A. General measures of implementation (arts. 4, 42 and 44 (6))

Legislation

6. The Committee notes with satisfaction the adoption of the revised Law on the Fundamentals of Protection of the Rights of the Child, which includes the principles of non-discrimination, the recognition of children as rights holders, the best interests of the child and respect for the views of children. However, the Committee remains concerned about the lack of concrete measures to enforce the legislation, in particular for children in marginalized and disadvantaged situations.

7. The Committee recommends that the State party ensure that enforcement measures are adopted with sufficient human, technical and financial resources to:

(a) Guarantee that the best interests of the child are integrated as a primary consideration and interpreted consistently and are applied to all legislative, administrative and judicial proceedings and decisions;

(b) Make sure that the views of children in all settings on all matters affecting them are duly collected and taken into consideration in all legislative, administrative and judicial proceedings and decisions.

(b) Continue to increase the allocation of human, technical and financial resources to the State Child Rights Protection and Adoption Service, notably by filling the more than 700 positions approved.

Comprehensive policy and strategy

9. The Committee takes note of the approval of the Action Plan for Child Welfare 2022–2026, based on the evaluation of the preceding Action Plan for Child Welfare 2019–2021. However, the Committee regrets that the State party has not taken steps towards the development of a comprehensive policy or strategy covering all issues related to the implementation of children's rights.

10. In line with its previous recommendation, the Committee recommends that the State party:

(a) Take measures to formulate a comprehensive policy and strategy on children's rights that would guide the development of programmes and projects that are needed, and establish systems to monitor and evaluate them;

(b) Provide the relevant bodies with the necessary human, technical and financial resources and clearly indicate their roles and responsibilities at the national, municipal and local levels.

Allocation of resources

11. The Committee notes that the State party's budget allocation for child protection has increased. However, it is concerned about the lack of a system for identifying budget allocations to specific ministries and the expenditure on children by those ministries.

12. Recalling its general comment No. 19 (2016) on public budgeting for the realization of children's rights, the Committee recalls its previous recommendation and recommends that the State party:

(a) Conduct a comprehensive assessment of the budget needs of children and allocate with transparency adequate budgetary resources, in accordance with article 4 of the Convention, and in particular, increase the budget allocated to social sectors and address disparities on the basis of indicators related to children's rights;

(b) Utilize a child rights-based approach in the elaboration of the State budget, by implementing a tracking system for the allocation of resources, for the use of resources for children throughout the period of the budget and for assessing the impact of investments to fulfil children's rights;

(c) Ensure transparent and participatory budgeting through public dialogue, especially with children, and for the proper accountability of municipal authorities;

(d) Define budgetary lines for all children, paying special attention to those in disadvantaged or vulnerable situations who may require affirmative social measures, and make sure that those budgetary lines are protected even in situations of economic crisis, natural disasters or other emergencies.

Data collection

13. Recalling its general comment No. 5 (2003) on general measures of implementation of the Convention, and while noting that State party has updated its list of indicators of statistical information on children, based on sectorial data collection systems, the Committee recommends that the State party:

(a) Expediently strengthen its data collection system to ensure that data collected on children's rights covers all areas of the Convention and the Optional Protocols thereto, with data disaggregated by age, sex, disability, geographical location, ethnic and national origin, socioeconomic background and migration status;

(b) Ensure that statistical data and indicators on children's rights are shared among the ministries concerned for the formulation, monitoring and evaluation of policies, programmes and projects for the effective implementation of the Convention;

(c) Ensure that statistical data and indicators on children's rights are made accessible to the public, including access to the Social Services Information System.

Access to justice and remedies

14. The Committee recommends that the State party:

(a) Ensure that all children have access to confidential, child-friendly and independent complaints mechanisms in schools, in alternative care settings, in foster care systems, in mental health settings and in detention, for reporting all forms of violence, abuse, discrimination and other violations of their rights;

15. The Committee recalls its previous concluding observations and recommends that the State party provide the Office of the Ombudsperson for Children's Rights with adequate human, technical and financial resources to meet the needs for the Office to fully implement its mandate, including by expeditiously completing the hiring for the positions that are still vacant.

