EnclosureReport to the Counter-Terrorism Committee

Further to the CTC letter of May, 28, 2002, the Government of Romania prepared a new report answering to the specific questions the Committee has set out in the document S/AC.40/2002/MS/OC.87.

The setting up and the strengthening of the legislation on combating international terrorism are a continuing process. Romania attaches a great importance to this process and is undertaking all the necessary measures for implementing the relevant resolutions of the United Nations Security Council.

Sub-paragraph 1 (a):

From the report, it appears that the provisions of Government Emergency Ordinance No. 159/2001 apply only to the individuals and entities specifically listed in the annex to the ordinance (as amended from time to time) and that there is no legislative provision that authorizes the freezing of the funds and other assets of classes of persons defined generically (for example, by reference to their behavior). Is that so?

If it is so, what are the legislative provisions and procedures that enable the economic and financial system of Romania to guard against operations carried out by persons or entities that are not listed but are involved, or suspected of being involved, in criminal activities, especially terrorist activities or activities in support of terrorism? If there are no such provisions or procedures, is it planned to put any in place?

[The provisions of the Chapter I of the Government Emergency Ordinance no.159/2001 apply only to the individuals and entities specifically listed in the annex to the above-mentioned Ordinance. According to art.2, the annex is updated periodically]

[Other persons than those specifically listed, who have committed one of the terrorist offences provided in the Government Emergency Ordinance no. 141/ 2001 and Government Emergency Ordinance no.159/2001, can be prosecuted and sentenced according to the general provisions of the Criminal Procedure Code and of the Criminal Code.

Regarding the freezing of the funds and other assets of these persons, this can be done according to the provisions of art 118 of the Criminal Code and art.439 of the Criminal Procedure Code regarding the confiscation and art. 163-167 of the Criminal Procedure Code regarding the seizure procedure].

Subparagraphs 1 (a) and (b):

Please provide a detailed outline of Government Emergency Ordinance no. 141/2001 and, in particular, please include in the outline an indication whether (and, if so, how) the Ordinance criminalise acts performed in Romania that are not inherently criminal in character (such as the raising of funds) but are connected with acts, or intended acts, outside Romania that are of a criminal or, more particularly, terrorist nature?

The Romanian Government issued the Emergency Ordinance no. 141/2001 published in Official Gazette of Romania no. 691/31.10.2001, which defined the terrorist acts and provide the sanctions for these acts.

According to the art.2 (2) and (3) of the above mentioned Emergency Ordinance, the identification of these persons (citizenship, date and place of birth for the physical persons) is required by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs upon the request of the Ministry of Finance. According to the art. 4 (3), the Ministry of Finance can request to the Ministry of Public Administration, Ministry of Interior, Chamber of Commerce and trade or from Romanian Intelligence Service or Foreign Intelligence Service all the necessary information data.

The Government Emergency Ordinance no.141/2001 incriminates the terrorist acts as follows: according to the art.1 of this Ordinance, are considered terrorist acts:

- the offences stipulated in art.174-176 (homicide), 181, 182 (injuries to the physical integrity or health), 189 (illegal deprivation of liberty), 217, 218 (destruction), 279, 280 (offences related to the legal status of the fire guns and explosive materials) of the Criminal Code;
- the offences stipulated in art.106-109 of the Government Ordinance no.29/1997 on the Air Code, if the offences are committed in order to disturb the public order by intimidation, or by creating panic.

Art. 2-5 of this Ordinance provides for a number of acts also considered as terrorist and the art.6 stipulates the competence of judicial bodies to prosecute and judge the offenders.

Provisions regarding acts performed in Romania that are not considered as offences are included in art. 2 paragraphs 2 and 3, which also stipulates that the attempt is punished. Provisions regarding the crime of raising funds for terrorist acts or intended acts are included in art 15 of the Government Emergency Ordinance No. 159/2001:

"The person's act to collect fund, directly or indirectly, being aware that these funds are used, all or part of them, to commit terrorism acts is an offence and shall be punished with imprisonment from 5 to 20 years and interdiction of some rights.

With the same punishment shall be sanctioned the person act's to obtain funds in order to finance the terrorism acts.

The attempt shall be punished.

The funds collected for committing terrorists acts shall be confiscated".

Sub-paragraphs 1(c) and (d):

Apart from the requirements of Government Emergency Ordinance No. 159/2001, what vigilance and reporting obligations apply to financial intermediaries (including those outside the main financial sector, such lawyers) with a view, in particular, to the prevention of economic, and financial transactions with terrorist or other criminal aims (as distinct from identifying the proceeds of illicit activity)? What are the penalties for breaching those obligations and have any penalties already been handed down?

What preventive controls and surveillance measures exist to ensure that funds indented for the financing of terrorism are not transferred through charitable, religious or cultural organizations?

Please outline the legislation and practical measures available to regulate alternative money transfer agencies and other arrangements for the transfer of funds such as the system known as hawala.

