Theme for the high-level segment of the 2006 substantive session of the Council

1. The President recalled that in accordance with General Assembly resolution 50/227, the Council had undertaken consultations on the theme for the high-level segment. While no agreement had yet been reached, he hoped that informal consultations would continue. He took it that the Council wished to defer consideration of the theme for the 2006 high-level segment to a later date.

2. It was so decided.

Implementation of and follow-up to major United Nations conferences and summits (continued)

(b) Review and coordination of the implementation of the Programme of Action for the Least Developed Countries for the Decade 2001-2010 (continued)

Draft resolutions E/2005/L.28 and E/2005/L.46

3. The President drew attention to draft resolution E/2005/L.46, entitled "Review and coordination of the implementation of the Programme of Action for the Least Developed Countries for the Decade 2001-2010".

4. Mr. Seth (Secretary of the Council), noting that in paragraph 13, the Council called upon the Secretary-General to undertake appropriate measures to strengthen the efficiency and effectiveness of the Office of the High Representative for the Least Developed Countries, Landlocked Developing Countries and Small Island Developing States, said that the draft resolution had no programme budget implications. He drew attention to General Assembly resolution 45/248 B, part VI, in which the Assembly reaffirmed that the Fifth Committee was the appropriate Main Committee entrusted with responsibilities for administrative and budgetary matters and also reaffirmed the role of the Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions.

5. Mr. Cetinos-Cox (United States of America) pointed out that there were several discrepancies between the document before the Council and the version agreed upon by Member States. In paragraph 5, the words "calls upon" should be substituted for "requests"; and in paragraph 14 the word "greater" should be deleted. Although many other inaccuracies had been discovered, they could be left uncorrected for now, but his delegation urged the Secretariat to take note of the need to maintain texts as they had been agreed upon by Member States.

6. The President said that any discrepancies would be taken into account by the Secretariat, and that all the language versions would be brought into conformity.

7. Draft resolution E/2005/L.46, as orally corrected, was adopted.

8. Draft resolution E/2005/L.28, together with the statement of programme budget implications in document E/2005/L.39, was withdrawn.

9. Ms. Hounbedji (Benin), speaking on behalf of the Group of Least Developed Countries, expressed the Group's gratitude to the Council as a whole, to the Group of 77 and China and to all Member States that had participated actively in the negotiations, making it possible to arrive at a consensus text. The least developed countries had accepted the consensus because they were in a partnership situation, and there could be no partnership without partners. In order to take into account the views expressed by their partners, the least developed countries had accepted the proposals on their participation in the Council's annual review of the Programme of Action. If in the future the expectations with regard to the trust fund were not fulfilled, the least developed countries would raise the issue again, and would be obliged to reintroduce the statement of programme budget implications in document E/2005/L.39.

10. Mr. Chowdhury (Under-Secretary-General and High Representative for the Least Developed Countries, Landlocked Developing Countries and Small Island Developing States) stressed the importance of the development of a national statistical capacity for the least developed countries. It was also important that those countries should be taken into account in reports dealing with economic and social issues and in the reports of the United Nations funds and programmes, as well as those of United Nations specialized agencies. The reports themselves should become more results-oriented, and in that regard his Office had developed a matrix, which it would continue to improve.

11. The Chairman of the Group of 77 and China and the Chairman of the Group of Least Developed Countries had asked the Secretary-General to convene consultations with various stakeholders to discuss preparations for the midterm Review of the Brussels Programme of Action for the Least Developed Countries for the Decade 2001-2010, an initiative of importance to the least developed countries. The Council's annual review of the Programme of Action was very important for the least developed countries, and he hoped that, as the United Nations underwent its own reform process, it would be able to highlight the Council's role as a policy-setting body of the United Nations system. He hoped that the sub-item would be taken up separately during the next Council session, and commended the fact that during the current session the round tables had focused on the needs of the least developed countries in the context of the Millennium Development Goals.

Coordination, programme and other questions

Draft resolutions E/2005/L.27 and E/2005/L.48

12. The President drew the Council's attention to draft resolution E/2005/L.48, entitled "Promoting an integrated approach to rural development in developing countries for poverty eradication and sustainable development".

13. Draft resolution E/2005/L.48 was adopted.

14. Draft resolution E/2005/L.27 was withdrawn.

15. The President suggested that the Council should take note of the annual overview report for the United Nations Chief Executives Board for Coordination for 2004/2005 contained in document E/2005/63.

16. It was so decided.

(d) Long-term programme of support for Haiti

Draft resolution E/2005/L.20/Rev.1

17. The President drew attention to draft resolution E/2005/L.20/Rev.1, entitled "Long-term programme of support for Haiti", and to the related statement of programme budget implications contained in document E/2005/L.47.

