PROPOSAL ON THE MINISTERIAL PANEL DISCUSSION

I. COMPOSITION OF THE PANEL

The panellists will be Ministers and distinguished representatives of stakeholders, including non-governmental, intergovernmental (IGO) and other international organizations. They may also include parliamentarians, academics, or representatives of the private sector, local authorities and the media.

The main criteria for determining the composition of the ministerial panels should be diverse geographical representation; commitment (including through ratification) and activity shown by a country in the implementation of the Convention; and the potential to share good practices or the severity of problems in the matter. The panel should ideally include articulate and stimulating speakers.

With regard to the stakeholders, criteria such as experience in matters related to public participation and active performance at the regional level are relevant, as well as the need to include stakeholders with different profiles and experience.

It is suggested that the entire high-level segment will be chaired by a representative of Kazakhstan, as the host country, and that the panellists will be selected by the Bureau and invited by the Chair of the Meeting of the Parties in accordance with the above-mentioned criteria.

The proposal regarding the composition of the panels is as follows:

Panel 1. Successes, failures and lessons learned: key challenges in implementing the Convention

Moderator: One of the participating Ministers.

Panellists:

- (a) Parties: 2 EU, 2 Eastern Europe, the Caucasus and Central Asia, 1 South-East Europe;
- (b) Stakeholders: 1 NGO, 1 judiciary.

Panel 2. Global and regional developments on issues related to principle 10 of the Rio Declaration on Environment and Development

Moderator: High-level representative from IGO (Executive Director of UNEP).

Panellists:

- (a) Governmental representatives: EU Commissioner, 1 representative from Parties/Signatories, 1-2 Ministers from other regions (e.g. Latin America, Africa, Asia);
- (b) Stakeholders: 1 NGO, IGOs, including 1 from the secretariat of a global multilateral environmental agreement (MEA) or a regional MEA from another region.

II. FORMAT AND THEMES OF THE PANELS

The format for the two panel discussions will be short opening statements by each of the panellists (up to 5 minutes); comments, questions and reactions from the floor; responses by the panellists; and concluding remarks by the moderator.

The list of panellists and the subjects of their opening statements will be further developed and circulated prior to the meeting. To this end, panellists will be invited to provide the secretariat with the an outline of their opening statements in writing and any supplementary information, and to keep their addresses to a maximum of five minutes.

Ministers and other heads of delegation will be invited to take part in the debate and to respond spontaneously to the points raised by the panellists as well as addressing other relevant issues. For reporting purposes, they will be invited to submit to the secretariat, prior to or during the meeting, a brief outline of their interventions. Interventions should not exceed three minutes.

Panel 1. Successes, failures and lessons learned: key challenges in implementing the Convention

Delegates are expected to discuss the main concerns in relation to implementation of the Convention, in particular, the focus should be on successes, failures and lessons learned in terms of implementation of the three pillars of the Convention: access to information, public participation in decision-making and access to justice in environmental matters.

During the discussion, delegates are expected to use the national implementation reports and the synthesis report as a focus. In doing so, they may wish to address the following aspects of implementation: general priorities; legislation; institutional framework; traditions of democracy (or lack thereof); and mechanisms that could facilitate implementation, including raising public awareness and capacity-building. The needs of countries with economies in transition, especially in EECCA, in relation to the implementation of the Convention should receive special attention.

The following documents could serve as background material for the discussion: Report on the status of ratification of the Convention and of the Protocol on PRTRs; national implementation reports; Synthesis report on implementation.

Indicative timetable

10.30-11.10	Opening statements by the moderator and by the panellists
11.10-12.55	Interventions from the floor and responses by the panellists
12.55-13.00	Concluding remarks by the moderator

Panel 2. Global and regional developments on issues related to principle 10 of the Rio Declaration on Environment and Development

Delegates are expected to discuss the major developments that are taking place at both global and regional levels in relation to principle 10 of the Rio Declaration on Environment and Development. They may wish to address the global and regional priorities and to consider the extent to which there are common elements which should apply in all regions. Points for discussion could include:

- Binding versus non-binding approaches to promoting environmental democracy;
- Whether the rights which the Convention seeks to guarantee are 'Eurocentric' and either irrelevant or inappropriate for other regions, or whether they are fundamental rights which should be recognized by all countries;
- Whether political and social differences, including aspects of culture, justify a differentiated approach to establishing procedures to implement principle 10, or whether those differences are simply 'part of the problem';
- Specific challenges facing developing countries (both governments and other stakeholders);
- Possible frameworks for future partnerships and dialogue between different regions and at the global level;
- Whether it would be either feasible, or desirable, to develop a global instrument on environmental democracy or whether regional approaches, possibly using the Aarhus Convention as a model, make more sense.

The key outputs of the discussion could be conveyed to other regional commissions and the UNEP secretariat, to be taken into account in their respective decision-making processes.
