Subsequently, Cameroon, Dominica, Eritrea, Haiti, Madagascar, Qatar and Sierra Leone joined in sponsoring the draft resolution, which read:

"The General Assembly,

"Recalling the Convention on the Rights of the Child,

"Recalling also the World Declaration on the Survival, Protection and Development of Children and the Plan of Action for Implementing the World Declaration on the Survival, Protection and Development of Children in the 1990s adopted by the World Summit for Children, held in New York on 29 and 30 September 1990,

“Recalling further the Declaration and Plan of Action adopted by the General Assembly at its twenty-seventh special session, “Reaffirming the vital role played by parents in the life of their children,

“Noting with grave concern the rapid and widespread increase, and the involvement of minors, in the illicit production of, trafficking in and consumption of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances, including amphetamine-type stimulants and other sorts of synthetic drugs, as well as in the number of children and young people starting to use drugs at an earlier age and having access to substances not previously used,

“Aware that the well-being of children is of vital importance to all people of all nations,

“Noting that the family-related provisions of the outcomes of the United Nations summits and conferences of the 1990s and their follow-up processes continue to provide policy guidance on ways to strengthen family-centred components of policies and programmes as part of an integrated comprehensive approach to development,

“1. Recognizes the unique duty and ability of parents to guide children properly, raise them in a healthy environment, impart to them a sense of duty, integrity, responsibility, civic-mindedness, compassion and service towards others, to help strengthen families, communities and nations of the world;

“10. Decides that 6 February each year shall be recognized as Parents Day, calls this observance to the attention of the citizens of all nations, and encourages parents to maintain focus on doing even better for their children and to rededicate themselves to providing them the greatest magnitude of love and support they need to become happy, healthy and productive citizens of our communities, nations and the world;

“11. Encourages all Governments, communities, citizens, religious, academic, media, cultural and civic leaders to recognize Parents Day through proclamations, activities and educational efforts in furtherance of recognizing, raising and supporting the central role of parents in creating better societies, for now and the future;
