
ADMINISTRATIVE TRIBUNAL

Judgement No. 932

Case No. 1023: AL ARID

Against: The Commissioner-General of the United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees in the Near East

THE ADMINISTRATIVE TRIBUNAL OF THE UNITED NATIONS,

Composed of Mr. Julio Barboza, Vice-President, presiding; Mr. Chittharanjan
Felix Amerasinghe; Mr. Kevin Haugh;

Whereas at the request of Hassan Mohammed Al Arid, a former staff member of the United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees in the Near East (hereinafter referred to as UNRWA or the Agency), the President of the Tribunal, with the agreement of the Respondent, successively extended until 30 November 1997, 28 February and 31 October 1998, the time-limit for the filing of an application with the Tribunal;

Whereas, on 12 June 1998, the Applicant filed an application requesting the Tribunal to:

“...

- i. [Rescind the] decision of summary dismissal.
- ii. [Reinstate the] Applicant to duty effective the date of [his] suspension, and considering the period of his cessation, as a special leave with full pay plus interest.
- iii. [Compensate the Applicant if he is not reinstated] for his due salaries until a judgement has been ordered, [and also compensate him] for the severe injury caused to [him], to be paid in US dollars at the rate available to UN at the time of his separation, [and pay him a] termination indemnity.

iv. [Consider] the decision to deprive Applicant of the Agency contribution to the Provident fund, null and void, being incompatible with the UN General Assembly resolutions, while the amount is relating to his social security.

v. [Pay] counseling fees and secretarial expenses estimated at US $900.”

Whereas the Respondent filed his answer on 22 October 1998;

Whereas the Applicant filed written observations on 30 April 1999;

Whereas the Respondent submitted additional documents on 26 October 1999;

Whereas the Applicant submitted additional documents on 7 November 1999;

Whereas the facts in the case are as follows:

Effective 29 May 1985, the Applicant was offered and accepted a temporary indefinite appointment as an Area staff member of UNRWA as Deputy Field Sanitation Officer in the Lebanon Field Office, Beirut. On 1 November 1987, the Applicant was promoted to the post of Field Sanitation Officer, which post was reclassified on 2 January 1988 to Field Sanitary Engineer.

On 18 September 1995, the Director of UNRWA Affairs, Lebanon, convened a Board of Inquiry (BOI) to look into allegations of misappropriation of Agency funds and non-adherence to Agency rules and regulations by staff members in the Technical Department of UNRWA.

On 25 September 1995, in the course of the investigation, allegations were made against the Applicant and, on the same day, the Director of UNRWA Affairs approved the extension of the BOI's terms of reference to include the Sanitation Division and the Applicant.

On 28 September 1995, the Director of UNRWA Affairs advised the Applicant that a charge of serious misconduct had been made against him and that he was suspended without pay pending an investigation of that charge effective that day.

On 25 October 1995, the BOI submitted its report to the Director of UNRWA Affairs. In the report, the BOI noted that one contractor (who happened to be a cousin of the Applicant) had presented evidence indicating that he had made several payments to the Applicant in connection with Agency contracts. In addition to various smaller payments, the contractor specifically mentioned a 1988 payment of $8,000 to the Applicant paid from the contractor's bank - the Banque Nationale de Paris Intercontinentale (BNPI) in Saida - to the Applicant's bank - Banque de la Mediterranee in Saida. The contractor further testified that he had also made a payment of $5,000 by cheque to the Applicant.

The BOI also noted the testimony of another contractor who claimed he paid $8,000 in cash to the Applicant "for and during the implementation of a sewerage project in Burj el-Barajneh camp". The BOI further noted that a third contractor appeared uninvited in the Lebanon Field Office and produced a letter in which he claims that he paid the Applicant the sum of $5,000 "in order to be listed as a class 'A' contractor". Additionally, this third contractor claimed to have witnessed another contractor giving the Applicant "a cheque or paper containing [an] amount [said to be of] $25,000.00 (twenty five thousand) on account".

The BOI had requested the Applicant - who claimed he had no knowledge of the above transactions - to sign a letter addressed to his bank, instructing the bank to waive secrecy and thus enable the BOI to "establish [the Applicant's] account number(s) and the transactions on [those] accounts". The Applicant refused to sign the document.

