1. African Canadian Legal Clinic (Special; 2004)

PART I. Introduction

The purpose of the African Canadian Legal Clinic (ACLC) is to combat systemic and institutional racial discrimination, in particular anti-Black racism against African Canadians. The ACLC is a non-governmental, community based organization which takes a consultative approach to its activities. The ACLC engages in test-case litigation, law reform, advocacy and public legal education at national and international levels, and has been involved in groundbreaking anti-racism and equality rights cases in Canada.

PART II. Contribution of the ACLC to the work of the United Nations

1. 60th Session of the United Nations Commission on Human Rights, 15 March – 23 April 2004, Geneva: The ACLC attended this session, lobbied state members and regional groups and provided oral deputations at plenary sessions on Racism (item 6, 22-23 March) and the Right to Development (item 7, 23-24 March). The ACLC highlighted anti-Black racism in Canada, and the social exclusion and poverty of African Canadians. The ACLC provided oral and written submissions to the African Regional Group (22 March 2004), distributed fact sheets on anti-Black racism and racial profiling in Canada, and liaised with other NGOs.

2. United Nations Working Group of Experts on People of African Descent: Since the formation of the Working Group pursuant to the Durban Declaration and Program of Action (DDPA), the ACLC has attended, participated in its sessions and contributed to its work: (i) 4th Session, 25 October – 5 November 2004, Geneva: The ACLC attended and contributed to the discussion on the themes and recommendations on racism and employment, health and housing. The ACLC made oral interventions, developed recommendations for the consideration of the Working Group, and liaised and worked with other NGOs; (ii) 5th Session, 29 August – 2 September 2005, Geneva: The ACLC attended and contributed to the themes of the mainstreaming the situation of People of African Descent (PAD) in plans for achieving the UN's Millennium Development Goals, empowerment of women of African descent and the role of political parties in integrating PAD. The ACLC provided a paper "Poverty and the Criminal Justice System: The Experience of African Canadians", presented deputations on each theme, developed draft recommendations for the consideration of the Working Group and worked closely with other NGOs; (iii) Visit of Expert Member of Working Group, September 2005, Toronto, Canada: On a visit by Joe Frans, a member of the Working Group, to Canada, the ACLC organized a meeting with the African Canadian community to discuss issues of anti-Black racism in Canada and the role and work of the Working Group; (iv) 6th Session, 29 January – 2 February 2007, Geneva: The Executive Director of the ACLC attended this session as an invited expert on the session's theme of Racial Profiling. The ACLC presented on "The Problem of Impunity and Accountability to Racial Profiling". The ACLC participated in the development of the recommendations of the Working Group to the Human Rights Council (see Report of the Working Group of Experts on People of African Descent on its Sixth Session, Human Rights Council, Fourth session, A/HRC/4/39, 9 March 2007).

