Achieving universal access to treatment, care and support for people with HIV, including injecting drug users, by 2010

The Commission on Narcotic Drugs,

Reiterating the commitments made in the Single Convention on Narcotic Drugs of 1961,¹ in particular in the preamble to the Convention, in which the parties expressed their concern with the health and welfare of mankind,

Noting with great concern the high prevalence and the alarming rise in the incidence of HIV/AIDS and other blood-borne diseases, including hepatitis C, among injecting drug users,

Concerned that the coverage of HIV prevention services is far from adequate in many countries with a high prevalence of injecting drug use and that HIV responses in many countries fail to meet international legal obligations to promote, protect and respect human rights,

Concerned also with the challenge posed by HIV and tuberculosis co-infection,

Reiterating the commitments made in the United Nations Millennium Declaration² and the Millennium Development Goals, in particular goal 6, on halting and beginning to reverse the spread of HIV/AIDS by 2015,

Taking note of Economic and Social Council resolution 2009/6 of 24 July 2009, entitled “Joint United Nations Programme on HIV/AIDS (UNAIDS)”,

Recognizing that the full realization of human rights and fundamental freedoms for all is an essential element in the global response to the HIV/AIDS pandemic, including in the areas of prevention, care, support and treatment,⁶ and that such a response reduces people’s vulnerability to HIV/AIDS and prevents stigma and related discrimination against people living with or at risk of HIV/AIDS,

Recalling Human Rights Council resolution 12/24, entitled “Access to medicine in the context of the right of everyone to the enjoyment of the highest attainable standard of physical and mental health”, and resolution 12/27, entitled “The protection of human rights in the context of human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) and acquired immunodeficiency syndrome (AIDS)”, adopted in 2009,

Reaffirming the central importance of promoting the involvement of people living with or affected by HIV, including drug users, in shaping responses to the HIV/AIDS epidemic, as well as of working with civil society, a key partner in the global response to HIV/AIDS, including the response to the spread of HIV/AIDS through drug injection,

Taking note of the report of the Executive Director of the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime entitled “Responding to the prevalence of HIV/AIDS and other blood-borne diseases among drug users”,⁷