18. Mr. Rock (Canada) drew attention to some discrepancies between the version of the draft resolution before the Council and the text as agreed in negotiations: in the last line of paragraph 2, the words "in preparing the groundwork" should be changed to "to prepare the groundwork"; in paragraph 4, the words "to continue to provide adequate support for the Group's activities" should be changed to "to continue to support the Group's activities adequately"; in paragraph 5, the word "and" should be deleted from the second line and replaced by a comma, and the word "other" should be deleted from the third line; and in paragraph 8, the words "the situation prevailing in Haiti at that time" should be changed to "the situation then prevailing in Haiti". Argentina, Barbados, Belize, Greece, Guatemala and Nicaragua had become sponsors of the draft resolution.

19. He recalled that some delegations had criticized the report of the Ad Hoc Advisory Group on Haiti because it addressed recommendations to a variety of actors including the United Nations Stabilization Mission in Haiti. In Canada's view, it was the role of an advisory group to give advice as it saw fit, and it was for the receivers of the advice to determine the usefulness thereof. It was thus gratifying that in the draft resolution, the Council would take note of the report as a whole, rather than of individual recommendations. Following the extension of the Group's mandate, Canada looked forward to continuing cooperation between the Council and the Security Council, each within its respective mandate, on the situation in Haiti.

20. Mr. Meyer (Brazil) noted that, while making long-term recommendations in accordance with its mandate, the Ad Hoc Advisory Group had rightly taken into account the various aspects of the activity of the United Nations on the ground. Brazil considered those recommendations to be extremely valuable in the context of adding the indispensable socio-economic component to the efforts of the international community to help Haiti along the path to recovery.

21. Mr. Merores (Observer for Haiti) said that his Government attached great importance to draft resolution E/2005/L.20/Rev.1, as demonstrated by the letter from the Prime Minister of Haiti to the President of the Council requesting the renewal of the Ad Hoc Advisory Group's mandate. It was Haiti's view that the Council should facilitate the development process and play a strategic role in the integration of peace and development. That facilitating role had three main dimensions: strengthening the Government's managerial capacity, boosting the implementation of the programmes decided on and generating more active participation by the donor community.

22. The period 2005-2006 would be a critical time for the Ad Hoc Advisory Group, as it would be preparing the long-term programme which the people and Government of Haiti were eagerly awaiting, and which would help to promote the country's economic and social development as well as assist it in creating and maintaining stability and combating poverty. In that regard, his Government was working determinedly, with the support of the Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean (ECLAC), on the establishment of a strategic unit that would be the contact point for the Ad Hoc Advisory Group during the preparatory phase for the long-term programme. In the implementation phase, the Group would be working with the Ministry of Planning's operational coordination unit, which would track the operation of the entire implementation mechanism and manage the information system for all sectors.

23. Strict respect for the mandates of the Security Council and the Council respectively was of fundamental importance. The visit which those two bodies had made to Haiti in April 2005 had convinced Haiti even further of the complementarity between actions to restore peace and development actions.

24. Mr. Suarez Salvia (Observer for Argentina) said that his country had consistently taken the view that stability and political dialogue largely depended on Haiti's development and economic recovery, and that a long-term strategy was indispensable to make specific plans for a future that would facilitate national reconciliation. A poverty-reduction strategy based on the Millennium Development Goals would act as the basis for social recovery. While the primary responsibility for resolution of the conflict lay with Haitian society, the international community had a duty to act in support of the process of peace and growth. Accordingly, coordination of the Council's work with that of the Security Council was a priority. At the same time, the donor community must give priority consideration to the recommendations of the Group, with particular reference to the special needs of the forthcoming electoral process and the continuity of the process of disarmament, demobilization and reintegration.

25. Ms. Delgado (Observer for Venezuela) said that the disintegration of a State was a direct consequence of foreign intervention, which infringed that State's sovereignty and interfered with the self-determination of its people. Any international initiative aimed at resolving the current crisis affecting the Haitian people must not harm, infringe or diminish the ultimate right of the Haitian people to decide for themselves about their social and political institutions, and to choose for themselves the development routes they would take to overcome poverty. It was the duty of the international community to respect the need of all peoples, including those of Haiti, to make their own decisions on their political and social institutions.

26. Mr. Cetinos-Cox (United States of America) said that his delegation had requested a separate vote on paragraph 4 of the draft resolution. His Government was certainly not indicating a lack of support for the people of Haiti: it had a deep commitment to the recovery of Haiti and the political process in that country, to which it had allocated nearly $400 million since 2004. However, given the modest amount of funding at issue under paragraph 4 and the substantial resources available to the Department of Economic and Social Affairs, the United States believed that the travel of the members of the Ad Hoc Advisory Group should be funded through proposed resources rather than through a call for additional resources with programme budget implications.

