Sixty-third session  Agenda item 123  Human resources management

Composition of the Secretariat

Report of the Secretary-General*

Summary

The present annual report of the Secretary-General on the composition of the Secretariat is submitted pursuant to General Assembly resolutions concerning human resources management, the most recent of which are resolutions $57 / 305,59 / 266$, 60/238 and 61/244.

The analysis of the workforce of the global Secretariat reflects the current trends over the period from 1 July 2007 to 30 June 2008. The report considers all staff $(39,503)$ of the Secretariat, regardless of type and length of contract. Separately analysed are the workforce characteristics of staff with an appointment of one year or more under the 100 series of the Staff Rules $(12,328)$ and staff under the system of desirable ranges in posts subject to geographical distribution $(2,797)$.

Pursuant to section XVIII of General Assembly resolution 59/266, in which the Assembly requested the Secretary-General to submit consolidated reports, as appropriate, addenda to the present report are before the Assembly on the following subjects: gratis personnel provided by Governments and other entities (A/63/310/Add.1), employment of retirees and retired former staff, and extension of staff beyond the mandatory age of separation (A/63/310/Add.2) and employment of consultants and individual contractors (A/63/310/Add.3).

The Secretary-General invites the General Assembly to take note of the present report.

I. Introduction

1. The present annual report of the Secretary-General on the composition of the Secretariat is submitted pursuant to General Assembly resolutions concerning human resources management, the most recent of which are resolutions 57/305, 59/266, 60/238 and 61/244. The report, covering the period from 1 July 2007 to 30 June 2008, provides information on important demographic characteristics of the Secretariat and the system of desirable ranges for the geographical distribution of staff (see annex I).
2. To present a snapshot of the global Secretariat staff, the population of the current report includes all staff with valid contracts ${ }^{1}$ as at 30 June 2008, irrespective of source of funding, type of appointment, duration of contract, level or duty station. Staff included in the analysis are those serving at headquarters duty stations (New York, Geneva, Vienna and Nairobi), at the regional commissions (Economic Commission for Africa, Economic Commission for Europe, Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean, Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific and Economic and Social Commission for Western Asia), in field locations where they are administered by the Department of Economic and Social Affairs, the Department of Political Affairs, the Department of Public Information, the Department of Peacekeeping Operations, the Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs, the Office for Disarmament Affairs, the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights (OHCHR), the Office of Internal Oversight Services (OIOS), the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD), the United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP), the United Nations Human Settlements Programme (UN-Habitat) and the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime, in field missions administered by the Department of Field Support and at the International Tribunal for the Former Yugoslavia and the International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda.
3. For analytical purposes, the data are reviewed in several categories as at 30 June 2008: (a) the global staff of the Secretariat (39,503 active staff); (b) 29,274 staff with contracts of one year or more; (c) 12,328 staff appointed under the 100 series of the Staff Rules with contracts of one year or more; and (d) 2,797 staff in posts subject to geographical distribution in the Secretariat. In addition, during 2007 the Secretariat engaged over 2,006 gratis personnel: 1,952 type I gratis personnel (86 per cent of whom were interns), 54 type II gratis personnel, 4,275 consultants, 1,808 contractors, 94 institutional contractors and, in the field operations administered by the Department of Field Support, an additional 176 locally recruited consultants and over 2,260 locally recruited individual contractors.

[^1]4. Section II.A of the present report provides an analysis of all staff (39,503 staff) by category and grade, department or office, nationality, gender, age and type of appointment as at 30 June 2008.
5. Section II.B presents information relating to staff with contracts of one year or more ( 29,274 staff) and compares staffing levels in various United Nations organizations, funds and programmes.
6. Section II.C contains an analysis of staff with appointments of one year or more under the 100 series of the Staff Rules (12,328 staff). ${ }^{2}$ The analysis considers such demographic characteristics as type of appointment, length of service, age, staff movements (recruitment, promotions, separation, mobility, turnover etc.) and anticipated retirements in the coming five years (July 2008-December 2012). Demographic information as at 30 June 2008 is provided. Information on staff movements covers the period from 1 July 2007 to 30 June 2008. Data in the report are drawn from the Integrated Management Information System (IMIS) and the Field Personnel Management System (FPMS) and data provided by other organizations or entities of the common system.
7. Section II.D provides information on the system of desirable ranges for the geographical distribution of staff. It contains information on the methodology used for calculating the desirable ranges and focuses on staff appointed under this system ( 2,797 staff). This group consists of staff appointed by the Secretary-General at the Professional and higher categories for a duration of one year or more to posts financed from the regular budget and excludes staff appointed to the secretariats of subsidiary programmes, funds and organs with special status in matters of appointment. An analysis is provided of the main characteristics of these staff and changes over time in the population. The section also contains a forecast of expected staff retirements in the next five years and an updated analysis of the level of underrepresentation of Member States.
8. Chapter III provides information on the geographical representation of staff at the senior and policymaking levels of the Secretariat, as requested by the General Assembly in its resolution 61/244.
9. Chapter IV provides information on the status of implementation of human resources action plans.
10. The following addenda to the present report are provided to the Assembly pursuant to section XVIII of General Assembly resolution 59/266:
(a) The report of the Secretary-General on gratis personnel provided by Governments and other entities (A/63/310/Add.1) provides information on the use of gratis personnel in the Secretariat, including information on their nationality, duration of service, department or office where employed and functions performed;
(b) The report of the Secretary-General on employment of retirees and retired former staff (A/63/310/Add.2) and extension of staff beyond the mandatory

[^2]age of separation provides information concerning categories, types and levels of retired staff employed in the Secretariat, including type of engagement;
(c) The report of the Secretary-General on consultants and individual contractors (A/63/310/Add.3) provides information on the use of consultants and individual contractors in the Secretariat, their duties and factors contributing to their use.

The addenda contain information for the period 1 January 2006-31 December 2007 and refer to organizational entities in existence during those two years.
11. The list of staff of the United Nations Secretariat, which is published as a separate document (ST/ADM/R.63), identifies staff by organizational entity, functional title, level, nationality and contractual status.

II. Composition of the United Nations Secretariat

A. Global analysis of Secretariat staff

12. The global United Nations Secretariat comprises all staff with contracts under the 100 , 200 or 300 series of Staff Rules. As at 30 June 2008, staff internationally and locally recruited in the United Nations Secretariat, including staff on an appointment of less than one year, numbered 39,503 under contract with the Secretariat under the 100,200 or 300 series of the Staff Rules (see table 1). This excludes 152 staff on special leave without pay and 61 staff on secondment to other organizations. Figure I illustrates the Secretariat population by location; figure II illustrates the same population by location, category and series of the Staff Rules.
13. Table A. 1 of annex II presents total staff under contract with the United Nations Secretariat as at 30 June $2008(39,503)$, by nationality, gender and category. The number of staff in the Professional and higher categories is 11,142, of whom 7,402 have appointments under the 100 series of the Staff Rules, 1,250 under the 200 series and 2,490 under the 300 series. Staff in the General Service and related categories number 28,361 , or 71.8 per cent of the total. Staff in field missions administered by the Department of Field Support number 21,790, representing 55.2 per cent of the global Secretariat workforce. The increase in staff for 2008 by 8 per cent ( 2,924 staff) compared with 30 June 2007 is mainly due to the growth of peacekeeping missions.

