3. International Kolping Society

(Special consultative: 1991)

Part I. Introduction

The International Kolping Society (IKS) is a Catholic social organization which wants to serve the needs of the members and promote the common good through active participation of its individual members and their groups and to cooperate in the continuous renewal and humanization of society. Fortunately, IKS had a strong growth of new groups and individual members in many parts of the world and has started in new countries especially in Africa, Asia and Central America. Today IKS has more than 550,000 members in more than 60 countries.

Part II. Contribution to the work of the United Nations

i) Vienna NGO Committee on the Family

Since the Year of the Family 1994 IKS has been a member of the Vienna NGO Committee of the family and was designated as International Year of the Family patron. IKS was not only a member in this Vienna NGO Committee but was elected from the beginning also as a board member. In December 2003, the Secretary-General's message of launching the observance of the tenth anniversary of the International Year of the Family in 2004 was very much welcomed, and IKS has started a special worldwide programme under the headline "People need Family — Children need Parents". All national organizations of IKS have started different activities to support families and family members and to advocate for the interests of the families in the political discussion.

In 2004, the representative of IKS on the board was changed from Mrs. Christine Leopold to Mrs. Monika Hummel. The elected Monika Hummel coordinates the databases of the Committee and takes part in the manifold projects of the Committee e.g. Internet forums, the quarterly bulletin "Families International", finances, or contacts to the Commission for Social Development.

The following seminars or forums were organized by the Committee in Vienna, Austria, and IKS has participated in all of them: "Civil Society Organizations Networking", 6 May 2004 to 7 May 2004; "HIV/Aids and Families", 20 December 2004; "Transnational Grassroots Cooperation for Families", 2 May 2005; "Demographic Challenges for Families", 22 May 2005; "Compatibility of Family and Professional Life — Cohesion or Conflict?", 20 November 2006.

ii) Participation in seminars and meetings by our representative in New York, Mr. John Reitter

2003: As a member of the NGO Committee on the Family, IKS has supported a statement which was submitted to the 41st session of the Commission for Social development from 10 to 21 February 2003. In cooperation with other non-governmental organizations IKS supported different interventions. As one of the over twenty individual organizations constituting the IYF+10 Committee sharing an interest in promotion of family values and strengthening the international pro-family movement, IKS worked for nine months to organize and present the high-level seminar on the family to members of permanent missions, Secretariat staff and representatives of other NGOs. The event was held on 4 December 2003 and marked the Tenth Anniversary of the International Year of the Family.

2004: IKS attended the Prep Com for the High Level Segment of the Economic and Social Council featuring a round table on mobilizing resources for development and poverty eradication and focusing on the deliverables promised in the Brussels Program of Action, 18 March 2004; A seminar sponsored by the IYF+10 Committee, 13 May 2004; A seminar given by Mr. Alfredo Sfeir Younis, formerly of the World Bank, on the topic “Catholic spirituality and global policy”, November 2004; Over the course of the year IKS attended briefings on a variety of topics including “Biodiversity for Food security”, “Role of Men and Women in Families”, “Elimination of Violence against Women”, “Global Action in Aging”, the “Ottawa Landmine Convention”. In addition to this IKS has written statements in opposition to Cloning, in favour of Debt Reduction, and on the use of Micro-Credit in the alleviation of poverty and the creation of employment.

2005: IKS attended the Civil Society Forum and worked with the Chair of the NGO Commission on Social Development, Joan Burke and her team to create the statement that would become the Civil Society Declaration. The Declaration puts poverty reduction, employment and social integration front and centre. Between 9 February and 18 February 2005 IKS attended various segments of the 43rd Session of the Commission on Social Development, and at the end of February the 49th Session of the Commission on the Status of Women. IKS attended the ECOSOC Special Event on the topic “Food Crisis in Africa” held in the ECOSOC Chamber at United Nations headquarters on 27 October 2005, and the Panel Discussion: “UN Secretary-General Study of Violence Against Children” in November 2005. Over the course of the year IKS participated in a number of other events which were sponsored by the NGO Committee on the Family. Among them were “Children affected by armed conflicts” and “Violence against children”.