The CTC would welcome a report on the progress of the process of ratification and translation into domestic law of the Council of Europe Convention on Laundering, Search, Seizure and Confiscation of the Proceeds from Crime.

The Romanian National Bank is, according to the law, the only regulatory organism, which monitors the commercial banks. It is also part of the Interministerial Council for enforcing the Resolution 1333/2001 of UNSC, and it constantly provides reports related to the measures taken on this matter. At the same time, it monitors all the money transfers, which do not comply with the stated time and purpose. The matter is transferred to the Ministry of Finance in order to be examined.

If, following the examinations, the Ministry of Finance considers that the regulations are breached, the punishments stipulated in the Government Emergency Ordinance 18/1994, (contravention penalties up to 100% of the total amount subject to transfer) regarding the financial discipline of the economic agents are applied, and the information is taken over by the Ministry of Interior, the Prosecutor's Office, the Romanian Intelligence Service, The External Intelligence Service, the National Council of Preventing and Suppressing the Money Laundering . This information are taking over by the agencies above mentioned in order to check if the offence has a penal or a contraventional character.

According to the art. 8 (2) of the Emergency Ordinance 159/2001 the National Bank of Romania, the National Securities Commission and the Insurance Oversight Commission issued, within 10 days from the entering into force, the regulations regarding the necessary documentation on financial -banking operations submitted to approval. Pursuant to this provision, the National Bank of Romania issued the Norms no. 5/2001, that stipulates all operations under previous approval, carried out by the persons provided by the art.5 of the Emergency Ordinance.

According to the Law 21/1999 on the prevention and punishment the money laundering, the National Bank of Romania co-operates with the National Office for the Prevention and Control of Money Laundering as a specialized body with legal personality, subordinated to the Government. In order to ensure the carrying out of the banking activities, in compliance with the legal requirements, including with the legislation regarding the Anti Money Laundering , the National Bank of Romania issued the Norms no 3/2002 published in the Official Gazette of Romania no. 154/2.03.2002 regarding know-your-customer standards. According to these norms, the National Bank of Romania shall set up efficient "know-your customer" policies and procedures, further called know-your customer programs, to promote high ethical and professional standards in order to prevent the Romanian Banking System from being used in an illegal or criminal activity performed by its customers. The regulations include general and special requirements regarding the customer identification as defined by the above-mentioned norms.

There has not been detected such alternative money transfer agencies and no arrangements for the transfer of funds (hawala type) on the Romanian territory; no specific legislation regarding this mean of funds transfer.

Apart from the requirements of Government Emergency Ordinance no 159/2001, vigilance and reporting obligations applicable to financial intermediaries are not provided, excepting the obligation to report operations suspected to be money-laundering operations.

Sub-paragraph 2 (a):

As mentioned above, the CTC would be grateful for an outline of the scope of Government Emergency Ordinance No. 141/2001 in relation to activities having some links (particularly as regards actual acts of terrorism) with another country. The CTC would also be grateful for an indication of Romania's long -term legislative and of funds through front organizational plans for dealing with these matters.

Please outline the measures, both legislative and practical, preventing entities and individuals from recruiting, collecting funds or soliciting other forms of support for terrorist activities to be carried out inside or outside Romania, including in particular:

The caring out, within or from Romania, of recruiting, collecting of funds and soliciting of other forms of support from other countries; and

Deceptive activities such as recruitment based on a representation to the recruit that the purpose of the recruitment is one (e.g. teaching) different from the true purpose and collection of funds through front organizations.

What measures does Romania have in place to prevent terrorists obtaining weapons within or outside its territory, in particular small arms or light weapons? What is the legislation concerning the acquisition and possession, and import and export, of such weapons?

According with the provisions of the Law 14/1992 concerning the organization and functioning of the Romanian Intelligence Service and with the Law 51/1991, the Romanian Intelligence Service develops with the approval of the NSDC (The National Supreme Defense Council), cooperation activities with similar services from other countries. One of the main fields of cooperation is the prevention and counter of terrorist acts as well as the initiation and supporting of such activities.

With respect to the long term organizational and legislative plans the decisions of NSDC have implications on all the institutional demarches - made by National Intelligence Service and the others national institutions aimed at countering terrorism. Thus, the institutions will conclude special interdepartmental programs on prevention and combating terrorism as follows:

Information activities developed by the securities services;

protection activities and others special ways of discouraging the terrorists actions;

activities against recruiting terrorist network;
 activities for instruction and professional training of specialist on different fields of activities represented in the national system for preventing and counter terrorism;
 activities for optimization the legislative background in the field;
 anti-terrorism intervention;
 the organization and functioning of a link bodies and operative coordination anti- terrorism.
 At the same time, each institution belonging of National System for Preventing and Combating Terrorism will issue a Special Departmental Program, in accordance with its legal competencies.

