Annex to the letter dated 9 June 2000 from the Permanent Representative of Eritrea to the United Nations addressed to the President of the Security Council

Asmara, 9 June 2000

The invasion perpetrated by Ethiopia against Eritrea continues unabated in violation of international law and international justice.

After Ethiopia launched its naked invasion against Eritrea on 12 May, Eritrea agreed to redeploy, unilaterally and as a gesture of goodwill, from a place referred to as "Zalanbessa" in response to the appeal of the OAU current Chairman and in order to create a conducive climate to the proximity talks. This redeployment was carried out on 25 May in good faith. Ethiopia abused Eritrea's gesture of goodwill and penetrated 15 km inside Eritrean sovereign territory in that part of the country.

This violation notwithstanding, we were asked by the OAU to redeploy from additional places referred to as "Bada" and "Burrie". We pledged to do so in the interest of peace and we implemented the redeployment in good faith. (Details of the places are illustrated in attached maps.)

While the proximity talks are in session, Ethiopia's naked invasion against Eritrea continues without cessation. Ethiopia has launched incessant attacks on the Assab Front for the past three days. And yesterday evening, at 10.30 p.m., Ethiopia unleashed a large-scale offensive on this front, which continues to rage today.

Ethiopia's offensives deep inside sovereign Eritrean territory are a flagrant act of invasion. The hollow pretexts that Ethiopia is forwarding claiming that it is "responding to Eritrean provocations" are not only untenable but have no basis in international law. Eritrea cannot possibly resort to "provocations" in its own sovereign territory. While it has an unquestionable right in exercising its right to self-defence, Eritrea cannot also engage in military activities in an area where it has redeployed voluntarily from deep into its own sovereign territory.

Eritrea remains committed to the proximity talks. This is despite the multiple preconditions and obstructions put by Ethiopia, which have no basis in international law or pure common sense.

The invasion perpetrated by Ethiopia against a sovereign Member State of the United Nations and which has caused extensive destruction, human misery and displacement cannot be tolerated with impunity. The tragic dimension of this invasion is that it is being carried out under the full observation of the international community. In the circumstances, I urge you to condemn this invasion and to stand on the side of truth and justice.