Dissemination, awareness-raising and training

16. The Committee recommends that the State party:

(a) Strengthen its awareness-raising programmes, including campaigns, in cooperation with civil society organizations, to ensure that the Convention and the Optional Protocols thereto are widely known by the general public, including by parents and by children themselves;

(b) Ensure the continuity of its existing training programmes on the rights of the child under the Convention and national law, and ensure that they are mandatory for all professionals working with and for children;

(d) Raise awareness of the Optional Protocol to the Convention on a communications procedure and provide capacity-building activities aimed at training relevant actors, including lawyers, civil society organizations, children and child human rights defenders, on the Optional Protocol.

Cooperation with civil society

17. While noting the information provided by the State party on the legal basis for activities by and funding of non-governmental organizations as well as on their participation in inter-institutional entities, such as the Inter-Institutional Child Welfare Council under the Government of Lithuania, the Committee recommends that the State party take concrete steps to review the existing legal and institutional framework to ensure that civil society operates independently in the field of the rights of the child.

International cooperation

18. While the Committee welcomes the engagement of the State party under the European Economic Area Financial Mechanism, taking note of target 17.2 of the Sustainable Development Goals, the Committee encourages the State party to meet the internationally agreed target of allocating 0.7 per cent of its gross national income for official development assistance and to prioritize children's rights in its international cooperation agreements.

Children's rights and the business sector

19. Recalling its general comment No. 16 (2013) on State obligations regarding the impact of the business sector on children's rights, and the Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights endorsed by the Human Rights Council in 2011, the Committee recommends that the State party establish and implement regulations to ensure that the business sector complies with international and national human rights, labour, environmental and other standards, particularly with regard to children's rights. In particular, the Committee recommends that the State party:

(a) Establish a clear regulatory framework for businesses operating in or managed from the State party to ensure that their activities do not negatively affect human rights or endanger environmental, health, labour and other standards, especially those relating to children's rights;

(b) Ensure effective implementation by companies, especially industrial companies, of international and national environmental and health standards, with effective monitoring of the implementation of these standards, and appropriate sanctions and the provision of remedies when violations occur, as well as ensuring that appropriate international certification is sought;

(c) Require companies to undertake assessments, consultations, and full public disclosure of the environmental, health-related and children's rights impacts of their business activities, and their plans to address such impacts;

(d) Require companies to undertake due diligence in their operations and across supply chains regarding harmful effects of environmental degradation on children's rights.

B. General principles (arts. 2, 3, 6 and 12)

(a) Strengthen its awareness-raising activities, notably by conducting media campaigns to change social norms and behaviours that contribute to discrimination;

(b) Raise public awareness regarding the prohibition of discrimination, and promote tolerance and respect for diversity;

(c) Enforce its anti-discrimination legislation, with particular attention to children in disadvantaged situations.

Best interests of the child

21. Noting that article 4 (1) of the Law on the Fundamentals of Protection of the Rights of the Child recognizes the best interests of the child, and recalling its general comment No. 14 (2013) on the right of the child to have his or her best interests taken as a primary consideration, the Committee recommends that the State party ensure that the right of the child to have his or her best interests taken as a primary consideration is appropriately integrated and consistently interpreted and applied as a children's right in all legislative, administrative and judicial proceedings and decisions as well as in all policies, programmes and projects that are relevant to, and have an impact on, children. The Committee also encourages the State party to ensure procedural guarantees in the assessment of the best interests of the child across the whole territory.

Respect for the views of the child

22. Recalling its general comment No. 12 (2009) on the right of the child to be heard, and its previous concluding observations, the Committee recommends that the State party:

(a) Take measures to ensure the effective implementation of legislation, in particular article 11 of the Law on the Fundamentals of Protection of the Rights of the Child, to ensure respect for children's views in all settings on all matters affecting them, including in the Inter-Institutional Child Welfare Council under the Government of Lithuania;

(b) Continue to conduct research to identify the issues that are most important to children, to hear their views on those issues and to find out how well their voices are heard in family decisions affecting their lives, and to identify the channels through which they currently and potentially have the most influence on national and local decision-making;

(c) Conduct programmes and awareness-raising activities to promote the meaningful and empowered participation of all children in decision-making in all matters related to children, paying particular attention to girls and to children in vulnerable situations, within the family, the community and schools, including in formal and informal education, notably by strengthening the Lithuanian Pupils' Parliament and the Lithuanian National Union of Pupils.

