1. AIDS Information Switzerland (Special; 2000)

Part I. Introduction

i. The object of the association is to provide information and promote action against the spread of the Human Immunodeficiency Virus (HIV) infection and to support persons infected with HIV: to disseminate accurate information on HIV infection and on the Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS); to inform the medical profession of scientific findings on HIV infection; to advise members of the caring professions and persons with political and social responsibilities; to advise persons interested in AIDS-related issues; to advise HIV positive persons and AIDS sufferers on an individual basis; to support the medical profession in advising and supporting HIV positive persons and AIDS sufferers; to provide social, financial, medical and psychological support for HIV positive persons and AIDS sufferers; to promote interdisciplinary scientific research into HIV infection and AIDS. The association supports the achievement of these aims mainly by way of: collaboration and information-sharing with experts in Switzerland and elsewhere, with scientific institutions and authorities, and with private organizations pursuing the same or similar aims; upkeep of a documentation bureau; publishing (production, translation, publication, distribution); organization of information events; provision of advice by phone, in writing and in person; provision of financial resources to form a social fund; support for firms, organizations and authorities in their efforts to help HIV positive persons and AIDS sufferers; support for and implementation of projects helping to achieve the above-mentioned aims.

ii. While the Organization's aims and purposes remained the same, an amendment, approved by AIDS Information Switzerland's (AIS) General Assembly on 23 September 2004, reduced two kinds of membership to one with a fixed membership fee of CHF 50 per year. Furthermore, the General Assembly has to be held every second year instead of every year. Both changes resulted in less administrative effort and costs. On 24 September 2005, the General Assembly approved the new location of the association; which is the place of the secretariat. New organizational affiliations since 2003 are the following: the umbrella organization for abstinence-based drug policy (Dachverband abstinentorientierte Drogenpolitik) (2004); International Federation of Centers and Institutes of Bioethics of Personalist Inspiration (Federazione Internazionale dei Centri ed Istituti di Bioetica di Ispirazione Personalista / FIBIP) (2004).

The foundation opened a centre that carries out educational programs for the Iraqi refugees in Dezful in the Western Provenance of the Islamic Republic of Iran. The centre also provided youth activities programs. The Foundation published tens of books in Arabic, Persian, Urdu, Turkish and English covering wide range of topics that helped to educate people further about Religion, Ethics and Sociology. Currently the office in London is working on publishing a book about the history of Samarra and the two attacks which destroyed the shrine of the two Imams.

Goal 3 – Promote gender equality and empower women: Alulbayt Foundation believes that women complete the society and their presence in different fields will bring this society forward. In London, the United Kingdom, the Alulbayt Foundation created new job opportunities for women and encouraged equal opportunities for them to become more active within their fields. This is most clearly seen in the school (opened September 2004) which the Foundation operates, which has around 70 percent of its staff as women. In the Islamic Republic of Iran Alulbayt Foundation has opened centers (Al-Zahra School, June 2005 and Al-Zahra Centre, September 2006) especially for women to educate them further and offer them different classes such as IT classes to train them well for their future careers.

Contact is ongoing with staff at the UNDP office in Baghdad (Paolo Lembo) and the UNICEF office in Beirut to facilitate projects such as schools and clinics in Baghdad and Najaf.

3. European Network of Policewomen (Special; 1996)

Part 1 - Introduction

i. Aims and purposes: Due to the globalization effects as well as the fading of the European borders societies are changing more rapidly. This also affects each police and law enforcement organization throughout Europe as other problematic issues are floating to the surface. International cooperation became an irreversible necessity which stimulates more flexibility and new approaches within each police and law enforcement organization. In order to cope with these new requirements, European Network of Policewomen (ENP) extended its initial aim to ‘optimize the position of women within the European police and law enforcement organizations’ with the issues of gender mainstreaming and the management of diversity. We emphasize that our initial aim, based on the fundamental values of the equality of all mankind, freedom, justice and solidarity, according to the democratic principles and the fundamental rights as laid down in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, will remain a guiding principle. We are to raise awareness of the benefit of having more women within the Police both on operational and management level and also to empower those women who are already working in policing. In more details, the course of action includes the promotion and empowerment of women and at the same time the stimulation of the European police and law enforcement organizations to recruit, retain and to offer women career development opportunities and contribution to an increase in the number of women in senior management/decision making positions.

