). This represents the restoration of provisions of $358,000 that had existed in the initial 1996-1997 appropriation and the cost of maintenance of personal computers, which was underbudgeted during the previous biennium.

Hospitality

- 1.48 A provision of $4,500 is proposed to reimburse staff not entitled to representation allowance but who are required to extend hospitality to members of delegations, members of Governments or non-governmental organizations, or to officials of intergovernmental organizations other than organizations within the United Nations common system.

Supplies and materials

- 1.49 The provision requested ($45,500) relates to the cost of office automation and other supplies and of official gifts presented by the Secretary-General to Heads of State and other dignitaries, in particular on the occasion of state visits by the Secretary-General.

Furniture and equipment

- 1.50 Estimated requirements of $64,700 under this heading relate to the acquisition and replacement of office automation equipment. This represents a partial restoration of provisions of $294,000 that had existed in the initial 1996-1997 appropriation.

3. Office of the Director-General, United Nations Office at Geneva

- 1.51 The Under-Secretary-General, Director-General of the United Nations Office at Geneva, performs the functions of the Office as described in the Organization Manual of the Secretariat (ST/SGB/Organization, section S). In keeping with the Secretary-General's priorities for the Organization, the Director-General, in consultation with the Secretary-General, will continue to strengthen the role of the United Nations Office at Geneva as a venue for multilateral diplomacy and international forums for consultations.
- 1.52 Past developments, including the responsibilities entrusted to the Director-General for the Conference on Disarmament, the consolidation of the role of the Office at Geneva regarding regional mechanisms in Europe, the enhanced activities regarding academia, business organizations and non-governmental organizations, as well as the downsizing trend of the Organization, required adjustments and shifts in priorities, in particular for those activities related to the monitoring of the technological needs of the diplomatic community, computerized exchange of information with regional mechanisms, and inter-agency relations and coordination.

- 1.53 To maximize the use of resources, additional responsibilities have been distributed in addition to functions already performed by the staff. This has been achieved as follows:
- (a) The functions of the Senior Political Adviser (at the D-1 level) were expanded to include responsibilities related to the overall management of inter-agency affairs, resulting in the current proposal for the abolition of the post of Chief of Inter-Agency Affairs, at the P-5 level. The Senior Political Adviser is assisted by an Inter-Agency Affairs Officer (at the P-3 level) who is responsible for all activities of specialized agencies and United Nations bodies, including analysis, reporting and representation;
  - (b) The Political Affairs Officer (at the P-4 level), in cooperation with the Senior Political Adviser, continues to perform activities related to political areas and representational functions in connection with regional organizations. In addition, the Political Affairs Officer has been entrusted with responsibility for projects related to the presence of the United Nations Office at Geneva on the Internet, as well as exchange of computerized information among organizations of the region and monitoring the electronic information needs of the permanent missions;
  - (c) In view of the enhanced role of the United Nations Office at Geneva, the scope and functions of the Chef de Cabinet will expand. It is proposed to encumber this post at the D-1 level;
  - (d) The P-3 post of Special Assistant to the Director-General has since then been earmarked for the position of NGO Liaison Officer. The Liaison Officer continues to be responsible for maintaining liaison between the United Nations Office at Geneva and over 950 non-governmental organizations in consultative status with or accredited to the Economic and Social Council and other legislative bodies or offices. In addition, the NGO Liaison Officer has been entrusted with new responsibilities related to the coordination of substantive issues pertaining to economic, social, humanitarian and substantive activities. Owing to the enhanced responsibilities entrusted to this post, it is proposed to encumber the NGO Liaison Officer post at the P-4 level in the 1998-1999 structure;
  - (e) The Special Assistant to the Director-General, whose functions include preparation of summaries of meetings, draft papers and other tasks usually undertaken by the incumbent of such posts, has also been entrusted with drafting of policy statements when required. The P-2 post previously assigned to the NGO Liaison Officer has been redeployed to accommodate the above position;
  - (f) The Chief of Protocol and the Legal Officer perform their functions at the P-5 level.

Posts

1.62 The estimated requirements of $1,728,500, reflecting a negative growth of $345,100, would provide for a reduced complement of 10 posts in place of the present 12 posts. The negative growth represents the combined effect of the application of new standardized vacancy rates, an exchange of posts and the abolition of two General Service posts. The D-1 and P-5 posts that currently provide for the functions of Special Assistant to the Director-General and the Protocol and NGO Liaison Officer, respectively, are proposed for redeployment to section 14, Crime control. In exchange, two posts (one P-4 and one P-3) are proposed to be redeployed from section 14 to the Office of the Director-General. The P-4 will assume the functions of Special Assistant to the Director-General and the P-3 those of protocol and NGO liaison. In the new organizational structure, both the Special Assistant to the Director-General and the Protocol and NGO Liaison Officer will report to the Deputy to the Director-General. The abolition of the posts of

Secretary and Personal Assistant is in line with the recommendation of the Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions to keep under review the ratio of General Service posts to posts in the Professional categories.

Other staff costs

- 1.63 The resources of $43,500 requested relate to general temporary assistance ($28,100) and overtime ($15,400). These requirements would cover the temporary replacement of staff on extended sick leave or maternity leave, the engagement of additional staff during periods of peak workload, as well as the recruitment of additional staff required in connection with visits of the Secretary-General, Heads of State and Government and other senior officers, and during the holding of special conferences and for other special meetings for which the Director-General of the United Nations Office at Vienna is responsible.

Travel

- 1.64 The resources requested ($64,500) would cover the cost of travel of the Director-General and his staff and include those for the purpose of (a) official meetings at Headquarters and other duty stations; (b) visiting Governments in support of activities related to substantive programmes of this duty station; (c) representing the Secretary-General at special events, in particular those taking place in Europe; (d) fund-raising; (e) legal advisers' meetings; and (f) non-governmental organization coordination meetings.

General operating expenses

- 1.65 The estimated requirements of $57,100 would cover the cost of maintaining the office automation equipment and hardware and software necessary to conduct the planning, management and coordination functions performed by the Office of the Director-General.

Hospitality

- 1.66 An estimated provision of $10,700 will be needed in connection with the annual visits of Heads of State and Government, the Secretary-General and high-level officials of specialized agencies, as well as for hosting receptions on the occasion of major conferences and meetings convened at Vienna.

Supplies and materials

- 1.67 Resources under this heading ($10,000) would provide for supplies and materials used for protocol purposes, such as photographic materials and other miscellaneous supplies.

Furniture and equipment

- 1.68 The provision of $12,900 relates to the upgrading of standard software to newer versions and acquisition of a CD-ROM to aid the staff in the Office to perform data search.

Political affairs

Section 2

Political affairs

Overview

- 2.1 The Department of Political Affairs was established by the Secretary-General in March 1992 in order to enhance the Organization's capacity to play its role in the prevention, control and resolution of conflicts. The Department has subsequently passed through several phases of restructuring. Its strength initially grew from 279 authorized posts in the regular budget for the biennium 1992-1993 (excluding peaceful uses of outer space) to 308 in 1994-1995. For the biennium 1996-1997, 281 posts were approved, the reduction in comparison with the biennium 1994-1995 being due in part to the termination of activities related to apartheid. A further reduction by 17 posts to 264 posts is proposed for the biennium 1998-1999. The Department has five principal functions.
- 2.2 The first function is to provide advice and support to the Secretary-General in the discharge of his global responsibilities related to the prevention, control and resolution of conflicts, in accordance with the relevant provisions of the Charter and under the mandates given to him by the General Assembly and the Security Council. This involves the collection of information about actual or potential disputes and conflicts, analysis of the information to identify situations in which the United Nations could usefully take action, advice to the Secretary-General on what form the action should take, preparation of the necessary reports to the relevant intergovernmental bodies and implementation of the approved policy or monitoring its implementation if the action required falls within the area of competence of another United Nations body.
- 2.3 The second function is to provide the Secretary-General with advice and support in the political aspects of his relations with Member States and other intergovernmental organizations, especially regional organizations with which the United Nations cooperates, including under Chapter VIII of the Charter, through the drafting of correspondence, the provision of briefing materials for his meetings with their representatives and recording of such meetings.
- 2.4 Responsibility for these first two functions is entrusted to the Department's regional divisions. It is proposed that the existing structure of six regional divisions be reduced to four divisions, to consist of two for Africa, one for Asia resulting from the merger of the East Asia and the Pacific and West Asia Divisions and one for the Americas and Europe resulting from the merger of the Americas and Europe Divisions. The mergers would streamline the divisions to improve efficiency and respond to the request of the General Assembly in its resolution 50/214 of 23 December 1995 to review the Department's grade structure. Another change relates to the establishment of a liaison office at Addis Ababa to strengthen cooperation between the United Nations and the regional organizations engaged in the prevention, control and resolution of conflicts in Africa.
- 2.5 The Department's third function is to provide the Secretary-General with advice and support in relation to his responsibilities in the field of arms limitation and disarmament and to provide secretariat services to the Conference on Disarmament, the Disarmament Commission and the First Committee of the General Assembly. This function is carried out by the Centre for Disarmament Affairs, whose Director reports directly to the Under-Secretary-General.

- 2.6 The fourth function is to provide the Secretary-General with advice and support on electoral assistance matters and to ensure appropriate consideration of and response to Member States' requests for such assistance. In accordance with General Assembly resolution 46/137 of 17 December 1991, the Under-Secretary-General of the Department of Political Affairs has been designated as the United Nations Focal Point for United Nations Electoral Assistance activities. He has hitherto been assisted by the Electoral Assistance Division, whose Director reports directly to him.
- 2.7 The fifth function is the provision of secretariat services to the General Assembly, the Security Council and a number of related intergovernmental bodies, and to the Trusteeship Council if it should meet. This function is entrusted to two divisions, one for the General Assembly and various of its subsidiary organs, especially those dealing with decolonization and the question of Palestine, and the Trusteeship Council, and the other for the Security Council and its subsidiary organs.
- 2.8 The legislative authority for the programmes covered by this section of the budget derives from the Charter of the United Nations, the medium-term plan for the period 1998-2001 (A/51/6/Rev.1 and Rev.1/Corr.1) and relevant resolutions and decisions of the General Assembly and the Security Council, including Assembly resolutions 47/120 A of 18 December 1992 and 47/120 B of 20 September 1993. The activities carried out under this section fall under the various subprogrammes of programme 1, Political affairs, namely, 1.1, Prevention, control and resolution of conflict, 1.2, Assistance and support to the Secretary-General in the political aspects of his relations with Member States, 1.3, Electoral assistance, 1.4, Security Council affairs, 1.5, General Assembly affairs, 1.6, Decolonization, and 1.7, Question of Palestine, and programme 26, Disarmament, of the medium-term plan for the period 1998-2001.
- 2.9 The Secretary-General is convinced that preventive diplomacy and peacemaking (defined in "An Agenda for Peace" (A/47/277-S/24111) as being the use of peaceful means to bring hostile parties to agreement) are the most cost-effective ways by which the Organization can contribute to the maintenance of international peace and security and thus forestall the suffering and destruction that inevitably occur when disputes degenerate into armed conflict. The coming biennium will again provide a critical test of the Organization's ability to respond to that challenge.
- 2.10 The proposals under this section make adjustments for the following factors: the request of the General Assembly in its resolution 50/214 to the Secretary-General that he review the Department's grade structure as recommended by the Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions in paragraph II.4 of its first report on the proposed programme budget for the biennium 1998-1999 (A/50/7); the need to strengthen coordination between the United Nations and the regional organizations with which it cooperates most closely in matters of peace and security; and the particularly pressing demands for the Organization to help prevent, control and resolve conflicts in Africa.
- 2.11 Accordingly, it is proposed to abolish 17 posts (9 in the Professional category and above and 8 General Service) from the Department's approved 1996-1997 staffing table. Reductions are also proposed under non-staff resources.
- 2.12 The estimated percentage distribution of resources in 1998-1999 under section 2 of the budget would be as follows:

A. Policy-making organs

Overview

- 2.13 Provision is made under this subsection for requirements relating to policy-making organs, the servicing of which is the responsibility of the Department of Political Affairs and which are deemed to require specific provisions.

- 2.14 Provision is made under this heading for certain estimated direct costs of the fifty-third and fifty-fourth sessions of the General Assembly. The provisions previously reflected under section 1, Overall policy-making, direction and coordination, are proposed for redeployment to this section. Various subsidiary organs and working groups of the Assembly, including the Open-ended Working Group on the Question of Equitable Representation on and Increase in the Membership of the Security Council and Other Matters Related to the Security Council, the Informal Open-ended Working Group on An Agenda for Peace and its four subgroups, the Open-ended High-level Working Group of the General Assembly on the Strengthening of the United Nations and the High-level Open-ended Working Group on the Financial Situation of the United Nations are provided with technical and substantive services by the Department of Political Affairs, which are described under section C below. Such bodies, of either fixed or indeterminate duration, meet as required.

Other staff costs

- 2.15 In recent years, the pattern of General Assembly meetings has changed dramatically. While most of its meetings are held from September to December, the Assembly now meets with increasing frequency during the rest of the year. During its fiftieth session, the General Assembly held 22 per cent of its meetings from January to September 1995. This trend is expected to increase in coming years, thus generating entirely new requirements for the Secretariat. This is further borne out by the need for the services of two secretaries by Presidents of the General Assembly and by the fact that, during the regular session of the General Assembly from September to December, a minimum of eight temporary assistance staff in the General Service category are required. The estimates of $314,500 under this heading redeployed from section 1 would therefore provide for temporary assistance ($289,800) and overtime ($24,700).

Contractual services

- 2.16 Provision of $90,100 relates to the printing costs of stationery, invitation and business cards for the Office of the President. External printing needs for supplements in six languages, meetings records, annexes and resolutions, pre-session and in-session documentation of the General Assembly and its Main Committees and provisional meeting records are also provided for under this heading. The use of computer work stations and text-processing software and desktop publishing capacity allows internal reproduction of some of the General Assembly documentation, hence the negative growth of $379,000.

Hospitality

- 2.17 A provision of $8,300 is proposed for hospitality offered by the President of the General Assembly at functions hosted during its sessions, which reflects a reduction of $2,200.

- 2.18 The Security Council, one of the principal organs of the United Nations, was established under Article 7 of the Charter of the United Nations and is charged with the primary responsibility for maintenance of world peace and international security. As specified in Article 28 of the Charter, the Council is so organized as to be able to function continuously. The Council is authorized, under Article 29 of the Charter, to establish such subsidiary organs as it deems necessary for the performance of its functions. There are currently nine such organs: the Security Council Committee of Experts, the Security Council Committee on the Admission of New Members, the Security Council Committee on Council Meetings away from Headquarters, the Security Council Committee established by resolution 661 (1990) concerning the situation between Iraq and Kuwait, including activities in support of the oil for food operation under resolution 986 (1995), the Security Council Committee established pursuant to resolution 748 (1992) concerning the Libyan Arab Jamahiriya, the Security Council Committee established pursuant to resolution 751 (1992) concerning Somalia, the Security Council Committee established pursuant to resolution 864 (1993) concerning Angola, the Security Council Committee established pursuant to resolution 918 (1994) concerning Rwanda and the Security Council Committee established pursuant to resolution 985 (1995) concerning Liberia. Such bodies, of either fixed or indeterminate duration, meet as required.

Contractual services

- 2.19 Resources of $60,000 provided for external printing requirements for the issuance of the Official Records of the Security Council and reports of its subsidiary organs in the six official languages of the United Nations reflect a reduction of $244,500 as a result of greater use of computer work stations and text-processing software, thereby allowing internal reproduction of the reports of the Security Council and those of its subsidiary organs.

- 2.20 The Trusteeship Council, composed of five Member States, is a principal organ of the United Nations established under Article 7 of the Charter of the United Nations. Its function is to assist the General Assembly and the Security Council in carrying out their responsibilities with respect to the international trusteeship system. On 2 November 1994, the Security Council, by its resolution 956 (1994), determined that the applicability of the trusteeship agreement had terminated with respect to the last Trust Territory, the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands (Palau). Consequently, resources are not earmarked for the Council.
- 2.21 In accordance with its amended rules of procedure, the Trusteeship Council shall meet as and where occasion may require, by decision of the Trusteeship Council, or by decision of its President, or at the request of a majority of its members, or at the request of the General Assembly, or at the request of the Security Council acting in pursuance of the relevant provisions of the Charter of the United Nations. If the need arises, in the future, for the Trusteeship Council to meet, the Department of Political Affairs would provide it with the required substantive servicing. It is anticipated at the present stage that this could be met within the level of resources to be made available for the Department.

- 2.22 The Special Committee on the Situation with regard to the Implementation of the Declaration on the Granting of Independence to Colonial Countries and Peoples, composed of 25 Member States, is the principal subsidiary organ of the General Assembly charged with examining the application of the Declaration on the Granting of Independence to Colonial Countries and Peoples contained in Assembly resolution 1514 (XV) of 14 December 1960. It has an open-ended Bureau.
- 2.23 The Committee's mandate includes:
- Seeking suitable means for the immediate and full implementation of General Assembly resolution 1514 (XV) and formulating specific proposals to that end;
  - Making concrete suggestions to the Security Council with regard to developments in colonial Territories that are likely to threaten international peace and security;
  - Examining the compliance of Member States with resolution 1514 (XV) and other relevant resolutions;
  - Studying the conditions in the remaining Non-Self-Governing Territories, including the dispatch of visiting missions, and reporting thereon to the General Assembly;
  - Enlisting worldwide support for the achievement of the objectives of the Declaration;
  - Reviewing the list of Territories to which the Declaration applies and making specific proposals to the General Assembly to that end.

- 2.24 In pursuance of its mandate the Special Committee may hold meetings, including some away from Headquarters, to examine the implementation of the Declaration and may send visiting missions to Non-Self-Governing Territories. It may also hold appropriate consultations and contacts with Governments, specialized agencies and intergovernmental and non-governmental organizations. Its members may participate in conferences, seminars and other special meetings dealing with decolonization sponsored by non-governmental organizations and the United Nations bodies concerned. In accordance with the relevant General Assembly resolutions, the Special Committee promotes an international campaign for the dissemination of information on decolonization and publicity for the work of the United Nations in the field of decolonization and reports thereon to the Assembly.
- 2.25 There are currently 17 Territories on the list of Non-Self-Governing Territories. The programme of work of the Special Committee is decided upon on an annual basis, taking into account relevant decisions of the General Assembly. On the basis of the scope of the Special Committee's responsibilities and its programme of work approved by the Assembly for 1997, it is anticipated that the Committee may carry out the following activities during the biennium 1998-1999:
- (a) Sending a maximum of three visiting missions to the Territories;
  - (b) Dispatching missions of representation to conferences and holding consultations and contacts on the question of decolonization with Governments, United Nations bodies, in particular specialized agencies, and international institutions associated with the United Nations (several missions of consultation each year); the Economic and Social Council during regular sessions of the Council; CARICOM; and the South Pacific Forum and meetings of non-aligned countries;
  - (c) Participating each year in conferences, seminars and other special events dealing with decolonization sponsored by non-governmental organizations and the United Nations bodies concerned, as well as attendance at regional seminars to be held in the Caribbean and the Pacific regions, within the context of the Plan of Action for the International Decade for the Eradication of Colonialism;
  - (d) Making arrangements, in consultation with the Administering Powers and the regional organizations concerned, for the appearance before the Committee of representatives from Non-Self-Governing Territories and taking into account the views expressed by such representatives at the regional seminars organized by the Committee since 1990, as well as recommendations contained in the Plan of Action for the International Decade for the Eradication of Colonialism, the Committee will continue to consider how to intensify and improve the participation of such representatives in the work of the Committee within available resources.
- 2.26 Responsibility for the substantive servicing and support of the Special Committee, its subsidiary bodies and its visiting and other missions, as required, rests with the Department of Political Affairs. Requirements in that respect are reflected under section C.1 (e) below.
- 2.27 Without prejudice to the decisions to be taken by the General Assembly at its fifty-third and fifty-fourth sessions on the programme of work of the Special Committee for 1998 and 1999, the estimates are based on the activities approved for the year 1997.

Resource requirements (at current rates)

Other staff costs

- 2.28 The resources of $6,300 related to the cost of the services of an interpreter during missions of the Committee are not foreseen in the biennium 1998-1999 based on recent experience. Accordingly, the total resources under this heading could be surrendered.

Travel

- 2.29 Estimated resources of $402,300 would cover the cost of travel of representatives ($205,000) to undertake the activities outlined in paragraph 2.25, as well as attendance at two regional seminars (one per year) to be held in the Caribbean and the Pacific regions within the context of the Plan of Action for the International Decade for the Eradication of Colonialism; travel of representatives of national bodies and others ($38,500) to participate in its work and for attendance at the regional seminars; and travel of staff ($158,800) to assist the Committee in carrying out the activities outlined in paragraph 2.25 and with the two regional seminars. The resource growth of $177,100 represents the partial restoration of provisions that had existed in the initial 1996-1997 appropriations.

General operating expenses

- 2.30 Provision of $30,700 is proposed for the rental of premises ($4,800), rental of furniture and equipment ($12,800), communications ($4,200) and miscellaneous services ($8,900). These are required during the Committee's missions and the proposed regional seminars referred to in paragraph 2.25.

Hospitality

- 2.31 The provision of $2,500 would cover hospitality expenditures of the Committee during missions and the regional seminars.

Supplies and materials

- 2.32 The provision of $2,000 would cover various supply requirements arising during missions of the Committee and the regional seminars.

- 2.33 The Committee on the Exercise of the Inalienable Rights of the Palestinian People was established pursuant to General Assembly resolution 3376 (XXX) of 10 November 1975. The Committee meets throughout the year as required and submits an annual report to the General Assembly. In discharging its mandate to exert all efforts to promote the exercise of the inalienable rights of the Palestinian people, the Committee participates in relevant international meetings and conferences, sends delegations on missions and invites on special occasions prominent personalities or experts. The Committee's membership was increased from 20 to 23 by the Assembly at its thirty-first session. Its mandate, which has been expanded over the years, was reaffirmed by the Assembly in its resolution 51/23 of 4 December 1996. It is envisaged that the Committee will remain in existence until a just, comprehensive and lasting settlement of the question of Palestine has been achieved.

Resource requirements (at current rates)

Travel

- 2.34 The proposed estimate ($51,000) would cover the anticipated travel costs of representatives of the Committee to international conferences and meetings that the Committee considers appropriate to attend, as well as the sending of delegations on other missions and outreach efforts the Committee may undertake in the discharge of its mandate. Provision is also made for the travel of prominent personalities, experts and others whom the Committee decides to invite to participate in special events relating to the question of Palestine or for consultations with the Committee whenever it is considered appropriate.

- 2.35 The Conference on Disarmament is open to the 5 nuclear-weapon States and 56 other States and is based at Geneva. In addition, 37 non-member States of the Conference are regularly invited to participate in its work, as well as in that of its subsidiary bodies. The Conference divides its annual session into three parts and continues its negotiations on priority issues during its inter-sessional periods. Meetings thus take place during seven to nine months each year.
- 2.36 Pursuant to paragraph 120 (c) of the Final Document of the Tenth Special Session of the General Assembly, the Secretary-General, following consultations with the Conference on Disarmament, appoints the Secretary-General of the Conference, who also acts as his Personal Representative, to assist the Conference and its President in organizing the Conference. As requested by the Assembly in its resolution 34/83 L of 11 December 1979, the Secretary-General provides the staff, as well as the assistance and services needed by the Conference on Disarmament and any subsidiary bodies that it might establish, in accordance with the arrangements contained in its rules of procedure. The secretariat of the Conference consists of officers of the Geneva Branch of the Centre for Disarmament Affairs of the Department of Political Affairs.
- 2.37 In 1992, the Conference on Disarmament successfully concluded the negotiations of the Convention on the Prohibition of the Development, Production, Stockpiling and Use of Chemical Weapons and on Their Destruction, as well as the Comprehensive Nuclear-Test-Ban Treaty in 1996, with the participation of all five nuclear-weapon States and other militarily significant States. The Conference is currently engaged in a comprehensive review of its agenda in order to make it conform to the new international political and security environment. Efforts are under way to start negotiations on a multilateral convention on the prohibition of the production of fissile material for nuclear weapons purposes. It is also exploring ways and means to address the issue of nuclear disarmament. The Conference is expected to continue its efforts in the fields of negative security assurances and the promotion of transparency in armaments, including a ban on landmines.

Travel

- 2.38 The resources requested ($37,700) relate to travel and subsistence costs for the Secretary-General of the Conference and the Personal Representative of the Secretary-General and staff of the Centre for Disarmament Affairs based at Geneva to attend consultative meetings in New York with respect to the activities of the Conference on Disarmament.

B. Executive direction and management

- 2.40 The Office of the Under-Secretary-General provides overall policy direction, supervision and management of the Department. In addition to performing the functions of head of department, the Under-Secretary-General provides the Secretary-General with advice and support on political matters; provides political guidance and instructions to special envoys and special representatives of the Secretary-General; directs and manages, on behalf of the Secretary-General, good offices, fact-finding and other special political missions; undertakes, on behalf of the Secretary-General, consultations and negotiations relating to the peaceful settlement of disputes; advises the Secretary-General on matters relating to disarmament and arms limitation; and acts as the United Nations Focal Point for Electoral Assistance Activities.
- 2.41 In the exercise of his responsibilities, the Under-Secretary-General is assisted by two Assistant Secretaries-General and two Directors. One of the Assistant Secretaries-General supervises the General Assembly Affairs Division, which includes the Division for Palestinian Rights; and two of the regional divisions (the Americas and Europe and the Asia Divisions). The other Assistant Secretary-General supervises the Security Council Affairs Division and the other two regional divisions (Africa I and Africa II Divisions). The Centre for Disarmament Affairs and the Electoral Assistance Division are supervised by Directors reporting directly to the Under-Secretary-General.

Posts

- 2.42 The estimated requirements of $4,055,900 would provide for the staffing structure of the Office of the Under-Secretary-General, consisting of one USG, one D-1, one P-5, one P-4, one P-3 and five General Service (Other level) posts; and for each of the two offices of the Assistant Secretaries-General one ASG, one P-5, one P-3 and three General Service (Other level) posts. The resource growth of $376,000 reflects the combined effect of the application of the standardized vacancy rates and the inward redeployment of a P-5.
- 2.43 Following its further streamlining and in order to strengthen its capacity to coordinate, both within the Department and with other departments, especially the Departments of Humanitarian Affairs and Peacekeeping Operations, it is proposed to redeploy to the Office of the Under-Secretary-General one P-5 post presently assigned to subprogrammes 1 and 2.

Other staff costs

- 2.44 The requirements of $115,000 relating to general temporary assistance ($40,300) and overtime ($74,700), reflecting increases of $28,400 and $49,700, respectively, would cover the cost of temporary replacement of General Service staff on maternity leave and extended sick leave and for supplementary staffing during periods of peak workload for the Offices of the Under-Secretary-General and the two Assistant Secretaries-General. These increased provisions would better reflect past expenditure experience.

Travel

- 2.45 The estimated requirements of $202,000 relate to travel in connection with the Department's work in the prevention, control and resolution of conflicts. Approximately eight trips per year by the Under-Secretary-General and five trips per year by each Assistant Secretary-General and their staff are envisaged for purposes of negotiations, participation in fact-finding and other missions, accompanying the Secretary-General and for attendance at meetings of regional organizations and participation in conferences and seminars during the biennium.

General operating expenses

- 2.46 The negative growth of $108,200 relates to communications requirements redeployed to the Executive Office of the Department (see sect. E).

Hospitality

- 2.47 Provision of $2,500, reflecting resource growth of $1,100, would provide for hospitality requirements.

C. Programme of work

Overview

- 2.48 The activities expected to be implemented in 1998-1999 under this subsection are in response to the objectives set out in programmes 1, Political affairs, and 26, Disarmament, of the medium-term plan for the period 1998-2001 (A/51/6/Rev.1 and Rev.1/Corr.1) and relevant resolutions and decisions of the General Assembly and the Security Council, including Assembly resolutions 47/120 A and B. Against that background and taking into account several factors influencing the formulation of the estimates, in particular the request of the General Assembly in its resolution 50/214 to review the Department's grade structure, the need to strengthen coordination between the United Nations and the regional organizations with which it cooperates most closely in matters of peace and security, and the particularly pressing demands for the Organization to help prevent, control and resolve conflicts in Africa, the work programme can be summarized as follows:
- (a) Assistance to the Security Council and the Secretary-General in carrying out activities mandated by the General Assembly, the Security Council and the Charter in the areas of preventive diplomacy, peacemaking, peacekeeping and post-conflict peace-building;
  - (b) Monitoring, analysing and assessing political developments throughout the world;
  - (c) Identification of potential or actual conflicts that threaten international peace and security and in whose control and resolution the United Nations could play a useful role, and formulation of recommendations thereon;
  - (d) Providing the Secretary-General with analysis, assessment and advice on all disarmament matters and carrying out the responsibilities entrusted to the Secretariat in the field of arms limitation and disarmament;
  - (e) Providing the Secretary-General with support in the political aspects of his relations with Member States;
  - (f) Provision of secretariat services to the General Assembly, the Security Council and their subsidiary organs, as well as assistance to and cooperation with the Committee on the Exercise of the Inalienable Rights of the Palestinian People in the implementation of its mandate;
  - (g) Providing the Secretary-General with advice on requests for electoral assistance and implementing or coordinating the implementation of such programmes.
- 2.49 The estimated percentage distribution of resources under this subsection in 1998-1999 would be as reflected below:

- 2.50 The activities of this subprogramme fall under subprogrammes 1.1, Prevention, control and resolution of conflicts, and 1.2, Assistance and support to the Secretary-General in the political aspects of his relations with Member States, of programme 1, Political affairs, of the medium-term plan for the period 1998-2001 (A/51/6/Rev.1 and Rev.1/Corr.1). The divisions will be Africa I, Africa II, Americas and Europe (merging the previous Divisions for the Americas and for Europe), and Asia (merging the previous Divisions for East Asia and the Pacific and for West Asia). The purpose of the mergers would be to rectify the top-heaviness of the Department's staffing structure, improve efficiency and address the expressed wish of the General Assembly in its resolution 50/214 for the streamlining of the Department as recommended by the Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions.

Subprogramme 1 Prevention, control and resolution of conflicts

- 2.51 The primary purpose of the subprogramme is to support the Secretary-General in the discharge of his global responsibilities related to the prevention, control and resolution of conflicts, in accordance with the relevant provisions of the Charter and under the mandates given to him by the General Assembly and the Security Council.
- 2.52 During the biennium 1998-1999, activities will focus on enhancing the divisions' capacity to monitor political developments relevant to peace and security worldwide; formulating recommendations on probable measures by the United Nations, with the agreement of the Governments concerned, in preventing conflicts or controlling and resolving ongoing conflicts; enhancing the conduct and support of political negotiations; providing substantive direction for non-peacekeeping missions in the field authorized by the General Assembly and Security Council; and enhancing the ability to identify opportunities for peace-building activities by the United Nations with the consent of the Governments concerned, following discussions with them and with other United Nations bodies; and to monitor the political effects of such peace-building activities.

- 2.53 The four divisions will achieve the objectives of this subprogramme by following peace- and security-related developments in the regions under their responsibility.

The current proposals include (a) the abolition of two D-2 posts, one each in the Americas and the West Asia Divisions in view of their mergers with the Europe and East Asia and the Pacific Divisions, respectively; (b) the abolition of one P-5 and three General Service (Other level) posts as a result of rationalization of work within the divisions; (c) the redeployment of one P-5 established post to the Office of the Under-Secretary-General of the Department of Political Affairs, redeployment of one P-5 temporary post to subprogramme 3, Electoral assistance, and one P-4, who carries out functions as secretary of the working groups of the General Assembly to be redeployed to subprogramme 5, General Assembly affairs, in furtherance of the Department's restructuring; (d) the proposed conversion of two temporary posts (one P-5 and one P-4) to established posts in view of the continuing nature of the activities to which they are assigned; and (e) the conversion of one General Service (Other level) post to a Local level post for the Liaison Office at Addis Ababa. The distribution of posts in the biennium 1998-1999 for subprogrammes 1 and 2, as subdivided in the table below, might be adjusted during implementation of the activities as a result of the inevitable flow in the volume of work in each division as new crises develop and old ones are resolved and as opportunities for successful preventive diplomacy and peacemaking are met:

Travel

- 2.62 The proposed provision of $484,200 relates to travel of staff attending meetings of regional organizations; participating in conferences and seminars in the area of preventive diplomacy and peacemaking; undertaking fact-finding and other missions; and accompanying special representatives and special envoys of the Secretary-General.

Subprogramme 3 Electoral assistance

- 2.65 Pursuant to General Assembly resolution 46/137 of 17 December 1991 and successive resolutions on the question of electoral assistance, the medium-term plan for the period 1998-2001 sets out the objectives of this subprogramme, which are to be carried out by the Electoral Assistance Division. The Division provides the Secretary-General and the Under-Secretary-General for Political Affairs, who is appointed by the Secretary-General as the United Nations Focal Point for Electoral Assistance Activities, with the necessary support in providing United Nations electoral assistance to Member States that request it.
- 2.66 Since 1992, the United Nations has received 125 requests for electoral assistance from Member States. Of this total, 22 requests were received in 1995 and 25 in 1996. Recent experience has demonstrated, however, that United Nations assistance rendered in the field of electoral assistance is geared more and more to smaller missions, which give technical assistance to the electoral authorities of the Member State concerned in coordinating the electoral support provided by others, or provide a symbolic United Nations presence, rather than the large missions of prior years for which it organized and conducted (e.g. Cambodia) or observed (e.g. Angola, El Salvador, Namibia, Nicaragua and South Africa) elections.
- 2.67 Consequently, in its implementation of the subprogramme, the Division will evaluate, in consultation with the regional division concerned, requests received from Member States, to validate that they conform with the established criteria for the provision of electoral assistance by the United Nations and submit the necessary recommendations to the Focal Point and, through her/him, to the Secretary-General. The decision to respond positively to a request requires the organization, briefing, deployment and backstopping of a needs assessment mission, which, in consultation with the Government and electoral authorities concerned, results in recommendations as to the form and modalities of the electoral assistance to be provided. A plan is prepared on the basis of the assessment mission's report and, when that plan has been approved, arrangements are made for its implementation in close coordination with other bodies of the United Nations system, such as the Department for Development Support and Management, the Centre for Human Rights and UNDP, as well as regional organizations, bilateral donors and non-governmental organizations. The maintenance of a roster of electoral experts, an inventory of and continuous liaison with other entities active in the electoral assistance field and assessment of the experience of electoral assistance activities in order to refine the modalities employed by the United Nations and continuous updating of standing guidelines for United Nations activities in this field will also be carried out. Other aspects of the work programme include design of the electoral component of United Nations peacekeeping operations, preparation in consultation with other United Nations agencies and non-governmental organizations of technical papers and the organization, also with other United Nations agencies and non-governmental organizations, of seminars and symposia on specific electoral matters. The prospect of sufficient voluntary contributions to the United Nations Trust Fund for Electoral Activities will certainly have a bearing on the level of activities carried out.