Another 15,219 (38.5 per cent) are locally recruited staff members in field missions administered by the Department of Field Support (see table 1 and figure II) and 2,076 in the two international tribunals ( 5.3 per cent). The total number of staff serving away from headquarters duty stations is 27,816 (70.4 per cent). The 21,790 staff in field missions administered by the Department of Field Support represents 55.2 per cent of the global Secretariat workforce. Three peacekeeping missions (the United Nations Organization Mission in the Democratic Republic of the Congo, the United Nations Interim Administration Mission in Kosovo and the United Nations Mission in the Sudan) have more than 2,400 staff each and five other missions (the United Nations Mission in Liberia, the United Nations Integrated Mission in Timor-Leste, the United Nations Assistance Mission in Afghanistan, the United Nations Stabilization Mission in Haiti and the African Union-United Nations Hybrid Operation in Darfur) have more than 1,100 staff each. At headquarters duty stations, three departments (the Department for General Assembly and Conference Management, the Department of Management and the United Nations Office at Geneva) have in excess of 1,000 staff. Among the regional commissions, the Economic Commission for Africa has the largest number of staff.

3. Staff by nationality

17. Nationals of 187 Member States are represented among the Secretariat staff. A total of 176 Member States are represented by staff in posts subject to geographical distribution, while 5 Member States have no nationals among the staff. There are more than 1,000 nationals in the Secretariat from each of the following 10 Member States: Afghanistan, Democratic Republic of the Congo, France, Haiti, Kenya, Lebanon, Liberia, Serbia, Sudan and the United States of America.

4. Staff by gender ${ }^{3}$

18. Of the global Secretariat staff, 25,928 , or 65.6 per cent, are men and 13,575 , or 34.4 per cent, are women. Of the 15,219 locally recruited staff in field missions administered by the Department of Field Support, 82.9 per cent are men.
19. In the two most senior grades of the Secretariat (Under-Secretary-General and Assistant Secretary-General), women represent 18.5 per cent of the total of 124 staff. Female representation in the Director category is 27.4 per cent of 559 staff (23.7 per cent at the $\mathrm{D}-2$ level and 28.5 per cent at the $\mathrm{D}-1$ level). In the Professional category, the proportion of women is 41.1 per cent. Gender parity has been attained at the $\mathrm{P}-1$ and $\mathrm{P}-2$ levels: 60.0 per cent of staff at the $\mathrm{P}-1$ level and 52.8 per cent at the P-2 level are women. Gender parity has not been achieved at the higher Professional levels: women comprise 41.3 per cent of staff at the P-3 level, 36.3 per cent at the P-4 level and 31.1 per cent at the $\mathrm{P}-5$ level. Women comprise 55.3 per cent of Professional staff serving as interpreters, revisers and translators. Women comprise 32.2 per cent of the 28,361 staff in the General Service and related categories and 21.5 per cent of the 19,123 General Service staff in field missions administered by the Department of Field Support.
20. Figure VI indicates that 12 departments and offices in the Secretariat have either achieved gender parity or have more female than male staff in the Professional and higher categories, 13 departments and offices have between 40 and 49 per cent women, 11 departments and offices and the field operations administered by the Department of Field Support taken as a whole have between 30 and 39 per cent and 3 have less than 30 per cent.
[^4]Figure VI
Representation of female staff in the Professional and higher categories as at 30 June 2008
(Population: 11,142 of 39,503 staff)

${ }^{\text {a }}$ Data for the Department of Management represent the aggregated percentage for the Office of the Under-Secretary-General for Management (49 per cent), the Office of Programme Planning, Budget and Accounts ( 51.7 per cent), the Office of Human Resources Management (61.1 per cent), the Office of Central Support Services ( 33.7 per cent), the Capital Master Plan Office (18.3 per cent) and the secretariats of the Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions, the Board of Auditors and Panel of External Auditors (58.3 per cent) and the Independent Audit Advisory Committee.
5. Staff by age
21. As at 30 June 2008, the average age of the staff in the Secretariat was 41 years; 16,802 staff or 42.5 per cent were younger than 45 (see figure VII).

Figure VII
Distribution of staff by gender and age as at 30 June 2008
(Population: 39,503)

6. Staff by type of appointment

22. As at 30 June 2008, 10.9 per cent of staff held permanent appointments, as illustrated in figure VIII. Permanent appointments were held by 27.7 per cent of directors, 19.4 per cent of staff in the Professional category and 7.2 per cent of staff in the General Service and related categories. Among staff with permanent appointments, 76.5 per cent were in regular budget posts and 23.5 per cent were in other posts. Of staff in regular budget posts, 37.4 per cent had permanent appointments; 3.5 per cent of staff in other posts had permanent appointments.
23. The current proportion of permanent appointments for staff in posts subject to geographical distribution is 51.1 per cent $(1,428$ of 2,797$)$. The proportion of staff with probationary appointments stands at 6.7 per cent (187 of 2,797 ).
24. The percentage of permanent and fixed-term appointments varies across departments and offices, depending mainly on the source of funding. Entities funded mainly from sources other than the regular budget have the lowest rate of permanent appointees among their staff (field missions administered by the Department of Field Support (1.1 per cent), Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs (5.1 per cent), Department of Peacekeeping Operations (8.3 per cent), UN-Habitat (10 per cent) and UNEP (10.6 per cent). Entities funded mainly from the regular budget have the highest percentages of permanent appointments (Department for General Assembly and Conference Management ( 51.9 per cent), Office of Legal Affairs ( 41.7 per cent), Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific (37.3 per cent) and Department of Management (33.9 per cent)).

Figure VIII
Staff distribution by type of appointment as at 30 June 2008
(Population: 39,503)

Staff on contracts of less than one year
25. A total of 8,170 staff ( 20.7 per cent of all the staff) hold contracts of less than one year. The proportion of staff with contracts of less than one year is highest among field-based staff (28.7 per cent in field missions administered by the Department of Field Support). It is lower in the tribunals (4.9 per cent), regional commissions (10.8 per cent) and at headquarters duty stations (12.5 per cent).