27. At the request of the representative of the United States of America, a recorded vote was taken on paragraph 4 of draft resolution E/2005/L.20/Rev.1.

In favour:

Albania, Armenia, Australia, Azerbaijan, Bangladesh, Belgium, Belize, Benin, Brazil, Canada, China, Colombia, Congo, Costa Rica, Cuba, Denmark, Ecuador, France, Germany, Guinea, Iceland, India, Indonesia, Ireland, Italy, Jamaica, Japan, Kenya, Lithuania, Malaysia, Mauritius, Mexico, Mozambique, Namibia, Nicaragua, Nigeria, Pakistan, Panama, Poland, Republic of Korea, Russian Federation, Saudi Arabia, Senegal, South Africa, Spain, Thailand, Tunisia, Turkey, United Arab Emirates, United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, United Republic of Tanzania.

Against:

United States of America.

Abstaining:

None.

28. Paragraph 4 of draft resolution E/2005/L.20/Rev.1 was adopted by 51 votes to 1.

29. Draft resolution E/2005/L.20/Rev.1, as orally revised, was adopted.

30. Mr. Sunaga (Japan) said that his delegation was disturbed at the way the draft resolution had been adopted, and believed that it should have been thoroughly discussed beforehand. Japan also felt that any additional cost should be absorbed by existing resources rather than by additional funds having programme budget implications.

31. Ms. Gordon (Jamaica), speaking on behalf of the Group of 77 and China, said that the distressing situation in Haiti was well-known and the people of Haiti were in urgent need of assistance and support from the international community, including the United Nations. In that context, the Group of 77 and China was extremely disappointed that the Council had been asked to vote on the draft resolution, which was an important element in advancing that assistance. Notwithstanding the explanations given by the United States of America, the Group of 77 and China took the view that the substantive issue at hand was too important to be sacrificed for mere procedural concerns, which were all the more regrettable at the current time, when the United Nations could not be ambiguous in its support for the survival of Haiti and its people.

32. Mr. Merores (Observer for Haiti) thanked all the delegations which had supported the draft resolution, with particular thanks for the role of Canada. Haiti truly appreciated the efforts made by the members of the Ad Hoc Advisory Group and others who had supported Haiti, such as the Group of 77 and China.

His Government welcomed the role of the Council in support of Haiti's efforts to establish the long-term plan, and assured the Council that the results of those efforts would not be disappointing.

Draft decision E/2005/L.23

33. Mr. Seth (Secretary of the Council) said that paragraph (c) of the draft decision should be deleted, and paragraph (b) should be replaced by the following text: "Welcomes the valuable contribution of the Task Force to preparations for the Tunis Phase of the World Summit on the Information Society and to mainstreaming ICT into development as a powerful tool that can help to achieve the internationally agreed development goals, including those contained in the United Nations Millennium Declaration.

34. Draft decision E/2005/L.23, as orally revised, was adopted.

35. Draft resolution E/2005/L.40 was adopted.

36. Draft resolution E/2005/L.18 was withdrawn.

37. Mr. Ceinos-Cox (United States of America) said that although his Government had received the 14 June 2005 version of the recommendations of the Global Task Team on Improving AIDS Coordination among Multilateral Institutions and International Donors, it believed that it was premature to endorse them, or to call upon others to act upon them.

Implementation of General Assembly resolutions 50/227, 52/12 B and 57/270 B (continued)

Draft resolutions E/2005/L.31 and E/2005/L.43

38. The President invited the Council to take action on draft resolutions E/2005/L.31 and E/2005/L.43, entitled "Role of the Economic and Social Council in the integrated and coordinated implementation of the outcomes of and follow-up to major United Nations conferences and summits".

39. Draft resolution E/2005/L.43 was adopted.

40. Draft resolution E/2005/L.31 was withdrawn.

Implementation of the Declaration on the Granting of Independence to Colonial Countries and Peoples by the specialized agencies and the international institutions associated with the United Nations

Draft resolution E/2005/L.22

41. Mr. Cumberbach Miguén (Cuba) requested that the following oral revisions be made to the draft resolution: paragraph 18 should be deleted, and in paragraph 19, after the words “thereon to the Council”, a semicolon should be added, and the rest of the paragraph deleted. He also informed the Council that China had become a sponsor of the draft resolution.

42. Mr. Chulkov (Russian Federation) said that the approach of the Russian Federation to decolonization was unchanged. His country had consistently advocated the effective implementation of the rights of peoples in non-self-governing territories to self-determination and independence. At the same time, it was convinced that consideration of that deeply political issue in the framework of the Council was distracting it from performing its main functions, namely to coordinate United Nations activities in the social and economic spheres. His delegation therefore favoured the removal of the item from the Council’s agenda. His delegation would abstain from the vote on draft resolution E/2005/L.22.