2006: On 7 February 2006, IKS participated in the Civil Forum convened by the NGO Committee on Social Development, and contributed to the NGO Declaration “Decade of poverty: Ways forward”. This document was read to the Commission on the opening of the 44th Session of the Commission on Social Development. In February and March 2006 IKS attended various segments of the 44th Session of the Commission on Social Development, and various segments of the 50th Session of the Commission on the Status of Women. During this time IKS supported several interventions together with other NGOs. During the year 2006 IKS attended a number of briefings, seminars, panel discussions and workshops sponsored by the Department of Public Information, the NGO Committee on the Family, the NGO Committee on Aging. These meetings were a possibility to exchange grass-roots experience regarding the effective utilization of microcredit, of life skills training, of job creation and education and of promoting hope and self-esteem.

iii) Activities in line with the Millennium Development Goals

Since 1972 IKS has established an organization called SEK under its leadership. This organization supports development projects in Africa, Asia and Latin America, and social projects in the so-called transformation states of Central and Eastern Europe. This organization has collected every year nearly 3 million euros by its members and gets subsidies from the German and the Luxemburg government and the European Commission. Altogether the yearly budget amounts to 7 to 8 million Euros. Since the beginning of the activities of this organization it has started projects to eradicate extreme poverty and hunger. The Millennium Development Goals gave IKS a new incentive to concentrate more of our financial means on this direction. Since 2001 more than 70 per cent of its financial means have been given for projects according to the Millennium Development Goals.

iv) International Year of Microfinance

IKS welcomed very much the decision of the United Nations to declare the year 2005 the International Year of Microfinance. As an organization IKS has experience of more than 150 years with microfinance systems and uses this instrument extensively also in its development cooperation. The organization with the most experience in this direction is Kolping India. Kolping India has organized all of their about 25,000 members in saving groups, and these saving groups are the basis for the whole microfinance systems of Kolping India. Every year nearly 4,000 individuals can start their own small business because of small credits they get out of this system.

IKS took the occasion of the International Year of Microfinance to publish a small booklet on the topic "Microfinance systems in the developing cooperation of IKS". The booklet starts with a preface of Dr. Annette Krauss from the United Nations Capital Development Fund.

This small booklet and seminars in Africa and Latin America encouraged the small existing microfinance systems in Chile, Uganda and the United Republic of Tanzania and Kenya to grow, and today there is a well-functioning system of microfinance institutions in Uganda, the United Republic of Tanzania and Chile and a beginning of this system in some other Latin American countries and in Kenya and in Benin.

5. Rural Women Environmental Protection Association

(Special consultative: 1999)

Part I

Rural Women Environmental Protection Association (RWEPA) is a people-centred organization working towards the promotion of environment friendly farming methods, promotion of the education of marginalized communities especially the Fulani girl child, empowerment of the rural woman through the encouragement of income generating activities, and best health practices.

Africa, as the continent with the oldest human habitation and tremendous diversity of both cultures and biological diversity, is naturally rich in traditional knowledge practices and innovations. African knowledge systems are linked to a spectrum of economic and cultural systems, ranging from hunting and gathering, to pastoralist, to traditional agriculture, to commercial agriculture and service economies in urban areas.

There is the traditional argument that health will automatically improve as a result of economic growth. Rather, the opposite seems to be true. Improved health is critical to economic development in poor countries. Partnerships struck between the rich and poor countries could offer the “gift of life itself to millions of the worlds” needy and prove to all doubters that globalization can indeed work to the benefit of humankind.

Apart from networking with national and international NGOs, RWEPA has extended its partnership arrangements with an American based NGO, Play Soccer Cameroon, which has the same line of action towards youths and underprivileged children from ages 5-15.

Part II

- i) – Representative attended the NGO/Civil Society Forum Prep to World Summit on the Information Society (WSIS) in Tunis, Tunisia, from 16-18 November 2005.
 - The General Coordinator of RWEPA attended a training session organized by the United Nations Institute for Training and Research (UNITAR) in December 2004 in Arusha, United Republic of Tanzania.
 - The General Coordinator participated in the conference on Multilateral Agreements and Compliance international conference organized by UNEP and the Ministry of Environment of Cameroon in Yaoundé in March 2006. RWEPA was the secretary of the caucus group.
 - The Secretary General of RWEPA attended a regional conference on the Protection of the Rights of Indigenous Peoples, organized by ILO Sub-Regional Office for Central Africa and the Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights in Geneva, in Cameroon in April 2005 at the ILO head office in Yaoundé. The RWEPA representative was the facilitator of this workshop.
 - The General Coordinator of RWEPA participated in the Central African subregional zone workshop to train the indigenous peoples (Pygmies and the Bororos) on their rights to their cultural heritage and beliefs, organized by both ILO Geneva and the Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights in Geneva, in Hotel Azur, Cameroon in November 2004.

- ii) – RWEPA lacked the necessary funding support to enable its representatives take active part at the international meetings, and sometimes too we had difficulties obtaining the necessary entry visas especially in the case of access to the United Nations meetings in New York. Difficult access to information was another serious impediment to our timely application to participate in meetings and conferences.