Activities

2.68 During the biennium the following activities will be undertaken:

(a) Servicing of intergovernmental and expert bodies

(i) General Assembly

Parliamentary documentation. Reports of the Secretary-General to the General Assembly on the activities of the United Nations to enhance the effectiveness of the principle of periodic and genuine elections (1998 and 1999);

(b) Other substantive activities (RB/XB)

(i) Electoral assistance missions. Conducting exploratory or needs assessment missions following the evaluation of requests, the outcome of which requires preparation of a plan and follow-up for their implementation, including coordinating and supporting the activities of international observers; and technical assistance, follow-up and reporting missions, as well as implementation and organization of supervisory and verification missions;

(ii) Technical material

a. Strengthening the existing institutional memory, so as to ensure consistency in planning technical assistance, through (i) the retrieval of information; (ii) the evaluation of information; (iii) the preparation of guidelines and training materials on various aspects of electoral assistance for the purpose of dissemination; and (iv) field visits;

b. Preparation, in consultation with other United Nations agencies and non-governmental organizations, of technical papers addressing specific topics in the field of electoral administration and observation;

c. Maintenance and expansion of the roster of international experts who could provide technical assistance, including assistance to projects on the organization and conduct, supervision and verification of elections;

d. Design of the electoral component of United Nations peacekeeping operations, including the development of operational strategies and ongoing support;

(c) International cooperation and inter-agency coordination (RB/XB)

(i) Maintenance of contacts with United Nations agencies and intergovernmental and non-governmental organizations involved in providing specific or general electoral assistance in order to streamline joint assistance and avoid duplication;

(ii) Development of regional networks involved in elections and exchange of regional experts within the same regions. During the coming biennium emphasis will be placed on the whole of Africa, Caucasia and Asia, in particular Central Asia;

(iii) Participation with other United Nations agencies and non-governmental organizations in seminars and symposia on specific electoral matters;

(d) Technical cooperation (RB/XB)

(i) Advisory services at the request of Governments. Assessment of requests received from Member States for the provision of electoral assistance by the United Nations and informing them whether the requests conform or not with established criteria. In cases where it is decided to respond positively to a request, Member States are informed of the modalities employed by the United Nations;

- (ii) Group training (seminars, workshops and symposia). Two workshops on various aspects of electoral assistance to electoral processes, to be held possibly in Africa and Asia;
- (iii) Field projects. Projects in cooperation with international and other United Nations organizations funded from the United Nations Trust Fund for Electoral Observation.

Posts

- 2.69 The proposed staffing table of the Electoral Assistance Division consists of eight posts in the Professional category and above (one D-2, two P-5 and three P-4/P-3 established posts and one D-1 and one P-5 temporary posts) and four General Service (Other level) established posts. The increase of $410,200 reflects the combined effect of the application of the new standardized vacancy rates, the redeployment of one P-5 temporary post from subprogrammes 1 and 2 to the Division in order to strengthen it further, as recommended by the General Assembly in its resolution 50/185, and the redeployment of one General Service (Other level) temporary post to programme support, arising from the need for technical support for the Department's technological innovations efforts.

Other staff costs

- 2.70 Other staff costs ($12,600) provides for overtime requirements of the Division.

Consultants and experts

- 2.71 The requirements of $48,600 would cover specialized outside expertise to assist with training materials for electoral observers and electoral verification missions.

Travel

- 2.72 Approximately 50 electoral assistance missions are expected to be undertaken during the biennium. On the basis of experience in funding such missions, a provision of $72,000, reflecting an increase of $31,800, is requested. These resources would cover about 12 needs assessment missions. The cost of approximately 38 missions will be met by the United Nations Trust Fund for Electoral Observation and UNDP.

Furniture and equipment

- 2.73 Resources amounting to $25,000 in the biennium 1996-1997 related to the replacement of office automation equipment for the Division. As the replacement programme for office automation equipment would be centralized under programme support during the biennium 1998-1999, no provisions are requested here.

Posts

- 2.78 The proposed staffing of subprogramme 4, Security Council affairs, for the biennium 1998-1999 would consist of 47 established and 2 temporary posts, as shown in table 2.23. The 1998-1999 staffing reflects (a) the abolition of four temporary posts (one P-5 and three General Service) provided to service the Security Council sanctions committees; (b) the redeployment of one P-4 established post to the programme on disarmament to strengthen the activities relating to regional issues in Africa; and (c) the conversion of one P-4 post and two General Service (Other level) temporary posts to established posts. The distribution of posts among the units of the Security Council Affairs Division would be as follows:

	Office of the Director	Security Council Secretariat Branch	Security Council Subsidiary Organs Branch	Security Council Practices and Charter Research Branch	Military Staff Committee Secretariat	Total
Professional category and above
D-2	1	—	—	—	—	1

Grand total	2	19	17	9	2	49

Other staff costs

- 2.79 The estimated requirements of $186,100 would provide for general temporary assistance ($86,500) and overtime ($99,600). The provision for overtime is proposed in view of the unpredictability inherent in the work of the Security Council, including the extensive servicing of its sanctions committees. Requirements for general temporary assistance relate to the elimination of the accumulated backlog in the preparation of the Repertoire, covering the years since 1989, and the Repertory, since 1979, for which a minimum of approximately 12 work/months at the P-4 level is requested.

Consultants and experts

- 2.80 A provision of $36,100, reflecting an increase of $26,100, is proposed in connection with specialized services required in implementation of specific recommendations related to the publication of the supplements of the Repertoire of the Practice of the Security Council.

Travel

- 2.81 The estimated requirements of $12,000 would provide for travel by staff for consultations concerning the work of the Security Council and participation in seminars, relevant workshops and external briefing sessions on the work of the Council and its subsidiary bodies. An increase of $3,200 is foreseen under this heading.

Contractual services

- 2.82 Estimated requirements of $36,300 would cover specialized indexing services for the French edition of the eighth supplement to the Repertoire, which is essentially ready, and, upon translation, the indexing of the ninth supplement.

General operating expenses

- 2.83 Provisions of $29,000 provided for the biennium 1996-1997 related to communications in connection with long-distance telephone calls and facsimiles for the activities of the Security Council. These will be centralized under programme support and accordingly no resources are requested under this subprogramme.

Furniture and equipment

- 2.84 As the replacement programme will be centralized under programme support no related resources are being requested under this subprogramme.

The resource growth of $767,300 reflects the combined effect of these redeployments and the application of the new standardized vacancy rates.

Posts

- 2.101 The staffing table of subprogramme 6, Decolonization, proposed for the biennium 1998-1999 appears in table 2.27. The staffing reflects the redeployment of two posts (one P-4 and one General Service) to the General Assembly Affairs Division. In addition, functions assigned to the D-1 post would provide concurrently for the Secretary of the Fourth Committee, the supervision of activities relating to subprogramme 6 and the servicing of various working groups established by the President of the General Assembly. The negative growth of $210,400 reflects the combined effect of these redeployments and the application of the new standardized vacancy rates.

Subprogramme 7

Question of Palestine

- 2.102 The subprogramme will be implemented by the Division for Palestinian Rights, which falls organizationally under the General Assembly Affairs Division. A major objective of the subprogramme is to assist the Committee on the Exercise of the Inalienable Rights of the Palestinian People in promoting a solution to the question of Palestine based on the exercise by the Palestinian people of its inalienable rights. The mandate of the Division, established in accordance with General Assembly resolution 32/40 B of 2 December 1977, has been expanded over the years and was most recently reaffirmed by the Assembly in its resolution 51/24 of 4 December 1996.
- 2.103 During the biennium 1998-1999, the Division will continue to provide substantive and technical services to the Committee and assistance to the Chairman and other members in their representational functions; monitor developments through printed and electronic information sources and by maintaining a wide network of contacts; provide information to the members of the Committee on an ongoing basis; and organize the annual observance of the International Day of Solidarity with the Palestinian People, including a Palestinian cultural exhibit, as mandated by the General Assembly.
- 2.104 Activities under the subprogramme will include rendering assistance to the Committee in promoting the effective implementation of the agreements reached between Israel and the PLO and in mobilizing international support for and assistance to the Palestinian people.
- 2.105 The subprogramme will aim to heighten awareness of all aspects of the question of Palestine by organizing forums to facilitate consideration of relevant issues and to promote dialogue among the parties concerned, Governments, United Nations bodies, non-governmental organizations (NGOs) and prominent personalities, including Palestinians and Israelis. In pursuance of these objectives, the Committee has decided to continue its programme of seminars, NGO symposia and international NGO meetings and to streamline and refocus it in the light of the evolving political situation in order to achieve maximum effectiveness. It is envisaged that during the biennium a total of 13 such meetings will be held, reflecting a reduction from prior bienniums namely, 2 consultations with NGO coordinating committees; 2 seminars on assistance to the Palestinian people; 2 seminars and/or NGO symposia for the European region; 2 NGO symposia for the North American region; 2 international NGO meetings; and 3 combined seminars and NGO symposia for Latin America and the Caribbean, Africa and Asia and the Pacific.
- 2.106 In implementation of the request of the Committee, the Division for Palestinian Rights will undertake an annual training programme for staff of the Palestinian Authority in the workings of the United Nations and other international organizations. It is envisaged that two persons would be invited each year to spend a period of three months at Headquarters during the regular session of the General Assembly.
- 2.107 The Division will continue to provide information on the question of Palestine through the preparation of studies and publications and will also continue to develop the United Nations computer-based Information System on the Question of Palestine (UNISPAL) in cooperation with relevant departments of the Secretariat, including the Department of Public Information, other United Nations organs, organizations, bodies and specialized agencies, as well as NGOs. The Committee attaches the highest priority to inclusion in the UNISPAL system of all significant United Nations documentation on the question of Palestine and the Middle East conflict dating back to 1947. In view of the volume of such documents, the Division would award outside contracts for electronic processing of those which cannot be handled by the Division's staff.
- 2.108 Lastly, the Division will continue to cooperate with all concerned United Nations offices and agencies in the implementation of this objective and to maintain contact and exchange information with NGOs interested in the question of Palestine.

Posts

- 2.110 The resources of $2,589,700, reflecting negative growth of $156,200, include proposals for the redeployment of one General Service (Other level) post to programme support in order to strengthen the technical innovations programme of the Department and for abolition of one P-3 post not required for implementation of the programme of activities outlined in paragraph 2.109. Following these changes, the Division would consist of 15 posts.

Other staff costs

- 2.111 The estimated requirements of $93,600 would provide for temporary assistance during meetings organized by the Division for Palestinian Rights away from Headquarters that are not hosted by Governments ($25,000), temporary replacement of General Service staff during periods of maternity leave and extended sick leave ($58,000) and overtime required for work performed beyond normal established working hours, in particular during preparations for the International Day of Solidarity with the Palestinian People ($10,600).

Consultants and experts

- 2.112 The estimated requirements of $30,100, reflecting an increase of $21,900, relate to consultancy services required for the preparation of studies and publications requested by the Committee on the Exercise of the Inalienable Rights of the Palestinian People for which the required expertise is not available in the Secretariat and for expert assistance to develop UNISPAL further.

Travel

- 2.113 A provision of $1,175,100, which reflects an increase of $138,800, would cover:
- (a) The cost of travel and subsistence for members of the Committee, experts and participants attending meetings organized by the Division ($815,500), including an increase of $52,700 in view of the level of activities envisaged. It is anticipated that five members of the Committee, including the Chairman, would travel in their official capacity to attend about 10 meetings away from Headquarters. A varying number of experts, depending on the meetings, would be invited to make formal presentations and to participate in panel discussions;

- (b) The cost of travel of staff ($279,600), including an increase of $86,100, to provide substantive services for seminars, NGO symposia and meetings held away from Headquarters, and of staff who accompany delegations of the Committee, attend meetings and conferences on the question of Palestine and undertake planning missions for future meetings;
- (c) The cost of travel and subsistence of staff of the Palestinian Authority attending the annual training programme in the Division ($80,000).

Contractual services

- 2.114 The provision of $65,300, reflecting growth of $51,800, would be utilized mostly for the substantive development of UNISPAL, requested most recently by the General Assembly in its resolution 51/24. Outside contractors would be required for the conversion into electronic format of thousands of pages of United Nations documents dating back to 1947, which currently exist only in printed form and are not easily accessible to users. Further, in its resolution 51/129, the Assembly requested the Secretary-General to take all appropriate steps to preserve and modernize the existing records concerning Palestinian refugees' properties. In response to those resolutions, $50,300 would be required for the electronic scanning, proofreading and editing of such documents, which would require external data-processing services. Under the terms of General Assembly resolution 36/120 B of 10 December 1981, some publications of the Division are translated into languages other than the official languages of the United Nations. The Committee has requested that each year three publications be translated into three languages to be determined by it. Requirements of $5,000 are estimated in this connection. Other requirements of $10,000 under this heading would provide for printing of miscellaneous items required in relation to the programme of seminars, NGO symposia and international meetings organized by the Division.

General operating expenses

- 2.115 Regional seminars, NGO symposia and meetings are not as a rule hosted by Governments. Provisions are therefore made for the holding of meetings away from an established office ($131,700), including an increase of $13,200 to cover rental of space and, as necessary, rental of interpretation and office equipment, communications and other similar expenses. Other requirements under this heading relate to miscellaneous support services required on site during the holding of regional seminars, NGO symposia and meetings and expenditures arising during the annual Palestinian rights exhibit in New York under the auspices of the Committee ($30,300) and for maintenance of office automation equipment, communications and miscellaneous equipment for headquarters ($88,000).

Hospitality

- 2.116 Resources of $60,500 relate to receptions for local officials and all participants in the meetings hosted by the Chairman of the Committee on the Exercise of the Inalienable Rights of the Palestinian People on the occasion of the seminars, symposia and meetings of NGOs organized by the Division.

Supplies and materials

- 2.117 Requirements of $12,000, reflecting a decrease of $8,100, are estimated for supplies and materials required on site for seminars, NGO symposia and meetings organized by the Division ($5,000) and for subscriptions to newspapers and periodicals and on-line services required for the monitoring of political and other relevant developments affecting the inalienable rights of the Palestinian people ($7,000).

Furniture and equipment

- 2.118 A provision of $57,500 would cover the continued development of UNISPAL ($40,300) and the replacement of office automation equipment ($17,200).

2.119 Activities of this programme falling under programme 26, Disarmament, of the medium-term plan for the period 1998-2001, will be implemented by the Centre for Disarmament Affairs of the Department of Political Affairs.

2.120 In the closing years of the twentieth century it is expected that the international community will intensify its search for new avenues of progress in the field of arms limitation and disarmament, thereby developing a disarmament agenda for the next century. Since the end of the cold war notable progress has been made in a number of important areas, in particular with regard to weapons of mass destruction. These developments have opened new prospects for achieving a more secure and stable world. They have also increased recognition of the essential role played by disarmament and arms limitation in strengthening international peace and security and the need for their further integration into the broader international efforts to enhance peace and security.

- 2.121 The main focus during the biennium 1998-1999 will be on weapons of mass destruction, notably nuclear weapons. Their systematic and progressive reduction, with the ultimate goal of complete elimination, remains a priority task of the international community. At the same time, the disturbingly high number of conflicts in various subregions of the world has called attention to the destabilizing effects and the destructive power of conventional arms, especially of the uncontrolled flow and accumulation of small arms. The need to curb their proliferation and to promote confidence-building measures, openness and transparency in all spheres of the military activities of States at the global, regional and subregional levels is increasingly recognized.
- 2.122 In implementation of the overall objective of the programme, the Centre will provide organizational and substantive secretariat support to multilateral bodies entrusted with deliberation and negotiation on disarmament issues and to review conferences and other international meetings related to multilateral disarmament agreements.
- 2.123 Substantive services and organizational support provided to the Conference on Disarmament at Geneva and its subsidiary bodies to enable it to fulfil its role as the single multilateral negotiating forum of the international community in the field of disarmament are therefore of unique importance. The Conference is currently engaged in a comprehensive review of its agenda in order to tailor it to the new international political and security environment.
- 2.124 The promotion of regional disarmament efforts and initiatives as an essential component of regional peace and stability will also be undertaken, focusing on three different but interrelated areas. Firstly, upon request, the necessary support to subregional and regional organizations to translate globally agreed measures, guidelines and principles into the regional context and, conversely, to pursue region-oriented approaches that will complement global efforts to strengthen international peace and security will be provided. Secondly, the Centre will assist, as appropriate, initiatives of interested States, either individual or joint, aimed at increasing openness and transparency in military matters, promoting confidence-building and concluding arms limitation and disarmament agreements as a means of preventing new crises and conflicts or solidifying internal, subregional or regional conciliation of former adversaries. Lastly, regional conferences, meetings and seminars will be organized with a view to providing a forum for a high-level but informal exchange of ideas and initiatives as a means of finding common ground and identifying areas of possible future negotiations and agreements by interested States with regard to arms limitation and disarmament. The United Nations Disarmament Information Programme will serve as a tool for generating public understanding and support for the efforts of Governments to achieve regional solutions to regional problems. It is expected to broaden its scope in addressing a wider range of issues. Impartial and factual information on the United Nations disarmament efforts will be provided to Member States, parliamentarians, research and academic institutions and specialized non-governmental organizations. Training for young diplomats, in particular from developing countries, will also be provided through the Disarmament Fellowship Programme. Regional activities will to a large extent depend on the availability of voluntary contributions, however, as is evident from the proposal to terminate the Regional Centre for Peace, Disarmament and Development in Latin America and the Caribbean, owing to the continuous lack of financial contributions. Activities were suspended in July 1996, as indicated in the report of the Secretary-General of 25 September 1996 (A/51/403).
- 2.125 Two regular ministerial meetings each biennium of the United Nations Standing Advisory Committee on Security Questions in Central Africa are financed from the regular budget. Its programme of work for the biennium 1998-1999 is dependent on political decisions taken by its member States. Implementation of activities other than the two ministerial meetings in the Committee's work programme would bear on the availability of voluntary contributions.
- 2.126 The Centre will monitor and assess trends in the field of disarmament and international security in order to assist Member States in their search for agreement and to enable the Secretary-General to carry out the functions entrusted to him by the Charter of the United Nations and the relevant decisions of the General Assembly. Contributing to the building of confidence in military matters through, inter alia, the operation and maintenance of the United Nations Register of Conventional Arms and efforts to strengthen the standardized reporting system of military expenditures, as may be decided by Member States, will be undertaken. Monitoring and assessing current and future trends in the field of disarmament and international security through the maintenance of a well-researched disarmament database would be another aspect of the work programme.

- 2.127 The Centre will continue to work closely with the four regional divisions of the Department of Political Affairs in contributing its expertise in practical disarmament measures to an integrated approach by the Department to its core task of rendering assistance to Member States in preventing, controlling and resolving conflicts.

Posts

- 2.129 The staffing of the Centre for Disarmament Affairs would consist of 25 posts in the Professional category and above (1 D-2, 3 D-1, 7 P-5, 11 P-4/P-3 and 3 P-2) and 18 General Service (3 Principal and 15 Other level) established posts funded under the regular budget, located at New York and Geneva. As a result of the efforts to streamline the Centre and to improve the efficiency of its programme delivery, it is proposed that the three P-5 posts approved for the three regional centres at Kathmandu, Lomé and Lima and two General Service (one Principal and one Other level) posts in New York Headquarters be abolished. The three P-5 posts have not been filled since their approval, nor have voluntary contributions for the operations of the Centres been made as expected. One other P-5 Senior Officer post not required for the work programme is also proposed for abolition. The redeployment of one P-4 post from subprogramme 4, Security Council affairs, is also proposed, to enhance the Centre's activities relating to regional issues in Africa. The effect of the application of the standardized vacancy rates and the proposed inward redeployment of a P-4 post are offset in full by the abolition of five posts under this programme. In addition to those financed under the regular budget, two General Service (Other level) posts shown in the staffing table are provided under the Trust Fund for the United Nations Disarmament Information Programme. Those posts carry out functions related to the production and dissemination of publications.

Other staff costs

- 2.130 Requirements of $333,400, reflecting a decrease of $238,700, are estimated for the following: (a) general temporary assistance, to cover six work/months at the P-5 level for preparation of background papers in connection with the fourth special session of the General Assembly devoted to disarmament, and for substantive and secretarial support to the special session and its Preparatory Committee ($234,300); and (b) overtime requirements, in particular for support to the First Committee, the Disarmament Commission, the fourth special session of the General Assembly devoted to disarmament, the Conference on Disarmament and its subsidiary bodies and various study groups ($99,100).

Consultants and experts

- 2.131 The proposed provision of $1,386,300 under this heading reflects an increase of $247,800 and would cover the following:
- Consultants required in connection with the preparation of studies and expert reports ($31,100);
  - Ad hoc expert groups. Requirements in connection with the 22 experts of the Advisory Board on Disarmament Matters; 5 experts to update the 1990 report on the role of science and technology; 2 expert groups comprising 20 experts on topics to be determined; and travel and subsistence of 33 representatives and experts to the ministerial meetings of the Standing Advisory Committee on Security Questions in Central Africa ($1,355,200).

Travel

- 2.132 The total provision proposed ($392,400), including a decrease of $47,500, would cover travel of staff pertaining to substantive servicing of the Standing Advisory Committee on Security Questions in Central Africa; the Advisory Board on Disarmament Matters; the disarmament fellowship programme; special and fact-finding missions related to arms limitation and disarmament and activities in cooperation with specialized agencies and regional organizations; travel of the Director in a representational capacity on behalf of the Secretary-General; and other travel of staff, in particular in connection with attendance at disarmament seminars, workshops and regional conferences; and the implementation of disarmament studies.

Contractual services

- 2.133 The estimate of $69,900 relates to external printing in connection with the publications programme of the Centre.

General operating expenses

- 2.134 The provision of $162,000, reflecting a reduction of $6,700, would cover rental of premises ($12,000), rental and maintenance of office and data-processing equipment ($16,000), communications ($103,900) and miscellaneous support services ($30,100).

Hospitality

- 2.135 The proposed requirements of $12,000 include an increase of $6,000 in view of the official functions extended by the Centre for Disarmament Affairs at seminars and for the Disarmament Fellowship Programme.

Supplies and materials

- 2.136 The proposed provision of $20,500 would meet requirements for stationery and office supplies ($4,900) and purchase of library books and subscriptions to periodicals for the disarmament library ($15,600).

Furniture and equipment

- 2.137 The provision of $69,500 reflects a decrease of $89,900 relating to the acquisition in 1996-1997 of equipment, hardware, software and other related electronic data-processing equipment in connection with the operation of the United Nations Disarmament Information System and the Register of Conventional Arms. The provision would cover replacement of existing data-processing equipment, upgrading of the existing computer network, including the database on the Register and the general disarmament information database, and the purchase of two laptop computers and a fax machine.

Grants and contributions

- 2.138 The estimates of $1,376,000 relate to (a) provisions for the Disarmament Fellowship Programme ($950,000) consisting of lecturers' fees and travel amounting to $1,500, travel stipends and terminal allowance for 25 fellows, amounting to $925,000; and other requirements, including interpretation and production of training materials and books, amounting to $23,500; and (b) the subvention to UNIDIR ($426,000). The negative growth of $67,700 results from the reduction in the number of training workshops.

- 2.140 The Executive Office provides administrative, managerial and programme support necessary for the implementation of mandated activities of the Department. It assists the Under-Secretary-General in the preparation of the medium-term plan, the preparation and monitoring of the programme budget, financial management of trust funds and extrabudgetary resources, relevant support services for the efficient utilization of human resources and the planning, control and coordination of requirements related to general office administration.

Resource requirements (at current rates)Posts*

- 2.141 The continuation of the current staffing of the Executive Office proposed for the biennium 1998-1999 is shown in table 2.34. In addition, two General Service (Other level) posts are proposed for redeployment from subprogrammes 3, Electoral assistance, and 7, Question of Palestine, in order to strengthen the Department's technological innovations programme.

Other staff costs

- 2.142 Other staff costs relate to the following:
- General temporary assistance ($64,300), including an increase of $11,800, to provide for the hiring of temporary staff to replace staff on sick leave and maternity leave or during periods of peak workload;
  - Overtime ($70,400), reflecting a decrease of $15,200, to cover servicing requirements for the Department during periods of peak workload.

Contractual services

- 2.143 A provision of $307,600, reflecting an increase of $191,100, would cover the external printing requirements of the Department ($16,100) and requirements related to commercial information database services, which provide access to world events ($291,500). The increase of $191,100 is attributable to increased usage.

General operating expenses

- 2.144 A provision of $961,500, reflecting an increase of $489,700, is requested. The growth relates almost entirely to the redeployment of communications resources from the various subprogrammes under the Department, excluding subprogramme 7, Question of Palestine, and the programme on disarmament. The breakdown is as follows: (a) rental and maintenance of data-processing equipment ($31,200); (b) communications requirements, hereafter centrally provided for under this subsection ($579,400); (c) maintenance of office automation equipment ($300,700); and (d) provision for miscellaneous services that may arise in connection with the implementation of the programme activities of the Department ($50,200).

Supplies and materials

- 2.145 The estimated requirements ($155,700) relate to the cost of data-processing, facsimile and other office supplies ($95,300) and subscriptions to newspapers, periodicals, journals and reference and other materials ($60,400).

Furniture and equipment

- 2.146 The provision of $508,600 would cover the cost of the replacement of the Department's office automation equipment in line with the policy for replacement of equipment. The requirements would cover (a) acquisition of office automation equipment, including facsimile machines, shredders, laptop and personal computers and related software ($167,400); and (b) replacement of office automation equipment ($341,200). The increase of $190,900 reflects the redeployment of resources related to the replacement of office automation equipment from other areas of the Department in order to consolidate resources under this heading to the extent possible.

Department of Political Affairs: proposed organizational structure and post distribution for the biennium 1998-1999

Section 3

Peacekeeping operations and special missions

Overview

- 3.1 Under subsection A, provisions are made for the Department of Peacekeeping Operations, consisting of the Office of the Under-Secretary-General for Peacekeeping Operations, the Office of Operations and the Office of Planning and Support. The Field Administration and Logistics Division is organizationally under the responsibility of the latter Office. The activities of the United Nations Supply Depot at Pisa, the resources of which were previously included under the Field Administration and Logistics Division, have now been consolidated in the United Nations Logistics Base at Brindisi. Accordingly, no related provisions are made under the regular budget for 1998-1999.
- 3.2 Provisions are made under subsection B for two peacekeeping missions funded from the regular budget, UNTSO and UNMOGIP.
- 3.3 Under section C, provisions are made for the Office of the United Nations Special Coordinator in the Occupied Territories, for which appropriations were approved by the General Assembly under section 4, Peacekeeping operations and special missions, of the programme budget for the biennium 1994-1995 (A/48/6/Rev.1). Provision is also made for MINUGUA, whose mandate was extended until 31 March 1998 by the General Assembly in its resolution 51/198 B of 27 March 1997. In connection with the requirements of MINUGUA for the balance of the biennium 1998-1999, the Secretary-General has taken note of the oral comments of the Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions (A/C.5/51/SR.54) which stated, inter alia, that the Mission would be likely to continue until the end of 2000 and that the Committee expected that the proposed programme budget for the biennium 1998-1999 would include resources for the financing of MINUGUA for the biennium. For a variety of reasons, it has not been possible to meet this expectation in time to incorporate these resources in the Secretary-General's initial proposals of the programme budget for the biennium 1998-1999. The General Assembly will revert to the matter at its fifty-second session.
- 3.4 In addition, ad hoc missions undertaken at the request of the Security Council and/or the General Assembly and Governments, or at the initiative of the Secretary-General in the exercise of his good offices related to preventive diplomacy and peacemaking, are included under subsection C. The activities of those missions will either have been completed by 1997 or are of an extraordinary nature and their extension cannot be foreseen at this stage. Accordingly, no provisions are being requested at this time.

A. Department of Peacekeeping Operations

Overview

- 3.5 In its resolution 51/219 of 18 December 1996, by which it adopted the proposed medium-term plan for the period 1998-2001 (A/51/6/Rev.1 and Rev.1/Corr.1), the General Assembly noted that one of the priority areas was the maintenance of international peace and security. The programme of activities carried out under this section corresponds to programme 2, Peacekeeping operations, of the medium-term plan. The functions and organization of the Department are outlined in the Organization Manual (ST/SGB/Organization dated 23 August 1995).
- 3.6 The Department of Peacekeeping Operations is responsible for the implementation of the work programme under this section. The Department acts as the operational arm of the Secretary-General for United Nations field missions and has primary responsibility for managing, directing and supporting all mandated peacekeeping operations and for providing administrative and logistics support to good offices, preventive diplomacy, peacemaking and humanitarian missions, as required.
- 3.7 In the implementation of its tasks for the maintenance of peace and security, the Department will continue to provide executive direction and management of existing operations and administrative support to all field missions, which encompasses the areas of logistics, communications, electronic data processing, recruitment, deployment and administration of field personnel, financial management and the planning of new operations; and to ensure the enhancement of the United Nations capacity and effectiveness in conducting peacekeeping operations and other field missions. It will continue to develop, maintain and enhance a ready, flexible capacity to undertake peacekeeping and other field operations.
- 3.8 The programme of work is characterized by the complexity, duration and number of current and future mandates, the multiple tasks assigned to them, the need to strengthen regional arrangements, within their respective mandates scope and composition, in order to enhance the capabilities of the international community in the maintenance of peace and security; and the need to enhance cooperation between peacekeeping operations and other United Nations activities. The United Nations will continue to be responsible for operations in which it interposes troops to monitor a ceasefire and/or buffer zone. It will also continue to be called upon to deal with operations in which the United Nations may be involved in a wide range of military, police and civilian matters. Such operations could likely entail politically and militarily demanding tasks in view of the complex situations in which they are deployed.
- 3.9 In recent experience, some peacekeeping operations have been mandated to include different combinations of the following tasks: monitoring ceasefires and buffer zones, protecting humanitarian convoys, disarming and demobilizing ex-combatants, reforming military establishments, defining and establishing police forces, organizing or monitoring elections, monitoring human rights, promoting electoral and judicial reform, promoting aspects of civil administration and coordinating economic rehabilitation.
- 3.10 The Department must maintain a capacity to discharge effectively those tasks assigned to it, as mandated in accordance with the Charter and taking into account the important contribution that regional arrangements and agencies can make to peacekeeping.
- 3.11 While the activities of the Department will depend on political developments and related mandates from the competent intergovernmental bodies, during the biennium 1998-1999, the Department will concentrate on the preparation of analyses, operational plans and directives; monitoring ongoing operations and providing day-to-day guidance to them; and maintaining liaison with Member States concerning participation in such operations. In addition, the Department will coordinate the participation of other departments involved in peacekeeping operations, submit reports to the Security Council and the General Assembly, as well as provide support in the areas of administration, logistics, staffing, budget preparation and financial management.

Executive direction and policy

- 3.12 The subprogramme will provide and establish overall authority for all policies and decisions at the programme level; expedite, complement and amplify the information flow between field offices and the Department; provide in-depth research and analysis of emerging policy questions related to the activities of the programme; and maintain and, to the extent possible, enhance the professional capacity of the Organization in the provision of military advice for the planning and conduct of peacekeeping operations.
- 3.13 The Office of the Under-Secretary-General for Peacekeeping Operations, including the Military Adviser's Office, the Policy and Analysis Unit and the Situation Centre, will be responsible for the implementation of the subprogramme.

Activities

- 3.14 During the biennium the following activities will be undertaken:
- (a) Special Committee on Peacekeeping Operations. (i) Preparation of approximately two reports and 15 briefing notes on issues related to peacekeeping operations annually; and (ii) substantive and technical servicing of the Special Committee on Peacekeeping Operations.
  - (b) Other substantive activities. (i) Research and analysis of emergent policy questions and the formulation of policies and procedures; (ii) the maintenance of high-level contact with the parties to conflict, members of the Security Council and troop contributors in the implementation of mandates of the Security Council; (iii) advice on the military implications of resolutions; planning of proposals for operations in the field and provision of advice on military matters to Force Commanders of peacekeeping operations on their implementation; and (iv) provision of daily situation reports and various analyses on peacekeeping issues to other departments and Member States. An estimated 500 such reports and analyses are prepared annually.

Resource requirements (at current rates)

- 3.15 The resources requested under the regular budget do not encompass the full requirements for the activities to be carried out by the Department and the Secretary-General will continue to seek additional staffing through the support account for peacekeeping operations. This approach also recognizes that the nature of the activities to be undertaken and the number, range and scope of the mandates the Department is responsible for implementing cannot be predicted well in advance.
- 3.16 All resources under non-post objects previously also reflected under subprogramme 3, Field administration and logistics support, have been redeployed to this subprogramme. This would allow for greater flexibility in the management of resources under the regular budget in the Department.

Posts

- 3.17 Within subprogramme 1, Executive direction and policy, there are five offices/units (including the Executive Office, which, although considered as serving the function of programme support, has been included under this heading as it only has one regular budget post, and the Situation Centre, which contains no regular budget post). Resources requested under the regular budget, consisting of eight posts, are distributed in the organizational units indicated below:
- (a) The immediate Office of the Under-Secretary-General, consisting of the Under-Secretary-General of the Department, a P-2 and one General Service post;
  - (b) The Military Adviser's Office (one D-2, one P-5 and one General Service post);
  - (c) The Policy and Analysis Unit (one P-2);
  - (d) The Executive Office (one P-4);
  - (e) The Situation Centre, of which all posts are funded from the support account for peacekeeping operations.

Other staff costs

- 3.18 Resources of $186,100 requested under this heading relate to general temporary assistance ($79,800) and overtime ($106,300). The provision under general temporary assistance would meet requirements for the replacement of staff on maternity leave and extended sick leave ($35,400) and to meet peak workload demands ($44,400). Estimates for the replacement of staff are based on the cost of eight work months of a General Service staff member for the biennium; temporary assistance for peak periods is based on the cost of approximately 10 work months of a General Service staff member. Estimates under overtime are based on 2,416 hours for 1998-1999 at a rate of $22 per hour.

Consultants and experts

- 3.19 A provision of $93,300 is required to cover specialized consultancy services not readily available in the Secretariat for preparation of material on specific themes related to peacekeeping, development of information databases and specialized military planning, as follows:
- (a) Information integration. The Department has developed distinctive information and communication links with the peacekeeping and political missions in the field that it either manages or administers. A study would be required to examine and make recommendations on the most cost-effective ways of integrating current systems and ensuring evolution towards common longer-term standards in communications, storage and retrieval of information for field missions headquarters, and between field and Headquarters. This study would complement work under way elsewhere in Headquarters on a common information management strategy. The study should produce concrete recommendations, including costings for any hardware, software and training, as well as an implementation time-frame, within six months;
  - (b) Political affairs consultant, specialized in disarmament, demobilization and reintegration of armed forces. The consultant would undertake a study to draw lessons from disarmament, demobilization and reintegration of armed forces programmes carried out by past and ongoing peacekeeping missions and recommended ways of improving the formulation and implementation of future programmes. The period of work would be four months.

Travel

- 3.20 Provision of $173,600 under this heading relates to travel of the Under-Secretary-General, Assistant Secretaries-General, Directors and other officers of the Department, as follows:

Subprogramme 4 Planning

- 3.38 The activities of the subprogramme include all technical matters related to the planning and support of peacekeeping operations and other field missions. The subprogramme is responsible for the overall planning and coordination of field missions, civilian police, demining and training activities. It prepares guidelines and operational manuals for the different components of peacekeeping operations and formulates requests for contributions of personnel and other facilities by Member States; maintains contacts with Member States and other organizations regarding contributions to peacekeeping operations and standby arrangements; and plans and determines the proper combination of equipment required by missions and the time-frame for their delivery.
- 3.39 The responsibility for the implementation of the activities of the subprogramme rests with the Office of Planning and Support with its various organizational units in the Planning Division, consisting of the Mission Planning Service, the Civilian Police Unit, the Lessons Learned Unit, the Demining Unit, the Medical Support Unit and the Training Unit.

- (i) Develop and maintain a reference library and automated database to serve as repository for lessons learned in peacekeeping missions and associated studies; and prepare reports and recommendations on peacekeeping operations and specific lessons learned;
  - (ii) Debrief and interview key field personnel and document relevant lessons for future reference; and conduct mid-mission assessments;
  - (iii) Maintain close contact with regional institutions, Member States and United Nations agencies on lessons learned.

Posts

- 3.41 The resources requested relate to the cost of posts indicated in table 3.14 above. The requirement of $1,088,900 reflects a growth of $76,000, which represents the effect of applying the new standardized vacancy rates.

