

General Assembly

Distr.: General
1 October 2020

Original: English

Seventy-fifth session

Agenda item 8

General debate

Letter dated 30 September 2020 from the Chargé d'affaires a.i. of the Permanent Mission of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland to the United Nations addressed to the Secretary-General

In accordance with the published instructions for the right of reply, the United Kingdom would like to exercise the right of reply in response to the statement by the distinguished representative of Nicaragua.

On 29 September 2020, during agenda item 8 of the seventy-fifth session of the General Assembly, "General debate", the representative of Nicaragua made reference to the United Kingdom's sovereignty over the Falklands Islands, further to which the United Kingdom wishes to place the following statement in the official record of proceedings:

The United Kingdom has no doubt about its sovereignty over the Falkland Islands and surrounding maritime areas, nor about the principle and the right of self-determination for the Falkland Islanders as enshrined in the Charter of the United Nations and in article 1 of the two United Nations covenants on human rights, by virtue of which they freely determine their political status and freely pursue their economic, social and cultural development.

This means that there can be no dialogue on sovereignty unless the Falkland Islanders so wish. The 2013 referendum – in which 99.8 per cent of those who voted wanted to maintain their current status as a territory of the United Kingdom – sent a clear message that the people of the Islands do not want dialogue on sovereignty. Argentina should respect those wishes.

The United Kingdom's relationship with the Falkland Islands, and all of its overseas territories, is a modern one based on partnership, shared values and the right of the people of each territory to determine their own future.

I should be grateful if you would circulate the present letter as a document of the General Assembly, under agenda item 8.

(Signed) Jonathan Allen