43. Ms. Hughes (United States of America) said that her delegation would abstain from the vote on the draft resolution because it believed that it was inappropriate to link the work of the specialized agencies to the Declaration, or to the issues of colonized peoples. Furthermore, it was the responsibility of the administering Power, not of the Council, to decide on the nature of its territories’ participation, or lack thereof. Under the United States Constitution the Federal Government had sole responsibility for the conduct of United States foreign relations and that included foreign relations which related to United States Territories. Those arrangements had been accepted by the Territories and proposed language of the draft resolution infringed upon the relations between the Federal Government and the Governments of the Territories, as well as upon the internal constitutional arrangements of the United States.

44. Mr. Williams (United Kingdom), speaking on behalf of the European Union, the acceding countries Bulgaria and Romania, the candidate countries Turkey and Croatia, the countries of the Stabilization and Association Process and potential candidates Albania, Bosnia and Herzegovina, the Former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia, Serbia and Montenegro and the European Free Trade Association (EFTA) countries, Iceland, Liechtenstein and Norway, members of the European Economic Area, Ukraine and the Republic of Moldova, said that the European Union would abstain from the vote on the draft resolution as it believed that the issues dealt with in the resolution were not under the competence of the Council.

45. At the request of the representative of Cuba, a recorded vote was taken on draft resolution E/2005/L.22:

In favour:

Azerbaijan, Bangladesh, Belize, Benin, Brazil, China, Colombia, Congo, Costa Rica, Cuba, Ecuador, Guinea, India, Indonesia, Jamaica, Kenya, Malaysia, Mauritius, Mexico, Mozambique, Namibia, Nicaragua, Nigeria, Pakistan, Panama, Saudi Arabia, Senegal, South Africa, Thailand, Tunisia, United Arab Emirates, United Republic of Tanzania.

Against:

None.

Abstaining:

Albania, Armenia, Australia, Belgium, Canada, Denmark, France, Germany, Iceland, Ireland, Italy, Japan, Lithuania, Poland, Republic of Korea, Russian Federation, Spain, Turkey, United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, United States of America.

46. Draft resolution E/2005/L.22 was adopted by 32 votes to none, with 20 abstentions.

Draft resolution E/2005/L.45: “The Damascus Declaration and the role of the Economic and Social Commission for Western Asia in the achievement of the internationally agreed development goals, including those contained in the Millennium Declaration”

47. Draft resolution E/2005/L.45 was adopted.

48. The President drew the Council's attention to document E/2004/15/Add.2 which contained one pending draft resolution, draft resolution III, recommended by the Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean (ECLAC) for adoption by the Council. The draft resolution was entitled "Implementation of resolutions concerning the participation of associate member countries of ECLAC in the follow-up to United Nations world conferences and in the work of the Economic and Social Council".

49. He took it that the Council wished to adopt the following draft decision:

"Following consideration of ECLAC resolution III (E/2004/15/Add.2) concerning participation of ECLAC associate members, the Council decides to note receipt of the resolution and decides not to take action on this matter."

50. It was so decided.

51. The President said that he took it that the Council wished to take note of documents E/2005/15 and Add.1 and 2 and E/2005/16-21.

52. It was so decided.

Economic and social repercussions of the Israeli occupation on the living conditions of the Palestinian people in the occupied Palestinian territory, including Jerusalem, and the Arab population in the Syrian Golan (continued)

Draft resolution E/2005/L.24/Rev.1: "Economic and social repercussions of the Israeli occupation on the living conditions of the Palestinian people in the occupied Palestinian territory, including Jerusalem, and the Arab population in the occupied Syrian Golan"

53. Mr. Koubaa (Tunisia) introduced the draft resolution and said that Cuba, Indonesia, Iraq and Namibia had become sponsors.

54. Mr. Ceinos-Cox (United States of America), speaking in explanation of the vote before the vote, said that the United States Middle East policy was focused on achieving President Bush's vision of two States, Israel and Palestine, living side by side in peace and security. The requirements for achieving that goal were an effective Palestinian security performance; renewal of a serious political process aimed at a two-State solution that brought hope to Palestinians and Israelis alike; and response to humanitarian needs by building strong, responsible Palestinian authority institutions in preparation for statehood.

55. One-sided resolutions like the draft resolution under consideration undermined the credibility of the work of the Council and did nothing to improve the situation in the region and the people the draft resolution purported to want to help. His Government opposed actions that diverted attention from practical steps by the Quartet and the partners in the international and regional communities to move the parties towards realization of that two-state vision. The focus should be on working together effectively on practical steps to address Palestinian needs and get the two parties back on the path to peace.