B. Staff of the Secretariat and related entities in the United Nations system

26. A total of 29,173 staff (including 1,975 staff of the international tribunals), constituting 73.9 per cent of the staff of the Secretariat, are on contracts of one year or more, as shown in table 2. This population is used only for the purpose of comparing staffing levels in various United Nations organizations, funds and programmes. Data reported to the Secretariat by such related entities in the United Nations system are for staff holding appointments of one year or more.
27. The general principles of the Staff Rules apply to all staff of the United Nations, including the staff of the secretariats of subsidiary programmes, funds and organs that have special status in matters of appointment, as granted by the General Assembly. These include the United Nations Children's Fund, the United Nations Development Programme, the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees, the United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees in the Near East, the United Nations University, the secretariat of the International Civil Service Commission, the secretariat of the United Nations Joint Staff Pension Fund, the registry of the International Court of Justice, the International Tribunal for the Former Yugoslavia, the International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda and the International Trade Centre.
28. As at 30 June 2008, the total number of staff of the United Nations Secretariat and those organizations with special status holding appointments of one year or more amounted to 55,984 (see table 2 ). Of the total, 26,632 staff members serve with related entities of the United Nations and 29,173, of whom 36.2 per cent are women, with the Secretariat and the tribunals (see figure IX).

C. Analysis of United Nations Secretariat staff on contracts of one year or longer under the 100 series of Staff Rules

29. The presentation and analysis below cover Secretariat staff holding 100-series appointments of one year or more, irrespective of category, type of appointment or source of funding. In conformity with these criteria, the base figure used for demographic analysis as at 30 June 2008 is 12,328 . Secretariat-wide data and projections for the period 2008 to 2012 have been drawn from IMIS. In order to avoid repetition, the analysis below excludes a number of the demographic characteristics (staff breakdown by category and grade, by nationality and by duration of contract) presented in section A above.

Number of staff holding contracts of one year or longer under the $\mathbf{1 0 0}$ series of Staff Rules by entity as at 30 June 2008
(Population: 12,328)

${ }^{\text {a }}$ The Department of Management includes staff of the office of the Under-Secretary-General, the Office of Programme Planning, Budget and Accounts, the Office of Human Resources Management, the Office of Central Support Services, the Capital Master Plan Office and the secretariats of the Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions, the Board of Auditors and Panel of External Auditors and the Independent Audit Advisory Committee.

1. Demographic profile of Secretariat staff

(a) Staff by department or office
30. Figure $X$ shows the breakdown of staff by department, office or other entity. A total of 8,990 staff ( 72.9 per cent) of Secretariat staff in this population serve in 13 departments and offices with more than 430 staff each. The three departments with the largest number of staff are the United Nations Office at Geneva ( 9.8 per cent, 1,208 staff), the Department of Management ${ }^{4}$ ( 9.1 per cent, 1,128 staff) and the Department for General Assembly and Conference Management ( 8.9 per cent, 1,096 staff). Staff at United Nations Headquarters (either located in New York or directly administered by Headquarters departments) represent 44.8 per cent of all Secretariat staff. Offices away from Headquarters (Addis Ababa, Bangkok, Beirut, Geneva, Nairobi, Santiago and Vienna) and their sub-offices employ 55.8 per cent of the staff, with the largest number at the United Nations Office at Geneva (18.6 per cent). A total of 301 staff, or 2.4 per cent, are detailed to field missions administered by the Department of Field Support.

(b) Staff by nationality

31. Nationals of 178 Member States are represented in the population of staff holding 100 -series appointments of one year or longer. A total of 176 Member States are represented by staff in posts subject to geographical distribution, while 14 have no nationals among staff with appointments of one year or more (Democratic People's Republic of Korea, Kiribati, Kuwait, Liechtenstein, Marshall Islands, Monaco, Montenegro, Nauru, Palau, Samoa, Sao Tome and Principe, Timor-Leste, United Arab Emirates and Vanuatu).
(c) Staff by gender
32. Secretariat staff with appointments of one year or more under the 100 series of the Staff Rules $(12,328)$ display an almost evenly balanced female to male distribution (50.4/49.6). This figure does not reflect significant differences in gender representation by level, category or department or office.
33. In spite of a general increase in female staff representation in all categories, the two most senior levels in the Secretariat (Under-Secretary-General and Assistant Secretary-General) have a low rate of female representation ( 25.3 per cent of 75 staff). Female staff are also poorly represented in the Director category ( 31.2 per cent of 407 staff). Currently, female representation levels in the D-2 and D-1 grades stand at 29.6 per cent ( 29 female staff) and 31.7 per cent ( 98 female staff), respectively. In the Professional category, the proportion of female staff is 42.9 per cent (1,975 female staff). It is higher at entry levels ( 53.3 per cent of 515 staff at the P-2 level and 47.2 per cent of 1,472 staff at the P-3 level). Female staff constitute the majority ( 59.7 per cent of 6,753 staff) in the General Service category. Two specific groups continue to have very low female staffing: the Trades and Crafts

[^6]category ( 2.9 per cent of 173 staff) and the Security category ( 15.9 per cent of 314 staff).
34. In only four departments or offices with more than 25 staff in the Professional category has either gender parity been achieved or the number of women in the Professional and higher categories exceeded that of men. Ten departments and offices have between 40 and 49 per cent female staff, 10 between 30 and 39 per cent and four have less than 30 per cent.

(d) Staff by age

35. As at 30 June 2008, the average age of staff holding a 100 -series appointment of one year or longer was 45.5 years (compared with 45.7 years as at 30 June 2007), 51.2 per cent of all Secretariat staff were older than 45,46 per cent were between 30 and 45 and 2.8 per cent were younger than 30 . This pattern is illustrated in figures XI and XII, which show, respectively, the age distribution of female and male staff and the distribution of age groups in the Secretariat. The highest average age is for Under-Secretaries-General and Assistant Secretaries-General (60 years), followed by the Director category ( 54.6 years). The average age of staff in the Professional category is 45.8 years, and at the P-2 grade, 37.3 years. The average age of staff in the General Service category is 44.1 years, in the Security category, 38.1 years and in the Trades and Crafts category, 47.8 years.
36. The average age of female directors is the same as male directors, while male staff in the Professional category are, on average, 24 months older than their female colleagues. Male security officers on average are nearly four years and six months older than their female colleagues. For General Service staff, the average age of male staff is about 15 months lower than that of female staff.
37. In the Professional category, on average, the youngest staff are found in the Office of Legal Affairs (41.6 years), the Executive Office of the Secretary-General ( 41.8 years), OHCHR ( 41.9 years) and the Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs ( 42.5 years). The oldest staff are in the Department for General Assembly and Conference Management (48.3 years), the United Nations Office at Nairobi (48.1 years), the United Nations Office at Geneva (47.8), UN-Habitat (47.7) and the Department of Public Information (47.7 years).
38. For all categories of staff, the departments and offices with the lowest average age are the Department of Safety and Security ( 40.6 years), the Economic and Social Commission for Western Asia (41.5 years), the Department of Peacekeeping Operations ( 42.8 years) and OHCHR ( 43 years). The highest overall average ages are found in the Department of Economic and Social Affairs (47.9 years), the Department for General Assembly and Conference Management (47.8 years) and the Economic Commission for Europe (47.4 years).