3. United Nations Special Rapporteur on Contemporary Forms of Racism, 16 April 2004 (unofficial visit), Toronto, Canada: The ACLC organized a Roundtable meeting with African Canadian community organizations to discuss the Special Rapporteur's Report on Canada, and coordinated a visit to a detention facility.
4. Preparatory Meeting Santiago Plus 5, 10–12 August 2005, Santiago, Chile: The ACLC attended at the Preparatory Meeting for Santiago + 5, the regional follow-up meeting on the Santiago Declaration and DDPA. The ACLC lobbied state members, made oral statements, and cooperated with NGOs to ensure that the African Canadian perspective was included in discussions on People of African Descent in the Americas.
5. United Nations Human Rights Committee (HRC), 85th Session, 17 October - 3 November 2005, Geneva: The ACLC participated in the HRC's examination of Canada's 5th Periodic Report. The ACLC submitted a "Shadow Report" on anti-Black racism in Canada and highlighted Canada's failure to address the human rights issue of the right to non-discrimination for African Canadians. The ACLC worked with other Canadian NGO's to assist the HRC by providing information and made an oral deputation to the HRC during the NGO briefing session.
6. United Nations Committee on Economic Social and Cultural Rights (CESCR), 36th Session, 5 and 8 May 2006, Geneva: The ACLC attended this CESCR session on its review of Canada's 4th and 5th Periodic Reports. The ACLC provided a report "The Hidden Side of Paradise: Violations of the Economic and Social Rights of African Canadians". The ACLC worked with other Canadian NGOs to provide information to CESCR and made an oral presentation in the NGO briefing session on the economic and social rights of people of African descent in Canada.
7. United Nations Committee on the Elimination of Racial Discrimination (CERD): (i) Thematic Discussion Non-Citizens and Racial Discrimination, 64th Session, 1-2 March 2004, Geneva: The ACLC provided a written brief, "Anti-Black Racism and Non-Citizens in Canada", on discrimination against non-citizens of African descent by Canada's immigration and refugee laws and policies; (ii) 70th Session, 19 February–9 March 2007, Geneva: The ACLC attended CERD's review of Canada's 17th and 18th Periodic Reports on 20 and 21 February 2007. The ACLC submitted a report "Condition Critical: Anti-Black Racism and the Imperative for Action" on systemic racial discrimination of African Canadians and strategies to combat it. The ACLC organized and coordinated an NGO briefing on 20 February 2007 for CERD members and assisted CERD with providing information on Canada's Report.
8. Regional Conference of the Americas, 26–28 July 2006, Brasilia, Brazil: The ACLC participated and attended this Regional Conference to review the implementation of the DDPA in the Americas. The Executive Director of the ACLC was a member of the Regional Coordinating Committee which developed the conference themes and programs. During the Regional Conference, the ACLC lobbied state members, worked with NGOs, presented an oral statement at the plenary, and participated in NGO Regional Working Groups.
9. Organizational Session of the Preparatory Committee for the Durban Review Conference, 27-31 August 2007, Geneva: The ACLC attended this session and lobbied for NGO inclusion and participation in the review process on the implementation of the DDPA. The ACLC liaised with the Anti-Discrimination Unit and NGOs, and presented at an NGO workshop on the importance of the DDPA for people of African descent in the Americas.

2. International Movement of Apostolate in the Independent Social Milieus (Special; 1996)

PART I. Introduction

The International Movement of Apostolate in the Independent Social Milieus (MIAMSI) is a community of lay movements whose members are men and women with professional, economic, social, political or cultural responsibilities. They are lay Christians who seek to spread the gospel among those around them and also to promote a more humane world by taking the side of the poor, safeguarding human rights and acting in a spirit of solidarity. The Movement was founded in Paris over 50 years ago by Marie Louise Monnet. Its recognition by the Holy See in 1963 brought it membership of the Conference of International Catholic Organizations (ICO). Since 1996, it has enjoyed NGO consultative status with the United Nations (Economic and Social Council human rights section). It has had international NGO status with the Council of Europe since 1999. National movements across four continents are coordinated by regional secretariats: European and Inter-Island liaison offices and the secretariat for Latin America. A General Assembly held every four years sets policy lines, which are followed up by the International Office.

PART II. Contribution of the organization to the work of the United Nations

i. Participation in the work of the Commission on Human Rights/Human Rights Council and the Committee on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights

The Movement took part in the work of the Commission on Human Rights in Geneva in March-April 2004, March-April 2005 and March-April 2006 and in special sessions of the Subcommission on the Promotion and Protection of Human Rights. It had a more limited participation in the work of the Subcommission in 2004, 2005 and 2006. The Movement was represented by its delegates accredited to the Economic and Social Council in Geneva and issued written statements at a number of the Subcommission's sessions from 2004 to 2006 (for example, E/CN.4/2004/NGO/12). The statements were based on material received from member movements, particularly in response to surveys on the Millennium Development Goals conducted in April 2006 by the liaison secretariats in the various continents (several South American, Indian and European movements thus provided input for the statements made to the Council).

The Movement also followed the work leading to the establishment of the Human Rights Council. Our representatives were present in Africa at the Citizens' Forum for Young Professionals, held in Cotonou (Benin) from 16 to 23 July 2007, at the World Social Forum in Africa (Nairobi) from 20 to 25 January 2007, at the NGO-Council of Europe joint meetings in Strasbourg and at the general assembly of the ATD Fourth World International Movement in 2006.

