The Commission on Narcotic Drugs,

Recalling the provisions of the Single Convention on Narcotic Drugs of 1961,¹ that Convention as amended by the 1972 Protocol,² the Convention on Psychotropic Substances of 1971³ and the United Nations Convention against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances of 1988,⁴

Recalling also its resolution 51/18, entitled “Strengthening international support for States in West Africa in their efforts to combat drug trafficking”, in which it called upon Member States and relevant international organizations, in coordination with the Economic Community of West African States, to strengthen ongoing initiatives and programmes, in particular those designed by States in West Africa and the Economic Community of West African States, and to facilitate the development of other relevant programmes in order to combat drug trafficking through West Africa by providing technical and financial assistance,

Taking into consideration the Political Declaration and Plan of Action on International Cooperation towards an Integrated and Balanced Strategy to Counter the World Drug Problem, adopted at the high-level segment of its fifty-second session, in which Member States reaffirmed their unwavering determination and commitment to overcoming the world drug problem through national and international strategies to reduce both the illicit supply of and the demand for drugs and recognized that action against the world drug problem was a common and shared responsibility requiring an integrated and balanced approach, with full respect for the sovereignty of States,

Bearing in mind that at the meeting of the Security Council held on 21 January 2009 at which the Council considered the report of the Secretary-General on the United Nations Office for West Africa,⁵ speakers highlighted the critical situation related to drug trafficking and organized crime and the need for immediate action and a concerted response to that scourge, which posed a serious threat to security and stability in the subregion, and called for joint efforts to address the impact of drug trafficking and related crime through implementation of the Regional Response Action Plan, adopted, together with the Political Declaration on the Prevention of Drug Abuse, Illicit Drug Trafficking and Organized Crimes in West Africa, by the Heads of State and Government of the Economic Community of West African States in Abuja on 19 December 2008,

Also bearing in mind that in his report to the Security Council on the United Nations Office for West Africa, the Secretary-General reiterated his appeal to the international community to support the subregion in facing the formidable challenge posed by drug trafficking and stressed the critical importance of building capacity in the countries of the subregion and mobilizing resources to help regional States in confronting the threat at the national and cross-border levels,⁶

Recalling that in his address to the African Union at its summit meeting on 2 February 2009, the Secretary-General stated that drug trafficking posed a major challenge to security and governance in West Africa and that the United Nations and the Economic Community of West African States were working closely to roll back that dangerous phenomenon,

Fully aware of the threats that illicit drug trafficking can pose to peace, stability, development, the rule of law and public health in the countries of West Africa and of the risk that other organized criminal activities and threats, closely linked with drug trafficking, may affect the subregion,

Aware of the likely adverse consequences of the transit of illicit drugs on the population of the countries in West Africa, especially the harm to public health resulting from the abuse of illicit drugs,

Concerned that the progress made in the subregion in the area of peace and stability may be undermined by the flow of illicit drugs and proceeds derived from the illicit drug trade,

Acknowledging the ongoing efforts of the States of West Africa, the African Union and the Economic Community of West African States to address the problem of illicit drugs in Africa,

Welcoming the progress made in the implementation of the Guinea-Bissau Programme entitled “Combating and Preventing Drug Trafficking to and from Guinea-Bissau: Promoting the Rule of Law and the Effective Administration of Justice, 2007-2010” through the provision of equipment and specialized training in investigation and the establishment of judicial police entities,