The financial year runs from January to December. The basic funding is shouldered on a European level namely by the associated member organizations. The ENP is using a remainder budget left from the subvention obtained from the Dutch Police in 2003.

For the period 2004 additional budget was raised by the Police Board of Estonia (€3.000, annually), the Department of Justice, Equality and Law Reform of Ireland contributed once €5.000, and the Andorran Police contributed €3.000, in 2005 and 2006, as well as donations from other associated members on a voluntary basis in the entire period 2004–2007 in different amounts. It also has to be recognized that the home organization of the elected President, the Austrian Ministry of Interior (Austrian Federal Police) substantially contributed by fully exempting the President for the first two years period (2006–2007) taking over the necessary expenses which, amongst others, allowed the President's attendance at conferences, meetings, seminars and/or symposia and proper lobbying activities. The Dutch Expertise Centre for Diversity (DECD) is one of the main contributors to the organizational costs and, in addition, is providing (on part-time basis) a policy advisor working in the Head Office. In 2007 the ENP issued a new business plan for the period 2008–2010 in order to maintain existing funds and to raise new funding.

Associated Countries: At present 32 police organisations out of 27 European countries are represented within our organisation.

Constitution/By-Laws: In October 2004 the General Board agreed on the proposed internal classification of the associated member countries into four (4) clusters, taking into account various aspects such as culture, language, phase of development, geographical position and needs. After evaluation in 2005 the cluster classification was extended to (5).

II. Contribution of the organization to the work of the United Nations

The omission of the larger part of our structural income has had a major impact on our organization. We were forced to reduce and focus our activities in Europe on such beneficial for our target group with as consequence that the ENP could not delegate participants to the United Nations meetings. This situation – including the drastic reduction of staff in the Head Office - makes attendance at international meetings/conferences very difficult. However the received United Nations information is regularly disseminated and used in lectures/seminars.

i. Participation in the work of the Economic and Social Council and its subsidiary bodies and/or major conferences and other United Nations meetings.

The Department of Peacekeeping Operations (DPKO), workshop on 'Reviewing Good Practices of Gender Mainstreaming for police and law enforcement Officers' in 20-23 March 2007, Brindisi, Italy. The President attended and shared good practice. Contribution to the development of guidelines for the integration of gender perspectives in the operational activities of police personnel deployed to United Nations Peacekeeping Mission.

ii. Cooperation with United Nations bodies and/or specialized agencies in the field and/or at Headquarters

Joint event with the Organisation for Security and Cooperation in Europe (OSCE), Strategic Police Matters Unit (SPMU), organized a workshop on 'Policewomen in Upper Management Positions', 5-6 June 2007, Madrid, Spain. The ENP (Executive Board) supported and contributed with expertise to the preparation and the workshop, exchanged good practice with other participants and contributed to the elaboration of recommendations. The president facilitated the final discussion on conclusions.

iii. Initiatives undertaken in support of internationally agreed development goals, in particular the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs)

Activities in line with the Millennium Development Goals: The ENP contributed to the goals in general and to the MDGs in specific in Europe (specifically within police and law enforcement).

