The Provisional Agenda was dispatched to Member nations on 23 July in accordance with Rule 11 of the Rules of Procedure of the General Assembly. Later items may be submitted by any Member at least 30 days before the opening date of the regular session, and these items, placed on a supplementary list, have to be communicated to Member nations at least 20 days before the opening date. The order in which the items are listed in the Provisional Agenda is not necessarily the order in which they will be taken up by the Assembly.

(Note: The notes on the agenda items given below are unofficial, but are added as background guidance for correspondents.)

(Note: Adoption is by simple majority vote. According to Rule 14 "During any regular session of the General Assembly items may be amended, deleted from the agenda, and additional items of an important and urgent character may be placed on the agenda, by a majority of the Members present and voting. Consideration of additional items shall be postponed until seven days after they have been placed on the agenda, unless the General Assembly, by a two-thirds majority of the Members present and voting, decides otherwise, and until a committee has reported upon the item.")

13. Headquarters of the United Nations - Report of the Secretary-General (Resolution 182 (II) of 20 November 1947.)

(Note: The General Assembly Resolution referred to authorizes the Secretary-General to negotiate and conclude on behalf of the United Nations a...

agreement with the Government of the United States of America, for an interest-free loan, which would require approval by the Congress of the United States, in an amount not to exceed $65,000,000, to provide for the payment of the cost of construction of the UN Permanent Headquarters.

The loan agreement was signed on 23 March 1948. Authorizing legislation was presented to the US Congress and finally approved on 5 August 1948. Construction of the first building was expected to begin in October 1948).

Admission of New Members.

(a) Report of the Security Council (Resolution 113(II) of 17 November 1947.

(Note: In the Resolution referred to, the General Assembly recommends to the permanent members of the Security Council that they consult with a view to reaching an agreement on the admission to membership of the applicants which have not been recommended hitherto, and submit their conclusions to the Security Council. In accordance with the decision of the Security Council, and following the admission of Burma during the session of the special General Assembly 16 April - 14 May 1948, the Committee on the Admission of New Members met on 29 June to examine the application of Ceylon for membership in the United Nations. The majority of the members of the Committee expressed their support for the application of Ceylon. The representatives of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics and the Ukrainian Soviet Socialist Republic declined to comment on the application at the meeting of the Committee and reserved the position of their delegations with respect to the application of Ceylon during the discussion in the Security Council.

(b) Advisory Opinion of the International Court of Justice. (Resolution 113(II) of 17 November 1947).

(Note: The General Assembly Resolution referred to requested the International Court of Justice to give an advisory opinion on the following question: Is a Member of the United Nations which is called upon, in virtue of Article 4 of the Charter, to pronounce itself by its vote, either in the Security Council or in the General Assembly, on the admission of a State to membership in the United Nations, juridically entitled to make its consent to the admission dependent on conditions not expressly provided by paragraph 1 of the said Article? In particular; can such a Member, while it recognizes the conditions set forth in that provision to be fulfilled by the State concerned, subject its affirmative vote to the additional condition that other States be admitted to membership in the United Nations together with that State?

On the 28th of May, the Secretary-General received from Mr. E. Hambro, Registrar of the International Court of Justice at the Hague, the Court's opinion. This states inter alia that the Court, by 9 votes to 6, is of the opinion that a Member of the United Nations which is called upon to pronounce itself by its vote on the admission of a State to membership to the United Nations is not juridically entitled to make its consent to the admission dependent on conditions not expressly provided by Paragraph 1 of Article 4 of the Charter, and that a Member of the Organization cannot, while it requires the conditions set forth in that provision to be fulfilled by the State concerned, subject its affirmative vote to the additional condition that other States be admitted to membership in the United Nations together with that State.)

(c) Admission to the Organization of Italy and all those States whose applications for membership have obtained seven votes in the Security Council; item proposed by Argentina.

(Note: The following States have obtained the seven votes: Austria, Finland, Ireland, Italy, Portugal and Transjordan.)

15. Threats to the Political Independence and Territorial Integrity of Greece. Report of the UN Special Committee on the Balkans (Resolution 109 (II), 21 October 1947.)

(Note: By this resolution the General Assembly established a Special Committee consisting of the representatives of Australia, Brazil, Canada, France, Mexico, Netherlands, Pakistan, United Kingdom and the United States (seats being held open for Poland and the USSR) which, with its principal headquarters in Salonika, and with the cooperation of the Governments concerned (Albania, Bulgaria, Greece and Yugoslavia) would perform its functions in such places and in the territories of the four States concerned as it may deem appropriate, and render a report to the next regular session of the General Assembly. The main task of the Special Committee (UNSCOB) was to observe the compliance by the four Governments with the Assembly's recommendation that they cooperate in the peaceful settlement of their disputes and the Assembly's call to Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia to do nothing which could furnish aid to the guerrillas fighting against the Greek Government. UNSCOB was also to be available to assist the four Governments in implementation of the Assembly's recommendations.)

16. The Problem of the Independence of Korea.

- (a) Report of the United Nations Temporary Commission on Korea (Resolution 112 (II) of 14 November 1947).

(Note: In this resolution the General Assembly, recognizing that the problem of the independence of Korea is primarily a matter for the Korean people itself, resolves that elected representatives of the Korean people be invited to take part in the consideration of the question, and further resolves that in order to facilitate such participation, there be forthwith established a United Nations Temporary Commission on Korea, consisting of representatives of Australia, Canada, China, El Salvador, France, India, Philippines, Syria, Ukrainian SSR, to be present in Korea, with the right to travel, observe, and consult throughout Korea. The Commission shall report to the General Assembly and may consult with the Interim Committee.)