Figure XII

Distribution of staff holding a 100-series appointment of one year or longer by age as at 30 June 2008

(Population: 12,328)

(e) Staff by length of service
39. The average length of service for all staff and all types of appointment under the 100 series of Staff Rules is 11.1 years (13.3 years for directors, 9.7 years for staff in the Professional category and 11.9 years for those in the General Service category, 8.8 years in the Security category and 16.2 years in the Trades and Crafts category).
40. The average length of service for staff with permanent appointments is 20.4 years ( 24.1 years for directors, 15.4 years for staff in the Professional category and 25.5 years for those in the General Service and related categories). The longer service time for directors correlates with their higher average age. The average length of service of staff holding fixed-term appointments of one year or more is 6.6 years ( 6.8 years for Directors, 5.5 years for staff in the Professional category and 7.1 years for those in the General Service and related categories).
41. The average length of service in departments and offices that have at least 30 staff members ranges from those of the Department of Peacekeeping Operations (6.1 years), the Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs (6.9 years), the Counter-terrorism Executive Directorate ( 7.1 years) and OHCHR ( 7.6 years) at the low end, to those of the Department of Economic and Social Affairs (14.4 years), the Department for General Assembly and Conference Management (14.1 years), the United Nations Office at Geneva (13.5 years) and the Department of Public Information (13.3 years) at the high end. A lower than average duration of service results from one or a combination of a number of factors, such as a younger than usual staff population, a high number of recent recruits, a higher rate of staff turnover, the recent establishment of a new office or an increase of the number of appointments of limited duration. An average length of service at the departmental or office level that is higher than the Secretariat indicates an older population with a lower turnover rate.

2. Movements of staff between 1 July 2007 and 30 June 2008

42. The analysis below is based on movements, including recruitment, separation, promotion and transfer between departments and offices, of staff under the 100 series of Staff Rules with appointments of one year or more in the Secretariat during the period from 1 July 2007 to 30 June 2008. That population includes staff in both the Professional and higher categories and the General Service and related categories
(a) Recruitment
43. Figure XIII illustrates that, between 1 July 2007 and 30 June 2008, 1,213 staff were recruited in the Secretariat for posts under the 100 series of the Staff Rules with appointments of one year or more. In the Professional category (404 staff, or 33.3 per cent of all recruits), the following departments recruited the largest number of staff: Department of Peacekeeping Operations (65 staff, 16.1 per cent), OHCHR (40 staff, 9.9 per cent), Department of Management ( 30 staff, 7.4 per cent) and Department for General Assembly and Conference Management (28 staff, 6.9 per cent).
44. Of the 404 staff recruited at the Professional level, 103 staff recruited at the P-2 level accounted for 8.5 per cent of all recruits and for 25.5 per cent of recruits in the Professional category. The main departments recruiting staff at the P-2 level were the Department for General Assembly and Conference Management (11 staff, 10.7 per cent), the Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean (9 staff, 8.7 per cent), the United Nations Office at Geneva (9 staff, 8.7 per cent), the Department of Economic and Social Affairs (8 staff, 7.8 per cent, OHCHR ( 8 staff, 7.8 per cent) and the Department of Management ( 6 staff, 5.9 per cent).
45. A total of 746 staff, or 61.9 per cent of all staff recruited during the reporting period, were in the General Service and related categories.
46. Women accounted for 50.9 per cent of all staff recruited ( 617 women among 1,213 staff) during the period from 1 July 2007 to 30 June 2008, compared with 47.5 per cent in the previous reporting period. At the Under-Secretary-General level, two of the nine recruits were women, and one of the 10 at the Assistant SecretaryGeneral level was a woman. In the Director category, women accounted for 35.9 per cent of recruits (14 of 39) and in the Professional category, 35.9 per cent were women (184 of 404). In the General Service and related categories, 416 staff, or 55.4 per cent, of staff recruited were women.
47. The following departments or offices account for almost 60 per cent of all recruitments: United Nations Office at Geneva (8.3 per cent, 101 staff), Department of Management ( 8.2 per cent, 100 staff), Department of Peacekeeping Operations (7.7 per cent, 94 staff), Department for General Assembly and Conference Management ( 7.5 per cent, 91 staff), UNEP ( 5.4 per cent, 66 staff), Department of Public Information (4.9 per cent, 60 staff), United Nations Office at Vienna (4.8 per cent, 58 staff), OHCHR ( 4.7 per cent, 57 staff), Department of Field Support (4.7 per cent, 57 staff), Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific
(4.1 per cent, 50 staff) and United Nations Office at Nairobi (4.1 per cent, 50 staff). Recruitments comprised fixed-term appointments (89.3 per cent, 1,083 staff), new probationary appointments (10.2 per cent, 124 staff) and permanent appointments granted following transfer from another United Nations agency ( 0.4 per cent, 6 staff).

Figure XIII
Recruitment of staff under the 100 series of Staff Rules by category and gender, 1 July 2007-30 June 2008
(Population: 12,328)

(b) Separation
48. Separation is defined as the movement of staff out of the Secretariat owing to retirement, resignation, expiry of appointment, agreed termination, inter-agency transfer, termination for health reasons, death, termination or abandonment of post or dismissal for misconduct. Between 1 July 2007 and 30 June 2008, 933 staff holding a 100 -series appointment of one year or longer separated, compared with 922 separations registered during the period from 1 July 2006 to 30 June 2007. Among them, 306 were retirements ( 32.8 per cent), 268 were resignations ( 28.7 per cent) and 184 were due to expiration of appointment ( 19.7 per cent). By category, 7 per cent were in the Director category and above, 31.1 per cent were in the Professional category and 59.9 per cent were staff in the General Service and related categories. A total of 18 staff at the P-2 level separated, accounting for 1.9 per cent of all separations and 6.2 per cent of separations at the Professional level. Separations of female staff accounted for 46.7 per cent of all staff departures. As indicated in figure XIV, while female staff accounted for 36.9 per cent of separations in the Professional and higher categories, they constituted 54.5 per cent in the General Service and related categories. More than 60 per cent of staff who separated were from the Department of Field Support (81), the Department of Management (77), the Department for General Assembly and Conference Management (77), UNEP (55), the Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific (53), the United Nations Office at Geneva (53), the Department of Public Information (45), Economic and Social Commission for Western Asia (41), the United Nations Office at Vienna (39), the Economic Commission for Africa (38) and the Department of Economic and Social Affairs (37).
49. Between 1 July 2007 and 30 June 2008, a total of 268 staff resigned, accounting for 28.7 per cent of all separations. The number of resignations included 1 Under-Secretary-General, 3 Assistant Secretaries-General, 6 Directors, 51 staff in the Professional category and 191 staff in the General Service and related categories. In the Professional category, 6 staff at the P-5 level resigned (11.8 per cent of total resignations), 19 staff at the P-4 level resigned ( 37.3 per cent), 17 staff at the $\mathrm{P}-3$ level resigned ( 33.3 per cent) and 9 staff at the $\mathrm{P}-2$ level resigned (17.6 per cent).