C. Civil rights and freedoms (arts. 7, 8 and 13–17)

Nationality

23. Taking note of target 16.9 of the Sustainable Development Goals, and while welcoming the amendments to the Citizenship Law, the Committee urges the State party to take the necessary steps to introduce legislative provisions to provide for the automatic granting of Lithuanian citizenship at birth to persons born on Lithuanian territory who would otherwise be stateless.

Preservation of identity

24. Noting with appreciation the decrease in the number of cases of anonymous child abandonment in “safe haven baby boxes” during the reporting period, the Committee recommends that the State party continue to seek policies to guarantee children access to their identity, and that information about the biological origins of such children be preserved, and recommends that the State party address the root causes of the child abandonment with a view to eliminating the use of baby boxes.

27. While welcoming the amendment in the Law on the Fundamentals of Protection of the Rights of the Child prohibiting all forms of violence against children, including corporal punishment, and the efforts already deployed to address the practice of corporal punishment, the Committee remains concerned by the persistence of attitudinal acceptance of this practice within families and communities.

28. Recalling its general comment No. 8 (2006), on corporal punishment, the Committee recommends that the State party:

45. The Committee recommends that the State party conduct an in-depth assessment of its child justice system in the light of general comment No. 24 (2019) on children's rights in the child justice system, with a view to bringing it fully into compliance with the Convention and other relevant standards and recommends, in particular, that the State party:

- (a) To establish mechanisms for the early identification of refugee, asylum-seeking and migrant children who may have been recruited or used in hostilities abroad and to provide them with immediate culturally sensitive, child-centred and multidisciplinary assistance for their physical and psychological recovery, their rehabilitation and their social reintegration;
- (b) To develop systematic awareness-raising, education and training programmes on the provisions of the Optional Protocol addressing all relevant groups working with children, in particular professionals working with asylum-seeking, refugee and migrant children entering the State party from countries affected by armed conflict.

L. Ratification of international human rights instruments

47. The Committee recommends that the State party, in order to further strengthen the fulfilment of children's rights, consider ratifying the following core human rights instrument to which it is not yet a party: the International Convention on the Protection of the Rights of All Migrant Workers and Members of Their Families.

M. Cooperation with regional bodies

48. The Committee recommends that the State party continue to cooperate with the Council of Europe on the implementation of the Convention and other human rights instruments, both in the State party and in other Council of Europe member States.

IV. Implementation and reportingA. Follow-up and dissemination

49. The Committee recommends that the State party take all appropriate measures to ensure that the recommendations contained in the present concluding observations are fully implemented and that a child-friendly version is disseminated to, and made widely accessible for, children, including those in the most disadvantaged situations. The Committee also recommends that the combined fifth and sixth periodic reports, the written replies to the list of issues and the present concluding observations be made widely available in the languages of the country.

B. National mechanism for reporting and follow-up

50. The Committee recommends that the State party establish a standing government structure and ensure that it has the mandate and adequate human, technical and financial resources to effectively coordinate and prepare reports to international and regional human rights mechanisms and to coordinate and track national follow-up to, and implementation of, treaty obligations and the recommendations and decisions emanating from such mechanisms. The Committee emphasizes that such a structure should be adequately and continuously supported by dedicated staff and should have the capacity to consult systematically with the Ombudsperson for Child Rights and civil society.

C. Next report

51. The Committee will establish and communicate the due date of the combined seventh and eighth periodic reports of the State party in due course, in line with the envisaged predictable reporting calendar based on an eight-year review cycle, and following the adoption of a list of issues and questions prior to reporting, if applicable, for the State party. The report should be in compliance with the Committee's harmonized treaty-specific reporting guidelines⁴ and should not exceed 21,200 words.⁵ In the event that a report exceeding the established word limit is submitted, the State party will be asked to shorten the report. If the State party is not in a position to review and resubmit the report, translation thereof for the purposes of consideration by the Committee cannot be guaranteed.