The BOI concluded: "Based on documentary evidence, [the BOI] unanimously finds that [the Applicant] is guilty of having received bribes from contractors".

On 7 December 1995, the Director of UNRWA Affairs advised the Applicant of the conclusions of the BOI concerning his conduct. The Director of UNRWA Affairs considered that the BOI's finding, that the Applicant had accepted bribes from Agency contractors, constituted serious misconduct. Accordingly, he was summarily dismissed effective the date of his suspension from duty.

On 16 December 1995 and on 2 January 1996, the Applicant wrote to the Director of UNRWA Affairs and asserted that he had never taken bribes and that the evidence against him was fabricated. In the second letter, the Applicant also requested reconsideration of the “recommendation” to terminate his appointment. On 15 January 1996, the Director of UNRWA Affairs advised the Applicant that he had reviewed his case and advised him that “the decision to summarily dismiss [him] ... [was] maintained.

On 28 January 1996, the Applicant lodged an appeal with the Joint Appeals Board (JAB). The JAB submitted its report on 3 March 1997. Its evaluation, judgement and recommendation read as follows:

“III. EVALUATION AND JUDGEMENT

22. In its deliberations, the Board examined all documents cited before it, including the Appellant’s personal file, and came out with the following:

(a) By reference to Area staff regulation 111.3, paragraph (2,3,4) concerning the receivability of the appeal, the Board decided to accept the appeal and waive the time limits due to the seriousness of the disciplinary measure implemented on the Appellant.

(b) By reference to the appeal, the Board noted that the Appellant’s contention that he has been the victim of a ‘campaign of malicious premeditation against the senior Area staff ...’ and that the Administration’s decision to summarily dismiss him has been motivated by prejudice against him.

(c) By reference to the Administration’s reply, the Board noted that the Administration contention that the decision appealed against was within the framework of standing Rules and Regulations.

(d) By reference to the report of the Board of Inquiry dated 25 October 1995, the Board noted that after a thorough study of the allegations made against the Appellant, the Board of Inquiry concluded that the Appellant is guilty of having accepted bribes from contractors.

(e) The Board noted that the fact that the Appellant refused to sign a letter addressed to his bank instructing the bank to waive the bank secrecy, and the fact that the contractor did sign such a release did cast a shadow of doubt on the behaviour of the Appellant.

(f) The Board also noted that the [8,000] were paid from (BNPI) in Saida to Banque de La Mediterranee in Saida in favour of the Appellant, and the fact that the receiving bank confirmed the transaction, did confirm that the Appellant accepted bribes.

The Board also found that the Appellant also failed to produce any counter productive evidence.

In this context, the Board is of the opinion that the Administration has acted within the framework of standing Regulations and Rules and, accordingly, the Board could not establish that the administrative decision of summary dismissal was motivated by prejudice or any other extraneous factors.

IV. RECOMMENDATION

23. In view of the foregoing and without prejudice to any further oral or written submission to any party the Appellant may deem pertinent, the Board unanimously makes its recommendation that the administrative decision appealed be upheld, and that the case be dismissed.”

On 9 April 1997, the Commissioner-General transmitted a copy of the JAB report to the Applicant and informed him as follows:

“... I have carefully reviewed the Board’s report and noted its conclusions. The Board noted the finding of the Board of Inquiry that you had accepted bribes from contractors and that you had failed to show that this conclusion was not correct. In the absence of any proved prejudice or other extraneous factors influencing the decision to summarily dismiss you, the Joint Appeals Board recommended that your appeal be dismissed.

I have accepted the conclusions and recommendation of the Board. Accordingly, your appeal is dismissed.”
On 12 June 1998, the Applicant filed with the Tribunal the application referred to earlier.

Whereas the Applicant's principal contentions are:

1. The evidence on which the BOI based its conclusions about the Applicant was entirely fabricated and the BOI did not make efforts to examine the veracity of the allegations against him.