- 3.43 UNTSO was the first United Nations peacekeeping operation, originally established under the provisions of Security Council resolution 50 (1948) for the purpose of supervising the truce in Palestine as called for by the Council. Since then, UNTSO has been entrusted with a variety of tasks by the Council. In its resolution 73 (1949), the Council requested the Secretary-General to arrange for the continued service of such of the personnel of UNTSO as might be required in observing and maintaining the ceasefire, as requested by the Council in its resolution 54 (1948), and as might be necessary in assisting the parties to the 1949 Armistice Agreements in the supervision of the application and observance of the terms of those agreements.
- 3.44 The functions of UNTSO have been modified from time to time, as required. Since the establishment of UNDOF and UNIFIL, UNTSO observers assigned to the Israel-Lebanon and the Israel-Syria sector have been placed under the operational control of the commanders of UNIFIL and UNDOF to assist them in the fulfilment of their task, without prejudice to the continued functioning of UNTSO in the two sectors, should the mandates of the peacekeeping forces lapse.
- 3.45 During the current biennium, at the initiative of the Secretary-General, a streamlining of the administrative structure and activities of UNTSO was undertaken with a view to increasing efficiency and reducing operational costs. The resource requirements described below reflect the result of the streamlining efforts of the Secretariat.

Resource requirements (at current rates)Posts*

- 3.46 The resources requested under this heading would cover the cost of posts indicated in table 3.19 above. The estimates include proposals for the abolition of 23 posts (8 in the Field Service category and 15 at the Local level) and the reclassification of the post of a Budget Officer from P-2 to P-3. The resource growth of $696,000 reflects the application of the new standardized vacancy rates.

Other staff costs

- 3.47 Provisions of $7,150,300 would cover the cost of mission subsistence allowance for 152 military observers ($6,742,900); general temporary assistance ($52,400); overtime ($101,400); and subsistence allowance ($253,600):
- (a) Military observers. During the biennium 1996-1997, UNTSO has had an authorized strength of 174 military observers. In the course of that period, the number of military observers has been reduced by 13 throughout the mission area. In addition, the Observer Group in Egypt was partially closed, resulting in a further reduction of nine military observers. For the biennium 1998-1999, the distribution of 152 military observers would be as follows: Beirut (3), Naqoura (50), Damascus (43), Tiberias (37), Ismalia (4) and at the mission headquarters (15);
  - (b) General temporary assistance. A new provision for the replacement of staff on maternity leave and extended sick leave is proposed. Based on average expenditures during 1992-1993 and 1994-1995, it is estimated that $52,400 would be required for 1998-1999;
  - (c) Overtime. Since there is no public transport to Government House, UNTSO contracts bus drivers to operate UNTSO buses for the transportation of staff to and from Government House. For the biennium 1998-1999, the functions will be performed by local staff outside established working hours. Accordingly, the related resources are requested. Included in the estimates are night differentials paid to security officers performing shift duties;
  - (d) Subsistence allowance. Provisions under this heading relate to subsistence allowance of the Chief of Staff, the Senior Adviser and the Chief Administrative Officer during their regular inspection and consultation travel to the outstations in Damascus, Beirut, Cairo, Ismalia, Tiberias and Nahariya, and subsistence of Field Service and Local staff during their travel to these outstations for the purpose of maintenance of buildings and equipment.

Travel

- 3.48 Resources requested amounting to $2,735,700 relate to travel of staff ($30,100) and emplacement and return travel of military observers ($2,705,600).

General operating expenses

- 3.49 The total provision of $3,823,100 would cover the cost of rental and maintenance of premises throughout the mission area ($966,500), utilities ($294,200), rental of data-processing equipment ($345,200), communications ($741,200), maintenance of vehicles ($495,000), maintenance of other furniture and equipment ($184,000), maintenance of office automation equipment ($366,700) and miscellaneous services ($430,300) such as freight and general insurance.

Hospitality

- 3.50 The provision of $8,900 would cover the cost of official functions extended to visiting dignitaries and members of troop-contributing countries to the mission areas, as well as reimbursement of staff not entitled to representation allowance but who are sometimes required to extend hospitality to officials of intergovernmental organizations that are not members of the common system.

Supplies and materials

- 3.51 Provisions of $1,106,000 relate to stationery and other office supplies, including data-processing supplies ($229,300); petrol, oil and lubricants of the full fleet of 186 UNTSO vehicles ($351,400); and other operational supplies, such as medical supplies, operational maps, telecommunication supplies and uniforms ($525,300).

Furniture and equipment

- 3.52 The estimates of $3,299,200 relate to regular replacement of office furniture and equipment ($149,200); data-processing equipment ($1,344,200); vehicles ($1,134,300); communications equipment ($569,900); and other miscellaneous equipment ($101,600):

- (a) Estimates under office furniture and equipment include the replacement of furniture and fixtures; air-conditioners, shredders, sanding machines, dictaphones and heaters; and accommodation and internal reproduction equipment;
- (b) Under data-processing equipment, the estimates include the acquisition and replacement of electronic data-processing software and the acquisition and replacement of electronic data-processing and office automation equipment. In the proposed programme budget for the biennium 1996-1997 (A/50/6/Rev.1), an amount of $618,800 was requested and approved for the replacement of data-processing and office automation equipment. In responding to the mandated reductions called for by the General Assembly in its resolution 50/214 of 23 December 1995, all replacements and acquisitions were deferred to the next biennium. The resources requested for 1998-1999 reflect the reinstatement of the request approved in the proposed programme budget for the biennium 1996-1997 and the replacement and acquisitions required for 1998-1999;
- (c) Provisions under the vehicle replacement programme are based on the replacement of 45 vehicles, 42 of which should have been replaced during the biennium 1996-1997 but were not in order to achieve economies mandated by the General Assembly in resolution 50/214;
- (d) Under communications equipment, the estimates include the installation of an intermission link between UNTSO, UNDOF and UNIFIL in order to allow high-speed data transmission over the network, thereby improving the quality and reliability of voice and facsimile transmission; and the replacement of other communications equipment, such as hand-held and mobile radios, facsimile machines and automated fax switches;
- (e) Under other miscellaneous equipment, the resources requested relate to the acquisition and installation of an "electronic trip ticket" in each UNTSO vehicle. The device would record mileage and vehicle speed, monitor fuel consumption, identify fuel stations and record engine start/stop times.

- 3.53 UNMOGIP was established in 1949 by the United Nations Commission for India and Pakistan, pursuant to Security Council resolutions 39 (1948) and 47 (1948), to supervise the ceasefire in the State of Jammu and Kashmir. The Security Council, in its resolution 91 (1951), decided that the Military Observer Group should continue to supervise the ceasefire in the State. Following the 1971 hostilities, the Council, in its resolution 307 (1971), demanded that a durable ceasefire and cessation of all hostilities in all areas of conflict be strictly observed and remain in effect until withdrawals take place, as soon as practicable, of all armed forces to their respective territories and to positions that fully respect the ceasefire line in Jammu and Kashmir supervised by UNMOGIP.
- 3.54 At present the task of UNMOGIP is to observe developments pertaining to the strict observance of the ceasefire of 17 December 1971 and to report thereon to the Secretary-General. The activity in the field is coordinated by a main headquarters in Rawalpindi and a rear headquarters in Srinagar during the winter time, carried out by military observers deployed in field stations and mobile observation teams. A liaison office is operating in New Delhi. In addition, international United Nations staff, assisted by local staff, provide administrative and logistical support. Military personnel from the Indian and Pakistani armies provide transport, security and field station domestic services.

Resource requirements (at current rates)Posts*

- 3.55 Resources requested reflect the cost of posts indicated in table 3.21 above. This includes a proposal for the establishment of a P-4 post and a reduction of four posts in the Field Service category and three at the Local level. The Professional staff in UNMOGIP consists of two posts: the Head of the Mission (D-2) and the Chief Administrative Officer (P-5). The establishment of a Political Affairs Officer post, at the P-4 level, is proposed to assist the Head of Mission.

Other staff costs

- 3.56 Provisions of $1,395,700 relate to the mission daily subsistence allowance of 45 military observers ($1,163,700); subsistence allowance for international staff during the semi-annual move to Srinagar ($212,600); and general temporary assistance to provide for replacement of staff on maternity leave and extended sick leave ($19,400).

Travel

- 3.57 The resources in the amount of $1,104,000 under travel can be broken down as follows: $39,000 would cover the cost of staff travel between the mission area and Headquarters for consultations (approximately one trip for two staff per year) and travel of two field staff from the mission area to Headquarters for training in the context of the implementation of IMIS (costed at one trip for two staff for the biennium); and $1,065,000 for emplacement and return travel for military observers.

General operating expenses

- 3.58 Under general operating expenses, the resources of $2,086,600 relate to rental of premises ($374,600); utilities ($101,800); rental and maintenance of data-processing equipment ($133,600); rental of aircraft ($830,700); communications ($270,200); maintenance of transport equipment ($133,800); maintenance of office automation equipment ($120,000); and miscellaneous services ($121,900).

Hospitality

- 3.59 A provision of $1,700 is requested under hospitality to cover official functions and to reimburse staff not entitled to representation allowance but required to extend hospitality to government representatives visiting the mission.

Supplies and materials

- 3.60 The provision of $995,400 would cover the cost of petrol, oil and lubricants ($290,300); telecommunications supplies and spare parts ($340,900); stationery and office supplies ($94,200); and other miscellaneous supplies ($270,000).

Furniture and equipment

- 3.61 The estimated requirements of $824,600 relate to the acquisition and replacement of office furniture and accommodation equipment ($20,100), data-processing equipment ($95,800); replacement of vehicles ($483,500); and communications equipment ($225,200).

3.62 This Office was set up in 1994 after the Declaration of Principles on Interim Self-Government Arrangements was signed by Israel and the PLO on 13 September 1993. The General Assembly supported the Declaration of Principles with the adoption of several resolutions, including resolution 48/213 of 21 December 1993, entitled "Assistance to the Palestinian people". The resolution requested the Secretary-General, inter alia, to ensure the coordinated work of the United Nations system for an adequate response to the needs of the Palestinian people and to mobilize financial, technical, economic and other assistance. In June 1994, the Secretary-General appointed a Special Coordinator in the Occupied Territories.

3.63 The functions of UNSCO include:

- (a) Coordination of the United Nations economic, social and other assistance in the West Bank and Gaza Strip and facilitating coordination among the respective United Nations programmes and agencies and with the Palestinian Authority;
- (b) Coordination with the World Bank and the Palestinian Authority of donor contributions for development programmes in the West Bank and Gaza, to assist with the World Bank, as secretariat for donor coordination committees established on the ground, and to represent the United Nations on the Ad Hoc Liaison Committee and related bodies;

- (c) Contacts with non-governmental organizations;
  - (d) Contacts with relevant regional organizations and financial institutions and support for the implementation of the Declaration of Principles upon the request of the parties;
  - (e) The Office also assists in the training of the Palestinian Police and undertakes other responsibilities in the West Bank and Gaza Strip that may be entrusted to the United Nations but fall outside the sectoral briefs of the United Nations agencies and programmes;
  - (f) Represent the Secretary-General in the multilateral track of the Middle East peace process and coordinate United Nations participation in the multilateral working groups.
- 3.64 Activities for the biennium 1998-1999 are those arising out of the above objectives. The Office coordinates the preparation of the annual programme of United Nations agencies presented to the Consultative Group Meeting organized by the World Bank in the third quarter of each year. It also serves the local donor coordination communities and groups and, with the World Bank, acts as secretariat for major meetings. UNSCO works closely with the Palestinian Ministry of Planning and International Cooperation, helps the Palestinian Authority to keep abreast of donor, United Nations and other contributions and, with the Authority, gives advice on police training and the rule of law/legal sector and assists in monitoring the social and economic situation for donors, the Palestinian Authority, the United Nations and non-governmental organizations.
- 3.65 UNSCO is structured according to its mandate and terms of reference into units. The United Nations Coordination Unit will continue to facilitate coordination among the respective United Nations programmes and agencies through monthly coordination meetings through regular contact with United Nations representatives, hosting of the annual United Nations inter-agency meetings, development of the annual United Nations strategy papers and maintaining the six priority sector working groups. The Donor Coordination Unit will continue to act as focal point in maintaining and strengthening the local donor coordination mechanisms, including the Joint Liaison Committee, the Local Aid Coordination Committee and sector working groups through the following: (a) its direct work as secretariat; (b) its regular contact with donors; and (c) resource publications on donor aid and the coordination mechanisms. The Economic and Social Monitoring Unit will continue to support the development effort by providing information and analysis on socio-economic trends in the West Bank and Gaza Strip.
- 3.66 UNSCO will continue to liaise with local and international non-governmental organizations and act as a focal point for information for the non-governmental organization community. The Legal Sector Coordination and Advice Unit will expand its involvement in developing its activities with the Palestinian Authority, non-governmental organizations and others to strengthen the legal and institutional infrastructure for sustained development of an integrated, cohesive legal system.
- 3.67 The Special Coordinator will continue to represent the United Nations in the Ad Hoc Liaison Committee and related bodies, established to follow up the Conference to Support Middle East Peace, held in Washington, D.C., on 1 October 1993. As and when possible, he will lead the United Nations delegations to the multilateral working groups of the Middle East peace process. In addition to these coordinating functions, the Special Coordinator will continue to support the implementation of the Declaration of Principles, as requested by the parties. Responsibilities in the West Bank and Gaza Strip that may be entrusted to the United Nations but fall outside the sectoral briefs of the United Nations agencies and programmes will be the direct responsibility of the Special Coordinator.

Resource requirements (at current rates)

Posts

- 3.68 The resources requested under this heading reflect the continuation of four temporary posts indicated in table 3.26 above.

Other staff costs

- 3.69 Under other staff costs, the estimates of $2,771,200 relate to general temporary assistance ($2,761,200) and overtime ($10,000). At its forty-ninth session, the General Assembly approved provisions under general temporary assistance for 29 posts (3 P-4, 1 P-3, 3 General Service, 4 Field Service, 4 Security Officers and 14 Local level). The continuation of these provisions was approved in 1996-1997. The 1998-1999 proposals reflect the continuation of these provisions in respect of 25 staff (3 P-4, 1 P-3, 1 General Service (Principal level), 2 Security and Safety, 3 Field Service and 15 Local level). The provision under overtime would be utilized during periods of peak workload and for security detail provided to the Special Coordinator when working outside established working hours.

Consultants and experts

- 3.70 The resources requested ($150,100) relate to 18 work months of consultancy services during the biennium, including cost of travel and subsistence in order to provide the Special Coordinator with expert advice, not available in-house, on specific subjects on specific conditions in the occupied territories.

Travel

- 3.71 The estimated requirements under this heading ($270,200) would cover the cost of travel of the Special Coordinator to represent the United Nations meetings of the Ad Hoc Liaison Committee and to participate in consultative group meetings. Provisions also relate to travel of the Special Coordinator and his staff within the occupied territories, to the West Bank and Jericho, as well as travel to Jerusalem in conjunction with the coordination activities under his responsibilities, and consultation travel to Headquarters.

Contractual services

- 3.72 Provisions of $5,900 for the local training of staff in areas such as office automation, stress management, first aid, media relations and negotiating skills, and environmental management.

General operating expenses

- 3.73 The estimated resources of $1,061,100 relate to the following expenditures:
- (a) Rental and maintenance of premises ($333,100). This would cover the cost of rented premises in Gaza and a small office in the West Bank, including utilities and miscellaneous maintenance services required for those premises;
  - (b) Communications ($427,600). The estimated requirements would cover the cost of telephone, telexes, postage and pouches and the rental of a satellite earth station;
  - (c) Maintenance of furniture and equipment ($300,400). The estimates relate to the maintenance of vehicles ($72,000), data-processing equipment ($43,100); office automation equipment ($68,200; office furniture and other equipment, such as repairs and spare parts of 15 vehicles, air-conditioners, etc. ($39,000); and miscellaneous services, such as general insurance, freight and other miscellaneous services ($78,100).

Hospitality

- 3.74 The estimated requirements of $18,100 would provide for official functions extended during meetings of the Local Aid Coordination Committee, the Joint Liaison Committee and other coordination meetings, including meetings of sectorial working groups; as well as for the hosting of visiting donor and other delegations.

Supplies and materials

- 3.75 The estimated requirements of $205,400 would provide for petrol, oil and lubricants for vehicles and one generator ($51,200); stationery and supplies, including subscriptions to newspapers and magazines ($67,600); and other operational supplies, such as telecommunication supplies and other miscellaneous supplies ($86,600).

Furniture and equipment

- 3.76 The estimated requirements of $264,600 relate to the following:
- (a) Acquisition of furniture and equipment is estimated at $35,300. The estimates would provide for the replacement of furniture originally provided to the West Bank office from other missions ($10,000); and the acquisition of three photocopy machines ($20,000) and a binding machine ($5,300) to allow for in-house printing and publishing, thereby reducing the cost of UNSCO publications;

- (b) Replacement of office automation equipment is estimated at $54,400. Sixteen personal computers and 13 printers are on loan from UNTSO, of which 9 personal computers and 4 printers need to be replaced. Included in the estimates are the acquisition of two servers (one to be used exclusively for the accounting system); the acquisition of one laser printer to be used for in-house publishing; and installation of uninterrupted power supply and the acquisition of one scanner. Since its establishment in 1994, the Office has gathered and compiled valuable information that is vital for the donor community and other international organizations operating in the area. Data on issues such as project-by-project overview, donor-funded activities, economic and social indicators, activities on sector working groups and non-governmental organization activities will continue to be developed and maintained in a database system for better use of interested parties. Accordingly, the replacement and acquisition of equipment required for the modernization of UNTSO hardware is proposed;
- (c) Replacement of vehicles is estimated at $157,000. Fourteen of the UNSCO vehicle establishments have either been transferred from UNTSO or are on loan from UNTSO, four of them with over 130,000 miles and two over 80,000. The acquisition of six vehicles to replace those with high mileage is proposed;
- (d) Acquisition of communications equipment is estimated at $11,900. The estimates relate to the acquisition of 10 Motorola handy-talkie radios, necessary for communications among staff; three cellular phones for communication with staff outside Gaza and out of the range of the handy-talkies; and two facsimile machines for UNSCO headquarters in Gaza to replace the ones purchased in 1994, which would be deployed to the office in the West Bank;
- (e) Other miscellaneous equipment is estimated at $6,000. The resources would cover essential security equipment such as monitor cameras, an alarm system for the West Bank office, installation of security doors and other miscellaneous items.

Other expenditures

- 3.77 Provisions of $10,100 under this heading relate to expenditures in connection with the annual inter-agency meetings hosted by UNSCO. Included in the estimates are rental of sound system equipment, temporary assistance, supplies and costs of publication of reports.

- 3.78 The General Assembly, in its resolution 51/198 B, decided to authorize the renewal of the mandate of MINUGUA, to be known henceforth as the United Nations Verification Mission in Guatemala, for a further period of one year, that is, until 31 March 1998, to carry out international verification of the Peace Agreements in accordance with the recommendations of the Secretary-General (A/51/828). Prior to the adoption of the resolution, the Secretary-General submitted a statement of the programme budget implications of the draft resolution then before the General Assembly (A/C.5/51/47). As indicated in the statement submitted by the Secretary-General, the estimated requirements for the expanded activities of the Mission for the period from 1 January to 31 March 1998 amounted to $7,908,100 and the requirements for that period would be reflected in the proposed programme budget for the biennium 1998-1999.
- 3.79 The Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions, in its related oral report (A/C.5/51/SR.54), noted that the package of agreements listed in paragraph 3 of the report of the Secretary-General was a blueprint for peace, reconciliation and development and encompassed detailed commitments. The Agreement on the Implementation, Compliance and Verification Timetable for the Peace Agreement, therefore, was a detailed guide for the implementation of those commitments and set out a calendar for their implementation from 1997 to the end of 2000 in three separate phases. Bearing in mind that the Mission would be likely to continue until the end of 2000, the Advisory Committee expected that the proposed programme budget for 1998-1999 would include resources for the financing of MINUGUA for the biennium.
- 3.80 At the time of the preparation of the current proposals, the results of the activities of the joint commissions relating to the demobilization and integration of members of the Unidad Revolucionaria Nacional Guatemalteca (UNRG), reform of justice and electoral systems, indigenous rights and modernization of the legislative branch was just in the process of being completed. The verification of the Agreement on a Definitive Cease-fire, signed at Oslo on 4 December 1996, which required a peacekeeping presence to verify the ceasefire, separation of forces and demobilization of UNRG combatants, will not be completed until 31 May 1997. In the light of these and other considerations, it was not possible either to project the requirements of the Mission through the end of 1999 or to incorporate them into the present proposals. It is envisaged that when the activities of the first phase of the Agreement on the Implementation, Compliance and Verification Timetable for the Peace Agreement are completed and reviewed, and following the completion of the verification of the Agreement on a Definitive Cease-fire, the Secretary-General may be in a better position to determine the requirements of MINUGUA beyond 1 April 1998. The General Assembly will revert to the matter at its fifty-second session.
- 3.81 The resources requested below reflect the estimates contained in the statement of the programme budget implications submitted by the Secretary-General in March 1997 mentioned above to carry out the activities mandated through 31 March 1998 and as called for by the General Assembly in its resolution 51/198 B.

- 3.82 The resources of $6,584,400 requested under this heading relate to the following:
- (a) $3,741,300 would provide for the continuation for three months in 1998 of existing staff resources for MINUGUA, which have been provided on a temporary assistance basis, consisting of 129 international staff (1 D-2, 2 D-1, 10 P-5, 23 P-4, 29 P-3, 6 P-2, 12 Field Service and 46 General Service); and 199 Local level positions (4 national officers and 195 Local level);
  - (b) $953,100 is estimated for monthly subsistence of 129 international staff for the three-month period;
  - (c) $1,335,600 reflects the cost of contractual arrangements in respect of 106 United Nations Volunteers who would be engaged in various verification activities throughout the mission area;
  - (d) $91,300 relates to contractual security services of security guards required throughout the mission area;
  - (e) $463,100 would provide for subsistence, clothing and disability provisions for 17 military liaison officers ($136,700) and subsistence and clothing allowance for 38 civilian police observers ($300,900).

Peaceful uses of outer space

(Programme 3 of the medium-term plan
for the period 1998-2001)

Overview

- 4.1 In 1959, when space activities were in their infancy, the General Assembly recognized the need for a mechanism to ensure broad international cooperation in space activities. By its resolution 1472 (XIV) of 12 December 1959, the Assembly established the Committee on the Peaceful Uses of Outer Space and mandated it to promote international cooperation in space activities, to organize mutual exchange and dissemination of information on outer space research, to encourage and assist the development of national space programmes and to study the nature of legal problems that might arise from the exploration of outer space. That mandate was reaffirmed by the Assembly in its resolution 1721 (XVI) of 20 December 1961, in which it confirmed its belief that the United Nations should provide a focal point for international cooperation in the peaceful exploration and use of outer space. The Assembly requested the Committee, in cooperation with the Secretary-General and making full use of the Secretariat, to maintain close contact with organizations concerned with space activities, as well as to provide for information exchange and assistance in the study of measures for promoting international cooperation in space. Those resolutions, along with the recommendations of the Second United Nations Conference on the Exploration and Peaceful Uses of Outer Space, held in 1982 (UNISPACE 82), are the basis for activities that have evolved under programme 3, Peaceful uses of outer space, of the medium-term plan for the period 1998-2001 (A/51/6/Rev.1).
- 4.2 Since UNISPACE 82, the scope and importance of space applications have expanded from a narrow field of science and technology to a wide range of applications that are essential to operational communications, weather forecasting, resource management, prevention and mitigation of disaster, environmental monitoring, distance education and other social and economic activities in virtually every country. Space technology has now become an integral part of daily human activities and will become vital for the betterment of the human condition in the coming years.
- 4.3 In recent years, there has been a sharply increasing demand from developing countries for technical assistance in the development of indigenous capability, in particular by providing more training opportunities in the use of space technology and technical advice in implementing pilot projects. On the basis of a survey of views of Member States on the United Nations Programme on Space Applications, the Office for Outer Space Affairs will concentrate its activities on the priority areas of space applications identified by Member States, such as disaster relief and mitigation, protection of the environment and land and water resource management, which will contribute to sustainable development at the regional and global levels. Further efforts will also be made to promote the use of space technology in conducting United Nations development activities in an effective and efficient manner. In order to achieve that objective, due consideration will be given to the recommendations of recent United Nations conferences, in particular the United Nations Conference on Environment and Development, at which space technology was identified as a useful tool to monitor the environment and to promote sustainable development.
- 4.4 International cooperation in the use of space technology has been viewed by the United Nations as an important part of efforts to promote sustainable development and it will need to be enhanced further in order to ensure that new space technologies benefit all countries and do not increase the gap between the rich and the poor. As a result of these expansions in space activities and the changing international political environment, the United Nations will have to address important new political, economic, technological and legal issues.

- 4.5 In the light of the above, the General Assembly, in its resolution 51/122 of 13 December 1996, adopted the Declaration on International Cooperation in the Exploration and Use of Outer Space for the Benefit and in the Interest of All States, Taking into Particular Account the Needs of Developing Countries, which, along with four other sets of principles and five international treaties, constitutes the legal framework developed by the United Nations for space activities. The Assembly also decided, in its resolution 51/123, also of 13 December 1996, to hold a special session of the Committee on the Peaceful Uses of Outer Space open to all Member States of the United Nations (UNISPACE III) in 1999 or 2000, and requested the Committee and its Scientific and Technical Subcommittee to act as the Preparatory and Advisory Committees, respectively, for UNISPACE III. Substantive preparatory work will be conducted during the biennium 1998-1999 by the Office for Outer Space Affairs, which was requested by the Assembly to act as the executive secretariat for UNISPACE III. In accordance with a recommendation by the Assembly, UNISPACE III will be organized in such a manner as to allow for the widest possible participation, involving intergovernmental and non-governmental organizations and the private industry, as appropriate, and the Office will coordinate preparatory activities in cooperation with those organizations.

Resource requirements (at current rates)Posts*

- 4.9 The estimated requirements ($3,691,000) reflect a negative resource growth of $12,900 owing to the net effect of the abolition of one General Service (Other level) post offset in part by application of new standardized vacancy rates. This would cover continued provisions for 18 established posts. The Office will endeavour to maintain the level of services and outputs by reassigning the functions of the abolished post to other posts and by use of general temporary assistance as appropriate.

Other staff costs

- 4.10 Provisions of $52,300, including an increase of $45,700, would cover general temporary assistance requirements for replacement of staff on maternity or sick leave and during periods of peak workload prior to and during the meetings of the Committee on the Peaceful Uses of Outer Space and its Scientific and Technical and Legal Subcommittees and their subsidiary bodies, as well as activities related to workshops, seminars and training courses organized under the Programme on Space Applications. The increase would also meet staffing requirements emanating from preparation for UNISPACE III.

Consultants and experts

- 4.11 The estimated requirements of $18,600 would provide for the preparation of yearly summaries of advances in space science and technology, international cooperation and space law for the Scientific and Technical and Legal Subcommittees. They would also cover technical and legal studies that could not otherwise be undertaken within the Office for Outer Space Affairs. The studies would cover specialized topics such as technical and eventual legal issues associated with space debris and low Earth-orbiting satellites for communications, environmental monitoring and applications to resource management.

Travel

- 4.12 The estimated requirements of $100,500, including an increase of $9,100, would provide for the participation of the Expert on Space Applications and the staff of the Office to supervise and conduct seminars, training courses and workshops in the implementation of the United Nations Programme on Space Applications. Activities envisaged in relation to preparation for UNISPACE III to be conducted under the Programme contribute to the growth. Travel will also be undertaken to Headquarters to service the Working Group of the Whole of the Fourth Committee on the agenda item entitled "International cooperation in the peaceful uses of outer space". The provision of technical advisory services to established and proposed regional centres for space science and technology education would also require travel to be undertaken.

General operating expenses

- 4.13 The provision ($10,900) under this heading would cover the maintenance of data-processing equipment, which were heretofore provided for under section 26E, Administration, Vienna.

Hospitality

- 4.14 During the annual sessions of the Committee and its subsidiary bodies and visits by representatives of space agencies that contribute substantial financial and manpower resources to the work of the Programme on Space Applications, hospitality expenditures are incurred. It is proposed therefore to provide for such hospitality requirements in the biennium 1998-1999 in the amount of $3,400, including a resource growth of $1,600 arising from the restoration of the initial 1996-1997 level, which is required in view of the preparations for UNISPACE III.

Furniture and equipment

- 4.15 The estimated requirements of $22,700 would provide for the replacement of office automation equipment. The resource growth ($13,200) previously included under section 26G, Administration, Vienna, is proposed for redeployment from that Office.

Grants and contributions

- 4.16 The requirements of $481,000 relate to the implementation of the activities of the Programme on Space Applications. They would finance the participation of individuals from developing countries from various regions of the world in workshops, meetings of experts and training courses. While the number of activities was curtailed in the biennium 1996-1997 by two, it is anticipated that the proposed growth of $136,400 would allow implementation of the regular level of approximately seven such activities annually, essentially restoring almost entirely previous provisions made for the Programme. The regular budget resources provided for the Programme are supplemented by contributions made to the Trust Fund for the United Nations Programme on Space Applications.

International justice and law

Section 5

International Court of Justice

Overview

- 5.1 The International Court of Justice, which sits at The Hague in the Netherlands, is the principal judicial organ of the United Nations. It functions in accordance with its Statute, which forms an integral part of the Charter of the United Nations, and is composed of 15 judges elected by the General Assembly and the Security Council for a period of nine years.
- 5.2 The Court adjudicates in contentious cases referred to it by States and gives advisory opinions at the request of bodies so authorized by, or in accordance with, the Charter. The Court submits annual reports to the General Assembly. The most recent report is contained in document A/51/4.
- 5.3 The Registry, which is appointed by the Court in accordance with Article 21, paragraph 2, of its Statute, provides legal, diplomatic, administrative and other technical support for the Court. It is also responsible for the financial administration, accounting, archives and distribution services, and document and library services.
- 5.4 Neither the activities of the Court nor those of its Registry are covered in the medium-term plan of the United Nations. The Court must, however, at all times, be able to exercise the functions entrusted to it if the terms and intent of the Charter are to be implemented. In order to make a proper assessment of the estimated requirements of the Court for the biennium 1998-1999, needs have to be measured against the background of the Court's workload, both current and foreseeable, for the biennium. At present, the Court is seized of nine cases. The workload shows no sign of being substantially reduced in coming years. For budgetary purposes, that number is augmented by the fact that in several of the cases the submission of preliminary objections will, if not upheld, inevitably result in two distinct and consecutive proceedings, each consisting of written and oral pleadings leading to a judgment. Past experience and contemporary developments in international relations make it prudent to assume that at least two new cases will be brought before the Court during the biennium. Similar forecasts of its case-load over five prior bienniums have proved correct. Moreover, in addition to the larger number of cases, there has been a notable increase in their diversity and complexity.
- 5.5 Regulation 15.1 of article XV of the Financial Regulations and Rules of the United Nations provides that the programme budget proposals of the International Court of Justice shall be prepared by the Court, in consultation with the Secretary-General. These programme budget proposals shall be submitted to the General Assembly by the Secretary-General, together with such observations as he may deem desirable.
- 5.6 The proposals submitted herewith follow consultations between the Court and the Secretary-General.

- 5.7 The estimated percentage distribution of the total resources to be provided to the Court in 1998-1999 would be as follows:

	Regular budget (percentage)
A. Members of the Court .....	31.8
B. The Registry .....	48.1
C. Programme support .....	20.1

- 5.8 Subsection A covers estimates relating to the statutory entitlements of the members of the Court. The conditions of service and compensation of members of the Court are due for a scheduled comprehensive review by the General Assembly at its fifty-third session, in accordance with section IV of Assembly resolution 50/216 of 23 December 1995. The estimates under this subsection are based on existing rates and are therefore provisional with respect to the common costs of judges and their salaries and allowances, pending related decisions of the Assembly. Resources proposed in these estimates are also expected to be supplemented, as the need arises, by commitments entered into under the provisions of the resolution on unforeseen and extraordinary expenses to be adopted by the Assembly. The proposals for the biennium 1998-1999 in that respect will be presented to the General Assembly at its fifty-second session.

Resource requirements (at current rates)Non-staff compensation*

- 5.9 Requirements estimated at $6,913,800 relating to salaries and allowances of judges and their common costs reflecting the net effect of reductions relating to one-time resources authorized for fees and travel costs of ad hoc judges ($111,300), travel to attend sessions of the Court ($106,000) and in the entitlements for education grant and travel of children of judges ($119,300), in part offset by increases to restore a reduction that had been applied in 1996-1997 for salary not paid in respect of a vacancy in the Court ($24,100), and in the pension entitlements of judges ($16,400) are as set out below.
- (a) Salaries and allowances of judges
- 5.10 The requirements under this heading ($4,398,800) relating to salaries and allowances of judges, which are scheduled for comprehensive review by the General Assembly at its fifty-third session, would provide for the following:
- (a) An annual salary of $145,000 per judge, as decided by the General Assembly in its resolution 45/250 A of 21 December 1990;
- (b) An additional special allowance of $15,000 per annum for the President of the Court;
- (c) An additional special allowance for the Vice-President of $94 for every day he acts as President, up to a maximum of $9,400 per year.
- (b) Common costs of judges
- (i) Pensions for former judges
- 5.11 As decided by the General Assembly in its resolution 45/250 B of 21 December 1990, the pension entitlement of a member of the Court who has served a full term of nine years should be $50,000 a year and the pension entitlement of a member of the Court who is re-elected should be increased by an additional $250 per month for each further month of service up to a maximum pension of $75,000 per year. The Assembly also decided that, with effect from 1 January 1991 and notwithstanding any provision to the contrary, the annual value of all pensions in course of payment as at 31 December 1990, including the pensions of any members of the Court who retired on or before that date, should be increased by 22 per cent. The Assembly decided further that the pension of the members of the Court should be subject to review whenever the annual salary of the members of the Court was reviewed. In that regard, in section IV of its resolution 50/216, the General Assembly approved the recommendation of the Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions in its report (A/50/7/Add.11, para. 14), by which it recommended that the Secretary-General re-examine the pension scheme of members of the Court, in a report that took full account of the request of the Committee that the various recommendations and options of the consulting actuary be analysed in the report of the Secretary-General. The requirements for pensions, currently estimated at $2,020,000, are therefore provisional and include an increase of $16,400 owing to the net effect of changes in the numbers of retired judges and widows of judges, and would provide for retired judges and widows of judges, in accordance with resolution 45/250 B.
- (ii) Other common costs
- 5.12 Requirements for other common costs include:
- (a) The travel expenses of three journeys for non-resident judges to attend sessions of the Court and one journey home every second year after the year of appointment for judges residing at the seat of the Court ($405,000), in accordance with the travel and subsistence regulations of the Court as approved by the General Assembly in its resolution 37/240 of 21 December 1982;
- (b) In paragraphs 1 and 2 of its resolution 48/252 C of 26 May 1994, the General Assembly decided that, with effect from 1 January 1994, the cost of educating the children of the President and judges who had taken up primary residence at The Hague should be reimbursed up to a ceiling of $9,750 for each child, and up to a ceiling of $13,000, for each disabled child. The Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions, in paragraph 8 of its report (A/50/7/Add.11), agreed with the proposal of the Secretary-General that the increase in the level of the education grant (including that for disabled children), approved by the Assembly in resolution 49/223 of 23 December 1994, be extended to members of the Court as from 1 January 1995. Accordingly, provision is made for the related travel of each child from the place of scholastic attendance, when outside the Netherlands, to The Hague ($90,000). These estimates are provisional, since, in accordance with resolution 48/252 C, the requirements for education grant and travel of children of judges will be reviewed, at the same time as the judges' emoluments, by the Assembly at its fifty-third session.

Travel

- 5.13 The estimated requirements under this heading ($62,200) would cover the travel and subsistence of the President of the Court to attend sessions of the General Assembly and travel and subsistence on other official business by members of the Court.