Activities in line with the Millennium Development Goals:

- Africa in general, and Cameroon in particular, there have been changes which are creating new opportunities for partnerships between the State and its citizens to protect and promote traditional knowledge and its application to the monitoring and protection of biological diversity. The General Coordinator of RWEPA participated fully in the elaboration of Law No. 2003/006 of 21 April 2003 laying down safety regulations governing modern biotechnology in Cameroon. In this light,
- RWEPA organized two seminars in 2004 and 2005, for 23 traditional rulers of the Moghomo Area in Momo Division, and 75 Ardos in Sabga. The objective was to sensitize them on the rules and regulations governing biotechnology in Cameroon, since they are like the custodians of the native laws and customs of the people. These seminar participants have been sensitizing their subjects to practice safe farming methods, thereby protecting the environment and biological diversity.
- RWEPA has been working in partnership with an American based Not for Profit Organization — Play Soccer Cameroon — to promote Literary, numeric and health skills within children of underprivileged communities of two provinces, i.e., the North-west and Central Provinces of Cameroon. This is a project that started in March 2006 and is continuing till date with about 1270 children of ages 5-15 years.

RWEPA is working towards the realization of the following goals that fall within the framework of realizing the Millennium Development Goals:

- Promotion of environment friendly farming methods, thereby reducing poverty and promoting sustainable development by the Ndop Rice Farmers Association (NRFA) A subgroup of RWEPA) that has a membership of 70 very conscientious farmers living within the Ndop Plain of Ngoketungia Division of the North-west Province of Cameroon.

They supply the rice to UNVDA at the cost of 12,500 francs a bag and UNVDA sells to the public at 13,500 francs per bag. The harvest is always increasing since the group joined RWEPA Network and is always having enough funding to buy fertilizer for their rice fields. They used it and came out with a harvest of 1000 bags of rice in 2006. This gave them a total annual income of 12,500,000 francs. They have paid back the loan they took and share equally among the 70 members of the group 1/2 of the yearly income, and the rest to RWEPA for the smooth running of the organization.

These farmers use the money from the group to mostly educate their children and clothe themselves. They also use some to pay for medical services provided to the cattle by veterinary nurses to fight against diseases. There is usually the left over from the harvest that is used by the farmers for home consumption. This brings about socio-economic development to the people of this area.

- Promotion of the education of children from marginalized communities especially the Fulani girl child, children with special educational needs, e.g., children who are emotionally depressed, those that are abandoned etc. This is realized through training of parents on the various methods of identifying these children and teachers handling these children the different techniques of managing them in the class.
- Empowerment of the rural woman through the encouragement of income-generating activities, and best health practices e.g., The Widikum Ambele Women Oil Farmers Association (WAWOFA) Project in Widikum village — WAWOFA — subgroup of RWEPA.

In 1999, this plantation produced five hundred tins (500) of good palm oil. In the year 2006, 3000 tins of palm oil were produced and sold at ten thousand five hundred francs (10,000 frs) per tin. This gave them thirty million francs (30,000,000 frs) from sales of palm oil. The other by-products such as, shells, kernels and chaffs are sold to people who own soap industries. The demand is very high. This year WAWOFA sold palm kernels and the shells for five million francs (5,000,000 frs).

The total income from the harvest in a year is shared into three parts:

- 1/3 is banked in RWEPA's account for the running of the subgroup and RWEPA at the national and international levels i.e., participation at training sessions and once in a while international conferences when it becomes absolutely necessary.
- 1/3 is kept aside for the cost of running the plantation (those men and young boys that harvest the nuts and once a year clear the plantation are paid for).
- 1/3 is shared among the fifty (50) members. Most of them use the money to send their children to school and sometimes buy zinc (roofing sheets) to roof their houses instead of living under thatched roofs that leak seriously whenever it rains.

In fact, the example of WAWOFA subgroup of RWEPA is worth emulating, if most of the civil society can be able to come together as a group and work towards a common goal. Most of the group's meeting forums are used as sensitization forums against the spread of HIV/AIDS/STDs. They are given lectures on how they can practise safe sex, and reduce the rate of infection by the HIV/AIDS pandemic.

- RWEPA organized a training on leadership skills for 60 women from 20 subgroups of RWEPA from all over Cameroon in April, 2005. These were subgroup presidents, secretary generals, and treasurers of their groups.
- In the domain of improvement of grass-root women and capacity-building (women and desertification action plan for Africa), the general coordinator and the secretary general of RWEPA have had working sessions with all the 20 subgroups of RWEPA sensitizing the women on the negative impacts of desertification on the environment and there is already a change in behaviour and mentalities of the rural communities of Cameroon.
- RWEPA youth groups organize every summer cultural weeks during which sensitization on issues relating to children's rights and dignity are carried out.