Following the natural disasters (tsunamis) that had taken place, in one of its oral statements at the sixty-first session of the Commission on Human Rights, the Movement had called for the introduction of a global solidarity tax to fund the establishment of a mobile international humanitarian task force that would bring relief to the victims of such disasters. In 2005, the Movement had issued another written statement (E/CN.4/2005/NGO/22) which had been circulated during the discussion on item 10 concerning human rights and extreme poverty and the urgent need to implement changes in order to achieve the Millennium Development Goals.

Our movements in the four continents were able to take note of information concerning their countries when the Governments concerned submitted reports to the Committee on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights. Reports on Belgium, Costa Rica, France and Paraguay were made available to member movements in those countries so that they could react and question their Governments. Information concerning the Committee's working methods was provided in advance to all the national movements so as to give them an idea of the importance of the work done by the United Nations Committee on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights.

With regard to the Human Rights Council, our Movement prepared a written statement in late 2007 which will be incorporated into the report prepared by the Universal Periodic Review (UPR) secretariat following the second session of the UPR Working Group in May 2008, when France was among the countries reviewed.

ii. Cooperation with United Nations bodies

Starting in 2005, our delegates in Geneva followed the activities that led to the establishment of the Human Rights Council. Along with representatives of other NGOs, our Movement also participated in the drafting of written statements that were brought to the attention of the Bureau of the Human Rights Council during the establishment phase. Lastly, our Movement participated in several preparatory meetings at the United Nations Office at Geneva in the context of the NGO meetings that were held as part of the preparations for the establishment of the Human Rights Council in 2006.

Our task was made difficult by the fact that these meetings took place without notice and the invitations addressed to the Movement through its delegate in Geneva often set time limits that precluded our participation.

iii. Initiatives undertaken in support of the work of the United Nations

(1) We reminded the members of the French movement, at meetings held in Toulouse on 20 November 2004 and in Clermont-Ferrand on 10, 11 and 12 November 2005, of the importance of the work carried out by the various subsidiary bodies of the Economic and Social Council and of the proposals made by experts to promote economic, social and cultural rights and ensure that they are respected in practice as well as to contribute to the achievement of the Millennium Development Goals. United Nations documents were also distributed at these meetings.

(2) In September 2006, an explanatory note was prepared for all our member movements worldwide in order to explain and review the working methods of the Human Rights Council and discuss the implications of our future involvement in the Council's work.

(3) At a meeting in Rome in October 2006, the officers of our European member movements were provided with detailed information about the establishment of the Human Rights Council.

3. Lebanese Welfare Association for the Handicapped (Special; 2000)

PART I. Introduction

The Lebanese Welfare Association for the Handicapped (LWAH) is a non-governmental organization, established in 1984 and has special consultative status with the UN Economic and Social Council. Since its establishment LWAH has come a long way to become a prominent rehabilitation foundation serving over 300 patients per day in all its facilities.

Loyal to its mission, to improve the quality of life for people with special needs, and enhance their dignity, independence and productivity, LWAH established the 'Nabih Berri Rehabilitation Compound' (NBRC) in the region of Sarafand – South Lebanon. The NBRC is considered to be one of the largest and most advanced rehabilitation facilities in the Middle East. It provides full medical and rehabilitation services that are constantly updated to incorporate the latest technological advancements. A team of capable, professional and technology-oriented practitioners, offer a wide range of services and programs: (a) Diagnosis and Treatment; (b) Physical Rehabilitation; (c) Psycho-Social Rehabilitation; (d) Educational Rehabilitation; (e) Vocational Rehabilitation.

PART II. Contribution of the organization to the work of the United Nations

i) Participation in the work of the Economic and Social Council and its subsidiary bodies and/or major conferences and other United Nations meetings

(a) LWAH's representatives participated in the Ad Hoc Committee on a Comprehensive and Integral International Convention on the Protection and Promotion of the Rights and Dignity of Persons with Disabilities on its 4th session, 23 August-3 September 2004, United Nations Headquarters, New York. LWAH's representative also actively participated in side meetings with Arab delegations, other Non-Governmental Organizations (NGOs) and the Chief of Non-Governmental Organizations Section.