Figure XIV

Separations of staff holding a 100-series appointment of one year or longer by gender, 1 July 2007-30 June 2008
(Population: 12,328)

(c) Promotion
50. Promotion is defined as the movement of staff to a higher grade, except for movement of staff to the Professional category from the General Service and related categories which, pursuant to General Assembly resolution 55/258, is considered recruitment. During the period from 1 July 2007 to 30 June 2008, 1,326 promotions were registered in the Secretariat. The gender distribution of the promotions showed the percentage breakdown to be 45.1 per cent for men ( 598 promotions) and 54.9 per cent for women ( 728 promotions). Women comprised 26.2 per cent of the promotions in the Director category, 63.4 per cent in the Professional category and 58 per cent in the General Service and related categories.

(d) Transfer

51. Transfers are defined as lateral staff movements with a change of assignment and involving two departments or offices at one or more duty stations. During the period under review, there were 858 transfers throughout the Secretariat. Of the total, 484 , or 56.4 per cent, were transfers of female staff. There were more transfers among staff with fixed-term appointments ( 62.9 per cent) than among staff with permanent or probationary appointments (37.1 per cent).
52. Most transfers occurred into or out of the Department of Management (100), the Department of Economic and Social Affairs (65), the Department of Public Information (62), OHCHR (59), the United Nations Office at Geneva (58) and the United Nations Office at Vienna (55).
53. In section VIII of its resolution 57/305, the General Assembly approved the proposal of the Secretary-General on the placement of staff members serving in the Executive Office of the Secretary-General (see A/56/816) and requested him to report on the implementation of the procedure. During the period from 1 July 2007 to 30 June 2008, seven staff were transferred to posts at the same level from the Executive Office of the Secretary-General to other departments and offices.

(e) Turnover

54. Turnover rates are based on the calculation of a standard labour turnover index, which is obtained by comparing the number of actual staff departures over the reporting period with the number of active staff. Turnover indices for the period 1 July 2007 to 30 June 2008 are presented in table 3 by category of staff and take into account all causes of separation during the reporting period. As requested in General Assembly resolution 61/244, section I, paragraph 5, the turnover rate is reported by grade level in the Professional Director categories, including in field missions. The overall turnover index stands at 10.5. The Director level, at 24.4, has the highest turnover index. Turnover in the Professional category stands at 12.0 and in the General Service and related categories at 8.8.

(f) Forecast of anticipated retirements in the Secretariat

55. Each year a number of staff leave the Organization for different reasons. The yearly attrition rate is the result of anticipated retirements and unforeseeable events. Figure XV illustrates anticipated retirements by category for the period 2008-2012.
56. A total of 1,713 Secretariat staff will reach the mandatory age of separation during the period 2008-2012. This represents 13.9 per cent of the current workforce of staff holding a 100 -series appointment of one year or longer $(12,328)$. In the next four and a half years, an average of 381 staff will retire each year, ranging from a low of 343 in 2009 to a high of 382 in 2012. Figure XV indicates that, between 1 July 2008 and 31 December 2012, 168 Directors will retire, accounting for 9.8 per cent of all retirements, 581 staff ( 33.9 per cent) will retire from the Professional category and 964 staff ( 56.3 per cent) will retire from the General Service and related categories. Between 1 July 2008 and 31 December 2012, over all categories more women than men will retire. In the Professional and higher categories (P-2 to D-2), 64.8 per cent of the retirees will be male.

Figure XV
Anticipated retirements of staff holding a 100 -series appointment of one year or longer by category, 2008-2012
(Total anticipated retirements: 1,713)

57. Retirement rates at the senior levels (P-5, D-1 and D-2) will be significant in a number of departments. A comparison of the number of expected retirements at those levels, by department and office, based on the present staffing table, is provided below. Departments and offices with a minimum of 20 staff at the senior levels have been divided into three groups that correspond to the percentage of their strategic replacement needs in the next five years, as follows:
(a) Departments and offices with low replacement needs (less than 25 per cent of their present staff). Department of Peacekeeping Operations ( 9.3 per cent), OIOS (15 per cent), UNEP (16.7 per cent), Economic Commission for Africa (20.5 per cent), Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs (22.2 per cent) and OHCHR (22.7 per cent);
(b) Departments and offices with medium replacement needs (between 25 and 40 per cent of their present staff). United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (26.3 per cent), UNCTAD (27.1 per cent), United Nations Office at Vienna (28.3 per cent), Department of Public Information ( 28.3 per cent), Department of Management ( 29.1 per cent), Department of Field Support ( 30.4 per cent), field missions administered by the Department of Field Support (31.1 per cent), Economic Commission for Europe (31.8 per cent), UN-Habitat (33.3 per cent), Department of Political Affairs (34.4 per cent), United Nations Office at Geneva (37.8 per cent), Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean (38.1 per cent) and Department for General Assembly and Conference Management (40 per cent);
(c) Departments and offices with high replacement needs (over 40 per cent of their present staff). Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific (40 per cent), Office of Legal Affairs (45 per cent) and Department of Economic and Social Affairs (44.8 per cent).
58. Monitoring of expected retirements of staff at the $\mathrm{P}-5, \mathrm{D}-1$ and $\mathrm{D}-2$ levels helps in forecasting staff replacement requirements. Replacement needs for the P-5 level for the coming five years represent 25.7 per cent of the present number of staff. At the D-2 and D-1 levels needs are higher, at 37.2 per cent (see table 4).