- 5.14 The Registry of the Court, its administrative organ, consists of a Registrar and a Deputy Registrar who are elected for a term of seven years and may be re-elected. The Registrar is solely responsible for directing the work of all units of the Registry. Other officials of the Registry are appointed either by the Court on proposals submitted by the Registrar or by him with the President's approval. It provides legal, diplomatic and other technical support for the Court and is the regular channel for communications to and from the Court. It is also responsible for all administrative work, in particular for the Court's financial administration, accounting, archive and distribution services, and for document and library services.

Posts

- 5.15 The estimated requirements ($8,203,100) would provide for continuing established posts (22 Professional category and above and 32 General Service (6 Principal and 26 Other level)), and three continuing General Service (Other level) temporary posts. The growth ($112,900) relates to the change from the actual 1996-1997 vacancy rates as they were applied to the standard vacancy rates assumed for the purpose of these estimates.

Other staff costs

- 5.16 Other staff costs include provisions for:
- (a) Temporary assistance for meetings ($1,627,100), which includes a resource growth of $703,400 to provide for the recruitment and travel of free-lance interpreters, translators and stenotypists required for pre- and in-session conference servicing of private meetings and public hearings of the Court. The growth relates in part to the continuing need to provide for the workload formerly carried by two P-4 temporary posts for translators. These were provided for in the Registry's 1994-1995 staffing table to translate legal and other documents, including judgments or advisory opinions, judges' written notes concerning cases, minutes of private meetings and verbatim records of public hearings, written pleadings and annexes and so on, to provide interpretation at public hearings and private meetings of the Court and its committees and to prepare glossaries. A proposal to extend the two P-4 temporary posts was not approved for the biennium 1996-1997, which has caused the Registry to operate in the current biennium below par in meeting its translation requirements. Various measures such as redeployment of resources to meet the Court's translation needs have had to be implemented in the current biennium. It has therefore been proved that provision, however minimal, for meeting the Court's translation requirements should be made. The other part of the proposed increase, which is also considered minimal, on the basis of experience over recent years, would provide for required translators and interpreters for incidental proceedings, administrative and other meetings of the Court;

- (b) General temporary assistance ($210,600) for secretaries, messengers, library assistants and telephone operators to supplement the regular staff and for maternity and sick-leave replacements;
- (c) Overtime ($81,600) for secretarial assistance to judges and the regular staff of the Registry, during periods of peak workload.

Consultants and experts

- 5.17 The requirements of $47,300 would provide for expertise to instruct and train the Registry's staff in software application and available software and hardware, the maintenance and enhancement of the Court's computer system, automation of the Court's archives and follow-up once its website has been set up.

Travel

- 5.18 A provision of $43,700 is proposed for travel to attend sessions of the General Assembly and for the Registry's staff on other official business of the Court.

General operating expenses

- 5.19 The provision of $16,500, relating to the hospitality requirements of the Court for visits by heads of State or Government and other officials of Governments and international organizations to the Court, for receptions for counsel in cases and other such official occasions includes a resource growth of $5,600, based on realized expenditure patterns.

- 5.20 The estimates under this subsection cover provisions relating to common service requirements of the International Court of Justice and its Registry, including in particular the contribution of the United Nations to the Carnegie Foundation for the use of the Peace Palace by the Court.

5.21 The estimated requirements of $907,200 would provide for the following:

- (a) The Court's printing programme ($583,700), which includes a resource growth of $280,800 to restore the provision to its initial 1996-1997 approved level, in consideration of the increasing backlog that would arise were adequate provision not to be made. The resources would cover the cost of publications, as provided for by the Statute and Rules of the Court, and would include three annual series: Reports of Judgments, Advisory Opinions and Orders, a Bibliography of works and documents relating to the Court and the Yearbook of the Court. The provision would also cover a booklet on the Court and documentation of each case, which is published by the Court, after the end of the proceedings, under the title Pleadings, Oral Arguments, Documents, Comprising Texts, Maps and Charts;
- (b) Contractual external translation ($239,000), which includes a resource growth of $119,500 to reinstate initial 1996-1997 provisions, so as to prevent a backlog in the translation of the Court's documents. This would cover the employment of external contractual translators to undertake the translation of written pleadings for certain cases and declarations and opinions as may be appended to the judgments the Court will hand down;
- (c) Data-processing services ($66,000) in respect of continued access to external databases ($18,500), the one-time cost of improving the security of the Court's records and the conversion of records to optical-disc medium to reduce space necessary for file storage.

5.22 The requirements of $2,695,100, which include a resource growth of $601,000, would cover:

- (a) The contribution payable by the United Nations for its share of the general operating expenses of the facilities provided in the Peace Palace at The Hague for the Court ($2,178,500). This includes an increase of $485,800 related to the enlarged premises made available to the Court, 1 January 1997, for which partial (i.e. 1997) provision was made in 1996-1997. The additional accommodations became necessary because of the increasing number of cases brought before the Court and the consequent need for accommodation for those judges whose terms have officially expired but who are maintained in office to complete cases, for ad hoc judges and extra support staff. A Supplementary Agreement with amendments to the Agreement between the Carnegie Foundation and the United Nations for the use of the premises by the Court, with respect to article II, which sets out the annual contribution payable by the United Nations to the Carnegie Foundation, and article IV, which sets out the accommodation at the Peace Palace made available to the Court, will be placed before the General Assembly for its approval. The Carnegie Foundation has requested that the contribution be increased by 2.5 per cent in each year of the biennium. In its resolution 50/214 of 23 December 1995, the Assembly accepted the proposals of the Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions in its report (A/50/7/Add.11) that the provision for inflation be subject to review by the Committee and approval by it each time it is requested;
- (b) Rental of photocopying equipment ($28,700);
- (c) The costs of long-distance telephone calls, postage, pouches, cables and telex, fax communications and electronic mail ($218,500);
- (d) Maintenance of the Court's office automation equipment, vehicles and other office equipment ($243,500), which includes a resource growth of $110,000 mainly for maintenance with respect to the new reproduction machine purchased in 1996-1997 and acquisition of equipment proposed below;
- (e) Automobile insurance of the Court's two official cars and other miscellaneous services provided to the Court ($25,900).

Supplies and materials

- 5.23 The estimates of $312,600 would provide for library books and supplies, stationery, paper for internal reproduction, offset supplies and other miscellaneous supplies.

Equipment

- 5.24 The requirements of $396,100 include a negative resource growth of $46,200 relating to the lapsing of one-time provisions in the biennium 1996-1997 for equipment purchase. The following would be covered: (a) replacement of the Court's two official car ($76,000); (b) additional equipment for enhancement of reproduction equipment ($29,200); and (c) requirements for the Court's programme of acquisition of office automation equipment, including an accounting system ($15,600), a document information and archiving system postponed from the biennium 1996-1997 ($45,000), network storage upgrade ($21,600), indexing software ($12,500), repeaters, CD-ROM writers and other software ($16,200) and additional storage and memory capacity for servers ($13,400). The balance of $166,600 would cover installation of sound equipment in the Main Hall of Justice ($31,000) and replacement of its office automation equipment ($135,600).

Section 6

Legal affairs

(Programme 4 of the medium-term plan

Overview

- 6.1 The Office of Legal Affairs is responsible for the implementation of the work programme under this section. The programme is guided by the General Assembly and its subsidiary organs, namely, the United Nations Commission on International Trade Law. Guidance is also given by the meeting of States parties to the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea.
- 6.2 The activities for which the Office of Legal Affairs is responsible fall within the framework of programme 4, Legal affairs, as it appears in the medium-term plan for the period 1998-2001 (A/51/6/Rev.1 and Rev.1/Corr.1).
- 6.3 According to the medium-term plan, the overall objectives of programme 4 are to provide a unified central legal service for the Secretariat and the principal and other organs of the United Nations, to contribute to the progressive development and codification of international public and trade law, to promote the strengthening and development as well as the effective implementation of the international legal order for the seas and oceans, to register and publish treaties and to perform the depositary functions of the Secretary-General. The Office of Legal Affairs seeks to achieve this through the provision of legal services on questions of international and national, public, private, procedural and administrative law, by providing substantive secretariat functions to a number of United Nations bodies and by contributing to the understanding, acceptance, and consistent application of the 1982 United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea and related implementing agreements, through the expeditious processing and publication of treaty-related actions and treaties registered and deposited, and by providing assistance to Member States in matters related to treaty law (ibid., para. 4.1).
- 6.4 The official responsible for managing this programme is the Under-Secretary-General for Legal Affairs, the Legal Counsel of the United Nations.
- 6.5 The budget proposal reflects a comprehensive internal review of all subprogrammes. With respect to subprogrammes 1 to 3 and 5, the conclusion is that they should continue unchanged. The conclusion is based on guidance received from the General Assembly as well as on feed-back from other entities with which the Office of Legal Affairs interacts. The details are explained below. Special attention, on the other hand, has been given to significant changes in subprogrammes 4, Law of the sea and ocean affairs, and 6, Custody, registration and publication of treaties.
- 6.6 With respect to subprogramme 4, important developments have occurred in the field of the law of the sea that have made it necessary to redefine in part the role of the Division for Ocean Affairs and the Law of the Sea, which has been reorganized to reflect current needs. In particular, account has been taken of the establishment of two new treaty organs, which, although they are autonomous, are nevertheless linked to the United Nations: the International Tribunal for the Law of the Sea and the International Seabed Authority. The focus of this Division will now be on its new mandate by the General Assembly, inter alia, to assist States and international organizations in ensuring consistency of ocean-related legal instruments and programmes with the provisions of the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea and related agreements and to provide to the Assembly an overview of developments and emerging issues in law of the sea and ocean affairs.

- 6.7 With regard to subprogramme 6, radical changes designed to rationalize the work of the Treaty Section have been implemented. The computerization programme in this section is well under way. The backlog that had developed over a number of years is being addressed through a multifaceted approach and is expected to be eliminated by 1999. Furthermore, in order to enhance efficiency, four Professional posts and one General Service post have been redeployed to the Treaty Section from the Copy Preparation and Proof-Reading Section, Office of Conference and Support Services.
- 6.8 Special effort will be made during the biennium to expedite, pursuant to General Assembly resolution 51/209 of 17 December 1996, the preparation and publication of the Repertory of Practice of United Nations Organs. The summary of the practice of the principal organs pertaining to the 111 articles of the Charter of the United Nations has always been the responsibility of six separate departments/offices in the Secretariat. The publication of the Supplement, therefore, calls for and depends on timely completion of their respective tasks by all concerned. The Office of Legal Affairs itself prepares studies on some 25 Articles of the Charter distributed according to competence among the various divisions. The Office also chairs the Interdepartmental Review Committee for the final review.
- 6.9 The overall level of resources proposed for the Office of Legal Affairs for the biennium 1998-1999 amounts to $31,791,300 before recosting, reflecting a growth of $1,536,800 (5.0 per cent) compared with the revised appropriation for 1996-1997 and taking into account the redeployment mentioned above. The overall level of resources, as indicated in table 6.3 below, reflects, inter alia, the abolition of six Professional and three General Service posts, the proposal for the establishment of one P-3 post, the upward reclassification of one D-1 level post to D-2 and five Other level posts to Principal level, and the redeployment of five posts (four Professional and one General Service) to the Treaty Section from the Copy Preparation and Proof-Reading Section, Office of Conference and Support Services. The overall level of resources also includes growth in the amount of $1,140,200 for contractual services, $90,000 for general operating expenses, $24,600 for supplies and materials and $12,600 for fellowships, grants and contributions, and reductions in the amount of $3,500 for other staff costs, $76,700 for consultants and experts, $88,400 for travel, $600 for hospitality and $492,600 for furniture and equipment.
- 6.10 The estimated percentage distribution of the total resources of the programme in 1998-1999 would be as follows:

	Regular budget (percentage)	Extra- budgetary
A. Policy-making organs . . . . .	9.9	—
B. Programme of work . . . . .	85.7	100.0
C. Programme support . . . . .	4.4	—
Total	100.0	100.0

6.11 The estimated percentage distribution of resources among subprogrammes would be as follows:

	Regular budget (percentage)	Extra- budgetary
Subprogramme 1
Overall direction, management and coordination of legal advice and services to the United Nations as a whole .....	10.6	18.4
Subprogramme 2
General legal services to United Nations organs and programmes .....	14.0	70.0
Subprogramme 3
Progressive development and codification of international law .....	16.6	4.8
Subprogramme 4
Law of the sea and ocean affairs .....	19.5	1.0
Subprogramme 5
Progressive harmonization and unification of the law of international trade .....	12.4	5.8
Subprogramme 6
Custody, registration and publication of treaties .....	26.9	—
Total	100.0	100.0

It should be noted that the 6 subprogrammes defined in the new medium-term plan correspond to the 10 subprogrammes in programmes 9 and 10 in the previous plan (A/47/6/Rev.1) as follows:

New subprogramme	Previous programme/subprogramme

Activities

- 6.12 The International Law Commission was established by the General Assembly in its resolution 174 (II) of 21 November 1947. The Commission has as its objective the promotion of the progressive development of international law and its codification. It consists of 34 members who are persons of recognized competence in international law. Unless otherwise decided by the General Assembly, the Commission meets annually for 12 weeks and reports to the Assembly, which provides guidance to the Commission on its programme of work. For 1997, the General Assembly in paragraph 12 of its resolution 51/160 of 16 December 1996 decided that the Commission should meet for 10 weeks. The Codification Division of the Office of Legal Affairs provides substantive servicing for the Commission.

Resource requirements (at current rates)Non-staff compensation*

- 6.13 The estimated requirements of $232,000 would provide for honoraria of the Chairman and 32 members of the Commission, one member being excluded from accepting the payment by national legislation, and additional amounts payable to 6 special rapporteurs, at rates set by the General Assembly in its resolution 35/218 of 17 December 1980.

Travel

- 6.14 The estimated requirements of $1,619,100 relate to the travel and subsistence allowance of the members of the Commission ($1,403,300) and of the Legal Counsel and six staff members from the Codification Division to service the meetings of the Commission at Geneva ($215,800). The provision would cover the costs of (a) attendance by the Chairman and 33 members at the annual session at Geneva, which, in the light of the latest decision by the General Assembly, is estimated at 10 weeks; (b) attendance by the Chairman at the regular sessions of the Assembly during consideration of the Commission's reports; and (c) attendance by the Chairman or another representative of the Commission at the sessions of the four regional legal intergovernmental bodies (two weeks each) with which the Commission, pursuant to its statute, has established links of cooperation.
- 6.15 At its 1997 session, the Commission will consider whether it will have a split session (five weeks in Geneva and five weeks in New York). Such a split session would affect the cost only marginally.

- 6.16 The provision of $29,300 would provide for the external printing costs of the Yearbook of the International Law Commission.

- 6.20 The United Nations Administrative Tribunal is the independent organ competent to hear and pass judgement upon applications alleging non-observance of contracts of employment of staff members of the United Nations Secretariat or of their terms of appointment as well as applications alleging non-observance of the regulations and rules of the United Nations Joint Staff Pension Fund, arising out of decisions by the Fund. The Tribunal was established by the General Assembly in its resolution 351 A (IV) of 24 November 1949. It is composed of seven members, no two of whom may be nationals of the same State, who are appointed by the Assembly initially for three years and may be reappointed. The competence of the Tribunal extends to the secretariats of the associated programmes that are financed from voluntary contributions, such as UNDP, UNICEF, UNFPA, UNHCR and UNRWA. Under article 14 of the statute, the competence of the Tribunal has also been extended to IMO and ICAO.
- 6.21 The Secretariat provides substantive, technical and administrative servicing of the sessions of the Tribunal, including legal research and analysis of precedents; preparation of draft summaries of facts and contentions of parties for judgements to be rendered by the Tribunal; analysis and research of documentation relevant to cases on appeal to the Tribunal; consultations with administrations of subsidiary organs of the United Nations, the secretariat of the United Nations Joint Staff Pension Fund and the administrations of the specialized agencies subject to the jurisdiction of the Tribunal (ICAO and IMO); and conducting the external relations of the Tribunal, including its relations with the secretariat of ILO. During the biennium the Secretariat will also publish the recurrent publication Judgements of the Administrative Tribunal, volumes XIII and XIV, each in English and French.

Posts

- 6.22 The estimated requirements of $363,700 would provide for the continuation of one P-5 post and one General Service post. The positive growth of $5,100 reflects the application of the new standardized vacancy rates.

Other staff costs

- 6.23 The resource requirements of $15,500 under this heading would provide for overtime to assist the Tribunal in reducing the current backlog and for temporary assistance with respect to the servicing of the sessions of the Tribunal at Headquarters.

Non-staff compensation

- 6.24 Provision of $46,000 is for payment of honoraria to members of the Tribunal at the rates set by the General Assembly in its resolution 35/218.

Consultants and experts

- 6.25 The estimated requirements of $40,300 will enable the Executive Secretary to continue the updating in book form of the Tribunal's case law and to ensure preparation and publication of the Judgements of the United Nations Administrative Tribunal.

Travel

- 6.26 The provision of $464,100 relates to requirements for travel in connection with the attendance of seven members of the Tribunal at two sessions to be held in New York and two in Geneva and to travel of four staff members to service two meetings in Geneva.

Contractual services

- 6.27 The estimated requirements of $100,700 under this heading would provide for the cost of external printing of volumes XIII and XIV of the Judgements of the Administrative Tribunal in English and in French ($40,400) and for database acquisition and rental, and usage fees for the computerized index of case law of the Administrative Tribunals of the United Nations and ILO (LEXIS) ($60,300).

General operating expenses

- 6.28 The estimated requirements of $2,800 relate to maintenance of office automation equipment.

Equipment

Posts

- 6.36 The estimated requirements of $2,691,800 would provide for the continuation of eight Professional and higher level posts and six General Service posts shown in table 6.9 above. The resource growth of $142,600 reflects the combined effect of the application of the new standardized vacancy rates, and of the following reclassification proposal. The post for the Director and Deputy to the Legal Counsel is currently funded from extrabudgetary resources. To correct this anomaly, it is proposed to reclassify a D-1 regular budget post to the D-2 level to provide for the Deputy. In view of the functions of the post its funding would more appropriately be under the regular budget. A corollary to this proposal would be to downgrade an extrabudgetary post currently occupied by the Deputy, from the D-2 to the D-1 level.

Consultants and experts

- 6.37 An amount of $40,300 is requested to enable the Office to respond to unforeseen requests emanating from the intergovernmental process.

Travel

- 6.38 The resources of $65,300 requested relate to travel of the Legal Counsel and other senior legal officers undertaken at the request of the Secretary-General for consultations with the regional commissions, specialized agencies and intergovernmental organizations, and in connection with peacekeeping missions and United Nations meetings held away from Headquarters.

General operating expenses

- 6.39 The estimate of $21,200 relates to the maintenance costs of office automation equipment.

Hospitality

- 6.40 Resources of $6,000 relate to the cost of official functions.

Furniture and equipment

- 6.41 A provision of $32,600 is proposed for costs relating to acquisition and replacement of office automation equipment and computer software.

- 6.42 The subprogramme will be implemented by the General Legal Division.
- 6.43 The objective of the subprogramme is to provide a wide range of legal services and assistance in support of the operations and activities of the Organization, including all Secretariat units and offices at Headquarters; other United Nations offices away from Headquarters; peacekeeping, observer and humanitarian missions; and separately administered and funded subsidiary organs of the United Nations (such as UNDP, UNICEF and UNFPA) to ensure effective and efficient operations and activities as well as to minimize risk of loss and financial liability and to ensure compliance with the resolutions and regulations, rules and other administrative issuances of the United Nations.
- 6.44 In order to manage effectively and efficiently the wide variety of legal services required and the heavy caseload generated by the Organization, the activities of the Division have been divided into four categories or clusters: (a) administration and management; (b) substantial contracts and procurement; (c) institutional support; and (d) peacekeeping operations support.
- 6.45 During the biennium, the focus of the Division will be on:

  - Assisting the Organization in implementing proposals to reform the ways in which it procures goods and services;
  - Assisting the separately funded subsidiary organs in developing and implementing policy relating to national execution of projects and programmes for development assistance; and the generation of resources by the United Nations and its subsidiary organs, including the implications for the use of the name and emblem of the United Nations as it relates to such bodies;

- 6.55 The subprogramme will be implemented by the Codification Division.
- 6.56 The activities will aim at: (a) promoting the acceptance of and respect for the principles of international law and encouraging the progressive development and codification of international law; (b) encouraging the dissemination and wider appreciation of international law; and (c) implementing decisions taken by organs and subsidiary organs in the field of public international law.
- 6.57 The first objective is to provide United Nations bodies dealing with international law (including the Sixth Committee of the General Assembly, the International Law Commission, codification conferences and special or ad hoc committees) with substantive support, which will include research and analytical studies on topics of international law, preparing background documentation, drafting reports, assistance in the conduct of proceedings, drafting of resolutions, decisions, amendments and proposals, and managing of meetings and informal consultations.
- 6.58 The second objective is to implement, administer and monitor the Programme of Assistance in the Teaching, Study, Dissemination and Wider Appreciation of International Law and to ensure the preparation and issuance of legal publications, including the Yearbook of the International Law Commission, the United Nations Juridical Yearbook, the Legislative Series, the United Nations Reports of International Arbitral Awards and the proceedings of codification conferences. Efforts will also be made to have these publications available in electronic form for wider dissemination and use by delegations and the general public.
- 6.59 The General Assembly has requested in its resolution 51/209 that special efforts be made to expedite the preparation and publication of Supplements to the Repertory of Practice of United Nations Organs. The Division is responsible for reviewing submissions for this publication. It should be noted, however, that such submissions are the responsibility of six separate departments/offices and that the assumption of the General Assembly was that the preparation and publication should be done within existing resources.
- 6.60 The third objective is to undertake implementation measures required pursuant to decisions taken by the relevant organs and subsidiary bodies pertaining to progressive development and codification of international law.

- 6.61 The draft texts prepared by the above-mentioned legal bodies will serve as bases for the elaboration by the General Assembly or by diplomatic conferences of such legal instruments as conventions, declarations, resolutions or guidelines, constituting important sources of international law.
- 6.62 The publications listed above are normally issued on a yearly basis.
- 6.63 Assistance in the form of fellowships, seminars and publications under this subprogramme will take into account the needs of developing countries.

- 6.72 The subprogramme will be implemented by the Division for Ocean Affairs and the Law of the Sea.
- 6.73 The overall objective of the subprogramme is to foster international peace and security through strengthening the international legal order for the seas and oceans established by the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea. The central thrust of the subprogramme is the promotion of the Convention and the related agreements by facilitating their understanding, their widest possible acceptance, their uniform and consistent application and their effective implementation, as well as assisting States in their efforts to derive full practical benefits from the international legal regime, and in the enjoyment of their rights and the fulfilment of their obligations arising therefrom.
- 6.74 With the entry into force of the Convention, the course of action during the biennium and in the medium term has been defined by the General Assembly in its resolutions 49/28 of 6 December 1994, 50/23 of 5 December 1995 and 51/34 of 10 December 1996. Pursuant to the mandate provided by the Assembly, the focus and priorities of the activities will be on:
- Provision of coordinated information, advice and assistance to States and intergovernmental bodies through monitoring, review and analysis of developments relating to the law of the sea and ocean affairs, placing emphasis on State practice, international juridical decisions and international treaties and other legal instruments, as well as on economic and technical issues;
  - Provision of services to States, including depositary and advisory services, as well as training and education in their efforts to implement the Convention and to develop and strengthen capabilities and infrastructures in order to apply the framework provided by the Convention for national, subregional, regional and global action;
  - Support to organizations within and outside the United Nations system in their marine-related activities with a view to securing consistency with the international legal regime and promoting a concerted approach to the application and implementation of the Convention, especially in the formulation of new legal instruments and programmes in marine-related matters within their respective areas of competence;
  - Servicing the Meeting of States Parties to the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea and the Commission on the Limits of the Continental Shelf;

- (e) Reporting on developments related to the law of the sea and ocean affairs and emerging issues to the General Assembly, the Meeting of States Parties and competent international organizations.
- 6.75 The planned activities are expected to contribute to more States and entities becoming parties to the Convention and the related agreements, to the development of national and international legal instruments related to the law of the sea and ocean affairs consistent with the provisions of the Convention; peaceful delimitation of maritime zones; and the development of projects and programmes in the marine sector at the national, subregional, regional and global levels consistent with the international legal regime. The activities related to the establishment of two autonomous institutions created by the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea were completed during the biennium 1996-1997. In addition, consequent to the entry into force of the Convention, the programme of work under the subprogramme was restructured to concentrate on the priority items mandated by the General Assembly with a view to assisting States in the effective implementation of the Convention and providing an overview of developments and issues related to oceans and the law of the sea. The reduction in posts is attributable to these two factors.

Other staff costs

- 6.79 Estimated requirements of $172,200 relate to specialized consultancy services not available in the Secretariat for preparation of material on specific topics related to the delimitation of maritime boundaries, technical aspects of the regime for the continental shelf, scientific aspects of the protection of marine environment, as well as data, information and management requirements for the effective implementation of the Convention ($98,900) and provision for an ad hoc expert group meeting on delimitation of maritime boundaries ($73,300).

Travel

- 6.80 The estimated requirements of $103,200 relate to travel of staff to the meetings of organizations of the United Nations system and other organizations. The decrease of $52,400 is attributable to the fact that the Division has completed its work related to the establishment of the institutions created by the Convention.

Contractual services

- 6.81 A provision of $54,400 would meet the cost of the recurrent and non-recurrent publications included in the programme of work ($29,300) and provide for subscriptions to database lines in the field of law of the sea and ocean affairs ($25,100).

General operating expenses

- 6.82 The estimate of $42,100 relates to maintenance of office automation equipment.

Furniture and equipment

- 6.84 The estimated requirement of $66,200 would cover the cost of acquisition and replacement of office automation equipment.

- 6.85 The subprogramme is implemented by the International Trade Law Branch, which acts as the secretariat of the United Nations Commission on International Trade Law.
- 6.86 The objective of the subprogramme is (a) to develop texts that facilitate international trade, assist in negotiating transactions and foster good practices; (b) to provide legislative assistance to Governments; (c) to coordinate work of international organizations active in the field of trade law; and (d) to promote uniform interpretation of harmonized texts on international trade law.
- 6.87 During the biennium the focus of the subprogramme will be on:
- Preparation of legal texts (conventions, model laws, model clauses, rules and legal guides) on: legal aspects of electronic commerce; private financing of public infrastructure projects; enhancement of availability of international credit through the use of security interests, assignment of trade receivables and cooperation in cross-border insolvency proceedings; maritime transport of goods; and efficient ways of solving international commercial disputes, all this bearing in mind the special needs of developing countries (General Assembly resolution 2205 (XXI) of 27 December 1966, sect. II, para. 8 (c) and repeatedly reconfirmed by the Assembly);
  - Technical assistance to Governments regarding enactment of Commission texts (e.g. on settlement of disputes, public procurement, electronic commerce, international payments); advising non-governmental bodies, such as chambers of commerce and arbitration centres, on the preparation of standard rules; preparing drafts of guides to enactment for Commission legal texts; training of users of Commission texts; assisting universities in incorporating Commission texts into their curricula; and assisting States in dealing with questions arising after Commission texts have been adopted. The requests by Governments for these activities continue to rise because of the growing awareness of the work of the Commission, entry into effect of its various legal texts, in particular urgent need for modernizing trade laws in developing and transition States;
  - Coordination of activities of the numerous organizations that are preparing texts on international trade law (General Assembly resolution 2205 (XXI), sect. II, para. 8 (a));
  - The project entitled "Case Law on UNCITRAL Texts (CLOUT)", which consists of (i) collecting, in cooperation with national correspondents appointed by Governments, court and arbitral decisions on conventions and model laws of the Commission; (ii) preparing abstracts of those decisions; (iii) publishing the abstracts in the languages of the Organization; (iv) maintaining efficient dissemination channels for the abstracts and decisions; and (v) preparing, as appropriate, comments, indices or thesauri on the decisions.

- 6.95 The subprogramme will be implemented by the Treaty Section.
- 6.96 The activities described below relate to discharging the Secretariat's responsibilities under Article 102 of the Charter and the Secretary-General's responsibilities as depositary of multilateral treaties. The provision of assistance on treaty law matters by the Treaty Section is also covered.
- 6.97 During the biennium the focus, in addition to maintaining and improving the services provided at present, including advice on treaty law matters, will be on:
- Further developing the database/workflow system being established in the Treaty Section to expedite all stages of the treaty processing and publication process;
  - Eliminating the backlog in the Monthly Statement of Treaties and providing access to an improved version of this document on the Internet;

- (c) Eliminating the backlog in the publication of the United Nations Treaty Series and improving the high level access to the Series on the electronic medium, including the Internet;
  - (d) Eliminating the backlog in the United Nations Treaty Series Cumulative Index and providing electronic access;
  - (e) Maintaining the high level of service relating to the publication, Multilateral Treaties Deposited with the Secretary-General, in response to requests from missions and others, in print and on the Internet.
- 6.98 The expansion of the international community in recent years has contributed to a significant increase in the number of treaties and treaty-related actions as more and more countries have sought to participate in existing multilateral agreements or have entered into treaties among themselves. Given the requirement under Article 102 of the Charter to register treaties or international agreements with the Secretariat and the Secretariat's obligation to publish them, this development has resulted in a significantly increased workload for the Treaty Section. Furthermore, assistance has been sought with regard to treaty law related matters with increasing frequency. Such assistance requests have taken various forms, including informal requests and formal inquiries from foreign offices, missions, international agencies, non-governmental organizations and other entities on a wide range of legal and technical issues. The Section has also had to initiate an ever increasing range of contacts with missions and foreign offices with a view to clarifying information provided in connection with the participation in multilateral treaties and the registration and publication of treaties.
- 6.99 The work of the Section has for a long time been done employing methods that have changed little over the years despite the advent of computers. Information was laboriously checked and cross-checked, recorded repeatedly at different points in the processing path, clarifications were obtained and so on. The storage of information was, for the most part, on paper, using manual methods.
- 6.100 One implication of this state of affairs was a significant impact on the timeliness of the mandated and other activities of the Section. Although legal advice sought was provided promptly, a major backlog developed in the publication of the Monthly Statement of Treaties (15 months), the United Nations Treaty Series (8 years) and the United Nations Treaty Series Cumulative Index (14 years).
- 6.101 With a view to addressing the backlog, the Section has adopted a multifaceted approach, the primary aim of which is to implement a rational system that allows for the timely registration of treaties, which, in turn, will permit the timely publication of the United Nations Treaty Series. This approach envisages the elimination of the backlog in the production of the Treaty Series in approximately three years, the elimination of the backlog in the Monthly Statement of Treaties within a shorter period and the elimination of the backlog in the United Nations Treaty Series Cumulative Index within a three-year period.
- 6.102 During the biennium 1996-1997, a number of measures were undertaken with a view to achieving these objectives. A major computerization and training programme was initiated in the Section, using the provisions made in the 1996-1997 budget. Accordingly, during the biennium 1996-1997 new computers were provided to 28 members of the Section. Work on establishing a workflow/database was initiated. The work of the Indexation Unit and the Depositary Functions Unit were automated to a considerable extent, resulting in significant increases in productivity. Beginning in 1995, all staff were provided training in advanced computer skills, including database management. In addition training in management skills for managers and teamwork skills for all staff were provided. Consultations were conducted with the other relevant areas of the Organization, in particular, the Translation Division and the procurement area, with a view to coordinating the production processes of the United Nations Treaty Series and expediting the outcome. The refurbishment of the General Service working area of the Section has been completed in line with the budget of biennium 1996-1997. This has provided a better working environment and will undoubtedly contribute to the enhancement of morale and improvements in productivity.
- 6.103 The major remaining task in the computerization programme relates to the completion of a new workflow/database, which would enable the work performed by the different units of the Section to be linked comprehensively so that work processed in one unit could be automatically and simultaneously used by the other units. Although the budget for the biennium 1996-1997 envisaged the early implementation in full of a workflow/database system, this was not achieved in the course of 1996, owing mainly to the unsatisfactory nature of the responses to the request for proposals from vendors. In 1997, it was decided to delay the workflow element of the original plan and to emphasize the database aspect, which will serve to a great extent the same original purpose while enabling the Section to expedite its work.

- 6.104 The following innovations currently being implemented would also contribute to further resource savings. Once the workflow/database system is in place, treaties received for registration and publication will be scanned into the system for processing. Registering parties have also been requested to submit documentation in electronic format, which could then be processed more efficaciously, resulting in a shorter lead time for registration and publication. The Section is seeking to obtain, in electronic format, copies of United Nations Treaty Series volumes that have been typeset, so that they could be entered into the system and made available on the Internet with greater facility. This would also assist in speeding up the printing process. The Section will, in the near future, move from external typesetting to repro-copying treaties for publication and to desktop publishing, a technique already adopted in the Depository Functions Unit and the Indexation Unit.
- 6.105 The publication Multilateral Treaties Deposited with the Secretary-General has been available on the Internet since November 1995 (2,500 accessions per week). This has reduced the need for staff of the Section to intervene regularly to provide information sought by missions and other entities, and in the process has resulted in saving resources within the Section, to its users and also made the document readily available to a wider range of users.
- 6.106 A major expedited programme is being implemented to deal with the backlog in the United Nations Treaty Series and the United Nations Treaty Series Cumulative Index. There will be additional typesetting and printing costs associated with the increased number of Treaty Series volumes and printing costs only for the Treaty Series Cumulative Index volumes in the biennium. If the backlog in the publication of the Treaty Series is to be addressed effectively and these documents to be placed on the Internet, as demanded by Member States, it would be absolutely necessary to make this one-time investment.
- 6.107 Fifteen hundred printed volumes of the United Nations Treaty Series have already been converted to optical disk format and are available on the local area network (LAN). These will be made available on the Internet in 1997. Registered treaties that remain unpublished (approximately 300 volumes) will also be converted into optical disk format once they have been published. The published volumes of the United Nations Treaty Series Cumulative Index and the League of Nations Treaty Series are in the process of being converted to optical disk format. They will also be placed on the Internet.
- 6.108 An effective multiple search mechanism based on the United Nations Treaty Information System (UNTIS) and the United Nations Treaty Series Cumulative Index database is being developed to assist users of the Internet version of the United Nations Treaty Series. This will also enable the Section to conserve resources and also to provide a much superior service to the users of the United Nations Treaty Series. (There will be costs associated with the migration and refinement of data from the UNTIS to the personal computer environment for the above purposes. In addition, costs will have to be incurred to maintain and update the Internet version of the Treaty Series and related documents.)
- 6.109 As part of the rationalization process and consistent with the Organization's efficiency goals, five members of the Treaty Series Unit of the Copy Preparation and Proof-Reading Section, Office of Conference and Support Services, will be redeployed to the Treaty Section. Since the sole task of these staff members was to service the Treaty Section, they should be part of the Section (see below).