(b) Representatives from LWAH attended the 6th and 8th sessions on the Ad Hoc Committee, from 1 – 12 August 2005 and 14 – 25 August 2005, respectively.

Other meetings

(a) The Arab Parliamentary Symposium on Legislating Disability Issues in the Arab World" (December 2005): LWAH was an active member of the organizing committee for this seminar, and also participated as a lecturer on recruiting the disabled and finding job opportunities for them, in addition to its role in enhancing the independence and productivity of the disabled. The symposium was organized by the Social Rapporteur on Disability at the United Nations in collaboration with the Lebanese Parliament and under the patronage of the Arab parliamentary Union.

(b) Seminar on the implementation of the United Nations Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities: LWAH attended this seminar organized by Rehabilitation International on the implementation of the draft United Nations convention on the rights of persons with disabilities at New York City Hall in 26 August 2006. The aim of the meeting was to gather experts on disability issues from civil society, governments and the United Nations to discuss how the international community could utilize this convention to develop action oriented programs and policies that would benefit the growing global population of persons with disabilities.

(c) Participation of the 23rd General Assembly for the Conference of Non-Governmental Organizations in Consultative Relationship with the United Nations (CONGO) that took place in Geneva, Switzerland, 5-7 December 2007, under the theme: "Moving from consultation to partnership in promoting rights and responsible governance at all levels". LWAH as a member on CONGO, participated in discussions and recommendations on CONGO's structure, and along with other members elected the President and board members for 2007-2010.

ii) Cooperation with United Nations bodies and/or specialized agencies in the field and/or at Headquarters

(a) With the major support of United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF), LWAH created a play for children that raised their level of awareness about the hazards of landmines, and reinforced the messages of mine risk education already taught and strengthened safe behaviors through entertainment (2005);

(b) In cooperation with the Lebanese Mine Action Center, LWAH regularly presented awareness lectures on the hazards of landmines in risky areas in order to limit the number of accidents. The lectures were funded in part by UNICEF (ongoing);

(c) LWAH, in partnership with United Nations Development Programme (UNDP), in the framework of the latter's project "Rehabilitation and Reintegration of Former Detainees in South Lebanon", took responsibility for the vocational rehabilitation through training 200 ex-detainees in Israeli prisons on mechanics, electronics, electricity, heating and air conditioning. This project helped them acquire permanent business skills, provided them with job opportunities and enhanced their independence (2005-2006).

(d) In collaboration with the World Health Organization (WHO), the International Organization for the Prevention of Orthopedic and Joint Diseases honored LWAH's President for her efforts and hard work in this field. She received the organization's award and was nominated to become its Ambassador (2005).

(e) Follow-up and coordination with United Nations organizations such as the Economic and Social Commission for Western Asia (ESCWA), UNICEF and others through periodical meetings, conferences and seminars (ongoing).

Initiatives undertaken by the organization in support of internationally agreed development goals, in particular, the Millennium Development Goals, which now form the basis of the global agenda for the 21st century

i) Activities in line with the Millennium Development Goals

Goal 1 - Eradicate Extreme Poverty and Hunger: (i) Developed small economic ventures for 21 landmine survivors suffering from permanent disability to help them earn their living and support their families (2004-2007); (ii) Establishment of a factory for handmade traditional carpets, a developmental project that trains, in a first phase, 100 women living in the region, and provide them with skills to become productive and self dependent (2007); (iii) Graduation of 578 students (2004 – 2007) from a 9-month intensive vocational training. Certificates in typing and computer programming, chef assistance, esthetics and maintenance of wire and wireless equipment will help disabled and non-disabled students acquire skills for better job opportunities. (2004 – ongoing)

Goal 2 - Achieve Universal Primary Education: (i) Expansion of the Special Education Department at LWAH. 89 students suffering from different disabilities are enrolled in the program, in addition to 41 school drop-outs. The number increases annually; (ii) LWAH also offers school registration fees and school materials for children whose father or mother suffer from severe disability.