D. Staff subject to the system of desirable ranges

59. By its resolution $42 / 220$ A, the General Assembly introduced the current system of desirable ranges, which is based, with effect from 1 January 1988, on the following criteria:
(a) The base figure for the calculations would initially be 2,700 posts;
(b) The weight of the membership factor would be 40 per cent of the base figure;
(c) The population factor, which would be allotted a weight of 5 per cent, would be directly related to the population of Member States and posts subject to that factor would be distributed among Member States in proportion to their population;
(d) The contribution factor would be based on the distribution of the remaining posts among Member States in proportion to the scale of assessments;
(e) The upper and lower limits of each range would be based on a flexibility of 15 per cent upwards and downwards from the midpoint of the desirable range, but not less than 4.8 posts up or down, the upper limit of the range being not less than 14 posts;
(f) The base figure would be adjusted whenever the actual number of posts subject to geographical distribution increased or decreased by 100 , the weights of the three factors being maintained.
60. Changes in the representation status of a Member State may result from a number of factors, such as appointment or separation of staff, adjustments of the desirable range because of an increase or decrease in the number of posts subject to geographical distribution, changes in the number of Member States, changes in the scale of assessments, changes in the population of a Member State and changes in the status of individual staff members (such as departure on secondment or special leave without pay, return from secondment or special leave or change in nationality).
61. In compliance with section III of General Assembly resolution 42/220 A, owing to the creation of additional posts, the base figure of posts subject to the system of desirable ranges was set at 2,700 in 1988. This number depends on the number of posts subject to geographical distribution but is not equal to it. The base figure is adjusted whenever the actual number of posts (budgeted) subject to geographical distribution increases or decreases by 100 . During the reporting period, the base figure has been set at 3,100 owing to a change in the number of posts in the Professional and higher categories subject to the system of desirable ranges, which now stands at 3,159 . For more details on the calculation of ranges and the midpoint, see annex I.
62. At present, 2,797 staff are on posts subject to geographical distribution as described in the paragraphs above. Staff under the system of desirable ranges are appointed by the Secretary-General under the 100 series of the Staff Rules for a period of at least one year to posts subject to geographical distribution in the Professional and higher categories funded under the regular budget. ${ }^{5}$

[^7]63. The representation of Member States falls into four categories: unrepresented, underrepresented, within range and overrepresented. A Member State is unrepresented when none of its nationals has been appointed to a post subject to geographical distribution; it is underrepresented when the number of its nationals appointed to such posts is below the lower limit of the desirable range; it is within range when the number of its nationals appointed to such posts is between the upper and lower limits of the desirable range; and it is overrepresented when the number of its nationals appointed to such posts exceeds the upper limit of the desirable range.

1. Representation of Member States in the system of desirable ranges

64. As at 30 June 2008, 16 Member States were unrepresented (Bahrain, Comoros, Democratic People’s Republic of Korea, Kiribati, Kuwait, Liechtenstein, Marshall Islands, Monaco, Montenegro, Nauru, Palau, Samoa, Sao Tome and Principe, Timor-Leste, United Arab Emirates and Vanuatu), two fewer than in June 2007. There were 24 underrepresented Member States, compared with 19 in June 2007 (Angola, Antigua and Barbuda, Bangladesh, Brunei Darussalam, Cambodia, Congo, Denmark, Guinea-Bissau, Iraq, Japan, Lao People’s Democratic Republic, Libyan Arab Jamahiriya, Micronesia (Federated States of), Norway, Oman, Qatar, Republic of Korea, Saudi Arabia, Solomon Islands, Tajikistan, Tonga, Turkmenistan, Tuvalu and Yemen) and 21 Member States were overrepresented, compared with 22 in June 2007 (Argentina, Australia, Austria, Brazil, Bulgaria, Cameroon, Chile, Egypt, Ethiopia, Ghana, Italy, Kenya, Nigeria, Philippines, Romania, Russian Federation, South Africa, Uganda, Ukraine, Venezuela (Bolivarian Republic of) and Zimbabwe). The remaining 131 Member States were within range. The increase in the number of underrepresented Member States was largely caused by the increase in the number of budgeted posts subject to geographical distribution to 3,159.
65. The evolution of the representation of Member States in terms of staff appointed under the system of desirable ranges for the five-year period from 2004 to 2008 is illustrated in figure XVI.
appointed to posts for service limited to UNEP, UN-Habitat or the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime; staff appointed to posts financed on an inter-agency basis; staff appointed to technical cooperation project posts; national officers at United Nations information centres; staff on special leave without pay; and staff on secondment to other organizations.

66. Tables A. 3 to A. 10 in annex II provide information concerning posts subject to geographical distribution. The data in table A. 3 are arranged by nationality, grade and gender. The table includes the midpoint of the desirable range and the range itself. The data in table A. 4 are arranged by nationality and type of appointment as at 30 June 2007 and 30 June 2008. Table A. 5 shows appointments arranged by nationality, grade and gender for the period from 1 July 2007 to 30 June 2008. Table A. 6 shows appointments and separations, by nationality, type of appointment and gender for the same period.

2. Representation of Member States at the senior and policymaking levels

67. In section X, paragraph 2, of its resolution 55/258, the General Assembly requested the Secretary-General to take all necessary measures to ensure, at the senior and policymaking levels of the Secretariat, the equitable representation of Member States, especially those with inadequate representation at those levels and unrepresented and underrepresented Member States, in particular developing countries, in accordance with the relevant resolutions of the Assembly, and to continue to include relevant information thereon in all future reports on the composition of the Secretariat. That request was reaffirmed by the Assembly in section II, paragraph 38, of resolution 57/305, section IV, paragraph 6, of resolution 59/266 and section X, paragraph 14, of resolution 61/244.
68. Staff at the senior and policymaking levels are defined as those at the Principal Officer (D-1) grade and above. Table 5 contains data on senior officials appointed under the system of desirable ranges. It presents data on the representation of developing countries and other countries in posts subject to geographical distribution, based on the combined desirable ranges of each group compared with the number of staff from Member States of those groups. Table 5 also presents data on staff under the system of desirable ranges and staff at the D-1 grade and above, at the D-2 grade and above and at the grade of Assistant Secretary-General and above (for more detailed information on the representation of individual Member States at the senior and policymaking levels, see annex II, table A.10).
69. In table 5 below, the percentages of the combined desirable ranges of the three economic country groupings (developed countries, developing countries and countries with economies in transition) are compared to the percentages of staff from those groupings. The percentages of staff from developing and developed countries under the system of the desirable ranges were below the percentages of the combined desirable ranges of the same countries as at 30 June 2008.

3. Female representation among staff under the system of desirable ranges

70. Since the forty-fifth session of the General Assembly and in compliance with General Assembly resolution 45/239 C, resolution 55/258, section XIV, paragraph 2, and resolution 57/305, section II, paragraphs 39 to 41, the Secretary-General has continued to report on efforts made to increase the number of women in posts subject to geographical distribution in the Secretariat, in particular in senior and policymaking posts. As at 30 June 2008, the number of female staff members at the D-1 level and above was 120 , or 31.9 per cent of all staff at that level. Tables A. 7 and A.9, section B, of annex II show staff in posts with special language requirements by nationality, grade and gender. The proportion of female staff in posts subject to geographical distribution for the five-year period from 2004 to 2008 is illustrated in figure XVII.