Activities

- 6.110 During the biennium the following activities will be undertaken:
- (a) Substantive activities
- (i) Registration of treaties pursuant to Article 102 of the Charter
- a. Registration and processing, including legal analysis, of approximately 5,000 new treaties and international agreements and subsequent actions relating to more than 40,000 treaties and international agreements already registered or filed and recorded with the Secretariat; provision of information on the status of registered instruments to Member States, intergovernmental organizations, the Secretariat, United Nations bodies and other entities;

- b. Keeping such information updated and providing it to users through the electronic media, including the Internet;
  - c. Migration of data from UNTIS, which contains information recorded since 1946, including material registered with the League of Nations, to the personal computer environment. These data will be fed into the new workflow/database for processing for publication and for building the search mechanism on the Internet for the United Nations Treaty Series;
- (ii) Publication of treaties pursuant to Article 102 of the Charter
- a. Preparation of treaties for publication in the United Nations Treaty Series, including legal analysis; compilation of documentation submitted by the registering parties and preparation for translation into English and/or French, as necessary; addition of editorial material; and setting up and maintaining a comprehensive database for references included in the Treaty Series;
  - b. Ensuring a smooth transition to desktop publishing, including through the use of documentation submitted in the electronic format; and scanning documents into the system for processing;
  - c. Providing access to the United Nations Treaty Series users through the electronic media, including LAN and the Internet;
- (iii) Depositary functions
- a. Custody of 475 multilateral treaties and related instruments for which the Secretary-General performs depositary functions in accordance with relevant final clauses; processing, recording and notifying Member States and/or participating Governments and international organizations of approximately 3,600 formalities for the biennium consisting of approximately 2,700 actions (signatures, ratifications, accessions, successions, acceptances, declarations, reservations) and 900 depositary notifications concerning multilateral treaties deposited with the Secretary-General; provision of information on the status of multilateral treaties to international organizations, Governments, the Secretariat, United Nations bodies and other entities; establishment of certified true copies of multilateral treaties for Governments and intergovernmental organizations; rectification of instruments as required;
  - b. Maintenance, on a daily basis, of a comprehensive database of all depositary actions;
  - c. Updating on a regular basis, the information provided on LAN and the Internet;
  - d. Preparing the Summary of Practice of the Secretary-General as Depositary of Multilateral Treaties;
- (iv) Indexation function. Maintaining, updating and managing the United Nations Treaty Series Cumulative Index database which will increase to 15,000 treaties by the end of 1997;
- (v) General legal advice and services. Provision of legal advice, on all aspects of treaty law and depositary, registration and publication practice to Governments, intergovernmental organizations, units of the Secretariat and other entities; and preparation of papers and other material for delivery at public gatherings;
- (b) Other substantive activities (publications)
- a. Preparation of manuscripts and establishment of camera-ready proofs for the publication Multilateral Treaties Deposited with the Secretary-General, status as at 31 December 1998 (ST/LEG/SER.E/14) and status as at 31 December 1999 (ST/LEG/SER.E/15); and preparation of the Summary of Practice of the Secretary-General as Depositary of Multilateral Treaties;
  - b. Preparation of manuscripts and establishment of camera-ready proofs for 34 bilingual issues (English/French) of the Monthly Statement of Treaties and International Agreements Registered or Filed and Recorded with the Secretariat (ST/LEG/SER.A/...);
  - c. Preparation of manuscripts for typesetting and printing (in due course, repro-copied) of 140 volumes of the United Nations Treaty Series in the biennium (the increase over the previous biennium reflects the work programme designed to eliminate the backlog in the publication of the Treaty Series);

- d. Preparation of printed volumes of the United Nations Treaty Series and treaties submitted for registration and publication for dissemination on the electronic medium, including on LAN and the Internet;
- e. Preparation of six internally compiled and typeset volumes of the United Nations Treaty Series Cumulative Index covering volumes 1401-1700 of the Series. In addition, the preparation of a CD-ROM version of the Cumulative Index is being considered.

Posts

- 6.111 Estimated requirements of $5,285,300 would provide for the continuation of 10 posts in the Professional category and above and 21 General Service posts. The resource growth of $1,202,200 represents the combined effect of the application of the new standardized vacancy rates, the redeployment of four Professional and one General Service level posts from the Office of Conference and Support Services, and the reclassification of five General Service posts to the Principal level in view of the complexity and expanding responsibilities related to the increased level of registration and publication of treaties.

Other staff costs

- 6.112 An estimate of $213,200 is proposed for temporary assistance to clear the data in the newly converted database ($201,200) and overtime requirements ($12,000) to supervise the transfer of files to the electronic medium.

Consultants and experts

- 6.113 A provision of $50,200 is proposed to cover the cost of consultant services in connection with the migration of data from the UNTIS to a personal computer environment.

Contractual services

- 6.114 The estimated requirements of $1,535,400 relate to external printing costs of 140 volumes of the United Nations Treaty Series, 6 volumes of the United Nations Treaty Series Cumulative Index and external binding of 4 volumes of the Multilateral Treaties Deposited with the Secretary-General ($1,505,900) and for acquisition and rental of software necessary to run the programme for the Multilateral Treaties Deposited with the Secretary-General ($29,500).

General operating expenses

- 6.115 The estimated requirements of $82,700 relate to: (a) $40,500 for the office's share of the maintenance and support of the LAN technical infrastructure (including central servers) necessary for the support of central management services such as electronic mail and UNIX for IMIS; and (b) $42,200 for maintenance of office automation equipment, including personal computers, two servers, one optical disk jukebox and one scanner, that has been acquired.

Furniture and equipment

- 6.116 Estimated requirements of $100,400 are proposed for the acquisition and replacement of office automation equipment and software necessary to run the UNTIS/LAN workflow system.

Activities

- 6.117 Beginning in the biennium 1996-1997, the Executive Office was reflected as a distinct organizational unit in order to consolidate the resources related to overall departmental support.
- 6.118 The Executive Office provides services to the Office of Legal Affairs in connection with personnel, budgetary and financial administration, resource planning and use of common services, together with administrative support to policy-making organs and other international meetings, as required.

Posts

- 6.119 The estimated requirements of $1,053,000 would provide for the continuation of two Professional and four General Service posts. In addition to the existing Professional staff, provision is made for one new P-3 post to provide a common service to the Office of Legal Affairs in the area of systems analysis with responsibilities for information systems, database design and development and office automation.

Other staff costs

- 6.120 The resources of $107,700 would provide for the temporary replacement of staff on extended sick leave or maternity leave and additional staff during periods of peak workload ($89,600); and for overtime during periods of peak workload and unforeseen emergencies, as well as coverage of meetings ($18,100).

General operating expenses

- 6.121 A provision of $131,900 would cover the cost of electronic mail, long-distance telephone and facsimile charges and other communications requirements of the Office of Legal Affairs ($122,000), as well as provide for maintenance of office automation equipment ($9,900) of the Executive Office. The growth of $57,700 reflects increased communication costs, attributable to significant increases in the facsimile and telephone contacts between Headquarters and other duty stations and other international organizations, as well as the consolidation of communication expenditures under the Executive Office in line with the practice in other departments and offices.

Supplies and materials

- 6.122 The estimated requirements of $55,300 relate to expendable office supplies and materials, in particular data-processing supplies for the Office of Legal Affairs as a whole.

Furniture and equipment

- 6.123 An estimate of $15,400 is proposed for the purchase of new data-processing equipment and the replacement of office automation equipment for the Executive Office.

Section 7

Policy coordination and sustainable development

Overview

- 7.1 The Department for Policy Coordination and Sustainable Development is responsible for the implementation of the programme of work under this section.
- 7.2 During the biennium 1998-1999, the focus of the work programme will be to provide integrated support for the central coordinating and policy-making functions vested in the Economic and Social Council and its subsidiary bodies, as well as for the Second and Third Committees of the General Assembly; to facilitate and promote enhanced policy coordination and greater cooperation and collaboration among the organizations of the United Nations system in the economic and social areas, particularly through the Administrative Committee on Coordination and its subsidiary bodies. In that context, the Department concentrates on:
- (a) Policy development, integrating the economic, social, environmental and gender dimensions of major policy issues in the economic, social and related fields including poverty;
  - (b) Monitoring the implementation of Agenda 21;
  - (c) Assisting the Secretary-General in the exercise of his responsibilities for system-wide coordination and assisting him, along with other organizational entities, in ensuring policy coherence, coordination and efficient management in the economic and social sectors within the United Nations proper;
  - (d) Providing substantive support to the follow-up to global conferences and programmes such as the programmes for the least developed countries, the United Nations New Agenda for the Development of Africa in the 1990s, the United Nations Conference on Environment and Development, the Global Conference on the Sustainable Development of Small Island Developing States, the World Summit for Social Development and the Fourth World Conference on Women;
  - (e) Providing technical secretariat services to intergovernmental bodies in the economic and social fields.
- 7.3 In the areas of sustainable development, new and renewable sources of energy and energy for development, social development and the advancement of women, the Department is the principal substantive secretariat within the United Nations for the relevant intergovernmental and inter-agency processes.
- 7.4 In 1998-1999, the Department will continue to focus on promoting an integrated approach to economic, social, environmental and gender aspects of development, including the elaboration of perspectives that will provide for sustainable, equitable and participatory development. It will develop and promote a coordinated approach to key policy issues in the fields of sustainable and social development, including poverty, the advancement of women and integration into the development process of all social groups. In this context all activities related to gender issues and advancement of women have been consolidated within this section under the responsibility of the Special Adviser to the Secretary-General on Gender Issues and Advancement of Women. The Department will also provide support to the intergovernmental processes that will review the implementation of the programmes of action adopted by relevant global conferences, as well as the programmes of activities relating to Africa and the least developed countries, with the overall objective of ensuring a coordinated and integrated follow-up.

- 7.5 The Department will provide substantive support and technical secretariat services to the Commission on Sustainable Development, the High-level Advisory Board on Sustainable Development, the Commission for Social Development, which in accordance with Economic and Social Council resolution 1996/7 of 22 July 1996 will hold annual sessions with an increased membership, the Commission on the Status of Women, the Committee for Development Planning, the Committee on New and Renewable Sources of Energy and on Energy for Development, the Committee on Natural Resources and, at the inter-agency level, to the Administrative Committee on Coordination and its Organizational Committee, the Inter-Agency Committee on Sustainable Development and other subsidiary bodies of the Administrative Committee on Coordination dealing with both operational and programme questions. In accordance with General Assembly resolution 51/180 of 16 December 1996, the Department will also continue in 1998 its substantive responsibility in assisting the Intergovernmental Negotiating Committee for the Elaboration of an International Convention to Combat Desertification in those Countries Experiencing Serious Drought and/or Desertification, particularly in Africa.
- 7.6 Special emphasis will also be placed on improving services to the Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women, which from 1997 onwards will hold two regular sessions in accordance with General Assembly resolution 51/68 of 12 December 1996, as well as improving the monitoring of the extent of women's enjoyment of their human rights and whether violations of those rights are dealt with by all human rights mechanisms.
- 7.7 Activities under programme 6, Africa: New Agenda for Development, which are under the responsibility of the Department, are presented separately under section 8, in line with the provisions of section V of General Assembly resolution 49/219 of 23 December 1994.
- 7.8 The resource level proposed for the Department under section 7 reflects an increase of resources against those appropriated for the biennium 1996-1997 in the amount of $1,198,900, or 2.8 per cent. This growth represents the combined effect of the application of new standardized vacancy rates and of the following: (a) increases for travel of representatives as a result of the enlargement of the membership of the Commission for Social Development and the annualization of its sessions, as well as the doubling of the number of annual sessions of the Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women in accordance with the resolutions of the General Assembly and the Economic and Social Council mentioned above; (b) delayed impact of the new posts established under the programme in the biennium 1996-1997 (one P-5 and two P-4 posts under subprogramme 2, Advancement of women, and one P-3 post under subprogramme 4, Sustainable development); (c) redeployment from this section of one D-2 level post to section 1, Overall policy-making, direction and management, in exchange for one Assistant Secretary-General level post for the Special Adviser to the Secretary-General on Gender Issues and Advancement of Women; (d) the proposed establishment of one P-5, one P-4 and one General Service post to strengthen the office of the Special Adviser to the Secretary-General on Gender Issues and Advancement of Women; (e) the discontinuation as at 31 December 1998 of the resources related to subprogramme 5, Combating desertification, particularly in Africa, of section 7, including one D-2, one D-1, one P-5, three P-4/3 and five General Service posts (pursuant to General Assembly resolution 51/180); and (f) the proposed abolition of seven General Service posts in the Department (one in executive direction and management; three under programme of work and three under programme support).
- 7.9 The extrabudgetary resources under this section relate to activities in substantive areas of the Department's responsibilities. In part, those resources would be utilized for financing posts to undertake substantive activities.

7.10 The estimated percentage distribution of the total resources of the Department would be as follows:

	Regular budget (percentage)	Extra- budgetary
A. Policy-making organs . . . . .	6.6	—
B. Executive direction and management . . . . .	7.1	—

7.12 The standing intergovernmental organs and expert bodies for the servicing of which the Department will assume responsibility under its mandate and the related resources are as follows.

(a) Commission on Sustainable Development

7.13 The Commission on Sustainable Development was established as a functional commission of the Economic and Social Council by Council decision 1993/207 of 12 February 1993. Its functions are set out in General Assembly resolution 47/191 of 22 December 1992. The Commission is composed of 53 members elected for terms of office of three years, meets annually for a period of two to three weeks and receives substantive and technical services from the Department. The Commission reports to the Economic and Social Council and provides recommendations to the General Assembly through the Council. The Commission has a practice of establishing two ad hoc open-ended inter-sessional working groups that meet once a year for a period of one working week to deal with issues determined by the Commission.

(b) Commission for Social Development

- 7.14 The Social Commission was established as a functional commission of the Economic and Social Council by Council resolution 10 (II) of 21 June 1946. As a result of a comprehensive reappraisal of the role of the Commission, the Council, in its resolution 1139 (XLI) of 29 July 1966, renamed it the Commission for Social Development to clarify its role as a preparatory body of the Council for the entire range of social development policy. Following the convening of the World Summit for Social Development in 1995, the Council, by its resolution 1995/60 of 28 July 1995, decided that the Commission should review, on a periodic basis, issues related to the follow-up and implementation of the Copenhagen Declaration on Social Development and Programme of Action adopted by the Summit. The Council also decided that the Commission should review its mandate, terms of reference and scope of work in order to elaborate its multi-year programme of work and should review the frequency of its meetings in the light of its responsibility for the follow-up to and review of the implementation of the Summit. By its resolution 1996/7, the Council decided to expand the membership of the Commission from 32 to 46 and to annualize its sessions, each session being for a period of eight working days. The Council also decided to invite experts to participate in the meetings of the Commission when priority subjects addressed in the Copenhagen Declaration and Programme of Action were under discussion.

(c) Commission on the Status of Women

- 7.15 The 45-member Commission on the Status of Women reports to the Economic and Social Council on matters concerning the promotion of women's rights in the political, economic, social and educational fields and makes recommendations to the Council on problems requiring immediate attention in the field of women's rights. It meets annually in New York for 10 working days. Its sessions bring together observers both from within and outside the United Nations system.
- 7.16 The Commission has a central role within the United Nations system in monitoring the implementation of the Beijing Declaration and the Platform for Action and advising the Council thereon in accordance with its strengthened mandate (Council resolution 1996/6 of 22 July 1996).
- 7.17 The Commission has established an open-ended working group responsible for the elaboration of a draft optional protocol to the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women, which meets in parallel to the Commission.

(d) Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women

- 7.18 The Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women was established in accordance with the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women to review reports of States parties submitted in accordance with article 18 of the Convention and to formulate suggestions and general recommendations. It reports annually through the Economic and Social Council to the General Assembly. Starting in 1997, the 23-member Committee will hold two regular annual sessions in New York of 15 working days each, preceded by a five-day pre-session working group.

(e) Committee on New and Renewable Sources of Energy and on Energy for Development

- 7.19 The Committee on New and Renewable Sources of Energy and on Energy for Development was established by the Economic and Social Council by its decision 1992/218 of 30 April 1992. Its terms of reference were set out by the General Assembly in its resolution 46/235 of 13 April 1992. The Committee is composed of 24 government-nominated experts, acting in their personal capacity, elected by the Council for terms of office of four years. The Committee meets biennially for two weeks.

(f) Committee for Development Planning

- 7.20 The Committee for Development Planning was established by the Economic and Social Council by its resolution 1035 (XXXVII) of 15 August 1964. Its terms of reference were approved by the Council in its resolution 1079 (XXXIX) of 28 July 1965 and reconfirmed by the Council in its decision 1995/215 of 10 February 1995. The Committee is composed of 24 members, serving in their individual capacity, who are appointed by the Council on the nomination of the Secretary-General for terms of office of three years. The Committee meets annually for a period of eight working days. The Committee establishes working groups that meet inter-sessionally to prepare for the annual meeting of the Committee.

(g) High-level Advisory Board on Sustainable Development

- 7.21 The High-level Advisory Board on Sustainable Development was established by the General Assembly by its resolution 47/191 of 22 December 1992. The Board is an expert body consisting of 21 eminent members serving in their individual capacity. The broad terms of reference of the Board are set out in resolution 47/191. The Board meets semi-annually for a period of three working days. Under the terms of Assembly resolution 49/111 of 19 December 1994, the members of the Board would also participate in sessions of the Commission on Sustainable Development and its inter-sessional working group meetings.

Travel

- 7.22 The provision of $803,800 would cover the travel related costs of the members of the Commission on Sustainable Development to attend its annual sessions as well as those of the two ad hoc open-ended inter-sessional working groups.
- 7.23 A provision in the amount of $151,000 would be required for the travel of members of the Commission for Social Development to the annual sessions. The increase of $48,400, based on the pattern of past expenditure, relates to the increased membership of the Commission and annualization of its sessions.
- 7.24 The estimated requirements of $174,900 relate to travel costs for the members of the Commission on the Status of Women to attend its annual sessions.
- 7.25 The proposed requirements of $851,400 would cover the travel and subsistence costs of the members of the Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women and the travel costs for the Chairperson or her/his representative to attend meetings of other United Nations organs dealing with women's rights, as well as meetings of treaty bodies dealing with human rights. The increase of $373,000 is proposed in accordance with General Assembly resolution 51/68 of 12 December 1996 whereby the Committee would hold two annual sessions, each preceded by a pre-session working group.
- 7.26 An amount of $109,500 is proposed for travel and subsistence costs of the members of the Committee on New and Renewable Sources of Energy and on Energy for Development to attend its biennial sessions.

- 7.37 This subprogramme will be implemented by the Division for Policy Coordination and Economic and Social Council Affairs.
- 7.38 Substantive support will be provided in particular to the high-level, coordination, operational activities and general segments of the Economic and Social Council, including the preparation of reports and the identification of themes, as well as the Council's subsidiary bodies, as required; to the General Assembly, especially the Second Committee; and to the Administrative Committee on Coordination and other inter-agency bodies. Promoting greater policy and programme coordination within the United Nations system will be an important aspect. Tasks will be undertaken in close cooperation and coordination with other programmes in the economic and social areas, as well as on the basis of inputs from the academic and research community, non-governmental organizations and the private sector, to prepare relevant policy reports of the Secretary-General. The follow-up to an Agenda for Development and coordination of the implementation of declarations, strategies and programmes of action adopted by major United Nations conferences in the economic and social fields will be an essential component in order to achieve policy coherence and an integrated approach to the economic, social and environmental aspects of development. Support will continue to be provided for the expanding role of non-governmental organizations in consultative status with the Economic and Social Council in the economic and social sectors.
- 7.39 Substantive support will be provided in respect of the Secretary-General's responsibility for preparing policy recommendations and evaluation reports on the reforms of the operational activities for development of the United Nations system. They cover the governance of operational activities; funding and resources for development; the functioning of the resident coordinator system; programming and implementation modalities; monitoring and evaluation; and the harmonization of administrative activities and of rules and procedures. They also involve identifying effective responses to the changing requirements of recipient countries.
- 7.40 Technical secretariat servicing support will be provided for the Second and Third Committees of the General Assembly, the Economic and Social Council and most of its subsidiary bodies, and ad hoc bodies and special conferences dealing with economic, social and related matters. The Division will plan, forecast and monitor documentation in the economic, social and related fields and inform departments and offices of relevant developments at the intergovernmental level and coordinate its work with other concerned Secretariat entities in scheduling meetings and preparing and managing the calendar of conferences in the economic, social and related fields. The Division will be responsible for editing documentation prepared by the Economic and Social Council and most of its subsidiary bodies, the Second and Third Committees of the General Assembly and the ad hoc committees of the Assembly concerned with economic and social matters.

- 7.47 The subprogramme will be implemented by the Division for the Advancement of Women, which is headed by the Special Adviser to the Secretary-General on Gender Issues and Advancement of Women.
- 7.48 The activities will aim at achieving effective support for the implementation of actions contained in the Beijing Declaration and Platform for Action, adopted by the Fourth World Conference on Women and endorsed by the General Assembly in its resolutions 50/203 of 22 December 1995 and 51/69 of 12 December 1996, and of related recommendations of other global conferences.
- 7.49 During the biennium, the focus will be also on improving service to the Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women, which from 1997 onwards will hold two regular annual sessions in accordance with General Assembly resolution 51/68 of 12 December 1996, and continue to improve the monitoring of the extent of women's enjoyment of their human rights and whether violations of those rights are dealt with by all human rights mechanisms.

- 7.50 Documentation and substantive services will be provided to the Commission on the Status of Women, the Economic and Social Council and the General Assembly according to the long-term programme of work of the Commission. The main analytical and research focus for the biennium will be the production of the World Survey on the Role of Women in Development (1999) and the initiation of the review and appraisal of the implementation of the Beijing Declaration and Platform for Action (1999) and that of the system-wide medium-term plan for the advancement of women (1998).
- 7.51 During the biennium, the Division will implement new working methods, including devoting more resources to interaction with the Commission's bureau and to the interactive dialogues between experts, Governments and other representatives both within and outside the United Nations system in order to assist the Commission to meet its mandate more effectively. Another significant change concerns the mainstreaming of gender issues, which will be promoted within relevant intergovernmental forums and policies and programmes of the organizations of the United Nations system, other intergovernmental organizations and Member States. Services will be provided to the newly created standing committee of the Administrative Committee on Coordination, the Inter-Agency Committee on Women and Gender Equality, which meets annually. The system-wide medium-term plan for the advancement of women has given more leverage to comprehensive and integrated mainstreaming, and has created more concrete opportunities for partnership within the United Nations system. Linkages and partnerships with a network of non-governmental organizations and substantive support to non-governmental organization meetings will be enhanced and strengthened. A system of information with Governments and specialized constituencies related to the Platform for Action will be designed and maintained through various outreach activities, including especially the maintenance and expansion of an Internet space where information can be exchanged.
- 7.52 As part of the consolidation of related activities under the Special Adviser to the Secretary-General on Gender Issues and Advancement of Women, the focal point for women, placed under the supervision of the Special Adviser, will be responsible for: (a) monitoring progress on the strategic plan of action for the improvement of the status of women in the Secretariat (1995-2000); (b) providing secretariat services to the Steering Committee for the Improvement of the Status of Women in the Secretariat; and (c) preparation of reports to the General Assembly and the Commission on the Status of Women and studies on issues related to women in the Secretariat.

- 7.59 The subprogramme will be implemented by the Division for Social Policy and Development. The objective of the subprogramme is the further implementation of the Copenhagen Declaration on Social Development and the Programme of Action of the World Summit for Social Development, endorsed by the General Assembly in its resolution 50/161 of 22 December 1995, and other relevant international instruments, such as the World Programme of Action concerning Disabled Persons, the Standard Rules on the Equalization of Opportunities for Persons with Disabilities, the World Programme of Action for Youth to the Year 2000 and Beyond, the International Plan of Action on Ageing, and the United Nations Principles for Older Persons.
- 7.60 During the biennium major focus will be on strengthening and improving substantive services for the annualized sessions of the expanded Commission for Social Development so that it can carry out efficiently and effectively its new responsibilities for follow-up to and review of implementation of the Copenhagen Programme of Action, with emphasis on the preparation of the priority themes, "social integration and participation" (1998) and "social services for all" (1999).
- 7.61 Documentation, information and substantive services will be provided to the Commission for Social Development, the Economic and Social Council and the General Assembly in accordance with the multi-year programme of work of the Commission (1997-2000). The Division will organize and conduct global comparative surveys with reference to three clusters: social policies and planning, including reviews of development from the social perspective; social institutions and participation, including reviews of issues and trends related to family-supportive strategies and policies and to the cooperative movement; and social integration, including monitoring reports on implementation of the World Programme of Action for Youth and the Standard Rules on the Equalization of Opportunities for Persons with Disabilities. Special attention will be accorded to effective preparation and broad-based observation in 1999 of the International Year of Older Persons, including substantive servicing as appropriate of the ad hoc support group established to assist the Commission in the observation of the Year. As the global focal point the Division will promote and support the United Nations Decade for the Eradication of Poverty (1997-2006), with emphasis on its social objectives.

- 7.62 The social perspective on development will be promoted in competent intergovernmental forums and through dialogue and cooperation with concerned members of the United Nations system with reference to socially sensitive policy design, programme implementation and evaluation. Substantive input will be provided on request to Governments on socially sensitive policy design and evaluation and social integration, including support from general trust funds in the field of social development, to build capacities of specific population groups — older persons, youth, persons with disabilities — for development participation. Information and outreach among specialized constituencies will be strengthened. Maximum effective use will be made of appropriate information and communications technologies so as better to enable interested constituencies to remain informed, to engage in dialogue and to build networks among interested communities on selected issues and trends in the social field. Substantive services will be provided to ad hoc inter-agency meetings on priority social policy and development topics. Special attention will be directed to continuous improvements in supporting and developing specialized networks of non-governmental organizations in the social development field.

* In addition, two gratis personnel on non-reimbursable loan have been contributed at the following levels for the biennium 1996-1997: one P-5 and one P-4/3. It is anticipated that in the biennium 1998-1999, the same number and grade of gratis personnel will be contributed.

7.70 The subprogramme will be implemented by the Division for Sustainable Development. The programme of work may be modified as a result of the outcome of the special session of the General Assembly (23-27 June 1997), which will carry out a comprehensive review of progress achieved since the United Nations Conference on Environment and Development. Subject to the outcome of the special session, the subprogramme will aim at achieving effective and coordinated support for the implementation of Agenda 21 and other outcomes of the Conference, the Barbados Programme of Action on Sustainable Development of Small Island Developing States, decisions and work programmes adopted by the Commission on Sustainable Development and other intergovernmental mandates relevant to sustainable development.

- 7.71 During the biennium the focus will be on enhancing substantive servicing of the Commission on Sustainable Development through preparation of analytical studies and reports assessing progress in the implementation of Agenda 21 at the international and national levels, including at the level of major groups, formulation of policy proposals on sustainable development issues for consideration by the Commission and other relevant intergovernmental and expert bodies, and supporting consensus-building on sustainable development in the Commission and other relevant intergovernmental bodies.

Activities will continue to be aimed at developing a comprehensive framework to integrate better the economic, social and environmental aspects of sustainable development. In that context, emphasis will be placed on the integration of relevant sectoral and cross-sectoral components of Agenda 21 and on the incorporation in that framework of the relevant results of other major United Nations conferences held in the recent years.
- 7.73 The Division will carry out substantive work related to the implementation of decisions and programmes of work adopted by the Commission on Sustainable Development in such areas as financial resources and mechanisms, changing production and consumption patterns, transfer of environmentally sound technology and indicators of sustainable development, as well as in other areas that may emanate from the decisions of the General Assembly at its special session. The Secretariat will also continue to serve as a custodian of data provided by Member States in their national reports. Services will be provided to facilitate access of Governments, international organizations and non-state actors to information, including in electronic form, related to follow-up to the Conference, implementation of Agenda 21 and to other activities carried out under the subprogramme.
- 7.74 Further emphasis will be given to the strengthening of coordinated approaches towards sustainable development among the organizations of the United Nations system through the Inter-Agency Committee on Sustainable Development and its system of task managers with a view to further integrating the concept of sustainable development in United Nations system-wide activities, formulating collective policy proposals and recommendations for action on key sustainable development issues, and effective monitoring of the implementation of Agenda 21 by all relevant organizations.
- 7.75 Work will also be carried out with a view to promoting a dialogue and strengthening the partnerships for sustainable development with the major groups, including business and industry, scientific community and non-governmental organizations.

<sup>a</sup> Although staffing will be required for the first year of the biennium, no established post requirements are indicated here as the existing posts will be discontinued during the course of the biennium 1998-1999.

7.80 The legislative authority for the activities under this subprogramme derives from General Assembly resolution 47/188 of 22 December 1992, whereby the Assembly initiated the intergovernmental process on the elaboration of the United Nations Convention to Combat Desertification in those Countries Experiencing Serious Drought and/or Desertification, particularly in Africa, and established the Intergovernmental Negotiating Committee.

- 7.81 In June 1994, the Intergovernmental Negotiating Committee adopted the Convention, which entered into force on 26 December 1996, three months after it received 50 ratifications. The Convention established a Global Mechanism and a Committee on Science and Technology as a subsidiary body of the Conference of the Parties to the Convention. The Conference of the Parties is its supreme body and has broad authority to make the decisions necessary to promote the effective implementation of the Convention. The Conference of the Parties has also the authority to appoint ad hoc panels and establish other subsidiary bodies as necessary. The first session of the Conference of the Parties will take place from 29 September to 10 October 1997. At that session, the Conference of the Parties will designate a permanent secretariat and make arrangements for its functioning. The permanent secretariat will be responsible to the Conference of the Parties.
- 7.82 By its resolution 51/180 of 16 December 1996, the General Assembly requested the Secretary-General, subject to the decision of the Conference of the Parties, (a) to consider authorizing the secretariat established pursuant to General Assembly resolution 47/188 to act as secretariat for the transition period following the first session of the Conference of the Parties until the permanent secretariat designated by the Conference of the Parties began operating, which should not be later than 31 December 1998; and (b) to maintain the current programme budget for the interim secretariat and the arrangements relating to extrabudgetary resources until the permanent secretariat began operating, which should not be later than 31 December 1998.
- 7.83 Pursuant to General Assembly resolution 51/180, the resources proposed below for the interim secretariat of the Convention represent the requirements for the activities to be undertaken in 1998 only. Any modification to this arrangement that might be recommended by the Conference of the Parties at its first session and endorsed by the Assembly at its fifty-second session would be reflected in revised estimates and/or a statement of programme budget implication to be submitted to the Assembly at that session.
- 7.84 In accordance with the provisions of the Convention, the principal goals of the permanent secretariat will be to facilitate the achievement of the objectives of the Convention, notably by:
- (a) Making effective arrangements for and providing services and documentation to sessions of the Conference of the Parties and its subsidiary bodies;
  - (b) Compiling, analysing and transmitting in accordance with guidelines of the Conference of the Parties, reports submitted to it by parties and organizations;
  - (c) Facilitating the provision of assistance to affected developing country parties, on request, particularly those in Africa, in the compilation and communication of information required under the Convention;
  - (d) Deriving maximum benefit from the coordination of its activities with the secretariats of other relevant international bodies and conventions;
  - (e) Facilitating the organization and functioning of consultative processes at the national, subregional, and regional levels in various regions;
  - (f) Providing administrative support in close consultation with the central administrative services of the United Nations.

Section 8

Africa: New Agenda for Development

Overview

- 8.1 The activities under this section fall under programme 6, Africa: New Agenda for Development, of the medium-term plan for the period 1998-2001 (A/51/6/Rev.1 and Rev.1/Corr.1), which was given priority by the General Assembly in the annex to its resolution 51/219 of 18 December 1996. The activities will focus on implementation of the United Nations New Agenda for the Development of Africa in the 1990s. Under the terms of General Assembly resolution 45/206 of 21 December 1990, the Secretary-General was entrusted with responsibilities to follow-up, monitor and evaluate the implementation of the New Agenda. Activities to be carried out under the section, in close cooperation with UNCTAD, also relate to the assessment and monitoring of implementation of the United Nations Programme of Action for the Least Developed Countries adopted by the Second United Nations Conference on the Least Developed Countries (Paris, 1990).
- 8.2 The programme was established out of the concern of the international community for the daunting and persistent economic and social crisis facing the African continent since the 1980s. At the thirteenth special session of the General Assembly, devoted solely to Africa's critical economic and social situation, the international community launched the United Nations Programme of Action for African Economic Recovery and Development 1986-1990. Following the final review of that programme in 1991, the international community unanimously adopted the United Nations New Agenda for the Development of Africa in the 1990s as a successor political compact between Africa and the international community. The mid-term review of the New Agenda was carried out by the General Assembly at its fifty-first session. In 1990, the Assembly identified African economic recovery and development as a top priority of the United Nations in the 1990s and requested the establishment of a System-wide Plan of Action for African Economic Recovery and Development. This Plan, which was established in 1992 and revised in 1994, is now being implemented through the United Nations System-wide Special Initiative on Africa, launched in March 1996 and designed to give an impetus to the New Agenda by setting out programmatic and operational actions. The Tokyo International Conference on African Development, held in 1993, renewed the commitment of the international community to African development and provided an impetus for increased cooperation between Asia and Africa. Furthermore, the document entitled "Relaunching Africa's economic and social development: the Cairo Agenda for Action", of which the General Assembly took note in its resolution 50/160 of 22 December 1995, not only focused on what Africa could do for itself, but also reaffirmed the invaluable contribution the international community could make to Africa's recovery and development.
- 8.3 The general orientation of the programme is to mobilize the support and galvanize the efforts of the international community for African development; to ensure that African development remains one of the priorities of the international community; to promote a supportive framework for African development efforts; and to promote a coordinated and effective response by the United Nations system at the policy and operational levels in support of African development.
- 8.4 The implementation of the programme will be under the joint responsibility of the Department for Policy Coordination and Sustainable Development, ECA and the Department of Public Information. The Department for Policy Coordination and Sustainable Development, through the Office of the Special Coordinator for Africa and the Least Developed Countries, provides overall coordination and leadership. ECA exercises team leadership and responsibility for coordination and cooperation at the regional level in the implementation of the programme through, in particular, the United Nations Inter-Agency Task Force on African Economic Recovery and Development. The Department of Public Information is responsible for a special programme highlighting Africa's economic concerns.

8.12 The subprogramme will be implemented by the Department of Public Information.

8.13 In the biennium 1998-1999, emphasis will continue to be placed on raising global awareness of Africa's critical economic situation and of the actions taken by Africa and the international community to promote the economic recovery and development of the continent. Activities will focus on highlighting the nature of the critical economic and social situation in Africa and on efforts that are required for recovery and development; on further promotion of the major international and local initiatives that will contribute to Africa's economic progress, with special emphasis on the New Agenda and the complimentary role of the United Nations System-wide Special Initiative on Africa; and on promotion of regional and subregional cooperation and integration in Africa through appropriate programmes, especially those approved by the General Assembly in resolution 51/32. The progress achieved in the implementation of the Agenda, the System-wide Plan of Action for African Economic Recovery and Development and the United Nations System-wide Special Initiative on Africa will be highlighted.

Activities

8.14 During the biennium the following activities will be undertaken:

Substantive activities (RB/XB)

- (i) Recurrent publications. Africa Recovery (quarterly - English and French);
- (ii) Other information material. Information kits, briefing papers and press releases on major international and local initiatives and events supporting Africa's economic and social development; and media liaison and speaking engagements relating to United Nations concerns and efforts to promote African development.

8.15 The estimated requirements of $3,639,600, reflecting a growth of $601,400, would provide for 12 Professional and 7 General Service posts under the programme. The resource growth represents the combined effect of the application of the new standardized vacancy rates, the delayed impact of the new posts (one P-5 and two P-3) established under the programme in the biennium 1996-1997 and the cost of a P-4 post proposed to be redeployed to subprogramme 3 above from section 26, Public information, for strengthening the activities aimed at highlighting the critical economic situation in Africa.

Other staff costs

- 8.16 A provision in the amount of $308,500, reflecting a negative growth of $7,500, is proposed under this heading, broken down as follows:
- (a) An amount of $200,700 is proposed under general temporary assistance for the Office of the Special Coordinator ($55,400) and ECA ($145,300) to cope with the additional workload at the time of the review of the programme implementation by legislative bodies;
  - (b) An amount of $107,800, would be required under external expertise for research, writing and design of information material in relation to the publications of Africa Recovery by the Department of Public Information.

- 8.17 A provision in the amount of $543,100, including a resource growth of $91,500, relates to expert advice and specialized assistance required for implementation of subprogrammes 1 and 2, broken down as follows:
- (a) $222,400 for consultants and $266,100 for expert group meetings under the programme of work of the Special Coordinator, as detailed in paragraph 8.7 above. The resource growth ($91,500) relates to additional requirements resulting from the substantially expanded programme of meetings envisaged under subprogramme 1;
  - (b) $23,600 for consultants and $31,000 for expert group meetings under subprogramme 2, as detailed in paragraph 8.11 above.

