Annex to the identical letters dated 27 January 2003 from the Permanent Representative of Iraq to the United Nations addressed to the Secretary-General and to the President of the Security Council

I should like to inform you that the United States of America and the United Kingdom have stepped up their aerial aggression against the Republic of Iraq, targeting Iraqi towns and villages as well as civilian and military installations. United States and British warplanes based in the State of Kuwait and the Republic of Turkey thus violated Iraq's airspace and carried out 1,361 armed sorties in the period from 18 December to 17 January 2003, 1,215 of them from Kuwait and 146 from Turkey (see enclosure).

In the course of these acts of aggression on 1 December 2002 United States and British aircraft bombed civilian and military sites in Dhi Qar and Wassit governorates, damaging civilian and military installations.

On 20 December 2002, United States and British aircraft again bombed civilian and military sites in Dhi Qar and Wassit governorates, damaging civilian and military installations.

On 30 December 2002, United States and British aircraft bombed civilian and military sites in Maysan governorate, damaging civilian and military installations.

On 1 January 2003, United States and British aircraft bombed civilian and military sites in Maysan governorate, killing one citizen, wounding two others and damaging civilian and military installations.

On 2 January 2003, United States and British aircraft bombed civilian and military sites in Basrah and Maysan governorates, damaging civilian and military installations.

On 4 January 2003, United States and British aircraft bombed civilian and military sites in Maysan governorate, damaging civilian and military installations.

On 5 January 2003, United States and British aircraft bombed civilian and military sites in Dhi Qar and Maysan governorates, damaging civilian and military installations.

On 6 January 2003, United States and British aircraft bombed civilian and military sites in Maysan governorate, killing two citizens, wounding three others and damaging civilian and military installations.

On 8 January 2003, United States and British aircraft bombed civilian and military sites in Dhi Qar and Basrah governorates, damaging civilian and military installations.

On 10 January 2003, United States and British aircraft bombed civilian and military sites in Dhi Qar and Maysan governorates, damaging civilian and military installations.

On 13 January 2003, United States and British aircraft bombed civilian and military sites in Basrah governorate, wounding six citizens and damaging civilian and military installations.

On 17 January 2003, United States and British aircraft bombed civilian and military sites in Dhi Qar governorate, damaging civilian and military installations.

In enforcing no-flight zones in northern and southern Iraq the United States and the United Kingdom have committed a flagrant violation of the Charter of the United Nations, the established norms of international law and the Security Council resolutions affirming respect for Iraq's sovereignty, territorial integrity and political independence. They are also guilty of armed aggression against Iraq, which has been ongoing since 1991 and is aimed at undermining our country's political independence and territorial integrity and deliberately and systematically wiping out its population and civilian installations. It constitutes persistent State terrorism and gross interference in Iraq's internal affairs.

The Secretary-General and his predecessor, Mr. Boutros-Ghali, have stated on more than one occasion that the United States and the United Kingdom imposed this measure unilaterally and that there is nothing in the resolutions of the Security Council that would authorize it.

The enforcement of the no-flight zones by the United Kingdom and the United States and the concomitant acts of aggression have been opposed and condemned by a majority of the States Members of the United Nations, including most of the permanent members of the Security Council. The Movement of Non-Aligned Countries and the League of Arab States have also denounced this illegal use of force against Iraq's security, sovereignty and territorial integrity.

The entire international community has condemned the maintenance of the so-called no-flight zones as an unlawful act, as a flagrant violation of the Charter of the United Nations and the established norms of international law and as a bellicose use of armed force against Iraq's sovereignty, independence and territorial integrity.

Although the international community has condemned this daily aggression and State terrorism against an independent State, which has taken the lives of thousands of Iraqi citizens and caused enormous material losses, the United States and the United Kingdom continue to flout the Charter of the United Nations and the declared wish of the international community for a halt to this aggression. The Security Council has taken no action with regard to this terrorist aggression, and this raises serious questions about the credibility of the Security Council and the United Nations and about their capacity to apply the provisions of the Charter to all without distinction and to halt the acts of aggression that are being committed by two of the permanent members of the Council and constitute a threat to regional and international peace and security. This bellicose, terrorist conduct on the part of the United States and the United Kingdom once again confirms that they are not worthy of the authority conferred on them by Article 24 of the Charter, which gives primary responsibility for the maintenance of international peace and security to the Security Council, acting on behalf of the States Members of the United Nations.

The logistic support being provided to the Americans and British by one of our neighbouring States — specifically Kuwait, which has transformed its territory into a base from which the United States threatens to commit aggression against Iraq — means that that country incurs full responsibility under international law, including liability for the payment of compensation for the losses and damage, in both human and material terms, caused by these unlawful practices.

The Government of Iraq calls for an immediate halt to internationally unlawful acts that violate Iraq's sovereignty, independence and territorial integrity, gravely endanger the security of its people and constitute a direct and serious threat to international peace and security.

In the context of the responsibilities assigned to you as they relate to the maintenance of international peace and security, we express the hope that you will endeavour to halt the ongoing United States and British aggression against Iraq and that you will urge the regional parties that are facilitating its continuation to desist from doing so.