2. The Applicant, citing Syrian law, maintains that disciplinary action is warranted only if the person receiving a benefit is actually in a position to advance the interests of the person offering such benefit and that no action can be taken against the person receiving the benefit after three years. In this connection, the Applicant claims that he was never in a position to advance the interests of the contractors who allegedly paid him bribes and, furthermore, that more than three years have elapsed since the alleged events took place.

3. The decision to summarily dismiss the Applicant was arbitrary and tainted by prejudice and the influence of extraneous factors.

Whereas the Respondent's principal contentions are:

1. The decision to suspend the Applicant was an appropriate exercise of managerial discretion.

2. The decision to summarily dismiss the Applicant was proper under the Agency's Regulations and Rules and was supported by the evidence.

3. The Respondent contends that the national laws of a third country (in this case, Syria) can have no bearing on the disciplinary processes of a subsidiary organ of the United Nations.

4. The Applicant has failed to show the existence of any defect, such as bias or prejudice, which impugns the decision he challenges.

The Tribunal, having deliberated from 2 to 15 November 1999, now pronounces the following judgement:

- I. The case concerns the imposition of a disciplinary sanction. The Applicant was summarily dismissed for serious misconduct on the ground that he had accepted bribes from contractors.
- II. The Applicant requested the production of certain documents by the Respondent. The Tribunal finds that it can decide the case on the basis of the evidence on the record and that no further production of documents is necessary. The request is rejected.
- III. The Applicant claims that the decision to summarily dismiss him was vitiated by (i) mistake of fact, (ii) error of law, and (iii) prejudice.
- IV. The jurisprudence of the Tribunal in disciplinary cases may be generally explained as follows: the Tribunal examines (i) whether the facts on which the disciplinary measures were based have been established; (ii) whether the established facts legally amount to misconduct or serious misconduct; (iii) whether there has been any substantive irregularity (e.g. omission of facts or consideration of irrelevant facts); (iv) whether there has been any procedural irregularity; (v) whether there was an improper motive or abuse of purpose; (vi) whether the sanction is within the power of the Respondent; (vii) whether the sanction imposed was disproportionate to the offence; (viii) and, as in the case of discretionary powers in general, whether there has been arbitrariness. (Cf. Judgements No. 897, Jhuthi, (1998); No. 819, Augustine (1997)). This listing is not intended to be exhaustive.
- V. The BOI found that the Applicant had, among other things, accepted bribes from contractors. The evidence before the BOI consisted of assertions by three contractors that the Applicant had received payments from them or their companies and documentary evidence of cancelled cheques endorsed in the name of the Applicant, which had been deposited in an account in that name in the Banque de la Mediterranee, Saida Branch.

VI. The first contractor testified before the BOI that he paid a total of $20,000 to the Applicant. Of that sum, $7,000 was paid by way of “pay off” for small projects and $8,000 related to the “Wadi project” in Ein el-Hilweh camp in 1988. The contractor gave evidence that after he was awarded the contract for the above project, the Applicant indicated that he expected to receive a benefit. After the completion of the work, the Applicant demanded 50 per cent of the profit. He was paid $8,000 by bank cheque payable to the Applicant which was deposited in an account, in the Applicant’s name, in the Banque de la Mediterranee, Saida Branch. The Applicant denied any knowledge of the transaction. The only question for the BOI was whether, as the contractor alleged and the documents corroborated, a payment of $8,000 had been made to an account maintained by the Applicant. The Applicant refused to allow the BOI to confirm that the account in his name was, in fact, his account, but the BOI concluded that it was. He criticizes the Agency for not paying an “administrative cost of US[$]500” to the bank to obtain a certified copy of the draft associated with the issue of the bank cheque. Noting that the General Manager, BNPI, during a meeting with the Field Finance Officer had indicated that the cheque might not be available, or if available, would not be probative, the BOI preferred a quicker, cheaper and more reliable method of establishing that the Applicant had received the payment, namely inspecting his accounts. The Applicant refused to waive bank secrecy protection. Therefore, the BOI assumed that an inspection of his bank accounts would reveal receipt of the payment. The JAB expressly discussed this transaction in its report and found that the evidence supported the BOI’s conclusion.