Travel

- 8.18 The estimated requirements of $230,900 relate to travel of the Special Coordinator and his staff as well as the staff of ECA and the Department of Public Information for consultations, collection of information and data and participation in inter-agency and other meetings under their programme of work. This amount reflects a resource growth of $19,700 in connection with the requirements of the Special Coordinator and his staff to attend an increased number of meetings.

Contractual services

- 8.19 The estimated requirements of $315,200 cover the costs of contractual translation, printing and other production costs of the quarterly periodical Africa Recovery by the Department of Public Information ($279,900) and external production of publications on the meetings under the work programme to be held away from established United Nations locations ($35,300).

General operating expenses

- 8.20 The estimate of $39,100, including a resource growth of $23,100, relate to the cost of shipment and other services in connection with the production of Africa Recovery by the Department of Public Information.

Supplies and materials

- 8.21 The estimated requirements of $10,600, reflecting a negative growth of $10,600, are proposed on the basis of the past expenditure pattern. They would cover the cost of supplies in relation to information activities under subprogramme 3.

Section 9

Economic and social information and policy analysis

Overview

- 9.1 The programme will be implemented by the Department for Economic and Social Information and Policy Analysis.
- 9.2 The main objective of the programme is to promote an integrated approach to economic, social and environmental aspects of development. It aims to attain this objective by providing information on, promoting understanding of and enhancing insight into development processes. To this end, the programme assembles and disseminates data, analyses development experiences and provides technical cooperation. These activities assist Governments, the international community and non-governmental organizations both in determining development priorities and in devising policies and measures to achieve them at the international, national and local levels.
- 9.3 The programme derives its legislative authority from a broad body of intergovernmental mandates provided by the General Assembly, the Economic and Social Council, the Statistical Commission and the Commission on Population and Development. Many of these mandates are well established and are the basis for much of the work under the programme. However, the programmes of action adopted by the United Nations Conference on Environment and Development, the International Conference on Population and Development, the World Summit for Social Development and the Fourth World Conference on Women have added some new dimensions to the programme.
- 9.4 The programme comprises four subprogrammes. Each subprogramme has a clearly defined sectoral or thematic scope and provides intergovernmental bodies and the international community with a global perspective on developments in its areas of competence. At the same time, the four subprogrammes complement and supplement each other in a variety of ways. Within each subprogramme, the analytical, information and technical cooperation functions operate in an increasingly synergistic manner. In particular, technical cooperation activities, notably in statistics and population, take advantage of the broad base of knowledge and skills built up by the Department.
- 9.5 The resources proposed for the programme include a growth of $1,426,500, or 3.0 per cent. The growth represents the combined effect of the application of new standardized vacancy rates, the delayed impact of the new posts (1 D-2, 1 P-5, 1 P-3 and 2 P-2) established in the biennium 1996-1997, increased non-post requirements for the substantive areas of work, the share of the programme in the cost of the International Computing Centre at Geneva and the proposed abolition of 6 Professional (1 D-1, 1 P-5 and 4 P-2) and 14 General Service (3 Principal level and 11 Other level) posts. The estimated percentage distribution of the total resources of the Department would be as follows:

	Regular budget	Extra- budgetary
	(percentage)
A. Policy-making organs . . . . .	0.3	—
B. Executive direction and management . . . . .	2.4	—

9.6 The distribution of these resources by major field of activities and by object of expenditure is detailed in tables 9.1 to 9.3 below.

1. Statistical Commission

9.7 The Statistical Commission was established by the Economic and Social Council in its resolution 8 (I) of 16 and 18 February 1946. Its terms of reference, as set out in Council resolutions 8 (I), 8 (II) of 21 June 1946 and 1566 (L) of 3 May 1971, are to assist the Council in: (a) promoting the development of national statistics and the improvement of their comparability; (b) coordination of the statistical work of the specialized agencies; (c) development of the central statistical services of the Secretariat; (d) advising the organs of the United Nations on general questions relating to the collection, interpretation and dissemination of statistical information; and (e) promoting the improvement of statistical methods in general.

- 9.8 The Working Group on International Statistical Programmes and Coordination was established by the Economic and Social Council in its resolution 1306 (XLIV) of 31 May 1968. At its seventeenth session, the Statistical Commission decided that the Working Group should: (a) deal with questions of policy, coordination and priorities of the statistical programmes of the United Nations system; (b) constitute a means by which the Statistical Commission could maintain contact, between biennial meetings, with the work of the Statistics Division of the Secretariat and of the statistical services of the specialized agencies; (c) consider current questions, relating to the United Nations system, of organization, policies, arrangements and priorities for the electronic data-processing of economic and social statistics, including databases; and (d) consider questions regarding the statistics required for purposes of reviews and appraisals.
- 9.9 The thirtieth session of the Statistical Commission will be held from 1 to 5 March 1999 and the nineteenth session of the Working Group on International Statistical Programmes and Coordination will be held from 10 to 13 February 1998.

2. Commission on Population and Development

- 9.10 The Population Commission was established by the Economic and Social Council in its resolution 3 (III) of 3 October 1946. Its terms of reference were initially set out in Council resolution 150 (VII) of 10 August 1948. Following the International Conference on Population and Development and the adoption of the Programme of Action by the Conference, the General Assembly, in its resolution 49/128 of 19 December 1994, renamed the Population Commission the Commission on Population and Development, decided that it should meet on an annual basis and revised its terms of reference. The mandate of the Commission was further revised by the General Assembly in its resolution 50/124 of 20 December 1995. The membership of the Commission was increased from 27 to 47, each elected for a four-year term (Council decision 1995/320 of 12 December 1995). The Commission normally meets annually for a period of five working days.
- 9.11 The revised mandate of the Commission includes: (a) arranging for studies and advising the Council on population issues and trends, the integration of population and development strategies, population and related development policies and programmes, provision of population assistance and addressing any population and development questions on which either the principal or the subsidiary organs of the United Nations or the specialized agencies may seek advice; (b) monitoring, reviewing and assessing the implementation of the Programme of Action of the International Conference on Population and Development at the national, regional and global levels, identifying reasons for success and failure and advising the Council thereon; and (c) reviewing the findings of research and analysis pertaining to the interrelationship between population and development at the national, regional and global levels and advising the Council thereon.

Resource requirements (at current rates)

- 9.12 It is estimated that a provision of $146,600 would be required in connection with the activities of the functional commissions mentioned above, as follows:
- (a) Travel of members of the Statistical Commission to attend its thirtieth session, in 1999, and travel of members of the Commission's Working Group to attend its nineteenth meeting ($56,100);
  - (b) Travel of members of the Commission on Population and Development to attend its thirty-first and thirty-second sessions, in 1998 and 1999 respectively ($90,500).

The Office also coordinates the preparation of a working paper series on current and emerging issues of the Department's concern.

Posts

- 9.14 The staffing requirements for the Office of the Under-Secretary-General consist of one Under-Secretary-General, one P-5, one P-4 and three General Service (Other level) posts. One D-1 post is proposed for abolition.

General operating expenses

- 9.15 The estimated requirements ($2,000) are for maintenance of office automation equipment in the Office of the Under-Secretary-General.

<sup>a</sup> In addition, three gratis personnel on non-reimbursable loan have been contributed for the biennium 1996-1997 (one at the P-5 level and two at the P-4 level). It is anticipated that in the biennium 1998-1999, the same number of gratis personnel will be contributed.

- 9.16 The subprogramme will be implemented by the Statistics Division.
- 9.17 The Statistics Division, during the biennium 1998-1999, will continue to provide substantive inputs to the activities of the Statistical Commission and its Working Group and to serve as a global centre for the international collection, standardization, analysis and dissemination of economic, social and related data, with particular attention to data systems on international trade, environment, energy, industrial commodity production, national accounts and demographic and social statistics. In particular, the Division will continue to develop the United Nations Economic and Social Information System (UNESIS) in cooperation with the regional commissions. UNESIS is an information system encompassing data collection, processing, storage, exchange and dissemination of economic and social information to users for policy-making purposes.
- 9.18 Special efforts will be made to improve the usefulness and accessibility of international economic and social data to international and national policy makers. The quality of international statistics and metadata and their usefulness for policy monitoring and analysis will be enhanced through the development and application of new data-processing, network and quality control technologies to enhance coverage, reliability and timeliness in collection, processing and dissemination.
- 9.19 Efforts of the Division to expand the number of countries that implement the 1993 System of National Accounts will continue. The Statistics Division, in close collaboration with other international organizations, will undertake a series of activities aimed at improving economic statistics and promoting the System of National Accounts, inter alia, through training and other forms of technical cooperation.
- 9.20 The subprogramme will continue to play an important part in the implementation of Agenda 21, particularly with regard to the development and dissemination of integrated environmental and economic accounting statistics and indicators of sustainable development. For example, revisions to the System for Environmental and Economic Accounting will be produced to improve the international community's ability to measure the environment-related expenditures and the impact of human activity on the environment.

- 9.21 To monitor progress in the human dimensions of development, the Division will extend the scope and dissemination of consistent and integrated sets of social statistics (including demographic, housing, gender and disability statistics, social indicators and analysis).
- 9.22 The Division will continue to coordinate and harmonize the collection and dissemination of statistical information by the international agencies. It will also continue to provide support to Member States in the development and strengthening of their institutional capabilities in the area of statistics and statistical data-processing through the provision of advisory services, workshops, seminars and fellowships. A key dimension of the subprogramme will continue to be the coordination and development of international statistical standards.

Posts

- 9.24 The staffing requirements for this subprogramme consist of 65 posts in the Professional category and above and 59 General Service (Other level) posts. It is proposed to abolish two P-2 posts and six General Service posts following an internal reallocation of functions among existing staff. It is also proposed to reclassify three P-2 posts to the P-3 level in order appropriately to reflect the expanded functions being performed and increased responsibilities of the posts. The growth of $585,900 represents the combined effect of these proposals and the application of the new standardized vacancy rates.

Other staff costs

- 9.25 An estimated amount of $269,900 is requested for short-term specialist staff for the continued work related to the development of the UNESIS project, as well as the development of the required standards and programming work for UNESIS. Resources for these activities were previously allocated under executive direction and management.

Consultants and experts

- 9.26 An estimated provision of $346,600 is requested as follows: (a) $135,600, reflecting an increase of $51,400, for outside expertise not available in the Department for the preparation of handbooks and manuals and for inputs to be used by the expert group meetings; (b) $211,000 for the seven expert group meetings listed above. The increase of $51,400 is due to additional expertise needed as a result of the expansion of activities.

Travel

- 9.27 An estimated amount of $140,900, reflecting an increase of $52,000, would be required for official travel of the staff of the Division to participate in global, regional, subregional and national conferences, seminars and symposia that call for coordination and the Division's input for statistical development; to assist Member States in institutional development in statistics; and to ensure collaboration and liaison with the regional commissions on matters relating to statistical development. The increase would meet the actual requirements of the Division.

Contractual services

- 9.28 An estimated amount of $366,100 would be required for the production of microfiches for commodity trade statistics and the external printing of publications, handbooks, manuals and reports.

General operating expenses

- 9.29 An estimated amount of $245,100 would provide for the Division's share of the maintenance and support of the local area network (LAN) technical infrastructure (including central servers) necessary for the support of central management services such as e-mail and UNIX for IMIS.

Furniture and equipment

- 9.30 An estimated provision of $217,200 would be required to upgrade and replace personal computers and related equipment, and to purchase additional equipment for the implementation of UNESIS. The increase of $59,600 is due to additional requirements for UNESIS, the resources of which were previously provided for under executive direction and management.

Grants and contributions

- 9.31 The estimated amount of $589,200 would provide for the Division's share of the payment to the International Computing Centre (ICC) for the operation and maintenance of the mainframe. ICC resources were formerly budgeted under section 29, Jointly financed administrative activities.

9.32 This subprogramme will be implemented by the Population Division.

9.33 The activities of the subprogramme during the biennium 1998-1999 will support the implementation of the actions contained in the Programme of Action adopted by the International Conference on Population and Development. In particular, the activities will include the monitoring of progress towards the achievement of the goals set out in the Programme of Action, as well as analysing and investigating new policy issues and emerging global trends in the field of population and development.

9.34 Documentation and substantive services will be provided to the Commission on Population and Development, the Economic and Social Council and the General Assembly, according to the long-term programme of the work of the Population Division, and as mandated. Analytical reports will be produced on the thematic issues before the Commission in 1998 and 1999, as well as the review and appraisal of the implementation of the Programme of Action of the International Conference on Population and Development.

- 9.35 A major focus of the subprogramme will be to provide accurate and timely information and analyses of population trends and policies. During the biennium, official United Nations demographic estimates and projections will be prepared for all countries and areas of the world, as well as urban and rural areas and major cities. These estimates and projections will serve as the standard and consistent set of population figures for use throughout the United Nations system.
- 9.36 International migration, an area of concern highlighted by the Conference and by the General Assembly at its forty-ninth session, and the demographic and social consequences of the ageing of populations, will be two of the emerging issues of importance that will be addressed. Emphasis will be placed on the measurement of levels and trends of international migration, the analysis of its causes and its relationship to development. Other priority areas for analysis will be national population policies, including fertility, mortality and migration policies, and the relationships among population dynamics and development issues. Studies will be carried out on the social, economic and other factors that affect mortality, fertility, migration and population growth, and on population change and its effects on the social, economic and environmental conditions of people.
- 9.37 The activities in this subprogramme will increase Member States' capacity to formulate national population and related policies for the effective implementation of the Programme of Action of the International Conference on Population and Development. Through the provision of technical cooperation, the subprogramme will assist Governments in improving their institutional capabilities for the collection and analysis of national population information and for the formulation of national policies. As part of the follow-up to the International Conference, the subprogramme will include the strengthening and expansion of the Population Information Network (POPIN) to enable it to respond effectively to requests for information and to support coordination among United Nations entities in the field of population.

Posts

- 9.39 The staffing requirements for this subprogramme consist of 26 posts in the Professional category and above and 16 General Service posts. One P-5 post is proposed for reclassification to the P-4 level to reflect enhanced functions in the area of migrations. Two General Service (Principal level) posts are proposed for abolition as a result of the use of improved working methods. The resources growth of $336,900 represents the combined effect of these proposals, the application of the new standardized vacancy rates and the delayed impact of one P-5 post established in the biennium 1996-1997.

Consultants and experts

- 9.40 A reduced provision of $77,500 is requested to cover specialized consultancy services not available in the Secretariat for the preparation of material on specific themes to be addressed by the Commission on Population and Development, as well as for the preparation of the review and appraisal of the Programme of Action of the International Conference on Population and Development to be presented to the Commission on Population and Development in 1999. The reduction also reflects past expenditure experience.

<sup>a</sup> In addition, one gratis staff member at the P-4 level on non-reimbursable loan has been contributed for the biennium 1996-1997. It is anticipated that in the biennium 1998-1999, the loan will be continued.

- 9.45 The subprogramme will be implemented by the Macroeconomics Division.
- 9.46 The overall objective of the subprogramme is to provide timely information on, and analysis of, global macroeconomic developments, with a view to promoting the full and effective integration of all countries into the world economy.
- 9.47 One major consequence of globalization and liberalization is that Governments can no longer manage their national economies without an understanding of, and cooperation regarding, developments in the world economy. Individually, Governments need to understand, foresee and react to the consequences for their national economies of increasing exposure to external forces; they also have to take measures to ensure that their countries are in a position to seize the opportunities that the global economy presents. Collectively, Governments need to be informed about those aspects of the globalization process that call for a multilateral response.

- 9.48 As a contribution to these needs for global economic analysis, a first set of activities under this subprogramme will involve the monitoring and assessment of economic developments that have international causes or consequences. The associated outputs of the subprogramme will include semi-annual short-term economic forecasts for the regions and major economies of the world. The annual World Economic and Social Survey will complement these forecasts with analysis of topical global economic issues, while the preparation of a long-term socio-economic perspective will facilitate the formulation of development strategies for the twenty-first century.
- 9.49 A second dimension will be the examination of national policies, in which attention will be focused on two aspects. The first will assess the efforts and achievements of countries in undertaking measures to improve their position in the world economy; the objective will be to identify the lessons learned. The second will address the consequences of national economic developments and policy measures for other countries, particularly the more vulnerable members of the international community. The objective of this second area of work will be to support international economic cooperation, particularly the efforts of the United Nations in this regard. Activities will include the preparation of reports for the General Assembly and the Economic and Social Council on the implementation of the Declaration on International Economic Cooperation, the International Development Strategy for the Fourth United Nations Development Decade and the Agenda for Development, as well as on such issues as global financial integration, the external debt situation and financing of development.

Activities

- 9.50 During the biennium the following activities will be undertaken:
- (a) Servicing of intergovernmental/expert bodies (RB/XB)
- (i) Substantive servicing of meetings. Second Committee of the General Assembly (24 meetings); and Economic and Social Council (16 meetings);
  - (ii) Parliamentary documentation
    - a. General Assembly. Twelve reports on finance for development; global financial integration and the strengthening of collaboration between the United Nations and the Bretton Woods Institutions, in particular IMF (two); external debt crisis and development (two); sustainable development and international economic cooperation: implementation and follow-up to major consensus agreements on development; financing of development, including net transfer of resources between developed and developing countries; and overall socio-economic perspective of the world economy;
    - b. Economic and Social Council. World Economic and Social Survey (two) and two reports on the state of the world economy (two);
  - (iii) Ten ad hoc expert group meetings on special and emerging macroeconomic issues related to the preparation of the World Economic and Social Survey (four); on the prospects for sub-Saharan Africa in a globalizing economy; on Asian development successes: causes and replicability; and for Project LINK on the outlook for the world economy related to the preparation of the World Economic and Social Survey and the report on the state of the world economy (four);
- (b) Other substantive activities
- (i) Recurrent publication. World Economic and Social Survey (annual);
  - (ii) Seven non-recurrent publications. Overall Socioeconomic Perspective for the World Economy; six working papers on selected macroeconomic issues, including changing world patterns in income distribution, relationships between economic growth and trade, the relationship between economic growth and merchandise trade, financing the social safety net in services, emerging issues in development finance in the twenty-first century and possible strategies for international development in the twenty-first century;
  - (iii) Technical material. Four issues of World Economic Outlook and four issues of World Economic Situation and Emerging Global Macroeconomic Issues;

(c) International cooperation and inter-agency coordination and liaison (RB/XB)

Consultations and coordination with IMF, the World Bank and other relevant specialized organizations, including UNCTAD and the regional commissions; provision of improved global on-line access to the LINK model and its analytical databases to other bodies of the United Nations system and to Member States; external relations with a network of non-governmental research institutes through the exchange of background papers and informal consultations.

Resource requirements (at current rates)Posts*

- 9.51 The staffing requirements for this subprogramme consist of 29 posts in the Professional category and above and 19 General Service posts as shown in table 9.13 above. One P-2 and five General Service (Other level) posts are proposed for abolition following an internal redistribution of functions among existing staff. The decrease of resources ($93,600) represents the combined effect of these proposals and the application of the new standardized vacancy rates.

Other staff costs

- 9.52 An amount of $31,600 is requested for general temporary assistance for computer assistance in data processing and temporary research assistance for the preparation of the World Economic and Social Survey and the report on the state of the world economy.

Consultants and experts

- 9.53 A provision of $222,300, reflecting a growth of $93,800, is requested to provide (a) $99,600, reflecting a growth of $32,900, to provide for specialized expertise in the preparation of inputs to technical papers under the responsibility of the subprogramme, the preparation of material on emerging global macroeconomic issues, and high-level computer programming expertise to transfer the Division's macroeconomic models and databases from the Secretariat's mainframe computer to the Division's personal computers and LAN; (b) $122,700, reflecting a growth of $60,900, for six ad hoc expert groups on: financing social safety nets, emerging issues in development finance (two meetings), strategies for international development in the twenty-first century, prospects for sub-Saharan Africa in a globalizing economy, and Asian development successes, sustainability and replicability. The increased resources would allow a wider participation in the meetings.

Travel

- 9.54 An amount of $74,500 is requested to provide for the travel of staff for servicing the Economic and Social Council when it meets in Geneva and for liaison and coordination with the specialized agencies and other intergovernmental and non-governmental organizations for research and collection of data on issues under the programme of work.

Contractual services

- 9.55 A provision of $102,400 is requested for the production and external printing of the World Economic and Social Survey, and the Overall Socioeconomic Perspective of the World Economy and a number of other publications. The increase of $61,800 is due to the cost of higher quality production and the printing of these publications in languages other than English.

General operating expenses

- 9.56 The estimated amount of $57,100 would represent the Division's share of the maintenance and support of the LAN technical infrastructure (including central servers) necessary for the support of central management services such as e-mail and UNIX for IMIS.

Equipment

- 9.57 The estimated amount of $50,100 would be required to upgrade computers of the Division and to acquire specialized software.

- 9.58 The subprogramme will be implemented by the Microeconomic and Social Analysis Division.
- 9.59 The overall purpose of the subprogramme will be to assist the international community in its policy deliberations for developing and promoting an integrated view of the economic, social and political linkages in the development process. This will be achieved by carrying out multisectoral analyses of key policy issues identified by the recent global conferences on development in order to support national and international efforts for the implementation of their outcomes.
- 9.60 The subprogramme will focus on meeting the needs of Member States for information and policy-oriented analysis on the role of individual agents and market mechanisms in national efforts to foster economic growth and to increase efficiency and distributional equity. Activities will include analytical studies on the potential and shortcomings of market solutions to problems of allocation, distribution and regulation, in particular with regard to the provision of public goods and services, at the national and international levels. Attention will also be paid to research and analysis on public expenditure patterns, tax systems and privatization policies; the effects of new technologies on earnings, income distribution and labour markets; the determinants of investment behaviour; and the location of economic activity.

- 9.61 Documentation and substantive support will be provided to the Commission for Social Development, the Economic and Social Council and the General Assembly, as well as the Administrative Committee on Coordination task forces for the follow-up to the global conferences on selected issues, such as promoting social integration and participation of all people, and social services for all. The Division will undertake integrated analyses of global patterns and trends in socio-economic development and their implications for national and international strategies, and will examine the evolving role of economic and social institutions and policy instruments, with particular reference to the core issues of the World Summit for Social Development. An interim report on the world social situation and reports on emerging issues, trends and new approaches to issues affecting social development will be produced.
- 9.62 The subprogramme will also respond to requests from Governments and intergovernmental bodies for information, methodologies, assessments and policy proposals regarding the linkages between political and economic issues and policies. The Division will prepare reports for the General Assembly and the Security Council, as required, on the economic and social impact of United Nations-imposed sanctions, on the imposition of coercive economic measures and the peace-development link. Cooperation with relevant organizations and institutions inside and outside the United Nations system will be maintained.

Activities

- 9.63 During the biennium the following activities will be undertaken:
- (a) Servicing of intergovernmental/expert bodies
- (i) Substantive servicing of meetings. General Assembly (6 meetings); Economic and Social Council (4 meetings); and plenary and working groups of the Commission for Social Development (24 meetings);
- (ii) Parliamentary documentation
- a. General Assembly. Four reports on economic assistance to countries affected by the implementation of multilateral economic sanctions (two); economic measures as a means of political and economic coercion against developing countries; and an interim report on the world social situation;
- b. Economic and Social Council. Two reports on the role of the welfare state in income distribution and on privatization and deregulation policies in developing countries and countries with economies in transition;
- c. Commission for Social Development. Four analytical reports on promoting social integration and participation of all people, including disadvantaged and vulnerable groups and persons; social services for all; and emerging issues, trends and new approaches to issues affecting social development, including the situation of special groups (two);

(ii) Information materials and services. Divisional Homepage on Internet; and database on world social patterns and trends;

(c) International cooperation and inter-agency coordination and liaison

Substantive servicing of the Administrative Committee on Coordination task forces and other interagency working groups on the follow-up to the global conferences (annual), through provision of background papers and reports of the meetings.

Posts

- 9.64 The staffing requirements for this subprogramme consist of 16 posts in the Professional category and above and 8 General Service posts, as shown in table 9.15 above. One P-3, one P-2 and one General Service post are proposed for abolition following a streamlining of the work of the Division. The growth of $269,900 represents the combined effect of the application of the new standardized vacancy rates, the delayed impact of the new posts (one D-2, one P-3 and two P-2 posts) established in the biennium 1996-1997 and the abolition of one P-3, one P-2 and one General Service post.

Consultants and experts

- 9.65 The estimated requirements of $110,300, reflecting a growth of $41,400, include: (a) $60,400 under consultants, required for specialized expertise for the preparation of recurrent and non-recurrent publications, as well as analytical studies and working papers on microeconomic and social development issues; and (b) $49,900 for the three ad hoc expert group meetings mentioned in paragraph 9.63 (a) (iii) above. The growth of $41,400 ($24,100 under consultants and $17,300 under ad hoc expert group meetings) is due to a higher number of outputs and wider participation in meetings, respectively.

Travel

- 9.66 Reduced requirements of $30,100 relate to the travel of staff to undertake research and collection of data and to maintain liaison with specialized agencies, international financial and trade institutions and other relevant intergovernmental and non-governmental organizations.

General operating expenses

- 9.67 The estimated requirements of $75,700 represent the Division's share of the maintenance and support of the LAN technical infrastructure (including central servers) necessary for the support of central management services such as e-mail and UNIX for IMIS.

Equipment

- 9.68 A reduced provision of $31,800 is requested to upgrade and replace computer equipment in the Division.

Section 10

Development support and management services

(Programme 8 of the medium-term plan
for the period 1998-2001)

Overview

- 10.1 The Department for Development Support and Management Services is responsible for the implementation of programme 8 of the medium-term plan for the period 1998-2001 (A/51/6/Rev.1 and Rev.1/Corr.1).
- 10.2 The Department acts as an executing agency, as required, for programmes and projects and is the principal operational arm and focal point of the United Nations Secretariat for technical cooperation in the economic and social fields. Its main objective is to support the efforts of developing countries, in particular the least developed among them, as well as countries with economies in transition, at their request, in strengthening their human and institutional capacities in the fields of public administration and finance, economic and social development management, and natural resources and energy planning and management. It also provides substantive support to intergovernmental bodies in the areas of public administration and finance as well as in natural resources and energy.
- 10.3 The implementation of this programme is guided, inter alia, by General Assembly resolutions 44/211 of 22 December 1989, 47/199 of 22 December 1992 and 50/120 of 20 December 1995, concerning technical cooperation, and 50/225 of 19 April 1996 on public administration and development, as well as various Economic and Social Council resolutions and decisions. The programme also takes into account the outcomes and commitments of recent United Nations global conferences, in particular the United Nations Conference on Environment and Development, the Global Conference on the Sustainable Development of Small Island Developing States, the World Summit for Social Development, the United Nations Conference on Human Settlements (Habitat II) and the Fourth World Conference on Women, as well as global or regional programmes of action, such as the programmes on least developed countries and on Africa. In this context, particular attention will be paid to the implementation of the United Nations System-wide Special Initiative on Africa. As an active partner in action-oriented national and community programmes and projects that integrate sectoral measures in coherent, multisectoral strategies, this programme represents a practical interface between global development consensus and national action.
- 10.4 In the biennium 1998-1999, the Department will continue to provide technical expertise, as requested, to the developing countries, particularly the least developed among them, as well as countries with economies in transition, in the following areas: economic and social policy planning and development, natural resources and energy planning and management, public administration and finance, and business development, as well as cartography and physical infrastructure. Given its multidisciplinary expertise, the Department will emphasize a multisectoral and thematic approach to development cooperation and institution-building.
- 10.5 The Department will provide parliamentary services and substantive inputs to the General Assembly for its deliberation in 1998 of public administration and development and to the Committee on Natural Resources and other expert groups. The Department also acts as the focal point for reporting to the Economic and Social Council and the Executive Board of UNDP and UNFPA on United Nations technical cooperation activities.
- 10.6 In response to the emerging trends in development cooperation, greater emphasis will be placed on sustainability of development and on people-centred development. The thrust of the Department's operational activities will reflect a shift upstream to the programme level. In post-conflict situations, the Department's multisectoral capacity is employed to assist in the preparation of operational programmes to deal with demobilization, meeting the needs of vulnerable social groups, supporting self-help reconstruction, rehabilitation of infrastructure and public services to meet pressing basic human needs, building or strengthening of governance and reactivation of normal economic and social life.

- 10.7 The efficient and responsive development and delivery of field programmes and projects require strong and mutual support between the technical support and implementation functions, including recruitment and administration of personnel, servicing of fellows financed under project funds and arrangement of training programmes, procurement of project equipment and supplies and engagement of subcontractors. A number of these functions will be carried out by the Department's units in Geneva and Vienna.
- 10.8 A large part of the technical cooperation projects implemented by the Department have been financed from the extrabudgetary resources provided by UNDP and UNFPA. In recent years, there has been a marked decline in UNDP resources handled by agencies. For the Department for Development Support and Management Services, as one of the five major agencies using UNDP resources, this decline has resulted in considerable loss of support cost reimbursement.
- 10.9 The proposed regular budget resources of $26,075,000 reflect a decrease of $736,400, resulting mainly from the combined effect of the application of the new standardized vacancy rates and the proposed abolition of 10 posts in the context of the restructuring of the Department, especially the streamlining of its activities and outposted units in Europe.
- 10.10 The estimated percentage distribution of resources under this section would be as follows:

	Regular budget	Extra- budgetary
	(percentage)
A. Policy-making organs . . . . .	1.6	—
B. Executive direction and management . . . . .	5.7	—

D. Programme support . . . . .	9.2	6.3
Total	100.0	100.0

- 10.11 Within the programme of work, the estimated percentage distribution of resources among areas of activity in 1998-1999 would be as follows:

	Regular budget	Extra- budgetary
	(percentage)
1. Public administration, finance and development . . . . .	53.3	52.7
2. Environment and social development management . . . . .	46.7	47.3

1. Committee on Natural Resources

- 10.12 The Committee on Natural Resources is a subsidiary organ of the Economic and Social Council. Its terms of reference are defined in the annex to General Assembly resolution 46/235 of 13 April 1992. The Committee consists of 24 experts, acting in their personal capacity, nominated by their Governments and elected by the Economic and Social Council for a four-year term. The Committee consists of two working groups, which address water and mineral resources issues in an integrated fashion. The Committee meets biennially for two weeks. Its fourth session will be held in 1998.

2. Meeting of Experts on the United Nations Programme in Public Administration and Finance

- 10.13 By its resolution 1199 (XLII) of 24 May 1967, the Economic and Social Council decided that the United Nations programme in public administration should be reviewed from time to time by a meeting of experts and that the report of the meeting should be submitted to it for consideration. Some 20 to 25 experts are invited by the Secretary-General in their individual capacity to participate in the Meeting of Experts on the United Nations Programme in Public Administration and Finance. Although there is no mandated periodicity, meetings are generally held biennially for a period of 10 to 14 days. The Thirteenth Meeting will be held in May 1997 and the Fourteenth Meeting is scheduled for 1998.

3. Ad Hoc Group of Experts on International Cooperation in Tax Matters

- 10.14 The Ad Hoc Group of Experts on International Cooperation in Tax Matters was set up in accordance with Economic and Social Council resolution 1273 (XLIII) of 4 August 1967 and consists of 25 tax experts (10 from developed and 15 from developing countries) nominated by their Governments but acting in their personal capacity. Its ninth meeting will be held in 1999.
- 10.15 The 25-member Group reports to the Economic and Social Council and holds biennial sessions at Geneva for 10 days. Its sessions are devoted to the conclusion of tax treaties between developed and developing countries that would be acceptable to both parties and would fully safeguard their respective revenue interests. These include the revision of the United Nations Model Double Taxation Convention between Developed and Developing Countries and the United Nations Manual for the Negotiation of Bilateral Tax Treaties between Developed and Developing Countries. The meetings of the Group also bring together observers from developed and developing countries and countries with economies in transition, international and regional intergovernmental organizations and professional non-governmental organizations active in the international taxation area.

Travel

- 10.16 It is estimated that a provision of $409,000, reflecting a growth of $13,200, owing for the most part to increased requirements of the Meeting of Experts on the United Nations Programme in Public Administration and Finance, would be required for travel and subsistence of representatives as follows:
- $135,500, reflecting a decrease of $3,000 on the basis of 1996-1997 expenditures, for 24 members of the Committee on Natural Resources to attend its fourth session, in 1998;
  - $142,000, reflecting a growth of $28,100, for 25 experts to attend the Fourteenth Meeting of Experts on the United Nations Programme in Public Administration and Finance in 1998. The growth is due to the increase in the number of participating experts from 21 in 1996-1997 to 25 in 1998-1999;
  - $131,500, reflecting a decrease of $11,900 on the basis of 1996-1997 actual requirements, for 25 experts to attend the meeting of the Ad Hoc Group of Experts on International Cooperation in Tax Matters in 1999.

10.20 The subprogramme will be implemented by the Division for Governance, Public Administration and Finance.

10.21 In 1998-1999, the Department will support intergovernmental dialogue in the General Assembly, the Economic and Social Council and relevant subsidiary bodies on critical trends and issues in public administration, public finance and business development, especially on strengthening government capacity for policy development, administrative restructuring, civil service reform, human resources development and public administration training; improving performance in the public sector; financial management; public-private sector interaction; the role of public administration in social development; the role of public administration in developing infrastructure; post-conflict rehabilitation and reconstruction of government machinery, and management of development programmes. In this respect, the Department will act as a repository for information and experiences in these areas to facilitate the exchange of knowledge, methodology and ideas. Documentation and substantive services will be provided to the Group of Experts on the United Nations Programme in Public Administration and Finance, the Ad Hoc Group of Experts on International Cooperation in Tax Matters, the Economic and Social Council and the General Assembly.

- 10.22 The technical and substantive expertise developed by the Department in its areas of competence will be placed at the disposal of developing countries and countries with economies in transition through the provision of advisory services, needs assessment missions, diagnostic studies, programme formulation and development and project execution. In response to emerging trends in development cooperation, greater emphasis will be placed on building national capacities and on institutional and human resources development. Emphasis will also be placed on promoting new strategic partnerships between the public sector and civil society by contributing to the development of a participatory approach to policy-making. Operational-assisted research and studies will be conducted on emerging trends and issues in public administration and finance and on "best practices", with a view to adaptation and replication in developing countries and countries with economies in transition.
- 10.23 Major initiatives will be taken during the biennium to enhance the clearing house functions of the subprogramme, utilizing new and cost-effective technological approaches in the collection, maintenance and dissemination of information on public administration and finance, and to improve the synergy, cooperation and coordination between the United Nations funds and programmes, the specialized agencies, the United Nations Secretariat and the Bretton Woods institutions to optimize the substantive and technical capacity of the United Nations system in these areas. - 10.28 This subprogramme will be implemented by the Division for Economic and Social Development and Natural Resources Management.
- 10.29 The objective of the subprogramme is to strengthen the technical and institutional capacities of developing countries and countries with economies in transition to formulate and implement policies and programmes aimed at promoting economic and social development and environmentally sound natural resources and energy management. It also aims at accelerating and supporting socio-economic aspects of reconstruction and rehabilitation processes in countries at risk of conflict.
- 10.30 The specific policies and programmes that the subprogramme assists countries to formulate and implement are consistent with United Nations system priorities and recommendations, namely, the eradication of poverty and people-centred development. The subprogramme operates also within the framework of the implementation of the results of United Nations global conferences and mandates. It also provides substantive servicing to United Nations cartographic conferences and conferences on the standardization of geographical names and contributes in the preparation of reports to the Committee on New and Renewable Sources of Energy and on Energy for Development and the Committee on Natural Resources.
- 10.31 The subprogramme provides assistance through technical advisory services, at the request of Governments, through formulating, executing, monitoring and evaluating technical cooperation activities, particularly focused on building capacities at the national level, and through applied research. The subprogramme focuses on least developed countries, countries with economies in transition, countries in recovery and rehabilitation and other countries where the needs are greatest.
- 10.32 At the national level, assistance will be provided to devise operational strategies that promote equitable economic and social development, and sustainable use of natural resources and energy. In its multi-disciplinary approach, the subprogramme pays particular attention to key areas of economic and social development and management, including structural adjustment policies, investment programming and monitoring, and planning and policy formulation and management. Emphasis will also be placed on the social dimensions of adjustment, decentralization of economic decision-making, social integration, social reconciliation, integrated rural and community development, reintegration of refugees and ex-combatants, and participation of women and vulnerable groups. In the area of natural resources, the assistance provided focuses on a multisectoral approach to water resources management, involving local initiatives and participation in such development efforts; the formulation of policies on mineral resources that encourage environmentally sound production practices; and the use of modern surveying and mapping techniques as a tool for infrastructure and land-use planning for economic growth and sustainable development. In the area of sustainable energy strategies, the subprogramme will concentrate on environmental problems, paying particular attention to global warming, commercializing renewable energy technologies, energy conservation, transfer of clean coal technology, sustainable energy services in rural areas, and private investment in the energy sector.