- (b) Report of the Interim Committee of the General Assembly (Resolution 112 (II) of 14 November 1947).

(Note: On 14 November 1947, by its resolution 112 (II), the General Assembly established the United Nations Temporary Commission on Korea, and resolved, in paragraph 5 of the second part of that resolution, that the Commission thus established "may consult with the Interim Committee with respect to the application of this resolution in the light of developments." The Interim Committee gave the following advice to the Temporary Commission on Korea: "That in its view it is incumbent upon the United Nations Temporary Commission on Korea, under the terms of the General Assembly resolution of 14 November 1947, and in the light of developments in the situation with respect to Korea since that date, to implement the program as outlined in resolution II, in such parts of Korea as are accessible to the Commission." Therefore, the Commission limited its activity to that portion of Korea south of the 38th parallel (American Zone of Occupation).)

17. The Problem of Voting in the Security Council.

- (a) Report of the Interim Committee of the General Assembly (Resolution 117 (II) of 21 November 1947).

- (b) Convocation of a General Conference under Article 109 of the Charter in order to study the question of the veto in the Security Council: item proposed by Argentina.

(Note: The General Assembly in this resolution requests the permanent members of the Security Council to consult with one another on the problem of voting in the Security Council in order to secure agreement among them on measures to ensure the prompt and effective exercise by the Security Council of its functions. The Interim Committee which was asked to consider the problem, recommends to the General Assembly to consider at its third regular session whether the time has come or not to call a General Conference, as provided for in Article 109 of the Charter. This Conference would essentially deal with the suppression or limitation of the right of veto enjoyed by the five permanent members.)

18. Advisability of establishing a Permanent Committee of the General Assembly - Report of the Interim Committee (Resolution 111 (II) of 13 November 1947).

19. Study of methods for the promotion of international cooperation in the political field: report of the Interim Committee of the General Assembly (Resolution 111 (II) of 13 November 1947).

20. Reports of the Atomic Energy Commission -- Resolution of the Security Council.

(Note: By a letter dated 26 May 1948, the Chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission transmitted the third report of the Commission to the Security Council.

(The Security Council on 22 June 1948, by a 9 - 0 vote with two abstentions (Ukraine, USSR) adopted a Canadian draft resolution which said that the Security Council "having received and examined" the three reports submitted by the Atomic Energy Commission, directs the Secretary-General to transmit these reports to the General Assembly together with the record of the Council's deliberations on this subject, "as a matter of special concern."

(The Third Report of the Atomic Energy Commission to the Security Council states that the Commission cannot now prepare a draft treaty "incorporating its ultimate proposals" as urged by the Resolution of the Security Council, and adds further that after 22 months of work the Commission finds itself confronted by virtually the same deadlock that stultified its initial discussions. "It is now apparent that this deadlock cannot be broken at the Commission level," concludes the Report, which makes it clear that "the failure to achieve agreement on the international control of atomic energy arises from a situation that is beyond the competence of this Commission. In this situation, the Commission concludes that no useful purpose can be served by carrying on negotiations at the Commission level.")

21. Election of Three Non-Permanent Members of the Security Council.

(Note: The present non-permanent members of the Council are Argentina, Canada, Ukraine, Syria, Colombia and Belgium. The terms of Syria, Colombia and Belgium expire at the end of 1948, and three members are to be elected to fill their places by secret ballot. A two-thirds majority vote is required.)

22. Report of the Government of the Union of South Africa on the Administration of South West Africa. Report of the Trusteeship Council (Resolution 141 (II) of 1 November 1947)

(Note: This report deals with the administration of South West Africa, a territory held under mandate by the Union of South Africa. The General Assembly has recommended that South West Africa be placed under the international trusteeship system. The Union of South Africa has not complied with the recommendation but has submitted a report on its administration of the territory. The Trusteeship Council, authorized by the General Assembly, has examined that report. The result of its examination will be included in the Report of the Council to the General Assembly.)

(Note: Information from Non-Self-Governing Territories transmitted during 1947 has been summarized and analyzed by the Secretary-General. The Special Committee on Information Transmitted under Article 73(e) of the Charter, which will meet on 2 September 1948 at Geneva, will examine the information, together with the summary and analysis, and submit reports thereon for the consideration of the General Assembly.)

1. Violation by the Soviet Union of fundamental human rights in preventing the Russian wives of foreign nationals from leaving the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics either in company with their husbands or in order to rejoin them, action which could impair friendly relations among nations and violate the principles of the Charter. This is in accordance with Article 14 of the United Nations Charter.)

- 45. Treatment of Indians in the Union of South Africa: item proposed by India

(Note: This question was brought to the attention of the Secretary-General by India in June, 1946. On 8 December 1946 the General Assembly carried a resolution stating that because of the treatment of Indians in the Union of South Africa friendly relations between the two Member States had been impaired and were likely to be further impaired unless a satisfactory settlement was reached, expressing the opinion that treatment of Indians in the Union should conform to international obligations under agreements concluded between the two Governments and relevant provisions of the Charter, and requesting the two Governments. to report at the next session of the Assembly the measures adopted to this effect. Both Governments reported to the Second Session of the General Assembly, in the fall of 1947, but a resolution on the subject carried by the Political and Security Committee during that session failed to obtain the required two-thirds majority in plenary meeting of the Assembly.)