56. A recorded vote was taken on draft resolution E/2005/L.24/Rev.1:

In favour:

Albania, Armenia, Azerbaijan, Bangladesh, Belgium, Belize, Benin, Brazil, Canada, China, Colombia, Congo, Cuba, Denmark, Ecuador, France, Germany, Guinea, Iceland, India, Indonesia, Ireland, Italy, Jamaica, Japan, Kenya, Lithuania, Malaysia, Mauritius, Mexico, Mozambique, Namibia, Nicaragua, Nigeria, Pakistan, Panama, Poland, Republic of Korea, Russian Federation, Saudi Arabia, Senegal, South Africa, Spain, Thailand, Tunisia, Turkey, United Arab Emirates, United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, United Republic of Tanzania.

Against:

Australia, United States of America.

Abstaining:

Costa Rica.

57. Draft resolution E/2005/L.24/Rev.1 was adopted by 49 votes to 2, with 1 abstention.

58. Mr. Rock (Canada) said that while Canada remained concerned by the security, economic, social and humanitarian situation in the West Bank and Gaza, it was encouraged by recent positive developments and current opportunities to make progress towards a fair, lasting and negotiated peace in the region. It welcomed, in particular, renewed possibilities to promote Palestinian economic regeneration arising from Israel's decision to withdraw from the Gaza Strip and parts of the northern West Bank, and hoped to see a full and complete withdrawal from Gaza and parts of the West Bank. It urged Israel and the Palestinian Authority to engage fully and constructively to ensure an orderly transition which would accelerate progress on the road map. Canada also welcomed the resolve of the Palestinian Authority to prevent terrorist attacks, enforce the rule of law, and conduct security sector reform. A secure environment would contribute significantly to international efforts to strengthen the Palestinian economy, including the mission of the quartet Special Envoy for Gaza Disengagement. Canada called on all parties to adhere to their obligations under international humanitarian and human rights law.

59. His delegation would have liked the draft resolution to address recent developments in the region in a way more helpful to constructive dialogue between the parties. His Government continued to oppose the construction of sections of the barrier in occupied territory, in contravention of international law. Consistent with that approach and with its support for Israel's right to ensure its own security, including restricting access to its territory, it preferred the use of previously agreed language on this issue, based on ES-10/13 of 27 October 2003.

60. Mr. Guardia (Panama) said that his delegation had voted in favour of the draft resolution in recognition of the struggle of the Palestinian people to form a sovereign State and of the difficulties caused by the occupation of their territory. It hoped that the situation would be resolved by peaceful means. However, he expressed concern about the duplication of resolutions on that subject, which did not help to achieve lasting peace in the region; the United Nations should focus its efforts on a peaceful settlement of the already prolonged conflict between Israel and Palestine.

61. Mr. Chulkov (Russian Federation) said that his delegation had voted in favour of the draft resolution. His Government continued to believe that consideration of the issue should be guided by General Assembly resolutions, which affirmed the inalienable rights of the Palestinian people and the population of the occupied Syrian Golan to their natural resources, including land and water, and called upon Israel not to exploit, destroy, deplete or in any way threaten the natural resources of the Occupied Palestinian Territory, including Jerusalem and the occupied Syrian Golan. It was important to resolve urgent problems, including improving the humanitarian situation in the Palestinian territories, preventing acts of terrorism and reaching mutual consensus on security measures. Such steps would create favourable conditions for a coordinated and peaceful withdrawal of the Israeli army and the evacuation of settlers from the Gaza sector and the northern part of the West Bank of the Jordan river, and would allow for the fulfilment of the road map. The Council's consideration of the agenda item was unfortunately becoming increasingly politicized, which distracted the Council from fulfilling its main functions of coordinating United Nations activities in the social and economic spheres.

62. Ms. Davis (United Kingdom), speaking on behalf of the European Union, the acceding countries Bulgaria and Romania, the candidate countries Turkey and Croatia, the countries of the Stabilisation and Association Process and potential candidates Bosnia and Herzegovina, the Former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia, Serbia and Montenegro, the EFTA countries Iceland, Liechtenstein and Norway, members of the European Economic Areas and Ukraine, stressed that the Government of Israel must take urgent action to alleviate the humanitarian plight of the Palestinian people, inter alia, by facilitating the movement of Palestinian people and goods and access by international humanitarian organizations. The European Union was concerned about the separation barrier being built by Israel, especially in and around East Jerusalem, and called upon Israel to stop and reverse its settlement activities, which made a two-State solution impossible.

63. The European Union condemned the recent terrorist attacks on Israel and the violence committed by Palestinian militants against Palestinian security personnel. While recognizing Israel's right to protect its citizens, the European Union had consistently opposed extrajudicial killings, which were contrary to international law. It supported the Israeli withdrawal from Gaza and parts of the northern West Bank and welcomed the work of the Quartet Special Envoy for Disengagement.

