Kenya, Mauritania and United Republic of Cameroon: draft resolution

The Security Council,

Having considered General Assembly resolution 3207 (XXIX) of 30 September 1974, in which the Assembly called upon the Security Council "to review the relationship between the United Nations and South Africa in the light of the constant violation by South Africa of the principles of the Charter and the Universal Declaration of Human Rights",

Having heard the statements of the persons invited to address the Council on this issue,

Taking note of the special report of the Special Committee on Apartheid on "violations of the Charter of the United Nations and resolutions of the General Assembly and the Security Council by the South African régime" (S/11537),

Mindful of the provisions of the Charter of the United Nations concerning the rights and obligations of Member States, particularly Articles 1, 2, 6, 55 and 56,

Recalling its resolutions 134 (1960), 181 (1963), 182 (1963), 190 (1964), 282 (1970), and 311 (1972) on the question of the policies of apartheid of the Government of the Republic of South Africa,

Reaffirming that the policies of apartheid are contrary to the principles and purposes of the Charter of the United Nations and inconsistent with the provisions of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, as well as South Africa's obligations under the Charter,

Recalling that the General Assembly and the Security Council have more than once condemned the South African Government for its persistent refusal to abandon its policies of apartheid and to abide by its obligations under the Charter, as called for by the Security Council and the General Assembly,

Noting with concern South Africa's refusal to withdraw its police and military forces, as well as its civilian personnel, from the mandated Territory of Namibia and to co-operate with the United Nations in enabling the people of Namibia as a whole to attain self-determination and independence,

Noting further that, in violation of the pertinent resolutions of the Security Council, particularly resolution 253 (1968) of 29 May 1968, South Africa has not only given support to the illegal régime in Southern Rhodesia, but has also sent into that Territory military and police personnel for the purpose of strengthening that régime in its attempt to impede the exercise of their inalienable rights by the people of that Territory,

Considering that effective measures should be taken to resolve the present situation arising out of the policies of apartheid of the Government of South Africa,

Recommends to the General Assembly the immediate expulsion of South Africa from the United Nations in compliance with Article 6 of the Charter.