VII. The same contractor also alleged that he had made a subsequent payment of $5,000 to the Applicant in connection with the installation of sewerage lines in Ein el-Hilweh camp in 1991. The contractor testified that this amount was paid to the Applicant by cheque in part payment of his demand for 20 per cent of the actual value of the project. The Applicant denied receiving the payment and suggested that although the cheque was in his name, someone else had forged a signature on it to collect the funds. Again, although it had a copy of the cheque submitted by the contractor, the BOI was unable to ascertain the endorser and endorsees of the cheque because the Applicant refused to assist the Board with its task. The BOI was told by the contractor's bank that it would not release a certified copy of the cheque without the Applicant's consent. Accordingly, the Board asked the Applicant "to sign a document for submission to the Mediterranean Bank and BNPI [the contractor's bank] relinquishing account secrecy ... and authorizing the Agency to obtain any document relating to the allegations made by [the contractor] on cheques made out in [the Applicant's] name". On the basis of the Applicant's refusal, the BOI assumed that the cheque was paid to the Applicant.

Subsequently, the Applicant obtained a copy of only the first endorsement on the cheque. He denies that it was signed by him. This new evidence (which the Applicant had precluded the BOI from considering) was, however, presented by him to the JAB which, although it did not expressly refer to the transaction in its report, did not find that the Applicant had disproved any of the BOI's conclusions.

VIII. A second contractor alleged that his company paid the Applicant $8,000 in connection with the implementation of a sewerage project, also at Burj el-Barajneh camp. That contractor gave evidence that his company had paid the Applicant $8,000 in installments as a gratuity, representing about 10 per cent of the total value of the project. The Applicant denied the allegation. A third contractor who appeared at the Lebanon Field Office uninvited brought with him a letter in which he claimed that he had paid the Applicant $5,000 in return for being listed as a "class A" contractor by the Agency. He also claimed to have seen yet another contractor give the Applicant a document, said to be a cheque for $25,000.

The BOI, having evaluated the evidence and the demeanor of the two witnesses, and the Applicant's refusal to allow full disclosure of his banking records, concluded that the allegation had been proved and that the Applicant was guilty of receiving bribes. The JAB did not expressly refer to these transactions in its report either. Instead, it found that the Applicant had not disproved any of the BOI's conclusions.

IX. The Tribunal finds that the evidence of the three contractors and the paper trail which inexorably led to the Applicant, combined with the Applicant's refusal to sign the necessary bank secrecy waivers, presented the BOI with little alternative but to accept the allegations made against the Applicant. In the view of the Tribunal, the BOI was fully justified in finding against the Applicant and in concluding beyond all reasonable doubt that "the Applicant [was] guilty of having accepted bribes from contractors." Likewise, the Tribunal is fully satisfied that the Respondent was entitled to rely on the BOI's findings and to conclude, beyond a reasonable doubt, that the Applicant had engaged in serious misconduct.

X. As to the claim that there was an error of law, the Applicant cites Syrian law and the fact that the incidents of bribery occurred more than three years before the Applicant was disciplined. Syrian law is not relevant. It is the internal law of the Organization that is applicable. There is no statute of limitations in that internal law and the lapse of time did not constitute laches. It was not so long as to preclude a fair investigation and, thereby, to constitute a bar to disciplinary proceedings. There was no misapplication of the internal law in this regard. Furthermore, the Tribunal is of the opinion that there was no error of law in the characterization of the corrupt practice in point as serious misconduct. To otherwise characterize it would be absurd.

XI. The Applicant alleges prejudice. The burden is on the party claiming prejudice to prove it. (Cf. Judgement No. 834, Kumar (1997)). In this regard mere allegations do not constitute proof. The existence of a reprimand by his Director prior to the BOI's inquiry is not adequate proof either. Thus, the Applicant has not discharged the burden on him of proving prejudice.

XII. For the foregoing reasons, the application is rejected in its entirety.

(Signatures)

Julio BARBOZA
Vice-President, presiding

Chittharanjan Felix AMERASINGHE
Member

Kevin HAUGH
Member

New York, 15 November 1999

Maritza STRUYVENBERG
Executive Secretary .