<sup>1</sup> The Rome Statute does not specifically address the issue of the residence of judges. Article 35 of the Statute provides that full-time judges of the Court "shall be available to serve on that basis from the commencement of their terms of office". Moreover, article 40 provides that judges "required to serve on a full-time basis at the seat of the Court shall not engage in any other occupation of a professional nature". The question of the residence of full-time judges and their availability to serve on that basis at the seat of the Court is a matter which the Rome Statute has entrusted to the judges. Article 52 sets out the manner in which the Regulations of the Court are to be elaborated and adopted. In considering the issue of the residence of full-time judges, the judges themselves will take a decision as to whether or not residence at the seat of the Court is required for full-time service, bearing in mind the permanent character of the Court.

<sup>2</sup> "Home" is defined as the residence declared by the judge at the time of appointment or as modified subsequently.

(e) Reimbursement by the Court for the travel expenses of the spouse and/or dependent children of the judge for trips undertaken in conjunction with the above where the spouse and/or dependent children reside with the judge at the seat of the Court.

8. All travel shall be by business-class travel between the declared home and the seat of the Court by the most direct route.