Overview

- 11A.1 As the focal point within the United Nations for the integrated treatment of development and interrelated issues in the areas of trade, finance, technology, investment and sustainable development, UNCTAD has as its main objective to maximize the trade and development opportunities of developing countries and to assist them to face the challenges of, and derive the maximum benefits from, the process of globalization.
- 11A.2 At its ninth session, held at Midrand, South Africa, in April 1996, the Conference adopted far-reaching reforms encompassing a more focused work programme, in particular in areas where UNCTAD has a clear comparative advantage, a streamlined intergovernmental machinery, improved working methods, a reduced number of meetings and a restructuring of the secretariat. Thus the organization and its secretariat have adapted to the new economic and institutional framework created by the process of globalization and the conclusion of the Uruguay Round.
- 11A.3 The Conference recognized that the dual phenomena of globalization of production and trade liberalization offered opportunities but also posed challenges. The rapidly evolving situation, along with the conclusion of the Uruguay Round, had created a new situation. The Conference therefore decided that the UNCTAD programme of work should concentrate on four areas: globalization and development; investment, enterprise development and technology; international trade in goods and services and commodity issues; and services infrastructure for development and trade efficiency. Within these four areas, the focus will be on examining specific development challenges and successful development experiences and drawing out appropriate lessons; assessing the challenges and helping countries exploit opportunities for enterprise development arising from the new economic conditions; enhancing the capacity of beneficiary countries to improve their investment climate; assisting in the effective integration of developing countries into the international trading system; and assisting developing countries and countries in transition in generating trade supporting services. The Conference also decided that the problems of least developed, landlocked and island developing countries, sustainable development, poverty alleviation, the empowerment of women, and cooperation among developing countries should be treated as cross-cutting issues and be integrated in every aspect of UNCTAD work. UNCTAD will continue to monitor the implementation of the Programme of Action for the least developed countries for the 1990s and to prepare for a global review and appraisal of the implementation of the Programme. UNCTAD will strengthen its contribution towards the implementation of the United Nations New Agenda for the Development of Africa in the 1990s.
- 11A.4 In addition to the quadrennial conference, the intergovernmental machinery of UNCTAD consists of the Trade and Development Board, which convenes in regular and executive sessions, the Commission on Trade in Goods and Services, and Commodities; the Commission on Investment, Technology and Related Financial Issues; and the Commission on Enterprise, Business Facilitation and Development.
- 11A.5 In order to benefit from a higher level of technical expertise, each commission may convene expert meetings not exceeding three days duration. The total number of expert meetings will not exceed 10 per annum.

- 11A.6 Substantive servicing of the Trade and Development Board, its subsidiary bodies and the Commission on Science and Technology for Development, which continues to be a subsidiary body of the Economic and Social Council, is provided by the relevant units of the UNCTAD secretariat.
- 11A.7 The efforts to streamline the structure of the UNCTAD secretariat and refocus its programme of work in line with the outcome of the ninth Conference, are reflected in the UNCTAD programme budget proposal for 1998-1999. Twenty-five posts in the Professional categories and above (2 D-2; 7 D-1; 5 P-5; 6 P-4/3 and 5 P-2/1 level posts) and 18 General Service posts are proposed for abolition as the reorganization of the secretariat has led to a leaner organizational structure and the rationalization of the substantive programmes resulted in the reduction in the number of Divisions from nine to four. Further, the Office of the Special Coordinator for Least Developed, Landlocked and Island Developing Countries coordinates the relevant activities which constitute a cross-cutting issue in the work of UNCTAD. In addition, as a result of enhanced collaboration and cooperation between UNCTAD and the regional commissions, it is considered that the role of coordination of the joint units could be fulfilled through different means, and that their full integration into the respective commissions would be of greater substantive and administrative benefit. In this context, it is proposed to redeploy the resources allocated to the UNCTAD/Regional Commissions Joint Units to the respective regional commissions (one P-5, one P-3 and one Local level post to ESCAP; one P-5, one P-4 and one Local level post to ECLAC; one P-5, one P-4 and one Local level post to ECA; and one P-5 and one Local level post to ESCWA) as a way of ensuring results that may not necessarily require coordination units of an institutional nature. It is also proposed to reclassify one D-2 post to the Assistant Secretary-General level in the light of the increased responsibilities that the demands of strategic planning and management of the new structure place on the Deputy Secretary-General of the Conference. It is also proposed to convert a temporary D-2 level post dealing with transnational corporations activities to established status.
- 11A.8 In view of the substantial restructuring of the UNCTAD secretariat in the biennium 1996-1997 and the consequent extensive, redeployments, mergers and consolidations of functions and resources, a detailed recitation of the individual changes in the distribution of posts and non-post resources proposed for the biennium 1998-1999 under programme 11 and its 5 subprogrammes, in relation to the resources adopted under 5 programmes and 25 subprogrammes in the biennium 1996-1997, would not have been meaningful. For this reason, data under the columns "1996-1997 appropriation" reflects the aggregation of resources resulting from the restructuring that UNCTAD implemented during the course of the biennium 1996-1997 pursuant to the Conference at its ninth session. The "resource growth" columns reflect, therefore, only the subsequent proposed changes as well as those changes related to standard costs and vacancy rates.
- 11A.9 The estimated percentage distribution of the total resources of UNCTAD for the biennium 1998-1999 would be as follows:

11A.18 The Secretary-General of UNCTAD provides overall direction on substantive and managerial matters, including the implementation of the work programme. He also provides orientation to, and ensures the effective servicing of, the intergovernmental machinery of UNCTAD, in particular the quadrennial sessions of the Conference and sessions of the Trade and Development Board. The Deputy Secretary-General assists the Secretary-General in day-to-day management and in this context is responsible for translating overall objectives and strategies into programmatic terms and exercises programme oversight at all levels. As member States and the UNCTAD secretariat envisage a more focused, streamlined and leaner structure at the senior levels, the demands of strategic planning and management place additional responsibilities on those charged with the executive direction and management of the UNCTAD secretariat. In this context, many of the functions which previously used to report directly to the Secretary-General of UNCTAD have been redirected to report now to the Deputy Secretary-General. Furthermore, the entities providing oversight with respect to the regular programme of work and technical cooperation have been redeployed to executive direction and management in line with the recommendations of the Office of Internal Oversight Services and following the abolition of the former Division for Programme Support and Management Services.

11A.19 Executive direction and management includes the offices of the Secretary-General of UNCTAD and of the Deputy; the UNCTAD New York office; Programme, Planning and Assessment, which provides management policy advice, and ensures planning, coordination and assessment of programmes; Inter-Organization Affairs and Technical Cooperation, which coordinates UNCTAD relations with other United Nations and intergovernmental bodies and provides policy direction and support to technical cooperation activities; and External Relations, which disseminates information about UNCTAD to all its stakeholders and interacts with civil society and the business community.

11A.26 The subprogramme will be implemented by the Division on Globalization and Development Strategies. Its focus is to facilitate the process through which developing countries meet the challenges and utilize the benefits of globalization to accelerate the attainment of the objectives of sustainable development. The subprogramme will provide the analytical underpinnings and other substantive support for intergovernmental discussions on interdependence and global economic issues from a trade and development perspective, concentrating on specific micro and macro issues. It will include the following areas: the evolution and interaction of the basic elements for sustainable development, especially those of the least developed countries; the impact of globalization on the development process; examination of successful development experiences; lessons learnt about debt management problems; assistance to the Palestinian people; relevant aspects of poverty alleviation and other cross-sectoral issues. It will contribute to the implementation of the United Nations New Agenda for the Development of Africa in the 1990s and to the system-wide special initiative in this area. Finally, it will support general secretariat needs for documentation reference, coordinating statistical activities in UNCTAD and preparing statistical publications, as well as information retrieval and reference services.

- 11A.27 The subprogramme services mainly the Trade and Development Board and contributes to the servicing of the Commission on Investment, Technology and Related Financial Issues on the issues relating to financial flows and the Commission on Enterprise, Business Facilitation and Development on the issues relating to successful development experiences. It will contribute to the preparation of documentation for the tenth session of the Conference and prepare inputs on the issues falling within its purview to various reports for the General Assembly, the Economic and Social Council, the Commission on Sustainable Development, the Decade for Poverty Eradication as well as to reports and meetings related to economic cooperation among developing countries. The subprogramme will provide inputs or resource persons for seminars and lectures as well as for the preparation of draft UNCTAD press releases, press briefings, interviews and press conferences on issues falling within its purview.
- 11A.28 At its ninth session, the Conference decided that least developed countries would constitute a cross-cutting issue in the work of UNCTAD. In accordance with that decision, each activity under this subprogramme will give priority consideration to least developed country issues, and the subprogramme as a whole will provide the required sectoral inputs within its scope to the activities under subprogramme 5, Least developed, landlocked and island developing countries.

The increased provisions for consultants and ad hoc expert groups are required to ensure that the full programme of work can be fulfilled with the reduced complement of staff that have been requested above.

Travel

- 11A.32 The reduced level of resources requested ($253,300) relate to travel to be undertaken by staff for advisory missions, information-collecting, consultations and attendance at meetings. This level of requirements reflects in part expenditure experience.

This set of activities will focus on investment, enterprise development and the participation of enterprises in the global economy, and issues related to technology and development.
- 11A.36 In implementing the subprogramme, the Division will take the lead in servicing the Trade and Development Board's Commission on Investment, Technology and Related Financial Issues, in dealing with investment and technology issues, including least developed countries. It will also contribute to the substantive servicing of the Economic and Social Council's Commission for Science and Technology for Development in dealing with technology issues; the Trade and Development Board, in its consideration of investment and other non-debt creating financial flows, including as regards their South-South dimension and least developed countries; the Trade and Development Board's Commission on Trade in Goods and Services, and Commodities in dealing with investment and intellectual property rights; and the Trade and Development Board's Commission on Enterprise, Business Facilitation and Development, in dealing with enterprise development issues, including their South-South dimension and the development of least developed countries. Contribution will be made to the preparation of documentation for the tenth session of the Conference. The subprogramme will provide inputs or resource persons for seminars and lectures as well as for the preparation of draft UNCTAD press releases, press briefings, interviews and press conferences on issues falling within its purview.
- 11A.37 The results, reflecting an increased integration of analytical and operational work, will lead to the identification of policy elements, both for national action and international support measures in the above areas. The increased complementarities between analytical and operational work can be illustrated by the following examples: analysis of investment policies and advice to Governments through technical assistance on investment promotion are now in the same divisional Branch; so too are analysis of international investment arrangements and seminars and workshops disseminating the relevant studies as well as studies of networking and the practice of networking.
- 11A.38 At its ninth session, the Conference decided that least developed countries would constitute a cross-cutting issue in the work of UNCTAD. In accordance with that decision, each activity under this subprogramme will give priority consideration to least developed country issues, and the subprogramme as a whole will provide the required sectoral inputs within its scope to the activities under subprogramme 5, Least developed, landlocked and island developing countries.

11A.57 The subprogramme will be implemented by the Division for Services Infrastructure for Development and Trade Efficiency, which also provides substantive servicing to the Commission on Enterprise, Business Facilitation and Development.

11A.58 The focus of the activities is to assist developing countries, in particular the least developed countries, and countries with economies in transition in generating trade supporting services such as customs, transport, banking and insurance, telecommunications or business information which are adapted to the requirements of these countries, focusing particularly on the needs of micro, small and medium-sized enterprises and the informal sector. The Division will analyse the situation of trade-supporting services from the viewpoint of small and medium-sized enterprises, and will formulate solutions based on the reform of policies, the dissemination of best practices, the use of modern, wide-reaching training tools and of information technologies and global networks. Technical cooperation projects will be launched and supported for the practical implementation of those solutions. The Division will also review and assess progress with the trade efficiency initiative, including the experience gained so far in the working of trade points and their inter-operability. Specific models for the provision of services adapted to the requirements of small informal entrepreneurs, through mechanisms that allow the interaction of the private sector and grass-roots organizations will be identified and disseminated. Contribution will be made to the preparation of documentation for the tenth session of the Conference and to the annual report on technical cooperation. The subprogramme will also provide inputs for seminars and lectures as well as for the preparation of draft UNCTAD press releases, press briefings, interviews and press conferences on issues falling within its purview.

- 11A.59 The Division will also contribute to the implementation of the Programme of Action for the Sustainable Development of Small Island Developing States. At its ninth session, the Conference decided that least developed countries would constitute a cross-cutting issue in the work of UNCTAD. In accordance with that decision, each activity under the subprogramme will give priority consideration to least developed countries issues, and the subprogramme as a whole will provide the required sectoral inputs within its scope to the activities under subprogramme 5, Least developed, landlocked and island developing countries.
- 11A.60 The expected results of the Division's activities during the biennium 1998-1999 are the following:
- (a) The capacity of interested developing countries and economies in transition to trade efficiently will have been improved, through an increase in the effectiveness of, and in the number of countries benefiting from programmes addressing issues such as customs reform and automation, Automated System of Customs Data Entry, Control and Management (ASYCUDA); cargo tracking, Advanced Cargo Information System (ACIS); Global Trade Point Network; the Programme on Training Development in the Field of Maritime Transport (TRAINMAR), and substantive services for small enterprises and the informal sector;
  - (b) Interested developing countries will have been assisted in the assessment of the efficiency of their trade supporting services and best practices in the light of the recommendations of the United Nations International Symposium on Trade Efficiency. In cooperation with ITU, the practical trade implications of the emerging global information infrastructure will have been assessed and relevant areas for action will have been identified;
  - (c) The difficulties to trade efficiently that are encountered by landlocked developing countries, in particular those related to transit transport, will have been alleviated by the promotion of transit transport agreements.

- 11A.66 As part of the reorganization of the UNCTAD secretariat, the implementation of the subprogramme will be coordinated by the Office of the Special Coordinator for Least Developed, Landlocked and Island Developing Countries. In accordance with the outcome of the Conference at its ninth session, least developed countries will constitute a cross-cutting issue in UNCTAD's work and the sectoral issues will be dealt with by the Divisions of UNCTAD within their respective mandates.
- 11A.67 This subprogramme coordinates the UNCTAD-wide activities on least developed, landlocked and small island developing countries and monitors the implementation of the Programme of Action for the Least Developed Countries for the 1990s and other relevant United Nations programmes of action as they relate to least developed countries. It provides inputs for the annual review of progress in the implementation of the Programme of Action by the Trade and Development Board. The subprogramme also manages the Trust Fund for Least Developed Countries and helps mobilize resources for the Fund and contribute to the preparatory process of the tenth session of the Conference. For the biennium 1998-1999, the subprogramme will intensify efforts at the national and international levels to enhance the effective implementation of the Programme of Action, as well as of the recommendations of mid-term global review of the implementation of the Programme of Action and the Conference at its ninth session, as they relate to the least developed, landlocked and small island developing countries, and agreed conclusions of the Trade and Development Board at its forty-third session with regard to development of the integrated country-level programme for strengthening least developed countries' export supply capacities. The subprogramme will therefore focus on the activities which will facilitate the integration and fuller participation of least developed countries in the global economy in order to prevent their further marginalization in world trade, investment, commodities and capital markets. It will undertake the necessary preparatory work for the third global review and appraisal of the implementation of the Programme of Action. The process involves preparation of documents, organization and servicing of expert level and intergovernmental preparatory meetings and the preparation of their reports. The subprogramme will provide inputs or resource persons for seminars and lectures as well as for the preparation of draft UNCTAD press releases, press briefings, interviews and press conferences on issues falling within its purview.

International Trade Centre UNCTAD/WTO

(Programme 9 of the medium-term plan
for the period 1998-2001)

- 11B.1 The International Trade Centre UNCTAD/GATT (ITC) was established on 1 January 1968, to be operated jointly and in equal partnership by the former General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) and the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD), following approval of the accord between GATT and UNCTAD by the Contracting Parties to GATT on 22 November 1967 and by the General Assembly in its resolution 2297 (XXII) of 12 December 1967. Since 1995 GATT responsibilities have been taken over by World Trade Organization (WTO).
- 11B.2 The intergovernmental body providing overall direction to the work of the Centre is the Joint UNCTAD/WTO Advisory Group on the International Trade Centre, which is open to members of WTO and States members of UNCTAD. The Group reviews the programme of work of the Centre annually and reports to the General Council of WTO and the Trade and Development Board of UNCTAD.
- 11B.3 The Centre acts as the focal point for all United Nations technical cooperation activities in trade promotion, as affirmed by the Economic and Social Council in its resolution 1819 (LV) of 9 August 1973. In the biennium 1998-1999, the Centre is responsible for subprogramme 6, Institutional development and support services for trade promotion, export development and international purchasing and supply management, and subprogramme 7, Market development and trade information, of programme 9, Trade and development, of the medium-term plan for the period 1998-2001 (A/51/6/Rev.1 and Rev.1/Corr.1), as adopted by the General Assembly in its resolution 51/219 of 18 December 1996.
- 11B.4 The Centre helps developing countries to improve their performance in international trade through export expansion and diversification, and the achievement of greater economy and efficiency in import trade. Its activities cover the development of the institutional infrastructure, including business organizations, for trade promotion and export development, the identification and development of export products, including commodities and markets, the improvement of import operations and techniques and the development of human resources for trade promotion.
- 11B.5 In an effort to ensure maximum impact, technical cooperation activities of the Centre are directed mainly towards the development of country projects, through which packages of assistance covering several areas are provided. Whenever possible, integrated country projects are linked to regional and interregional projects in related areas in order to increase overall impact.
- 11B.6 Upon creation of WTO, the Secretary-General of the United Nations and the Director-General of WTO, in an exchange of letters of 29 September 1995 on the relationship between the two organizations, agreed, inter alia, to recommend to the responsible intergovernmental organs that the present arrangements governing the status of the Centre as a joint body be confirmed and renewed with the WTO subject to revised budgetary arrangements as called for by the General Council of WTO.
- 11B.7 The administrative and financial arrangements for ITC were agreed upon between the secretariats of the United Nations and the former GATT in 1974 and reported upon to the General Assembly (A/C.5/1533 and A/C.5/1604). The Assembly took note of the proposed arrangements on 18 December 1974. Under those arrangements ITC was considered as a subsidiary organ of both the United Nations and GATT, the former acting through UNCTAD. The Centre's regular budget was to be financed by the United Nations and GATT in equal parts. The ITC programme budget estimates were reviewed by the Assembly in the context of its consideration of the United Nations biennial proposed programme budgets upon which the Assembly decided on the level of the appropriation to finance the United Nations contribution to the ITC budget.

- 11B.8 At its session on 3 April 1995, the WTO General Council decided, inter alia, that:
- The control function of WTO on the ITC budgetary procedures should be restored;
  - The ITC budget would be subject to the same preparation and reporting procedures as the WTO budget itself;
  - The ITC budget would cover a calendar year period and would be presented in Swiss francs;
  - The ITC budget would be formulated by the ITC secretariat using exchange rates and inflation factors to be decided upon jointly between the ITC and WTO secretariats in consultation with the United Nations.
- 11B.9 Bearing in mind the annual budget cycle of the Centre, it is proposed that starting with the biennium 1998-1999, the ITC programme budget estimates be submitted to the General Assembly for review and approval on an annual basis, on the understanding that, taking into account the principle of joint responsibility of the United Nations and WTO for funding of the Centre's operations, the proposals to the Assembly on the level of the appropriation to finance the United Nations share of the ITC annual budgets would continue to be based on relevant Assembly resolutions and Financial Regulations and Rules of the United Nations.
- 11B.10 At this stage, in order to ensure the continuity in funding of the activities mandated for the Centre by the General Assembly in its resolution 51/219 under programme 9, Trade and development, of the medium-term plan for the period 1998-2001, it is proposed to maintain provisionally for the biennium 1998-1999 the appropriation for financing the United Nations share of the ITC budget at its 1996-1997 level, as adopted by the Assembly in its resolution 51/222 A of 18 December 1996 under section 10B of the 1996-1997 programme budget (see table 11B.1 below). That appropriation would be subject to further adjustment by the Assembly following its review of the proposed programme budgets of ITC for 1998 and for 1999 along the lines of paragraph 11B.9 above. Detailed ITC proposed programme budgets for 1998 and for 1999 will be submitted to the Assembly at its fifty-second and fifty-third sessions, respectively.

Environment

Overview

- 12.1 The United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP) was established by the General Assembly by its resolution 2997 (XXVII) of 15 December 1972, with the Governing Council of UNEP as its policy-making organ and a secretariat to serve as a focal point for environmental action and coordination within the United Nations system. The extrabudgetary resources contributed to UNEP are administered by its Executive Director in accordance with the rules and regulations of the Environment Fund.
- 12.2 The overall objective of the programme, the achievement of which is being carried out in coordination with other relevant United Nations agencies and international organizations, as appropriate, is to provide leadership and encourage partnership in caring for the environment by inspiring, informing and enabling nations and peoples to improve their quality of life without compromising that of future generations.
- 12.3 The mandate of UNEP has been confirmed through various legislative measures both by the General Assembly and the Governing Council of UNEP. Agenda 21 also established the need for an enhanced and strengthened role for UNEP and its Governing Council and indicated action that UNEP should undertake to contribute to its implementation. UNEP is also the secretariat to several global and regional conventions that have been established in areas related to UNEP programmatic activities.
- 12.4 The secretariat is headed by an Executive Director who is elected by the General Assembly on the nomination of the Secretary-General. The Executive Director is responsible for the administration of the Environment Fund, under the authority and policy guidance of the Governing Council.
- 12.5 The integrated programme for the biennium is built, firstly, on developing and promoting state-of-the-art scientific assessments; secondly, on formulating policy options for enhancing environmental management; thirdly, on generating knowledge for building consensus on critical environmental problems and issues; fourthly, on assisting Governments at the global, regional, subregional and national levels in formulating environmental management strategies; and, fifthly, on promoting more effective cooperation and coordination in the field of the environment with partners within and outside the United Nations system.
- 12.6 Of three resource-level scenarios presented by the Executive Director in February 1997 to the Governing Council at its nineteenth session, the lowest described a programme budget of $80 million and a management and administrative support costs budget of $32.4 million for the biennium 1998-1999. By its decision 19/22, the Governing Council approved a Fund programme activities budget of $75 million, or 17 per cent lower than the budget originally approved for the biennium 1996-1997 ($90 million), and a management administrative support costs budget of $28.5 million. Consequently, in keeping with the provisions of the decision, the secretariat of UNEP is currently in the process of revising the 1998-1999 programme of work presented to the Council on the basis of the lowest resources scenario. UNEP will be reporting to the Council on the implementation of this decision in the latter part of 1997.
- 12.7 The resources proposed for the biennium 1998-1999 under this section reflect growth of $351,400, or 4.2 per cent, resulting from increases and decreases under various objects of expenditure, including the proposed abolition of one P-5 and three Local level posts that have become redundant as a result of the improved integration of UNEP activities.

	Regular budget	Extra- budgetary (percentage)
A. Policy-making organs .....	15.5	—
B. Executive direction and management .....	47.4	12.5
C. Programme of work .....	37.1	87.5

- 12.9 The Governing Council, consisting of 58 Member States, is the policy-making organ of UNEP. The Council holds its sessions biennially and reports to the General Assembly through the Economic and Social Council.
- 12.10 In its decision 19/1 B, the Governing Council created a 36-member inter-sessional High-Level Committee of Ministers and Officials in Charge of Environment, which will meet in Nairobi at least once a year. As this inter-sessional body will assume some of the duties and responsibilities of the Council, the duration of the latter's regular session will be reduced to five days. The twentieth session of the Council is scheduled for May 1999.

Other staff costs

- 12.11 The estimated amount of $1,207,000 includes $1,144,100 for temporary assistance for meetings for the twentieth session of the Council and $62,900 for overtime of staff during that session. The reduction of $106,700 is due in part to decreases in documentation pursuant to Council decision 18/45.

Travel

- 12.12 The existing provision of $5,200 will no longer be required.

Contractual services

- 12.13 The estimated amount of $32,300 relates to contractual translation of UNEP documents that are required urgently and cannot be provided in-house.

General operating expenses and hospitality

- 12.14 A provision in the amount of $125,100 would be required as follows: (a) $35,700 for rental and maintenance of equipment, maintenance of back-up service for generator and electronic data-processing equipment; (b) $31,300 for communications costs, including dispatch of documentation to members of the Council; (c) $53,000 for miscellaneous services, which consist of the fees of sound technicians and engineers for the operation of the simultaneous interpretation equipment; and (d) $5,100 for official functions held by the President of the Council and the Executive Director of UNEP during the session of the Council. The reduction of $18,400 is due to the discontinuation of the practice of hiring minibuses for local transportation of delegates to the Gigiri campus.

Supplies and materials

- 12.15 An estimated amount of $25,700 would be required for printing supplies and materials. The reduction of $16,800 is due to the anticipated reduction in the documentation and supplies and materials requirements for the Council's session.

- 12.16 Executive direction and management is composed of the Office of the Executive Director and regional representation, Fund management and the United Nations Scientific Committee on the Effects of Atomic Radiation.
- 12.17 The Executive Director of UNEP has overall responsibility within the United Nations system for providing leadership on environmental policy; assessing the causes and effects of environmental change, identifying emerging issues and catalysing responsive international action. The Executive Director is also responsible for the coordination of environmental activities within the United Nations system and the provision of support to the UNEP Governing Council.
- 12.18 Regional representation relates to the functions of the Regional Office for North America in New York, the Regional Office for Europe in Geneva, the Regional Office for Asia and the Pacific in Bangkok, the Regional Office for West Asia in Manama, the Regional Office for Latin America and the Caribbean in Mexico City and the Regional Office for Africa in Nairobi. The New York and Geneva Offices are funded in part from the regular budget.
- 12.19 The primary task of the regional offices is to foster and promote the goals and objectives of UNEP and to maintain liaison and cooperation with government authorities, public and private institutions and organized groups of individuals at all levels. The offices ensure coordination with United Nations organizations, including regional commissions, on all matters of common interest.
- 12.20 The Regional Office for North America is also charged with liaison with United Nations Headquarters and with United Nations agencies with headquarters in North America. It is responsible for information and outreach activities, in particular with media groups.
- 12.21 The Regional Office for Europe is also charged with liaison with the United Nations Office at Geneva and with United Nations agencies with headquarters in Geneva.

Resource requirements (at current rates)Posts*

- 12.22 The estimated amount of $3,068,500 relates to the staffing requirements of executive direction and management, which would consist of nine Professional and eight Local level posts, as shown in table 12.7. Of these posts, one D-2 and two General Service, and one P-5, one P-4 and two General Service posts are for the Regional Offices in New York and Geneva, respectively. Two Local level posts of a secretary and an editorial assistant are proposed for abolition. The growth of $101,100 is the result of the combined effect of the application of the new standardized vacancy rates and the proposed abolition of two Local level posts.

Other staff costs

- 12.23 A provision on a maintenance basis in the amount of $75,400 is requested for general temporary assistance ($62,500) and overtime for the New York and Geneva Offices ($12,900).

Travel

- 12.24 The estimated provision of $106,900 relates to the official travel of the Executive Director and the staff of her Office to participate in United Nations meetings and for consultations with Member States and senior United Nations officials ($77,400) and travel of staff of the Regional Offices for North America ($16,200) and Europe ($13,300) for consultations and participation in the work of the Governing Council.

General operating expenses

- 12.25 The estimated requirements of $33,600, representing an increase of $15,500, relate to the cost of communications of UNEP offices as follows: (a) $14,800 for the New York Office; (b) $6,700 for the Geneva Office; and (c) $12,100 for communications requirements of the Office of the Executive Director.

Supplies and materials and furniture and equipment

- 12.26 The estimated amount of $19,000 relates to supplies and materials, furniture and equipment as follows: (a) $3,700 for supplies and materials for the New York and Geneva Offices; (b) $6,100 to provide supplies for the Office of the Executive Director; and (c) $9,200 for the replacement of the copier in the Office of the Executive Director.

- 12.28 The United Nations Scientific Committee on the Effects of Atomic Radiation was established by the General Assembly by its resolution 913 (X) of 3 December 1955 and was entrusted with the compilation and distribution of scientific data on the impact of ionizing radiation on man and the environment. Continuing annual resolutions of the Assembly reflect the concerns of Member States regarding radiation exposure and its effects and the need for the collection, analysis and interpretation of data carried out by the Committee.
- 12.29 The secretariat of the Committee is responsible for the preparation of the scientific documents requested by the Committee for review and discussion at its sessions. Those documents, which deal with all aspects of radiation exposure and its biological effects, are drafted by the Secretary of the Committee with assistance from consultants.
- 12.30 The secretariat prepares reports to the General Assembly on the sources and effects of ionizing radiation on man and the environment, representing the latest assessments of the Committee. The 1993, 1994 and 1996 reports of the Committee were published as United Nations sales publications. A further series of scientific studies is beginning with preliminary data compilation and evaluation required in documentation to be prepared during the period 1997-1999, with publication anticipated in the year 2000.
- 12.31 The compilation of data and preparation of the Committee's reports extends over four- to five-year periods. Each year draft documentation is submitted to the Committee at its annual sessions, where it serves as the basis for the technical discussions. In the biennium 1998-1999, the Committee secretariat will continue its work on the following subjects: (a) sources of radiation exposure (natural and man-made); (b) medical radiation exposure; (c) occupational radiation exposure; (d) models for environmental behaviour and doses of selected radionuclides; (e) DNA repair and mutagenesis; (f) hereditary effects of radiation; (g) epidemiological studies of radiation effects; (h) combined effects of radiation and other agents; and (i) Chernobyl: local doses and effects.
- 12.32 The Committee's secretariat organizes and services the annual sessions of the Committee.

Resource requirements (at current rates)Posts*

- 12.33 The estimated amount of $595,800 relates to the staffing requirements of the secretariat, which consists of one D-1 and two General Service posts. The reduction of $22,400 is due to the application of the new standardized vacancy rates.

Other staff costs

- 12.34 A provision in the amount of $1,800 would be required for overtime of staff during peak periods of document preparation. The increase of $1,200 is based on past patterns of expenditure.

Consultants and experts

- 12.35 An estimated amount of $95,400 would be required to provide for specialized consultancy services for the preparation of studies and reports to be presented to the annual sessions of the Committee and for the publication of its report.

Travel

- 12.36 The amount of $132,900 relates to the cost of travel of staff as follows: (a) $118,400 for the 21 representatives in the Committee and (b) $14,500 for the participation of the Secretary of the Committee in scientific meetings. The reduction of $8,300 is determined on the basis of past expenditure patterns.

Contractual services

- 12.37 The amount of $1,700 relates to the cost of binding scientific publications and journals.

General operating expenses

- 12.38 A provision in the amount of $1,300 is requested as the Committee's share of the maintenance and support of LAN technical infrastructure (including central servers) necessary for the support of central management services.

Furniture and equipment

- 12.39 An estimated amount of $11,200, reflecting a growth of $8,500, is requested, as follows: (a) $9,500 for the acquisition of high-grade computing and printing capabilities essential for the scientific data evaluations and document preparations, including camera-ready production of all materials for published reports, including the upgrading of computer and software; and (b) $1,700 as part of the Committee's contribution to LAN/equipment acquisition in the United Nations Office at Vienna.

- 12.42 The intensified and unsustainable demand for land, water, biological, marine and coastal resources resulting from the expansion of agriculture and industry and uncontrolled urbanization continues to lead to the increased degradation and depletion of natural ecosystems and to the erosion of life-supporting systems that sustain human civilization. This subprogramme will address the need to promote the sustainable use of natural resources as an essential response of the world community to ensure its own survival, well-being and socio-economic development.
- 12.43 Support will be provided to the work programmes of strategically relevant international environmental agreements, such as the Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species of Wild Fauna and Flora, the Convention on the Conservation of Migratory Species of Wild Animals, the United Nations Convention to Combat Desertification in those Countries Experiencing Serious Drought and/or Desertification, Particularly in Africa, the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change, the Global Programme of Action for the Protection of the Marine Environment from Land-Based Activities and the Convention on Biological Diversity.
- 12.44 A major thrust of this subprogramme is the promotion of scientific assessments, such as follow-up to the global biodiversity assessment, the second assessment report of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change, the revised World Desertification Atlas, the global freshwater assessment and the land-based activities assessment undertaken by the inter-agency Group of Experts on the Scientific Aspects of Marine Pollution. To that end, UNEP will focus its attention on linking scientific assessments undertaken in support of environmental conventions and agreements, with a view to identifying potential areas of synergy and gaps in knowledge. In addition, the promotion of targeted scientific research will be a fundamental element of the UNEP strategy for generating and disseminating knowledge for building consensus on environmental problems and issues, particularly in support of the conventions on biological diversity, climate change and desertification.
- 12.45 The development of tools and guidelines to enhance the sound management of natural resources is also a major focus. This will include, inter alia, the application of guidelines for the preparation of national biodiversity strategies and action plans in support of the Convention on Biodiversity, the testing of economic instruments for the sound management of freshwater and coastal resources, improved methodologies for assessing the impact of development projects on biodiversity and the improvement of natural resource accounting methodologies and capacity-building in developing countries. Of particular importance will be the implementation and further testing of the international technical guidelines for safety in biotechnology.

- 12.46 Through this subprogramme, UNEP will be supporting countries in the development of regional, subregional and national strategies and action plans in areas such as regional seas, international freshwater basins, biodiversity and land degradation. These activities will generally be in support of relevant international, regional and subregional conventions and agreements.

Activities

- 12.47 During the biennium the following activities will be undertaken:

- (a) Develop and/or improve policy-relevant assessments of the state of freshwater, coastal and marine resources, through global and regional freshwater and coastal assessments of (i) water quantity and quality, (ii) land-based sources of pollution and their impacts and (iii) diagnostic studies of drainage basins, coastal ecosystems and open oceans;

Posts

- 12.48 The estimated amount of $1,385,700 relates to the staffing requirements of the subprogramme, which, following the reorganization of the programme of work, would consist of six Professional posts and one Local level post, as shown in table 12.15. One vacant P-5 post of Senior Programme Officer, which is no longer required, is proposed for abolition. The growth of $372,200 is the result of the combined effect of the application of the new standardized vacancy rates and the abolition of the P-5 post.

Consultants and experts

- 12.49 A provision in the amount of $15,100 is requested for consultancy services in order to undertake evaluation studies at the subprogramme level of performance indicators and regional delivery arrangements. The reduction of $37,000 relates to the funds provided previously for ad hoc expert group meetings.

General operating expenses and supplies and materials

- 12.50 A provision of $21,000 is requested for communications ($16,500) and for supplies ($4,500).

