Introduction

1. Seychelles views the Universal Periodic Review (UPR) process as a unique and vital mechanism in ensuring the promotion and protection of human rights. As a strong supporter of this process, Seychelles has participated actively in the UPR. Seychelles is privileged to participate in this initiative and welcomes suggestions to enhance its national human rights programmes.
2. The present addendum represents the official response of the Republic of Seychelles to the 150 recommendations from the 60 UN member States during its review on the 25th of January, 2016. The responses to the recommendations are reflective of continuing efforts to promote and protect human rights of all persons, in collaboration with non-governmental and civil society partners.
3. In accordance with paragraphs 27 and 32 of the annex to Human Rights Council resolution 5/1, Seychelles provides information in this addendum regarding its position on each of the recommendations made to it.
4. For each recommendation, Seychelles has taken one of the following positions: accepted, accepted due to full implementation, or noted. Some recommendations may contain more than one position due to varying issues being addressed.
5. For the purposes of clarity, the recommendations are listed in the order in which they appear in the Working Group's Report (A/HRC/32/13).

Responses to recommendations

- 120.1. Seychelles notes the recommendation. In line with its national and constitutional processes, Seychelles will study international human rights instruments and make decisions on whether to become a party on a case by case basis.
- 120.2. Seychelles notes the recommendation and refers to its comments in 120.1.
- 120.3. Seychelles notes the recommendation. The domestic processes in place to ratify international human rights treaties proceed in a timely manner, and there is no identified need to speed-up the existing processes.

- 120.24. Seychelles notes the recommendation and will study the Convention in line with its domestic processes.
- 120.25. Seychelles accepts the recommendation.
- 120.26. Seychelles accepts the recommendation.
- 120.27. Seychelles accepts the recommendation.
- 120.28. Seychelles accepts the recommendation.
- 120.29. Seychelles accepts the recommendation.
- 120.30. Seychelles accepts the recommendation.
- 120.31. Seychelles accepts the recommendation.
- 120.32. Seychelles accepts the recommendation.
- 120.33. Seychelles accepts the recommendation.
- 120.34. Seychelles accepts the recommendation.
- 120.35. Seychelles notes the recommendation. Presently, a child between the ages of 7 to 12 can only be held criminally responsible if he or she demonstrates to a court “the capacity to know that [he or she] ought not to do the act or make the omission”. No child under 12 has been convicted under this provision for at least 40 years. It is also noted that there is no universally accepted minimum age of criminality.
- 120.36. Seychelles partly accepts the recommendation in so far as the reform of the juvenile justice system and safeguarding the integrity of minors who are held in detention centres.
- Seychelles notes the recommendation to raise the minimum age of criminal responsibility, and refers to its comments under 120.35.
- 120.37. Seychelles notes the recommendation, and refers to its comments under 120.35.
- 120.38. Seychelles notes the recommendation, and refers to its comments under 120.35.

120.39. Seychelles accepts the recommendation.

120.40. Seychelles accepts the recommendation.

120.41. Seychelles accepts the recommendation.

120.42. Seychelles accepts the recommendation.

The 'Education Act, 2004' is being amended to explicitly prohibit corporal punishment in schools. Consideration is also being given to amend the 'Children Act, 1982' for this purpose. It is to be noted however that cases of corporal punishment are already being prosecuted under assault provisions of the 'Penal Code, 1955'.

120.43. Seychelles accepts the recommendation and refers to its comments under 120.42.

120.44. Seychelles accepts the recommendation.

120.45. Seychelles accepts the recommendation.

120.46. Seychelles accepts the recommendation.

120.47. Seychelles accepts the recommendation. Following a proposal made by the Government, in May 2016 the National Assembly approved the repeal of paragraphs (a) and (c) of Section 151 of the 'Penal Code, 1955' which can criminalize acts of a homosexual nature, as well as potentially give rise to discrimination and homophobic sentiments.

120.48. Seychelles accepts the recommendation and refers to its comments under 120.47.

120.49. Seychelles accepts the recommendation and refers to its comments under 120.47.

120.52. Seychelles accepts the recommendation and refers to its comments under 120.47.

120.53. Seychelles accepts the recommendation and refers to its comments under 120.47.

120.54. Seychelles accepts the recommendation.

120.55. Seychelles accepts due to full implementation the recommendation to amend the Public Order Act to allow for freedom of assembly.

The 'Public Order Act, 1959' was replaced after it was identified by the Electoral Reform Process as one of the legislations in need of review and revision in 2011. The subsequent enactment of the revised the 'Public Order Act, 2013' met with significant criticism, noting that the Act was not fully in line with the recommendations provided by the Electoral Reform Process. In July 2015, the Constitutional Court of Seychelles found 18 sections and subsections of the Act to be unconstitutional, and the Cabinet of Ministers made a recommendation to the National Assembly to adopt a new Public Assembly Bill. The case was a demonstration of Seychelles' commitment to good governance and the rule of law, as well as the independence of the Judiciary and the effective roles of accountability being practiced by the various arms of Government.

Seychelles accepts the recommendation regarding libel laws.

The challenge of climate change and its destructive impact upon our islands – as well as the entire global community – is a key priority for the Government of Seychelles.

Seychelles will steadfastly continue to raise awareness on this issue and pursue effective climate change policies both on the national and international stages.