64. In 2005, as in previous years, the European Community would provide €250 million in financial assistance to the Palestinians. In addition, it was making significant contributions in anticipation of the forthcoming Israeli withdrawal. The European Union reaffirmed its view that the way to achieve a permanent peace was a viable two-State solution achieved through the full implementation by both parties of their commitments under the road map. That solution could be achieved only through negotiations between the parties, with the support of the international community.

65. Mr. Sunaga (Japan) said that his delegation had voted in favour of the draft resolution in the hope that it would help to smooth the way for a resumption of work under the road map. While Japan agreed that the international community should support the efforts of the two sides to achieve peace, he reiterated his country's view that it was not appropriate for the Council to deliberate such issues.

66. Mr. Sermoneta (Observer for Israel) said that his delegation regretted the adoption of the draft resolution, which was one-sided, out of context and would not help either to achieve a lasting solution in the region or to enhance the credibility of United Nations efforts. The resolution called for a cessation of terror without demanding that the Palestinian Authority assume its responsibilities and take action to combat it, and it made no mention of the right to life of Israeli citizens. Moreover, Israel believed that the international instruments cited in the eleventh preambular paragraph, which applied to peacetime situations, did not apply to the West Bank and Gaza, where a situation of armed conflict prevailed.

67. Mr. Hijazi (Observer for Palestine) expressed appreciation for the adoption of the draft resolution, which reflected the fact that for 48 years the Palestinian people had been deprived of rights that other peoples took for granted, and the Israeli position of alienating itself consistently from the international community. He expressed the hope that the resolution would help bring the Palestinian people closer to the enjoyment of their economic and social rights and to a brighter future, with careful monitoring by the international community.

68. Mr. Sabbagh (Observer for the Syrian Arab Republic) said that the adoption of the draft resolution reflected the international community's support for a just and lasting peace and its awareness of the threat to such peace represented by Israel's defiance of international law and human rights instruments and of its actions against Arab citizens in the Occupied Syrian Golan and Jerusalem.

69. The President suggested that the Council should take note of the note by the Secretary-General contained in document A/60/65-E/2005/13.

70. It was so decided.

Economic and environmental questions (continued)

Draft resolution E/2005/L.41: Promoting coordination and consolidation of the work of the functional commissions

71. Draft resolution E/2005/L.41 was adopted.

(a) Sustainable development (continued)

72. The President invited the Council to take action on the following draft decision:

“The Economic and Social Council,

“Decides to defer consideration of the report of the Committee for Development Policy to a later date, with a view to concluding its deliberations before the commencement of the eighth session of the Committee.”

73. Ms. Hughes (United States of America) said that although her delegation would join the consensus on the decision, the United States regretted the fact that the late submission of documentation had prevented proper discussion of the criteria used in designating least developed countries and their graduation to another category. Accordingly, she stressed that the Council should improve its working methods, particularly with regard to deadlines for the submission of proposals.

74. The draft decision was adopted.

(b) Science and technology for development (continued)

75. The President invited the Council to take action on the recommendations contained in the report of the Commission on Science and Technology for Development on its eighth session. Chapter I of document E/2005/31-E/CN.16/2005/5, contained a draft resolution the agreed version of which was currently being circulated in an informal paper, and three draft decisions.

Draft resolution entitled “science and technology for development”

76. Ms. Davis (United Kingdom), speaking on behalf of the European Union, said that, in joining the consensus, the European Union wished to confirm that it was not endorsing the selection of recommendations contained in paragraph 1 as a subset of those contained in the report as a whole. The European Union regretted that two of the recommendations, in paragraphs 2 (a) (vi) and 2 (a) (ix), had been deleted, and that Governments had not been invited to review and implement them as appropriate.

77. The draft resolution, as contained in the informal paper, was adopted.

Draft decision I: Extension of the mandate of the Gender Advisory Board

78. The President said that, following informal consultations, the text of the draft decision now read:

“The Economic and Social Council decides to extend the mandate of the Gender Advisory Board for a further five years, through the continued use of extra-budgetary funding, beginning from 1 January 2006, in order to allow it to complete its programme of work within the extrabudgetary resources allocated for this purpose.”

79. Draft decision I, as orally amended, was adopted.

Draft decision II: Methods of work of the Commission on Science and Technology for Development.

80. Draft decision II was adopted.

Draft decision III: Report of the Commission on Science and Technology for Development on its eighth session and provisional agenda and documentation for the ninth session of the Commission

81. Draft decision III was adopted.

(g) Public administration and development

82. Mr. Bernardini (Italy), speaking as the facilitator of discussions on the draft resolution contained in document E/2005/44, explained that, because of the reference in the fifth preambular paragraph to the concept of security, which was being dealt with elsewhere, some members wished to defer consideration of the draft resolution.