- 12.51 The utilization of inappropriate technologies and the widespread adoption of unsustainable production and consumption patterns lead to high waste yields and emissions into the atmosphere and water and are inefficient in the use of natural resources, including energy and water. As the world population grows and resources are used beyond the Earth's carrying capacity, societies, in particular the affluent, must strive to establish an improved rationality in their consumption patterns and to move towards the adoption of cleaner and safer technologies, which use energy and water efficiently and reduce the use of toxic substances.
- 12.52 This subprogramme is centred on two specific areas: sustainable production and consumption and the reduced environmental impacts of energy utilization. As with the preceding subprogramme, a number of activities in support of international conventions will be undertaken.
- 12.53 The focus on cleaner production and consumption complements the work being implemented under the Basel Convention on the Control of Transboundary Movements of Hazardous Wastes and Their Disposal and the Montreal Protocol on Substances that Deplete the Ozone Layer. To that end, activities will be carried out in close collaboration with Governments, private industry, associations and non-governmental organizations throughout the world. Implementation will be carried out primarily through the provision of support to national, subregional and regional cleaner production centres.
- 12.54 In addition to developing sustainable energy policies, this subprogramme will focus its energy component on supporting the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change, through the preparation and implementation of projects funded by the Global Environment Facility for mitigating or eliminating the negative impacts of climate change.

Activities

- 12.55 During the biennium the following activities will be undertaken:
- (a) Identify and develop sustainable industrial policies for Governments and strategies aimed at increasing resource productivity and preventing pollution;
  - (b) Provide information on cleaner production techniques and technologies and environmental management practices and tools;
  - (c) Further develop and encourage the implementation of environmental management systems and tools and promote responsible entrepreneurship by business and industry worldwide (including extracting, manufacturing and service sectors such as tourism);
  - (d) Support and catalyse national, subregional and regional cleaner production centres;
  - (e) Assist in developing national and local capabilities to prepare for and respond to technological accidents;
  - (f) Provide institutional servicing to the Vienna Convention for the Protection of the Ozone Layer and the Montreal Protocol on Substances that Deplete the Ozone Layer;
  - (g) Support the Basel Convention on the Control of Transboundary Movements of Hazardous Wastes and Their Disposal;
  - (h) Build sustainable consumption patterns;
  - (i) Identify, or develop where necessary; and disseminate information on sustainable energy policies and strategies and on the environmental impacts of energy technologies, including the production, use and transportation of energy;
  - (j) Promote consensus among suppliers of energy, consumers and government regulators of energy production and consumption at the global and regional levels on sustainable energy technology and policies;
  - (k) Assist with the preparation of projects that could be funded by the Global Environment Facility that remove barriers to implementation of renewable energy technologies and energy efficiency measures in developing countries and countries with economies in transition;

- (1) Identify opportunities, including activities implemented jointly, for the implementation of technologies that reduce greenhouse gas emissions in various industrial sectors in developing countries and countries with economies in transition.

Posts

- 12.56 The estimated amount of $237,200 relates to the staffing requirements of the subprogramme, which, following the reorganization of the programme of work, would consist of one P-4 and one Local level post. The growth of $4,300 is the result of the application of the new standardized vacancy rates.

Consultants and experts

- 12.57 A provision in the amount of $13,000 is requested for consultancy services in order to undertake evaluation of performance indicators and regional delivery arrangements.

General operating expenses and supplies and materials

- 12.58 The estimated amount of $4,800 relates to the cost of communications ($3,600) and supplies and materials ($1,200).

- 12.59 Environmental changes and human behaviour result in the prevalence and increase of hazardous chemicals and toxic wastes in the environment of burgeoning and deteriorating urban areas and in the increasing risk of waterborne and other diseases of environmental etiology. Such changes also have adverse effects on economic productivity, health and social welfare, including the exacerbation of the negative effects of natural disasters on the poor. The relationship between environmental degradation and pollution and human health and well-being and its root causes, must continue to be understood and preventive measures should be strengthened to mitigate negative environmental and social impacts.
- 12.60 The principal focus of this subprogramme will be on human health and well-being and safeguarding the human environment from the risks posed by toxic chemicals, by emerging environmental health hazards and natural and man-made environmental accidents and emergencies. Because of its nature, the work to be undertaken under this subprogramme will be closely coordinated with the activities to be implemented in the preceding subprogramme. It will include components for assessing environmental degradation provoked by chemicals, the continuing deterioration of the environment, environmental emergencies and emerging environmental health risks.
- 12.61 Top priority will be given to supporting the negotiation and implementation of an international legally binding instrument on prior and informed consent for hazardous chemicals in international trade, as well as to follow-up on the recommendations of the Intergovernmental Forum on Chemical Safety concerning legal options for addressing persistent organic pollutants.
- 12.62 Innovative strategies for improving urban environmental planning and management under the United Nations Centre for Human Settlements (Habitat)/UNEP sustainable cities programme will continue, including supporting the transfer of environmentally sound technologies for the management of sewerage, solid waste and freshwater resources within the urban environment.

- 12.63 Greater attention will be given to addressing emerging environmental health issues, such as endocrine disruptors and the proliferation of micro-organisms in freshwater supplies resulting from greater resistance to chemical controls.
- 12.64 Within the field of environmental emergencies, work will continue in developing and promoting innovative non-judicial mechanisms for avoiding and resolving environmental disputes, in particular those related to transboundary resources. At the same time, response capabilities to environmental threats and emergencies will continue to be developed and strengthened in conjunction with the Department of Humanitarian Affairs of the Secretariat.

Activities

- 12.65 During the biennium the following activities will be undertaken:
- (a) Support the secretariat of the Convention on the Prevention of Marine Pollution by Dumping Wastes and Other Matter;
  - (b) Develop a legally binding instrument and/or other mechanisms to reduce and eliminate releases of persistent organic pollutants;
  - (c) Promote the global exchange of information on hazardous chemicals and wastes;
  - (d) Build the capacities of countries to use chemicals in a sustainable manner and protect health and the environment from chemical problems;

- 12.69 The subprogramme will be centred on three major thematic issues of the global environmental agenda: trade and environment, environmental economics and environmental law.
- 12.70 In the field of trade and environment, working closely with UNCTAD, the following objectives will be highlighted: the strengthening of the capacities of developing countries and countries with economies in transition to carry out environmental assessments of international economic policies, improving methodologies for analysing the effectiveness and benefit/costs of environmental policies, and promoting dialogue on the relationship between international, regional and national environmental legislation and international and regional trade agreements.
- 12.71 In the area of environmental economics, particular attention will be given to developing and/or improving, testing and applying tools and instruments for integrating the environmental dimension into social and economic development processes. Special emphasis will be given to tools and instruments such as improved methodologies for environmental impact assessments and natural resource accounting and valuation.
- 12.72 Support to the development of international, regional, subregional and national environmental legislation as an essential tool for bringing order to the management of the environment will be a priority and area of focus under the subprogramme. Fundamental to this focus is the recognition that the efficiency and effectiveness of legal and institutional regimes need to be enhanced in order to integrate environment and development more effectively. Work carried out under this subprogramme related to tools and instruments for environmental management and the development of environmental legislation will be linked very closely with activities to be undertaken under subprogrammes 1, 2 and 3, in particular with regard to their integration into international, regional, subregional, national and local environmental strategies and action plans.

Activities

- 12.73 During the biennium the following activities will be undertaken:
- (a) Assess the relationship between environment and trade policies and agreements;
  - (b) Contribute to the development of effective modalities for synergizing trade and environment policy;
  - (c) Build capacity for policy response and participation;
  - (d) Identify, develop and promote tools for increasing environmental responsibility within the financial services sector and stimulating active investment in sustainable development;
  - (e) Further develop the use and applications of environmental impact assessments;
  - (f) Further the use and application of economic instruments;
  - (g) Promote the use and application of the valuation of environmental and natural resources;
  - (h) Further the use and application of environmental and natural resource accounting;
  - (i) Continue to assist Governments with the implementation of Agenda 21, through the development of environmental law regimes at the international and national levels, based on the priorities identified in the Programme for the Development and Periodic Review of Environmental Law for the 1990s (Montevideo Programme II), in particular;
  - (j) Further the evolution of international environmental law through the promotion of international consensus-building and assistance with the development of legal mechanisms, instruments or regimes;
  - (k) Continue UNEP legal capacity-building efforts by assisting developing countries and countries with economies in transition, at their request, with the implementation of international environmental agreements at the national level and the development of national environmental legislation and institutions;
  - (l) Continue providing environmental law training, education and legal information;
  - (m) In consultation with the Office of Legal Affairs of the Secretariat, continue providing general legal services to both UNEP and the United Nations Office at Nairobi;
  - (n) Through the Information Unit for Conventions, support the implementation of environmental conventions by providing public information and media services to secretariats and by assisting Governments with capacity-building for national outreach programmes.

Resource requirements (at current rates)Posts*

- 12.74 The estimated amount of $677,900 relates to the staffing requirements of the subprogramme, which, following the reorganization of the programme of work, would consist of two P-4, one P-2 and five Local level posts. One vacant Local level post of secretary is proposed for abolition. The reduction of $11,300 is the result of the combined effect of the application of the new standardized vacancy rates and the proposed abolition of one Local level post.

- 12.75 The estimated amount of $16,600 relates to consultancy services in order to undertake evaluation at the subprogramme level of performance indicators and regional delivery arrangements.

Travel

- 12.76 An estimated amount of $5,500 is requested for participation in meetings related to conference of parties on Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species of Wild Fauna and Flora.

General operating expenses and supplies and materials

- 12.77 A provision in the amount of $19,400 would be required for communications ($14,400) and for supplies and materials ($5,000).

- 12.78 This subprogramme will be centred on oversight of the implementation of programme in the three functional areas of assessment, policy and regional delivery.
- 12.79 In the field of assessment, UNEP will continue to review the state of the world's environment and provide early warning of environmental threats, principally through the production of global and regional state-of-the-environment assessments. Support will also be provided to improving the sectoral assessments that will be undertaken under the first three subprogrammes. At the same time, the global, regional, subregional and national sectoral assessments to be undertaken under subprogrammes 1 to 3 will be incorporated into the global and regional state-of-the-environment assessments to be carried out under subprogramme 5.
- 12.80 To carry out the assessment work of this subprogramme effectively, priority will also be given to strengthening existing national and international institutional capacities for information processing and exchange. This will in addition strengthen the capacities of developing countries to take informed decisions concerning the management and sustainable use of their natural resources. Through improved communications and networking, Governments, international organizations and other institutions will also be provided greater access to the unique sources of data and information at UNEP.
- 12.81 Under this subprogramme, targeted scientific research for improved decision-making and environmental management will be promoted. Special attention will be given to linking targeted scientific research with the needs and priorities of international agreements such as the Convention on Biological Diversity and the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change, as well as to the overall assessment work undertaken by UNEP.
- 12.82 The oversight policy work of UNEP will also be carried out under this subprogramme. The objectives here are: (a) to develop policy recommendations and responses to major events and emerging environmental issues; (b) to promote collaboration among international and regional environmental conventions and related agreements; (c) to elaborate and promote a policy on gender and the environment; and (d) to promote and lead system-wide coordination in the field of the environment at the policy level.
- 12.83 The overall implementation of the programme will be carried out with a strong regional delivery that will be provided under this subprogramme. The global work of UNEP will be translated into specific regional actions and will be strongly supported by its six regional offices. Moreover, through this subprogramme, special consideration will be given to assessing the specific priorities and needs of the regions, taking them into account in formulating regional strategies for delivering the programme.

United Nations Environment Programme: proposed organizational structure and post distribution for the biennium 1998-1999

Section 13

Human settlements

(Programme 11 of the medium-term plan
for the period 1998-2001)

Overview

- 13.1 The United Nations Centre for Human Settlements (Habitat) is responsible for the implementation of the programme of work under this section. The Centre is the focal point for human settlement programmes in the United Nations system and for providing technical assistance to Member States in this field.
- 13.2 The 1998-1999 programme of work reflects significant programmatic changes from that of the biennium 1996-1997. These changes are due to the incorporation of the recommendations of the United Nations Conference on Human Settlements (Habitat II), held in June 1996. The number of subprogrammes has been reduced from eight to four. In addition, during the biennium 1996-1997 the Centre has undertaken a reorganization of its secretariat.
- 13.3 The overall objective of the programme of work is to contribute to and assist in the implementation of the Habitat Agenda, the global plan of action adopted by the Conference. The programme of work focuses on the following four priority areas: (a) shelter and social services; (b) urban management; (c) environment and infrastructure; and (d) assessment, monitoring and information.
- 13.4 The Centre will direct its efforts to providing support to and working in partnership with Governments, local authorities, non-governmental organizations and the private sector in responding to the social, economic and environmental challenges of rapid urbanization and in ensuring that settlements of all sizes have the capacity to play their key developmental role and provide for the basic needs of their people. These efforts are expected to contribute to increased institutional and technical capacity at the national and local levels to elaborate, execute, monitor and evaluate shelter and sustainable human settlement programmes to implement the Habitat Agenda and through it the objectives of Agenda 21 at the local level. This will be achieved through an integrated approach consisting of policy advice, targeted technical cooperation and the exchange of and learning from experience and best practices.
- 13.5 The resources proposed for the section reflect a growth of $63,900, or 0.5 per cent, resulting from increases and decreases under various objects of expenditure, notably the deletion of the resources originally appropriated in the biennium 1996-1997 in connection with Habitat II, the provision of increased resources for general operating expenses, supplies and materials and equipment and the proposed abolition of two P-3 and five Local level posts that have become redundant as a result of the reorganization of the Centre and its programme of work.

- 13.6 The estimated percentage distribution of the total resources under this section for the biennium 1998-1999 would be as follows:

	Regular budget (percentage)	Extra- budgetary
A. Policy-making organs	9.3	—
B. Executive direction and management	20.6	5.6
C. Programme of work	70.1	94.4

13.18 The overall strategy to achieve the goals of the Habitat Agenda is based on the principles of (a) enablement and participation; and (b) capacity-building and institutional development. The cornerstone of this strategy is the strengthening of partnerships between Governments and local authorities, non-governmental organizations, the private sector and all other interested parties. In establishing this strategy, the Centre will work in close collaboration with other organizations of the United Nations system.

13.19 The focus of activities will be on (a) assisting countries to implement the Habitat Agenda through their national plans of action; (b) servicing the Commission on Human Settlements and enabling it to carry out its mandate of coordinating and global monitoring of the implementation of the Habitat Agenda and the assessment of progress achieved; (c) facilitating, monitoring and supporting the work of Habitat partners at the global, regional, national and local levels; and (d) awareness-raising through public information activities on human settlement issues.

- 13.20 The programme of work is designed to achieve maximum impact with the limited human and financial resources that are available from the regular budget, general and earmarked voluntary contributions to the United Nations Habitat and Human Settlements Foundation, from specific projects and programmes funded by UNDP and other sources of funds within and outside the United Nations system. Accordingly, resources would be utilized in a manner that would facilitate complementarity and an integrated project and programme delivery. The activities to be undertaken include global monitoring of trends and emerging issues; research in critical human settlement areas; support to national policy-making, including training and capacity-building through workshops, seminars and fellowships; and the preparation and dissemination of public information material and best practices. A process of self-evaluation is built into every subprogramme.
- 13.21 Within the programme of work, the estimated percentage distribution of resources among the subprogrammes would be as follows:

13.22 The Habitat Agenda emphasizes that access to safe and healthy shelter and basic services is essential for the well being of people and should be a fundamental part of urgent action for the more than one billion people who continue to live under inadequate conditions of shelter and basic social services. This urgency presents enormous challenges to the public and private sectors and must be tackled in collaboration with community-based efforts in order to produce adequate shelter and services at the required scale and at affordable cost. In this respect, the Habitat Agenda has led to a new commitment by Governments to work towards the full and progressive realization of the human right to adequate housing. During the biennium 1998-1999, the emphasis of this subprogramme will be on support to Governments, partners and civil society in implementing policies and programmes based on the enabling approach outlined by the Global

- 13.23 During the biennium 1998-1999, activities will be grouped in four clusters: shelter policies and finance, housing rights, community development and settlement upgrading, and the construction industry and private sector. Cooperation with relevant United Nations agencies and organizations will be enhanced. The main activities under the first cluster include the monitoring of the Global Strategy for Shelter to the Year 2000 and support to implementation of the Habitat Agenda with specific reference to shelter and social services, undertaking research, policy analysis and technical cooperation on key themes in shelter policy, shelter delivery and enabling markets to work, promoting innovative housing finance systems to address the needs of the poor and evaluating partnership modalities in financing the provision and operation of basic services. The second cluster will be centred on providing assistance to countries, at their request, to promote the realization of the human right to adequate housing, through advisory missions, expert meetings and the analysis of relevant national legislation. The third cluster will include activities on enhancing the capacity of low-income communities to plan, implement and manage human settlement improvements through community organizations and social mobilization. Developing and establishing linkages with actors outside the community, assisting public initiatives and developing and promoting strategies for Governments at all levels to improve conditions of shelter and basic social services and collaboration with partners in promoting security of tenure and improving informal land markets will also be among the activities to be undertaken in this cluster. Establishing partnerships with the private construction industry to promote local construction technologies, the use of local building materials and small-scale enterprise development will be the main activities of the fourth cluster.

- 13.29 An increasingly urbanized world implies that sustainable development will depend largely on management capacity in urban settlements of all sizes. The municipal level of government is therefore the key actor in making human settlements viable, equitable and sustainable since it is the level of administration closest to the people. However, as recognized in the Habitat Agenda, the scarcity of suitably qualified personnel and the weakness of institutional systems and technical capacity are among the main obstacles to the improvement of human settlements in many countries, particularly in developing countries. Capacity-building and institutional development strategies must therefore form an integral part of human settlement development policies at the national and local levels. In developing countries in particular, where changes in human settlement patterns are rapid, resulting in pressing socio-economic and environmental challenges, there is a need to ensure effective and efficient development and transfer of leadership skills, planning and management expertise, know-how, technology and resources. The role of the Centre is primarily to strengthen national capabilities to respond to those needs, through advocacy, provision of guidelines and generic tools (developed jointly with partners), strategic catalytic activities such as training of trainers in new and unattended areas, monitoring and evaluation.
- 13.30 The activities under this subprogramme are organized in four clusters centred respectively on urban governance and local leadership, urban and regional planning, women in human settlement development and reducing urban poverty — the key elements of national plans of action for Habitat II. This will aim at achieving transparent, representative and accountable governance, and effective and efficient settlement management, resulting in a better living environment for all, in a more open, just, equitable and sustainable society, and in supporting women's political and economic empowerment and their equal participation in human settlement management. The activities will be implemented in collaboration with the national committees that prepared the national plans of action for Habitat II.

- 13.36 The Habitat Agenda underscores the importance of creating a better living environment for human health and well-being and of improving the living conditions of people as an essential prerequisite for sustainable human settlements. Health problems caused by the lack of access to safe water and sanitation, inadequate waste management, poor drainage and air pollution exact a heavy toll on the quality of life and the overall contribution of society for a sustainable world. An integrated approach for the provision of environmentally sound infrastructure in human settlements, in particular for people living in poverty in both rural and urban areas, is an investment in sustainable human settlement development that can enhance the quality of life, reduce the negative impact on the environment, improve the overall health of a population and reduce the burden of investment in both curative health and poverty alleviation.
- 13.37 The activities of this subprogramme will focus on the following three clusters: (a) infrastructure and technology; (b) environmental planning and management; and (c) disaster management. Efforts will be directed primarily to supporting the implementation of national plans of action addressing the Habitat Agenda priorities. The subprogramme will promote an integrated, participatory and gender-sensitive approach to the management and rehabilitation of the living environment by building capacity at the local, regional and national levels. The outputs under this subprogramme are designed to provide communities and government at different levels with practical policy options and planning and implementation guidelines, and best practices for the management and rehabilitation of infrastructure services will be disseminated. City demonstration projects will incorporate environmental management into urban development decision-making and will strengthen local environmental management capacity. Environmental planning and management activities will be supported at the country, regional and global levels. The Centre will also work in partnership with appropriate levels of government, the private sector and community groups to put into place disaster-preparedness and response capacities that are coordinated in their planning and flexible in their implementation. Women and children being the most affected in disaster situations, their needs will be incorporated at all stages of development management. Women's active involvement in development planning will be encouraged.
- 13.38 The activities of the subprogramme will include ongoing operational programmes of the Centre such as the settlement infrastructure and environment programme, the sustainable cities programme and the localizing Agenda 21 programme. Services will also be provided to the Commission on Sustainable Development and relevant Administrative Committee on Coordination subcommittees. The subprogramme will be monitored on a continuous basis and will be evaluated at periodic intervals to ensure its efficiency and effectiveness in realizing the objectives of the Habitat Agenda.

- 13.39 A strategy of active collaboration with local authorities, the private sector, non-governmental organizations, academic and professional groups (e.g., the International Council of Local Environmental Initiative, the World Association of Cities and Local Authorities, the World Business Council for Sustainable Development and the World Engineering Partnership for Sustainable Development) and also with relevant United Nations bodies, notably, UNDP, the Department of Humanitarian Affairs, UNEP, UNHCR, UNICEF, WHO, ILO, the World Bank and the regional development banks, will be pursued to leverage the available resources and to maximize the effect of the subprogramme. In implementing the subprogramme, an effort will be made to draw upon the full range of national expertise and local consultants and in particular to utilize the capacity of national committees already set up in different countries to prepare national plans of action.

13.44 The Habitat Agenda stresses the need for the continued monitoring, analysis and evaluation of the impact of policies, programmes and actions at the global, regional, national and local levels by national Governments, local authorities and all other partners to further the implementation of the Agenda and to achieve the goals of adequate shelter for all and sustainable human settlements. The Agenda further emphasizes the critical importance of facilitating partnerships at all levels, as well as the global exchange of information on progress achieved. The basic orientation of the subprogramme is therefore to support the implementation of the Habitat Agenda and the work of the Commission on Human Settlements and other relevant intergovernmental bodies through assistance to national and local monitoring of the implementation of the Agenda; assessment of human settlement conditions and trends and policies and practices; awareness-building and global information exchange; and support of the work of major partners inside and outside the United Nations system within the framework of the Centre's responsibilities as focal point for the implementation of the Habitat Agenda, as well as task manager for the implementation of the human settlement components of Agenda 21.

13.45 The activities will be organized in three clusters, focusing specifically on indicators and best practices; public information and awareness-building; and global analysis and statistics. Activities include in particular assisting the Commission on Human Settlements with monitoring, coordination and policy guidelines so as to enable it to assess progress made by Governments and their partners in the implementation of the Habitat Agenda; assisting in developing guidelines and indicators for monitoring the implementation of the Habitat Agenda by all interested parties; building global, national and local capacity for data collection and the generation of indicators; supporting all partners in the identification and evaluation of best practices in human settlement management and development and promoting their global dissemination using the latest information technology and tools; intensifying global information and awareness-building activities on critical issues of shelter and human settlements in order to accelerate and promote the implementation of the Habitat Agenda; publicizing and diffusing the experiences and achievements of partners in the implementation of the Agenda, including the establishment of an urban forum; supporting and developing regional media networks to promote the Habitat Agenda; disseminating information on expertise, tools and know-how in the fields of shelter and human settlements to all partners, including United Nations information centres and UNDP field offices; analysing global human settlement conditions and trends, in particular the social, economic and environmental impact of urbanization, in order to maintain an integrated policy that would support the Centre in its policy advisory role in general; and evaluating the activities of the Centre in support of the implementation of the Habitat Agenda in order to enhance their efficiency, effectiveness and impact, and facilitating the learning and application of lessons learned from monitoring and implementation by all partners and strengthening local and national evaluation capacities.

Commission on Crime Prevention and Criminal Justice

- 14.4 The Commission on Crime Prevention and Criminal Justice is a functional body of the Economic and Social Council. In accordance with the annex to General Assembly resolution 46/152 of 18 December 1991, the Commission has been entrusted with the functions of preparatory body for the United Nations congresses on the prevention of crime and the treatment of offenders. - 14.5 The Commission holds annual sessions in Vienna for eight working days. During each session, the Commission establishes in-session working groups to consider in detail specific agenda items. In addition, by its resolution 5/3 entitled "Strategic management by the Commission on Crime Prevention and Criminal Justice of the United Nations Crime Prevention and Criminal Justice Programme", the Commission requested its bureau to meet during the periods between sessions and to submit a report on its inter-sessional work. Further, it decided that the bureau should endeavour to hold inter-sessional meetings with the bureau of the Commission on Narcotic Drugs in order to improve coordination of work of the two Commissions. It also decided to establish an Informal Consultative Group on Resource Mobilization, which is to meet inter-sessionally and report annually on activities undertaken and results achieved.

Tenth United Nations Congress on the Prevention of Crime and the Treatment of Offenders

- 14.6 The quinquennial congresses are a parallel activity undertaken by the United Nations Crime Prevention and Criminal Justice Division. The Tenth Congress will be held in the year 2000. ## Section 15

International drug control

Overview

- 15.1 The programme is implemented by the United Nations International Drug Control Programme, which was established pursuant to General Assembly resolution 45/179 of 21 December 1990. Under the guidance of its Executive Director, the Programme implements a broad range of drug control activities worldwide and is entrusted with the leadership and coordination of drug control efforts throughout the United Nations system.
- 15.2 The Programme has normative functions stemming from the international drug control treaties. These include the provision of secretariat services to the International Narcotics Control Board and to the Commission on Narcotic Drugs, as well as initiatives aimed at promoting adherence to the related conventions and the inclusion of their provisions in national legislation and their effective implementation. Both the conventions and the Commission assign to the Programme responsibility for collecting and analysing data and information on a number of drug control issues, the results of which are made available to Member States, taking advantage of advances in electronic data processing and communications.
- 15.3 The Programme also acts as a catalyst and supports Member States in enhancing the impact of their drug control efforts through more effective cooperation and coordination. The Programme supports national drug control policy formulation, planning and coordination, including the preparation of national drug control strategies and plans. Given the transnational nature of the drug problem, the importance of cooperation between countries is widely recognized. The Programme actively promotes subregional cooperation arrangements aimed at identifying and addressing specific drug control problems of common concern. Opportunities for cooperation on the regional and global levels are also identified and fostered.
- 15.4 As part of its efforts in support of Governments, the Programme functions as a repository of expertise on issues such as precursor controls, the establishment of standards for chemical analysis and quality control, anti-money-laundering measures, drug control legislation, alternative development and certain aspects of drug abuse prevention. The Programme undertakes the systematic processing and dissemination of research results and new methodologies.
- 15.5 The Fund of the Programme, established by the General Assembly as from 1 January 1992, provides extrabudgetary support for the operational activities of the Programme, concentrating on technical cooperation at the national, subregional, regional and global levels. The Commission on Narcotic Drugs, the principal international policy-making body on drug control issues, is authorized by the General Assembly to approve, on the basis of the Executive Director's proposals and taking into account the comments of the Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions, both the Fund's programme and the administrative and programme support cost budgets, other than expenditures borne by the regular budget of the United Nations.
- 15.6 The existence within the Programme of both normative functions and operational technical cooperation activities permits a synergy of action. The network of field offices, financed through extrabudgetary resources primarily to facilitate technical cooperation, also contributes in a major way to the dialogue with Governments in furtherance of their normative obligations. Similarly, the existence of technical expertise that supports the normative work provides a valuable underpinning for the technical cooperation activities.

- 15.7 Further synergies are realized from the growing commitment to drug control in the broader United Nations system. Under the leadership of the Programme and through the active work of the Subcommittee on Drug Control of the Administrative Committee on Coordination, a revised and updated United Nations System-wide Action Plan on Drug Abuse Control was submitted to the Economic and Social Council and the General Assembly in 1994, marking an important step in integrating the drug abuse issue into the action agendas of all relevant agencies of the system.
- 15.8 The Programme will support preparations for the special session of the General Assembly on international drug control to be held in June 1998, which is expected to constitute a new platform for collective action by the international community and help to set the agenda for international drug control for the following decade.
- 15.9 The overall level of resources proposed for the programme amounts to $16,203,300. This amount represents the combined effect of the proposed abolition of one Professional and four General Service (Other level) posts, the application of the new standardized vacancy rates and a range of adjustments in other objects of expenditure.

A. Policy-making organs

- 15.11 There are two policy-making organs of the United Nations concerned with international drug control: the Commission on Narcotic Drugs, established in 1946 as a functional commission of the Economic and Social Council, and the International Narcotics Control Board, an independent technical body, established by the 1961 Single Convention on Narcotic Drugs to limit the cultivation, production, manufacture and utilization of drugs to medical and scientific purposes while at the same time ensuring their sufficient availability for those purposes. The secretariat of the United Nations International Drug Control Programme provides substantive services to both organs.
- 15.12 The 53-member Commission on Narcotic Drugs holds regular annual sessions at Vienna as well as a biennial resumed session devoted to administrative and budgetary matters. The Commission has established subsidiary bodies to coordinate the mechanisms for drug law enforcement at the regional level. These include the Subcommission on Illicit Drug Traffic and Related Matters in the Near and Middle East and the regional meetings of the operational heads of national drug law enforcement agencies for Asia and the Pacific, for Africa, for Europe and for Latin America and the Caribbean. Their meetings also bring together observers from regional intergovernmental organizations active in support of drug law enforcement.
- 15.13 The International Narcotics Control Board is a treaty body consisting of 13 members, 3 elected from among candidates proposed by WHO and 10 from among candidates proposed by Governments. It holds two mandatory sessions a year and may decide to meet more often as required. When not in session, the Board depends on its secretariat to carry out its functions.

- 15.15 The estimated requirements of $823,000, which are based on actual expenditures, relate to the travel costs for (a) representatives from 53 Member States, the President of the Board and the Chairman of the Subcommittee to attend the annual sessions of the Commission on Narcotic Drugs and one resumed session of the Commission to be held every second year of the biennium in order to discuss and approve the programme budget of the Fund of the Programme; (b) 20 representatives to the two annual meetings of the Subcommittee; (c) two meetings of the Board each year; and (d) the conduct of local inquiries in accordance with article 14 of the 1961 Single Convention on Narcotic Drugs, as amended by the 1972 Protocol.

B. Executive direction and management

- 15.16 The Executive Director is responsible for coordinating and providing effective leadership for all United Nations drug control activities, to ensure coherence of actions within the Programme and coordination, complementarity and non-duplication of such activities across the United Nations system. In that capacity, the Executive Director participates in the work of the Administrative Committee on Coordination.
- 15.17 In addition, the Office of the Executive Director is responsible for developing strategies to implement policies decided by the General Assembly, the Economic and Social Council and the Commission on Narcotic Drugs in the field of drug control, for the formulation of and changes in the programme of work and for high-level meetings with government representatives, with particular emphasis on resource mobilization.

Posts

- 15.19 Staff costs in the amount of $1,343,700 relate to four posts in the Professional category and above and two General Service posts, as shown in table 15.7. They reflect the proposed abolition of one General Service post made possible as a result of improved methods of work. The reduction of $35,900 represents the combined effect of the abolition of that post and the application of the new standardized vacancy rates.

Other staff costs

- 15.20 The reduced requirements of $445,500 would include the following: (a) $410,500 for (i) temporary assistance for the preparatory work of the special session of the General Assembly to be held in June 1998; (ii) carrying out the recurrent activities as approved by the Economic and Social Council in its resolutions 1996/29, on action to strengthen international cooperation to control precursors and their substitutes used in the illicit manufacture of controlled substances, in particular amphetamine-type stimulants, and to prevent their diversion, and 1996/30, on measures to combat diversion of psychotropic substances and to establish effective control over operations carried out by intermediaries in international trade of psychotropic substances; and (iii) the replacement of staff on extended sick leave or maternity leave and assistance during periods of peak workload; commencing in the biennium 1998-1999, the general temporary assistance resource for the entire programme would be allocated centrally under executive direction and management in order to optimize the usage of those resources, since staffing control is centrally monitored by this office; and (b) $35,000 for overtime, which will be maintained at minimal levels, utilizing the compensatory time-off policy whenever possible; resources for overtime are also being centrally allocated under executive direction and management.

Consultants and experts

- 15.21 An amount of $47,700 is proposed for services of consultants with specialized expertise to develop policies and principles of alternative development and to provide other technical expertise required in the area of planning, management and evaluation, and advice on the development and more efficient use of technology.

Travel

- 15.22 An estimated provision of $72,800 would be required for the attendance by the Executive Director and his staff at meetings of the regular session of the General Assembly, the Economic and Social Council and other bodies concerned with drug control matters and the special session of the General Assembly on drug control to be held in June 1998. Travel is also foreseen for the Chief of the Planning and Evaluation Section to participate in the Inter-Agency Working Group on Evaluation, one meeting to be held in New York and the other in Geneva, and to participate in the Committee for Programme and Coordination.

Hospitality

- 15.23 The amount of $3,100, maintained at the 1996-1997 level, is requested for the cost of official functions to be held in conjunction with the sessions of the Commission on Narcotic Drugs and the International Narcotics Control Board.

- 15.25 The objective of this subprogramme is to foster cooperation among Member States, specialized agencies and intergovernmental and non-governmental organizations so as to ensure greater unity of purpose and the coordination and non-duplication of activities in the field of drug control. It will also seek to increase awareness among decision makers, the general public and organizations of the problems of drug abuse and to mobilize human and financial resources for relevant activities implemented both through technical cooperation projects of the Programme and with their own resources.
- 15.26 In pursuit of these goals, the Resource Mobilization and Inter-Agency Coordination Service of the Division for Operations and External Relations will (a) act as the focal point within the Programme for liaison with Governments and relevant organizations; (b) seek to raise awareness of the negative effects of drug abuse and successful countermeasures; (c) encourage the development of programmes utilizing community resources for the prevention of drug abuse; (d) promote cooperation between the Programme and other intergovernmental organizations; (e) provide leadership for agencies in the United Nations system for the further development of the United Nations System-wide Action Plan on Drug Abuse Control; (f) provide secretariat services to the Subcommittee on Drug Control of the Administrative Committee on Coordination; and (g) act as principal focal point for resource mobilization activities, ensuring in particular a widening of the voluntary resource base, which represents 90 per cent of the total budget of the Programme.
- 15.27 Under the subprogramme efforts will also be made to enhance subregional cooperation in drug control by fostering dialogue, assisting countries to identify shared goals and approaches and brokering formal agreements between States such as memoranda of understanding. It will also seek to improve national capacities to coordinate drug control activities and to implement comprehensive, balanced drug control policies and strategies through the development of national drug control master plans.

Activities

- 15.28 During the biennium the following activities will be undertaken:
- (a) Servicing of intergovernmental/expert bodies (RB/XB)

  - (ii) Function as the principal focal point with Governments for all aspects of fund-raising and for the development of new resource mobilization initiatives with the support of staff funded from extrabudgetary resources; and coordinate all arrangements for UNDCP fund-raising contacts and follow up on initiatives aimed at broadening the resource base of the Programme; negotiate and conclude funding agreements with donor Governments in support of specific operational and technical programmes; prepare and disseminate to donors twice-yearly reports on the use of their voluntary contributions, in accordance with funding agreements; and provide secretariat services and background documentation for twice-yearly meetings of representatives of donor countries with support from extrabudgetary staff;

Posts

- 15.29 The estimated resource requirements of $1,527,900 would provide for seven Professional posts and reflect the proposed abolition of one General Service post, as shown in table 15.11. Requirements for all General Service posts will be provided by extrabudgetary resources. The reduction of $81,600 represents the combined effect of the abolition of the General Service post and the application of the new standardized vacancy rates.

Travel

- 15.30 It is proposed to maintain estimated resource requirements for travel at $17,400 to enable staff to attend two meetings per year relating to the work of the Administrative Committee on Coordination machinery and yearly meetings of the United Nations Non-Governmental Liaison Service and the Joint United Nations Information Committee.

Contractual services

- 15.31 Resources totalling $114,400 would be required for the external printing and binding of three publications.

Precursors will be monitored in order to enable Governments, in cooperation with the International Narcotics Control Board to prevent their use in the illicit manufacture of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances and to investigate such illicit activities. Chemicals will be identified and assessed for possible scheduling or rescheduling under the 1988 Convention.