Goal 6 - Combat HIV/AIDS, malaria and other diseases: (i) LWAH launched a Breast Cancer Awareness Campaign in 125 villages of South Lebanon, where women have seldom any accessibility to awareness materials, screening and treatment. The campaign includes lectures about the importance of early detection, the definition of breast cancer, its symptoms and prevention methods, in addition to free screening (mammography + ultrasound). In 2007, 2147 women attended lectures of which 1381 were screened; (ii) Awareness campaigns on disability, early intervention and other health issues.

Goal 8 - Ensure Environmental Sustainability: (i) Establishment of an agricultural laboratory for soil and water analysis that offers guidance and necessary chemical analysis to define the content of agricultural soil as a means to protect the environment and plantations from pollution usually resulting from the misuse of fertilizers; (ii) LWAH started a pioneer project in organic planting that produces organic and natural crops without the use of any chemical fertilizers or pesticides.

Activities in support of Global Principles: LWAH created a theater play, funded by the Delegation of European Commission in Lebanon, which aims at disseminating awareness on disabled children's rights, expanding knowledge and changing behaviors. It focuses on the right of children with disabilities to accessibility and social inclusion. Moreover, LWAH encourages disabled sports and thus has several teams: wheelchair basketball, mini football for landmine survivors, track and field.

LWAH also commemorates Child's day, the International Day against Cluster Munitions/Landmines, the International Women's Day, International Day of Persons with Disabilities, etc. with special events.

4. Reach the Children (Special; 2004)

Partnered with ICTEFA (Information Communication Technology Education For All) 2007.

5. Red de Educación Popular Entre Mujeres (Special; 2000)

PART I. Aims and Purposes

Red de Educación Popular Entre Mujeres (REPEM) is a non-profit civil entity founded in 1981. It groups 75 NGOs, women scholars and activists from Latin America and the Caribbean who engage in feminist research and analysis of the regional environment and are committed to working for gender justice and sustainable development. The network's aim is to strengthen and consolidate articulation processes at national, regional and global level to contribute to the achievement of social, economic and gender justice. REPEM is the Regional Coordination for the South-South network Development Alternatives for Women in a New Era (DAWN) in Latin America since 1998. Through its four Programmes: (i) Education, Gender and Citizenship; (ii) Education, Gender and Economics; (iii) Education and Democratization of Information; (iv) Institutional Strengthening/Capacity Building, REPEM's purposes are to raise the profile of education as a strategic dimension to achieve gender justice through contributions emerging from feminist perspectives and theories; to examine the economic, social, cultural and political processes which cause and perpetuate inequalities of gender, class and race; to increase the network influence capacity to mainstream gender in public policies, specially educational ones; to collect and systematize analysis, debates and educational gender oriented practices in Latin America for their further dissemination and the multiplication of experiences; to exercise pressure at global and regional level through networking and articulation of programmes with other networks in Latin America and the Caribbean and other regions of the world; and to seek educational alternatives for sustainable and gender justice development, through research, analyses, training, advocacy, and communication activities.

REPEM influences debates on education, gender and citizenship issues by offering holistic analyses from a feminist perspective that is both grounded in women's experience and inspired by women's collective strategies and visions. It is an autonomous network, but works in partnership in various ways with other civil society organizations. Many of REPEM's activities are closely related to the work of the United Nations or REPEM members have been invited to advise, co-sponsor, or otherwise contribute to United Nations' work, including through the United Nations Development Fund for Women (UNIFEM) and the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO). REPEM works closely with other networks working in the field of education, gender, poverty reduction, gender and economics: International Council for Adult Education (ICAE) and its Gender and Education Office (GEO); Consejo de Educación de Adultos de América Latina (CEAAL); Global Campaign for Education (CGE); Feminist Dialogues (FD); Articulación Feminista Marcosur (AFM); Global Call for Action against Poverty (GCAP).