Regarding the legislative measures preventing entities and individuals from collecting funds or soliciting other form of support from other countries for terrorists activities, art 15 of the Government Emergency Ordinance no 159/2001 does not make any distinction based on the country origin of funds or other form of support.

So, carrying out, within or from Romania, of collecting funds or soliciting of other form of support from other countries is punished according to art 15 of the Emergency Ordinance mentioned above.

As regard the recruiting, art 3 of the Government Emergency Ordinance no. 141 /2001 punishes with imprisonment from 3 to 15 years the agreement in order to commit terrorists acts. This article can be understood as criminalizing the recruitment, since the recruitment represents a form of agreement and instigation.

The instigation to commit offences, generally speaking, is a crime stated in art. 25, 27 and 29 of the Criminal Code.

The deceptive recruitment activities are not specifically incriminated.

In order to prevent terrorists obtaining arms, the Romanian Government has taken a number of practical measures covering several approaches of the matter.

National inter agency cooperation

The National Intelligence Services as part of the Inter-ministry Council¹ for the control of exports and imports of strategic exports has to provide, according to the specific Law (Government Ordinance no. 158/1999), the necessary information in order to adopt the most appropriate solutions for preventing the diversion of arms.

The Ministry of Interior by means of its specially created body (Division for Economic Strategic Investigations) and the General Customs Directorate has to enforce the specific Law on arms exports. Any failure to comply with the terms approved by a license has to be acknowledged to the Romanian authority (the National Agency for the Control of Strategic Exports and of Prohibition of Chemical Weapons –NACSEPCW) in order to be incriminated.

¹ The Inter-ministerial Council has been created on the basis of the Government ordinance no. 158/1999 (art 23) The Inter-ministerial Council consists of representatives at least at director level of the following ministries and public institutions: NACSEPCW, as the Romanian authority in strategic goods (arms and dual-use goods) exports controls, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, the Ministry of National Defense, the Ministry of Interior, Ministry of Public Finances, Ministry of Industry and Resources, Ministry of European Integration, Romanian Intelligence Service, Foreign Intelligence Service, National Commission for Nuclear Activities Control. Decisions are taken by consensus.

Several protocols aiming to enforce the cooperation between NACSEPCW and the Romanian Chamber of Commerce and Industry, the General Customs Directorate, the Division for Economic Strategic Investigations and the National Commission for Nuclear Activities Control have been signed and are renewed on yearly basis. The protocols set up the responsibility of parties to share information and to adopt the most appropriate measures to combat illicit trafficking of strategic goods (dual use goods, arms, munitions, military equipment and their related technologies) in particular small arms and light weapons (SALW).

Early warning of potential violence and regional instability are assessed by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs that consequently recommend, within the meetings of the Inter-ministry Council, the rejection of any export license application to the destinations subject of concern. It has to be mentioned, in this respect, that Romania fully respects the EU Code of Conduct on arms transfers as well as international arms embargoes.

In the process of the examination of licenses applications, the lists containing individuals and entities involved in or supporting terrorist activities are taken into account.

Transparency:

Primary, secondary and tertiary legislation on arms trade is publicly available and published in the Official Gazette as well as on some Internet sites specialized in law consultancy. The Romanian authority in the field of strategic goods exports, NACSEPCW has its own Internet site (www.ancesiac.ro) where specific laws, regulations and many useful information can be accessed by the Romanian companies interested in exports, imports, transit and transshipment of strategic goods and technologies.

On request, any Romanian legal person interested in arms transfers, may acquire technical advises from NACSEPCW. The requested consultation is free of charge. The Romanian authority looks at this open dialogue as one of the most important ways to prevent illicit trafficking. Several initiatives, such as: conferences, symposiums, "open doors", "round tables meetings", having exporters and importers as guests of NACSEPCW and on site visits to the Romanian companies, have been developed in the last two years in this respect. This dialogue is helpful to both of the Romanian companies, by being updated their necessary information and the National Authority that is continuously looking to improve the specific legislation.

From the perspective of taking preventive measures, NACSEPCW is preparing the implementation of the Internal Control Program, which is meant to develop within the main Romanian exporting companies small units of self risk-assessment of exports, which should look at the transaction from a broad perspective prior to submit an application. This initiative is intend to be part of the confidence security building measures that the Romanian authority expects to share with the national companies.

The first Romanian Report on Arms Transfers/2001 has been drawn up. The document will be published.

The National System of Prevention and Counter Terrorism represents an inter-institutional mechanism, which set up rules to apply the national strategy and other instruments (there are no overlaps with the Interministerial Council). In this respect all the relevant agencies have the same status and will continue to act in accordance with their legal competencies.

The issuing of the special departmental programs of each agency is made on a case by case basis according with the National Strategy and with the provisions of the General Protocol, being submitted for the SCCD approval.

The Interministerial Council was set up under the Emergency Ordinance no. 153/2001 with a view to implementing the United Nations Security Council Resolution 1373/2001. It consists of 10 ministries. The Interministerial Council reports to the Romanian Government.
