Introduction

Throughout of the world, non-governmental organizations have proven to be effective institutions for raising awareness regarding the issue of public concern, mobilization citizens into action. The increase in population, rapid urbanization and destruction of pasture lands ,Air pollution ,water scarcity are among troubling trends in the Islamic Republic of Iran .To cope with this situation Iran has developed a comprehensive strategy for Environmental protection .

Unfortunately there are serious gapes between policy and practice .NGO's have been encouraged to bridge the gape and mobilize communities to respond to the challenges. Despite this declared policy NGO's face many structural constrain. But still are working as partners with Government to fulfill some of the basic unmet needs.

Iranian Environmental NGO's are becoming active in advocacy, public awareness, mobilization and training.

Discharge from dry lands in east of Iran and conflicts in the eastern and western borders has been destroyed Environment and polluted the soil .The dust particles are the result of these neglect ion.

Environmental destructions such as Dust particles and other sources of pollution will put the life of the Local people in danger. Therefore these immigrants in the new location will also encounter the problem by local people even may bring conflict between them .

Of the other hand industrialization reduced self production system .For example building dames will prevent the water for the Agricultural production .For example the construction of the dams in Turkey will prevent running water to the Iraq and Iran .Consequently due to the draught the amount of dust particles will increase.

Construction of the Hyrmand dam in Afghanistan will prevent water running to the eastern boarder of the Iran .We clearly watch in the provinces of Systan and Baluchistan these Environmental disasters causes immigration .Another example in Iran is decease of the water level in f OROMIA lake which is unique lake in the North east of .

As fare as Climate changes in the world causes some problems and unfortunately some countries do not join the treaties. So we know the immigration due to the surveillance is not beneficiary for any country.

We Non- governmental Organization suggest the united nation pays serious attention to the Need of national and international cooperation for the protection of the Environment .