83. Ms. Navarro Barro (Cuba) said that her delegation would join the consensus to defer consideration of the draft resolution on the understanding that that decision reflected a desire to continue negotiations with a view to reaching a solution. One paragraph, which was not central to the resolution, should not prevent the Council and the Committee of Experts on Public Administration from fulfilling their mandate.

84. The President said he took it that the Council wished to defer consideration of the report of the Committee of Experts on Public Administration (E/2005/44) until a resumed substantive session.

85. It was so decided.

(h) International cooperation in tax matters

86. The President suggested that, since the Committee of Experts on International Cooperation in Tax Matters would meet from 5 to 9 December 2005 in Geneva, the Council might wish to defer consideration of the sub-item until a resumed substantive session.

87. Ms. Hughes (United States of America) asked whether the Council would be willing to take up the report of the Committee of Experts on International Cooperation in Tax Matters at the next substantive session.

88. After a discussion in which Mr. Seth (Secretary of the Council), Ms. Hughes (United States of America) and Ms. Houngbedji (Benin) took part, the President suggested that the matter should be taken up at the Council's organizational session in February 2006.

89. It was so decided.

(m) Transport of dangerous goods (continued)

90. The President invited the Council to take action on the draft resolution entitled “Work of the Committee of Experts on the Transport of Dangerous Goods and on the Globally Harmonized System of Classification and Labelling of Chemicals” contained in document E/2005/53 and amendments thereto contained in document E/2005/L.42.

91. Mr. Seth (Secretary of the Council) said that under the terms of paragraph 3, section C, of the draft resolution, the Secretary-General would be requested to reallocate appropriate General Service staff resources for the activities of the Committee. Provisions for the servicing of the Committee of Experts on the Transport of Dangerous Goods and on the Globally Harmonized System of Classification and Labelling of Chemicals and its two Subcommittees were included in the programme budget for the biennium 2006-2007. Hence, no additional appropriation would be required as a result of the adoption of the draft resolution. The attention of the Council was drawn to the provision of section VI of General Assembly resolution 45/248 B of 21 December 1990, in which the Assembly reaffirmed that the Fifth Committee was the appropriate Main Committee of the Assembly entrusted with responsibilities for administrative and budgetary matters; and reaffirmed also the role of the Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions.

92. Mr. Kotis (United States of America) said that, while joining the consensus on the amendments contained in document E/2005/L.42, his delegation wished to comment on the fourth preambular paragraph and on paragraph 5 of the draft resolution. Since the Committee of Experts had not agreed that it should draft an international convention, his delegation believed that it was inappropriate to raise that possibility; it would be far more productive for the Committee to continue to focus on harmonization between national, regional and international regulations on the safe transport of dangerous goods. The United Nations Model Regulations allowed for flexibility while working towards a harmonization. However, many developing countries were not in a position to adopt all the requirements of the Model Regulations; the provision of training and technical assistance to such countries to facilitate the implementation of the Model Regulations would therefore be more useful than imposing requirements on them on the basis of an international convention. Moreover, the development of international conventions was extremely resource-intensive and was unlikely to lead to greater harmonization or participation; it was doubtful that all countries, including the United States, would become signatories.

93. His delegation interpreted paragraph 5 of the draft resolution as recognition of the valuable work of the Committee of Experts, and noted that the Committee was making progress on alternative efforts to further enhance harmonization of regulations on the safe transport of dangerous goods. The Committee should consider all possible alternatives for enhancing international harmonization and should consider the development of an international instrument only if it was deemed necessary after exploring all other options.

94. The President said that he took it that the Council wished to adopt the draft resolution contained in document E/2005/53, as amended by document E/2005/L.42.

95. It was so decided.

(d) Human settlements (continued)

(j) Assistance to third States affected by the application of sanctions (continued)

96. The President suggested that the Council should take note of the reports contained in documents A/60/8, Supplement No. 8; A/60/25, Supplement No. 25; and A/59/334 and E/2005/62 under sub-items (d), (e) and (j).

97. It was so decided.

98. Mr. Seth (Secretary of the Council), responding to a request from delegations for clarification concerning the programme budget implications of draft resolutions I and II contained in document E/2005/29, said that the Budget Division had indicated that the adoption of those draft resolutions did not entail additional resources over and above those proposed under the proposed programme budget for the biennium 2006-2007. The draft resolution on the United Nations Forum on Forests did not entail any financial implications either, because provision for the conference-servicing requirements for the sixth session had already been made in the proposed programme budget for the biennium 2006-2007.

Social and human rights questions

Draft resolutions E/2005/L.32 and E/2004/L.44

99. The President drew attention to draft resolution E/2005/L.44 entitled "United Nations Development Fund for Women", which had been submitted on the basis of informal consultations on draft resolution E/2005/L.32.