Goal 3 - Promote gender equality and empower women: Building capacities, strengthening opportunities, increasing access, eliminating inequality, increasing women's representation in policing. ACTIONS: (i) Communication/network training for policewomen – 2004, Milan, Italy; (ii) Career Development Seminars – 2004, Tallinn, Estonia; 2005, Zurich, Switzerland; 2007, Budapest, Hungary (iii) Round table discussion on Domestic Violence – 2004, Zurich, Switzerland and on Diversity, a business case – 2006, Norwegian Police, Oslo, Norway; (iv) Assemblies with European policewomen and exchange of good practice – 2004, Zurich, Switzerland; 2004 – Vienna, Austria; 2006 – Tallinn, Estonia; (v) Organization of conferences: (a) Diversity Managers Needed, 2005, Leeds, Ireland; (b) Conciliation Family and Labour Life, 2006, Escaldes-Engordany, Andorra; (c) Gender Mainstreaming in the European Police Organizations – The Ultimate Recipe for Equality?, 2006, Vienna, Austria; (vi) Lectures in other conferences/seminars: (a) 2006, Conference Gender Mainstreaming, Banja Luka, Bosnia and Herzegovina; (b) 2007, Conference Police-E-Quality, Tampere, Finland; (c) 2007, Conference Equal Opportunities within Police Organisations, Budapest, Hungary; (vii) Participation in other conferences/seminars: (a) 2004, Symposium Community Policing, Milan, Italy; (b) 2004, Policewomen Conference, Barcelona, Spain; (c) 2005, Conference Equal Opportunities, Tallinn, Estonia; (d) 2005, Academic Session Policewomen - Diversity in Uniform, Brussels, Belgium; (e) 2005, Conference Future requirements in Organisation and Deployment under the View of Diversity; Frankfurt, Germany; (f) 2005, Conference 20th anniversary of Catalan Policewomen, Barcelona, Spain; (viii) Public Research 'Facts and Figures' & General Information (in progress) and (ix) Publication seven (7) editions of the ENP Newsletter (copies available).

4. Links Incorporated (Special; 2004)

PART I. Introduction

The Links Incorporated is an international women's service organization of over 11,000 women with 275 chapters located in 41 states, the District of Columbia in the United States of America, Nassau, Bahamas, Frankfurt, Germany and South Africa. The aims and purposes of the organization are committed to civic, educational and cultural activities with the singular purpose of serving community needs for the improvement of life and the pursuit of excellence. One of the primary objectives of The Links, Incorporated is to develop and provide relevant programs for community enhancement. The three-fold purpose of the organization is education, civic engagement and intercultural exchange. They are structured and administered through four facets of Services to Youth, National Trends and Services, the Arts, and International Trends and Services which includes the non-governmental organizations (NGO) representative to the United Nations. It is this program facet that addresses issues and concerns that impact global quality of life issues, especially in Africa and the Diaspora. The activities detailed in this report illustrate the organization's involvement in pursuing the United Nations' Millennium Development Goals. Also, because of limited human and financial resources we have not participated in the major conferences of the Economic and Social Council and its subsidiary bodies as often as might be expected in work supporting the United Nations global principles.

PART II. Contribution of the organization to the work of the United Nations.

The following Links, Incorporated 2004-2007 programs focused on the United Nations Millennium Development Goals 2- Achieve universal primary education and 5, Improve maternal health:

The objective of The Links, Incorporated's Safe Motherhood Initiative is to work through partnerships such as with the "White Rose Alliance" to assure awareness, act as advocates, pursue appropriate actions and develop mentorship programs. Awareness of key issues surrounding safe motherhood is promoted both in the United States and internationally. The organization attempted to raise awareness by participating in conferences, symposia and seminars in churches and educational institutions during the fall of 2005. The Maama Kit promotes clean and safe birth initiatives, builds alliances for change and serves as a voice for women unable to speak for them. The Maama Kit currently provides clean and safe births to women of Uganda, Mozambique, Ethiopia and Kenya.

The overall objective of this initiative between 2005 and 2007 was to contribute to the reduction of maternal and peri-natal morbidity and mortality (illness and deaths) through clean and safe delivery. Members of The Links, Incorporated continue to purchase these kits and provide them to support women and their families in developing countries. In 2006, the International leadership of The Links, Incorporated travelled to Uganda to meet some of the families and provide Maama Kits and other supplies. The Director of the World Health Organization named The Links, Incorporated, as the lead organization in the area of Safe Motherhood.

2) Uganda Tour of Light (Goals 2 and 5). This initiative focuses on assisting the youth in the country of Uganda. In partnership with the Uganda Government, The Links, Incorporated sponsored The Uganda Tour of Light which features Ugandan children who have become orphaned due to their parents having the AIDS virus. They travel to various cities throughout the United States where Links, Incorporated chapters sponsor, host and present them in fundraising events. The funds raised are designated for the orphanage in Entebbe, Uganda. Also, The Links, Incorporated sponsored a special trip to Uganda to deliver educational supplies to the schools.