4. Recruitment of staff under the system of desirable ranges

74. During the period from 1 July 2007 to 30 June 2008, 208 appointments were made under the system of desirable ranges (see annex II, table A.5). Of that total, 2 appointments (1 per cent) were nationals of unrepresented Member States, 20 ( 9.6 per cent) were nationals of underrepresented Member States, 148 ( 71.2 per cent) were nationals of Member States that were within the desirable range and 37 (17.8 per cent) were of nationals of Member States that were overrepresented as at 30 June 2008. The remaining appointee was a stateless person.
75. Of the 208 appointments, 86 ( 41.3 per cent) were of candidates who had been successful in national competitive examinations for posts in the $\mathrm{P}-2$ and $\mathrm{P}-3$ grades. A total of 48 ( 55.8 per cent) of the 86 successful candidates in the examinations were women.
76. In 2008, 55 Member States participated in national competitive examinations (Afghanistan, Andorra, Angola, Antigua and Barbuda, Botswana, Brunei Darussalam, Cambodia, Cape Verde, Comoros, Congo, Costa Rica, Denmark, Dominica, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Equatorial Guinea, Gabon, Grenada, Haiti, Honduras, Iran (Islamic Republic of), Japan, Lesotho, Libyan Arab Jamahiriya, Liechtenstein, Lithuania, Malawi, Maldives, Mexico, Micronesia (Federated States of), Moldova, Monaco, Montenegro, Morocco, Mozambique, Namibia, Norway, Oman, Palau, Papua New Guinea, Republic of Korea, Saint Lucia, Samoa, San Marino, Saudi Arabia, Sierra Leone, Slovenia, Solomon Islands, Suriname, Tajikistan, Tonga, United States, Vanuatu, Viet Nam and Yemen). These are unrepresented and underrepresented Member States and those in danger of becoming unrepresented or underrepresented. Examinations were given in seven occupational groups. ${ }^{6}$ A total of 74 candidates from the 2007 examinations were successful: 15 have been placed and 10 of the remaining 59 candidates on the roster are in the process of being recruited.
77. Of the 208 staff appointed, 96 ( 46.2 per cent) were women, of whom 51 were from developed countries, 35 were from developing countries and 10 were from countries with economies in transition.
78. Among the 86 successful national competitive examination candidates, 37 ( 44.6 per cent) of the $83 \mathrm{P}-2$ candidates were recruited by offices away from Headquarters, while 46 ( 55.4 per cent) were recruited for posts in New York. The three P-3 candidates were recruited by offices in New York. Table 8 presents placement data by entity for the period from 1 July 2007 to 30 June 2008.

5. Forecasts of anticipated retirements of Secretariat staff under the system of desirable ranges

79. Of the current 2,797 staff on posts subject to geographical distribution, 513 staff will retire between 2008 and 2012. During the period from 1 January to 30 June 2008, 44 staff retired (15 directors and 19 staff in the Professional category). The remaining 469 staff, representing 16.8 per cent of staff under the system of desirable ranges, will reach the mandatory retirement age between 1 July 2008 and December 2012. Retirements will average 103 staff members a year, ranging from a low of 85 staff in 2010 to a high of 123 staff in 2008. Figure XVIII indicates the breakdown between the Director and Professional categories.

${ }^{\text {a }}$ Data for 2008 include 29 staff in the Professional category and 15 directors who retired in the first six months of the year.

E. Updated analysis of the level of underrepresentation of Member States

80. All staff currently serving on posts subject to geographical distribution from six Member States (Afghanistan, Congo, Libyan Arab Jamahiriya, Qatar, Sierra Leone and Tuvalu) will retire in the next five years. Seven Member States (Congo, Iraq, Japan, Libyan Arab Jamahiriya, Qatar, Saudi Arabia and Tuvalu) are underrepresented and will become further underrepresented if the numbers of their nationals expected to retire during this period are not balanced by a similar number of new recruitments from those Member States. A total of 10 Member States (Belgium, Chad, Iran (Islamic Republic of), Mexico, Saint Lucia, Sierra Leone, Afghanistan, United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, United States and Viet Nam) will become underrepresented if the numbers of nationals expected to retire during this period are not replaced by a similar number of new recruitments from those Member States. For 54 Member States, the proportion of currently serving nationals expected to retire by 2012 is between 20 and 50 per cent of their current number of staff, for 23 Member States it is between 10 and 20 per cent of their current number of staff and for 15 Member States it is less than 10 per cent. For 73 Member States, no retirements of staff are expected in the next five years.
81. Countries have been classified into three main groups for the purpose of analysing underrepresentation. The first group comprises 12 countries that have been underrepresented for at least two of the past five years by fewer than three staff members (that is, occasionally underrepresented): Brunei Darussalam, Cambodia, Guinea-Bissau, Kuwait, Lao People’s Democratic Republic, Libyan Arab Jamahiriya, Norway, Oman, Qatar, Turkmenistan, Viet Nam and Yemen. The second group comprises three countries that have been underrepresented for at least four of the past five years by more than three staff members (that is, seriously underrepresented): Mexico, Republic of Korea and Saudi Arabia. The third group comprises one Member State, Japan, which continues to be very seriously underrepresented.
82. Table 9 indicates the evolution of the situation of underrepresentation between 2004 and 2008. One important element that needs to be taken into consideration in the analysis relates to the multiple changes in the desirable ranges of countries owing, for example, to adjustments in the scale of assessments and the varying number of Member States. Of the six countries that were most seriously underrepresented, two are no longer underrepresented. Mexico went from a level of underrepresentation of 14 in 2004 to within range in 2008 and Switzerland has been within range and above midpoint for the past two years. Norway went down from a level of underrepresentation of 8 in 2004 to 1 in 2007 and 2008 and is now in the first group as defined in paragraph 81. Japan went down from a level of 143 in 2004 to 136 in 2008. The level of underrepresentation of Saudi Arabia increased from 7 in 2004 to 9 in 2008. The number of nationals from the Republic of Korea has increased by 5, from 27 in 2004 to 32 in 2008. Despite the increase in numbers, the level of underrepresentation of the Republic of Korea has increased from 1 in 2004 to 6 in 2008 owing to the change in its scale of assessment and the review of the base figure of posts subject to geographical distribution from 2,900 posts in 2004 to 3,100 posts in 2008.
83. Representation status is affected by staff movements, specifically appointments and separations. In the period from 2004 to 2008 there were 7 appointments of staff from unrepresented Member States (an average of 1.4 per year) and 112 appointments from underrepresented Member States (an average of 22.4 per year). The 112 nationals recruited from unrepresented and underrepresented Member States between 2004 and 2008 represent 10.1 per cent of the total staff recruited on posts subject to geographical distribution. The proportion of nationals of underrepresented Member States recruited has changed from 5.8 per cent ( 12 staff) in 2004 to 9.6 per cent ( 20 staff) in 2008. A reduction in the number of unrepresented and underrepresented Member States will require a higher proportion of recruitment from those States. Within the next five years (2008-2012), 469 staff in the system of desirable ranges will retire (16.8 per cent of 2,797 ). This will create opportunities to improve the current geographical distribution of staff.

