I. Introduction

1. This document sets out the rationale and the process followed in revising the UNDP financial regulations and rules. Revisions to the financial regulations and rules are necessary at this point in time in order to make them compliant with upcoming adoption by UNDP of IPSAS and the introduction of the new cost classifications as required for the integrated budget.
2. The Administrator seeks the approval of the Executive Board of the proposed revisions to the financial regulations, and further requests the Executive Board to take note of the amended financial rules circulated herein.
3. UNDP has submitted this document and its annexes to the Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions (ACABQ) for review. At the time of submission of this document the ACABQ had not yet produced its report. Once the report is finalized, if changes are required, UNDP will communicate these changes to the Executive Board through a corrigendum. In addition the United Nations Board of Auditors, the UNDP Audit Advisory Committee, the United Nations Office of Legal Affairs and the UNDP Office of Audit and Investigations have also reviewed the revised financial regulations and rules, and, where applicable, their comments have been incorporated.

II. Purpose of the revision

4. The financial regulations and rules govern the broad financial management of UNDP and the funds administered by UNDP, including the budgeting and accounting of resources. In order to reflect the adoption of IPSAS, in accordance with General Assembly resolution 60/283 of July 2006 and the Executive Board decision 2007/10, and the revised cost classifications of the Joint report of UNDP, UNFPA and UNICEF on the road map to an integrated budget: cost classification and results-based budgeting, approved by the Executive Board in its decision DP/2010/32, changes are now proposed to reflect the new accounting standards and terminology.
5. The changes proposed maintain the existing character and nature of the financial regulations and rules that govern financial management. They are used not only by those who are engaged in the area of financial management, but also by those engaged in areas of programmatic management of UNDP, who for the large part are not accounting professionals. The revised financial regulations and rules shall be operationalized by UNDP policies and procedures.

IPSAS

6. The UNDP accounting policy is based on the United Nations System Accounting Standards (UNSAS), which is based on a modified accrual method of accounting. Beginning 1 January 2012, UNDP will implement IPSAS, which is based on a full accrual method. IPSAS will result in a change in accounting policy and in the way transactions are recorded. UNDP will apply all IPSAS standards applicable to UNDP and the impact of these standards have been incorporated in the proposed financial regulations and rules.

7. The following highlights some of the most significant changes:

- (a) Under UNSAS the following principles and terminology are used:
- Income – represents cash received in UNDP bank accounts.
 - Expenditure – represents total charges incurred whether paid or unpaid, namely, the sum of disbursements and unliquidated obligations.
 - Non-expendable equipment – represents assets purchased and expensed in the financial statements.
- (b) Under IPSAS the following principles and terminology will be used:
- Revenue – represents funds received and funds to be received.
 - Expenses – represents disbursements and accruals for goods and services received, and the use or impairment of assets, dependent on the implementation arrangement and in accordance with UNDP administrative instructions issued by the Comptroller for a financial period. Expenses also include all costs related to employee benefits.
 - Property, plant and equipment - represents tangible assets held for use in the activities of UNDP or for administrative purposes and expected to be used during more than one financial period.

New cost classifications

8. The new cost classification has resulted in new definitions and terminology to be reflected in the financial regulations and rules.

Other changes

9. Other changes were made to reflect current organizational structures, working methods and to enhance consistency and clarity of terminology. The UNCDF annex to UNDP financial regulations and rules has been updated to reflect IPSAS and the new cost classification changes. It has also been updated to align it with current UNDP financial regulations and rules. Numbering changes have also been made to reflect the amendments.

III. Steps followed for the revision

10. A joint process was undertaken by the United Nations Secretariat, UNDP, UNFPA and the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) to achieve a level of harmonization on principle changes as a result of IPSAS and the new cost classifications. Although IPSAS affects all four organizations, the new cost classifications affect only UNDP, UNFPA and UNICEF.

IV. Overview of proposed revisions

11. The proposed amendments to the financial regulations and rules are presented in annex 1, annex 2 and annex 3 of this document. Annex 1 provides a reasoning for and categorization of all changes proposed. In this annex, the reason for each change is in a separate category. The corresponding financial regulations and rules that are to be amended are then listed in that category. Annex 2 includes a table which contains the original financial regulations and rules with the amendment being reflected in track changes so that the manner in which the regulation or rule has been amended is readily identifiable. Annex 3 includes the changes to the UNCDF annex to UNDP financial regulations and rules.

V. Implementation of the revised financial regulations and rules

12. Should the Executive Board approve the proposed amended financial regulations and further take note of the amended financial rules, the Administrator will subsequently issue the proposed revised financial regulations and rules in accordance with regulation 2.02. This issuance must occur prior to 1 January 2012, to facilitate the upcoming adoption of IPSAS.

1. UNDP accounting policy is based on UNSAS, which is based on a modified accrual method of accounting. Beginning 1 January 2012, UNDP will implement IPSAS, which is based on a full accrual method. Under UNSAS financial statements are issued biennially. Under IPSAS, financial statements will be issued annually.
2. In the current financial regulations and rules, the use of the word “funds” has different meanings depending on the context. It means either “resources” or “cash”. The term “funds” has also been used to reflect short-term liquidity. Where the term “funds” has not been used in the latter context, it has been replaced with the term “resources”.
3. Under IPSAS, it is proposed that the following terms be used in the financial regulations and rules:
 - Financial period: The financial period under UNSAS referred to the two-year period for the financial statements and the budget period. The financial period under IPSAS shall consist of a single calendar year and shall also represent the period for which the financial statements are prepared.
 - Budget period: The budget period under UNSAS referred to the “biennium”. While the budget period will continue to be prepared on a two-year basis, it is proposed that the term “biennium” no longer be used in order to avoid any confusion between the previous financial statements which were also prepared on a biennium basis. The term “budget period” shall consist of two consecutive calendar years, the first of which shall be an even year. The budget period may change based on future proposals and decisions of the Executive Board in the context of implementation of the integrated budget.