100. Draft resolution E/2005/L.44 was adopted.

101. Draft resolution E/2005/L.33 was withdrawn.

102. The President invited the Council to take note of the following documents: report of the Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women (A/60/38 (Part I)); and the report of the Executive Board of the United Nations International Research and Training Institute for the Advancement of Women on the work of its second session (E/2005/75).

103. It was so decided.

(d) Narcotic drugs

104. The President suggested that the Council take note of the reports contained in documents E/2005/28, Supplement No. 8, and E/INCB/2004/1.

105. It was so decided.

Closure of the session

106. Mr. Ocampo (Under-Secretary-General for Economic and Social Affairs) said that the Council had used the timing of the current session to send a clear, coherent message to the upcoming High-Level Plenary Meeting of the General Assembly in September. According to that message, the Council saw the United Nations development agenda as the comprehensive framework for pursuing poverty eradication and sustainable development and as a powerful stepping stone towards fair, equitable and inclusive societies and fair, equitable and inclusive globalization. The Council had stressed the need to overcome quickly the so-called “implementation gap” and had recognized the need to continue to strengthen its links to its subsidiary bodies, as well as its role in system-wide coordination. In that regard, efforts should be vigorously pursued to connect the work of the functional commissions more directly to that of the Council.

107. The Council also felt that the United Nations system should promote stronger linkages between its normative and operational work, which ultimately required sufficient resources; indeed, the lack of adequate funding, particularly core resources, was the single most important constraint on the performance of the United Nations system’s development actors. The Council had also stressed the importance of regional cooperation and the need to better integrate regional bodies into global processes. Furthermore, members of the Council had made a unanimous call for the Council to make every effort to enhance its capacity in humanitarian affairs. Lastly, the Council provided a forum for addressing the security-development nexus.

The Council should reinforce its links to the Security Council and the proposed Peacebuilding Commission.

108. The High-Level Plenary Meeting was likely to adopt a number of proposals regarding the functions that the Council should perform, including providing for peer reviews, serving as a development cooperation forum, convening emergency meetings and engaging in peacebuilding. To perform those functions effectively, the Council would need to rethink and change its working methods. Among other things, it needed to introduce more flexibility into its work; ensure that its coordination function responded to the diversity of the United Nations system; and meet, as required, during the year.

109. The President said that the substantive session had been successful in many ways. It had been deliberately conceptualized as a contribution to preparations for the 2005 High-Level Plenary Meeting of the General Assembly. A key innovation had been the “Voices against poverty”, which had sent at least four messages: there was a systemic basis for widespread poverty in the world, which needed to be addressed; there should be concern about jobless growth and deliberate policies should be put in place to address it; a key offshoot of poverty was the proliferation of conflicts; and the Council had a unique role in not only coordinating views and actions, but also in bringing the whole system together to work for development.

110. A number of important messages had emerged from the session. The first was that the world was off track with regard to the achievement of the Millennium Development Goals in many sectors and in many countries. Second, while the United Nations system had come together behind the Millennium Development Goals and the United Nations development agenda, a truly integrated follow-up to actions and decisions was yet to emerge. Third, operational activities were critical to help the most disadvantaged developing countries. Fourth, security and development were inextricably linked at every stage. Fifth, humanitarian emergencies must be addressed through coordinated and effective response. Finally, there had been wide recognition of the central role of the Council, given its extensive convening power for the promotion of action for development.

111. He was happy to note that the latest version of the draft outcome document circulated by the President of the General Assembly had reflected many of his suggestions on the strengthening of the Council. It must be ensured that decisions taken at the High-Level Plenary Meeting with regard to the Council were translated into concrete and coherent policy actions; efforts must continue to translate those actions into reality. To transform the Council into an effective platform for policy dialogue, greater system-wide participation must be encouraged and a coherent monitoring mechanism to review implementation of agreed development goals must be put in place. The Council needed to be promoted as an effective development cooperation forum. The experience gained from the resident coordinator system could help in taking decisions with regard to the quantity, quality and effectiveness of international assistance.

112. There was also a need to approve the strong nexus between peace and development. Although a peacebuilding commission was in the offing, greater focus was needed on how timely development support could help in the prevention of conflicts in various parts of the world. Conscious efforts needed to be made to strengthen the Council's coordination function as envisaged in the Charter. In that connection, the recommendations contained in the Chief Executives Board for Coordination report entitled "One United Nations — catalyst for progress and change: how the Millennium Declaration is changing the way the United Nations system works" could provide useful insights for future direction. The session had made a valuable contribution to the debate on development and to the High-Level Plenary Meeting. The international community should continue to work together to translate those contributions into concrete decisions that could be effectively implemented later.

The meeting rose at 6.05 p.m.