III. Geographical representation at the senior and policymaking levels of the Secretariat

84. The General Assembly, in section X, paragraph 14, of its resolution 61/244, requested the Secretary-General to take all necessary measures to ensure, at the senior and policymaking levels of the Secretariat, equitable representation of Member States, especially those with inadequate representation at those levels, and to include relevant information thereon in all future reports on the composition of the Secretariat.
85. The Secretary-General is committed especially to improving gender and geographical balance at the senior level from the $\mathrm{D}-2$ and above. As the first step, the Secretary-General took the initiative to increase women representation at the highest level of the Headquarters in New York. Women representation at the heads of the line departments (the USG level) and DSG at Headquarters has increased from 17 per cent at the end of 2006 to almost 40 per cent as of August 2008. The Secretary-General also appointed a woman as Special Representative (the USG level) - the first since 1992 - and several other women as Deputy Special Representative (the D-2 and ASG level).
86. In addition to setting the example in appointing women to most senior positions, the Secretary-General also requested that recommendations for appointments at the D-2 level and above in the overall Secretariat contain a list of at least three qualified candidates that includes qualified women. This directive is being implemented. Moreover, interview panels that are gender and geographically balanced, to ensure proper consideration of all cases reviewed, have become the norm. Some progress in gender representation has been registered in the overall staff populations from the D-2 level to the Under-Secretary-General level at Headquarters during the past year. The Secretary-General has called on his senior advisers to follow his example and record greater progress in the current year.
87. At the Assistant Secretary-General and Under-Secretary-General levels in the Secretariat (covering headquarters in New York, Geneva, Vienna and Nairobi, the regional commissions and peacekeeping and special political missions) the Secretary-General is advised by senior officials from about 70 different countries. He is committed to continuing to expand the geographical representation at these levels. The Secretary-General has solicited nominations from Member States for such senior positions and will continue to do so.

IV. Implementation of human resources action plans

88. The General Assembly, in its resolution 57/305, requested the SecretaryGeneral to report to the General Assembly annually on progress made by departments in the implementation of their human resources action plans. Subsequently, in resolution 59/266, the Assembly stressed the need for adequate mechanisms to ensure the accountability of programme managers for the achievement of objectives contained in action plans and requested the SecretaryGeneral to ensure that the reconstituted Accountability Panel (the Management Performance Board) had the authority necessary to hold programme managers accountable for their performance in achieving the objectives contained in their action plans.
89. The biennial human resources action plans, agreed to between heads of department or office and the Assistant Secretary-General for Human Resources Management, are intended to facilitate and monitor the performance of individual departments and offices against the Organization's legislative mandates in human resources management. As such, in addition to the senior management compacts with the Secretary-General, human resources action plans constitute an important accountability mechanism.
90. To further improve transparency and empower departments and offices, the Office of Human Resources Management has implemented in 2008 an enhanced version of the website for human resources action plans. The website now provides in one place comprehensive statistical data on implementation of departmental human resources action plans, derived from various stand-alone data systems. The website allows monitoring of departmental performance of all human resource targets, thus facilitating informed decisions on human resources management. The Office has trained more than 60 departmental officials and focal points for the action plans in all major duty stations in the use of the website.
91. Throughout the cycle, the Office of Human Resources Management monitors and evaluates the implementation of the human resources action plans, in close cooperation with departments and offices, at the middle and the end of each cycle. A performance score card and an overall organizational summary for each department are provided to the Management Performance Board for review.
92. The Management Performance Board reviewed the mid-cycle performance results for the first year of the current (fifth cycle) human resources action plans (2007-2008) in July 2008. Following this review, the Deputy Secretary-General, who chairs the Board, conveyed the Board's evaluation and recommendations to each head of department. Progress made in the implementation of the action plans will be measured and evaluated at the end of the cycle (31 December 2008) and reported to the General Assembly.

V. Conclusion

93. The Secretary-General invites the General Assembly to take note of the present report.

Annex I

System of desirable ranges

Method of calculation of the midpoint and ranges

1. Three factors are used to calculate the midpoint of the desirable range: the membership factor, the contribution factor and the population factor.
2. The membership factor is defined by the number of Member States and is the same for each Member State. It accounts for 40 per cent of the base figure and is equal to 6.5 posts for each Member State, which is the total number of posts for this factor ( 40 per cent of $3,100=1,240$ posts), divided by the number of Member States (192).
3. The contribution factor is based on the most recent scale of assessments agreed by the General Assembly; the number of posts allotted for each Member State varies proportionally. The contribution factor, which is different for each Member State, represents the total number of posts for that factor ( 55 per cent of $3,100=1,705$ posts) divided by 100 and multiplied by the Member State’s most recent assessment percentage.
4. The population factor is based on the proportion of each Member State's population as compared with the global population of all Member States. The figures are based on United Nations statistics (population and vital statistics report) for each country. This factor is equal to the total number of posts for the population factor ( 5 per cent of $3,100=155$ posts) divided by the total population of all Member States and multiplied by the population of the relevant Member State.
5. Once the three factors have been calculated, the midpoint of the range is derived by adding the individual Member State's share of the membership factor, the contribution factor and the population factor. The upper and lower limits of each range are determined by adding or subtracting 15 per cent from the midpoint of the range. The General Assembly, in its resolution 42/220 A, specified that that flexibility must cover a minimum of 4.8 posts and that the upper limit of the range should be not less than 14 posts.

Calculation of the weighted ranges

6. Table A. 8 of annex II provides data pertinent to the application of the system of desirable ranges for the geographical distribution of staff. It also shows the weighted distribution of staff and the weighted staff position for each Member State, in points.
7. As indicated in table A. 11 of annex II, the percentage of total staff at each level (column 2) is applied to the base figure of 3,100 (column 3). The resulting figure is weighted by the gross salary per annum in United States dollars divided by 1,000 (column 4) to produce a weighted base figure (column 5). As at 30 June 2008, the weighted average value of each post was 89.36 points $(277,001 / 3,100)$. Accordingly, the weighted membership factor was 110,800 points ( 40 per cent of 277,001 ), the weighted population factor was 13,850 points ( 5 per cent) and the weighted contribution factor was 152,351 points ( 55 per cent). These figures represent the global numbers; for each Member State a separate calculation based on the same factors results in a weighted base figure. The weighted midpoint shown in table A. 8 represents the sum of the weighted membership, population and contribution factors, and the weighted range is calculated as 15 per cent upward and downward (but not less than 429 points up and down ( $4.8 \times 89.36$ ), with the upper limit being not less than 1,251 points ( $14 \times 89.36$ )). The weighted staff position for each Member State comprises the total number of staff of that country by grade, multiplied by the gross annual salary by grade.