3) Education across the Miles (Goal 2). The Education across the Miles, Schools for the Children in Africa. This program was established in partnership with the International Foundation for Education and Self-Help (IFESH), and in collaboration with the governments of South Africa and Nigeria. The Links, Incorporated worked in partnership with other non-governmental and educational organizations, financial institutions and individuals to assist in restoring the educational system as well as the dignity and nobility of the learning process. Over several years The Links, Incorporated in partnership with IFESH and collaboration with the governments of South Africa and Nigeria has built and renovated over 62 schools which amounts to a value of over $1 million USD. Further, The Links, Incorporated provided many of these schools with educational materials and supplies. The impact of this program has provided two and three classroom modern schools containing water and restrooms within walking distance for a large number of primary age children.

4) The Model United Nations Program (Goal 2). The Links, Incorporated has worked in partnership with the United Nations Association. The program is designed to work with youth throughout various communities to encourage and inspire them to become more interested in international and world affairs through the work of the United Nations. The organization has generated a higher level of awareness and visibility through several United Nations programs including the Global Classrooms.

6) Day of the African Child (Goal 2). The Day of the African Child was celebrated on 16 June 2004-07 in partnership with the Organization of African Unity (OAU), the South African Ambassador and the South African Consul General to the United States. It was officially declared the Day of the African Child in memory of the slain Black South African school children who were massacred in Soweto, South Africa, on 16 June 1976.

7) Rwanda/Liberia School-In-A-Box (Goal 2). The Links, Incorporated responded to a call from the United Nations' International Children's Fund (UNICEF) to form a partnership to promote the cause of basic education for the refugee children of Rwanda and Liberia. This program was entitled School-In-A-Box and involved purchasing a "school-in box" for $170USD. These self-contained mobile classrooms were designed to allow a teacher to set up a classroom anywhere in Rwanda and Liberia for up to 80 children.

8) Economic Empowerment for Women: Rwanda Path to Peace (Goals 2 and 5). The Rwanda Path to Peace puts income in the hands of Rwandan women, empowering them to take control of their lives. This program employs 2,500 basket weavers from across Rwanda. The weavers export baskets to raise income for their families. Following the genocide that occurred in Rwanda, this project helps strengthens torn families, offers an option to weavers who need medication and affords their children a better life. This program is in partnership with Macy Stores and the baskets are sold in their stores nationwide.

5. Nippon International Cooperation for Community Development (Special; 1996)

I. Introduction

i. The aims and purpose of the organization and its main course of action

Nippon International Cooperation for Community Development (NICCO), an international NGO based in Kyoto, Japan, which has no religious, political, or racial affiliations was founded in 1979 and accredited as an aggregate corporation by the Japanese Ministry of Foreign Affairs in 1993. With a vision to create a world free from poverty and conflicts in harmony with global environment, NICCO devotes itself to achieve the financial and mental self-reliance of people living in poverty-stricken regions and give emergency relief to the victims of natural disasters and complex emergencies. The main activities are: (a) sustainable rural development in harmony with the environment; (b) self-reliance support through income generation and vocational trainings, especially focusing on women; (c) education and healthcare programs for basic human needs; and, (d) Emergency humanitarian aid upon disaster strikes.

ii. Expanded Area of Activities

In addition to its current fields of activities in Asia and the Middle East, NICCO has expanded its activities to Malawi, Africa, since 2006, for the project of food security and sanitation.

II. Contribution of the organization to the work of the United Nations

i) Participation in the work of the Economic and Social Council and its Subsidiary bodies and/or major conferences and other United Nations Meetings

As NICCO allocated more resources on the relief and developmental projects in the field, it did not participate in the United Nations Economic and Social Council conferences in this reporting period. It is partially due to the lack of funding for attending those conferences held in New York or other venues outside of Japan.

Other meetings:

However, in the field, NICCO actively participated or hosted various meetings and symposiums: (i) Security meetings: Herat, Afghanistan; April 2002-May 2007; weekly; Information exchange with NGOs and United Nations Assistance Mission in Afghanistan (UNAMA).
