

General Assembly
Economic and Social Council

Distr.
GENERAL

A/40/277*
E/1985/70*
22 May 1985

ORIGINAL: ENGLISH

GENERAL ASSEMBLY
Fortieth session
Item 107 of the preliminary list
ALTERNATIVE APPROACHES AND WAYS AND MEANS WITHIN THE UNITED NATIONS SYSTEM FOR IMPROVING THE EFFECTIVE ENJOYMENT OF HUMAN RIGHTS AND FUNDAMENTAL FREEDOMS

ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL
First regular session of 1985
Item 16 of the provisional agenda
HUMAN RIGHTS

Draft declaration on the right to development

Note by the Secretary-General

1. The Commission on Human Rights, by its resolution 1985/43 on the right to development reiterated that the right to development was an inalienable human right, took note with interest of the report of the Working Group of Governmental Experts on the Right to Development (E/CN.4/1985/11) and decided to transmit to the General Assembly, through the Economic and Social Council, the report of the Working Group, the part of the report of the Commission on its forty-first session dealing with the question of the right to development, the summary records of the Commission's discussion on the question during its forty-first session, and any other relevant documents, so as to enable the Assembly to adopt a declaration on the right to development.
2. It may be recalled in this connection that, by paragraph 17 of its resolution 39/145 of 14 December 1984, the General Assembly requested the Secretary-General to transmit to it, at its fortieth session, a report containing information on the progress made by the Working Group in the drafting of a declaration on the right to development.

* Reissued for technical reasons.

 A/40/50/Rev.1.

 E/1985/30 and Corr.1.

3. Accordingly, the Secretary-General has the honour to submit to the Economic and Social Council, for transmission to the General Assembly, the following documents:

(a) Report of the Working Group of Governmental Experts on the Right to Development (E/CN.4/1985/11);

(b) Chapter VIII of the report of the Commission on Human Rights on its forty-first session, 1/ concerning the question of the right to development;

(c) The summary records of the meetings of the Commission on Human Rights at its forty-first session at which the question of the right to development was considered (E/CN.4/1985/SR.42-44, 55 and 56);

(d) The text of resolution 1985/43 of the Commission on Human Rights;

(e) Letter dated 7 March 1985 from the representative of Yugoslavia to the Commission on Human Rights addressed to the Chairman of the Commission to which was annexed the text of a draft declaration on the right to development (E/CN.4/1985/62).

4. For the convenience of delegations, resolution 1985/43 of the Commission on Human Rights and the text of the draft declaration on the right to development annexed to the above-mentioned letter from the representative of Yugoslavia (E/CN.4/1985/62) are contained in annexes I and II below. The report of the Commission's Working Group of Governmental Experts on the Right to Development will be made available separately to the members of the Economic and Social Council.

1/ The full report will be issued as Official Records of the Economic and Social Council, 1985, Supplement No. 2 (E/1985/22).

ANNEX I

Resolution adopted by the Commission on Human Rights at its forty-first session*

1985/43. The right to development

The Commission on Human Rights,

Considering the obligation of States under the Charter of the United Nations to promote universal respect for, and observance of, human rights and fundamental freedoms,

Considering also the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights and the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights,

Recalling General Assembly resolutions 3201 (S-VI) and 3202 (S-VI) of 1 May 1974, containing the Declaration and the Programme of Action on the Establishment of a New International Economic Order, and General Assembly resolutions 3281 (XXIX) of 12 December 1974, containing the Charter of Economic Rights and Duties of States, 3362 (S-VII) of 16 September 1975, 32/130 of 16 December 1977, 34/46 of 23 November 1979, 35/56 of 5 December 1980, containing the International Development Strategy for the Third United Nations Development Decade and other relevant General Assembly resolutions,

Reiterating once again that the establishment of the new international economic order is an essential element for the effective promotion and full enjoyment of human rights and fundamental freedoms for all,

Recognizing that co-operation among all nations on the basis of respect for the independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity of each State, including the right of each people to choose freely its own socio-economic and political system and to exercise full sovereignty over its wealth and natural resources, is essential for the promotion of peace and development,

Reiterating that the right to development is an inalienable human right and that equality of opportunities for development constitutes a prerogative both of nations and of the individuals who compose them,

Reiterating once again that the international community should accord, or continue to accord, priority to the search for solutions to the mass and flagrant violations of human rights of peoples and persons affected by situations such as those resulting from apartheid, from all forms of racial discrimination, from colonialism, from foreign domination and occupation, from aggression and threats against national sovereignty, national unity and territorial integrity, as well as from the refusal to recognize the fundamental rights of peoples to self-determination and of every nation to the exercise of full sovereignty over its wealth and natural resources,

* Adopted at the 56th meeting, on 14 March 1985, by a roll-call vote of 25 to 10, with 6 abstentions.

Recalling also the Declaration on Principles of International Law concerning Friendly Relations and Co-operation among States in accordance with the Charter of the United Nations a/ and the Final Document of the Tenth Special Session of the General Assembly, b/ which was the first devoted to disarmament,

Particularly concerned at the deterioration in the conditions of life in some regions of the world and at the adverse effects thereof on full enjoyment of human rights in those same regions, and especially at the very grave economic situation suffered by the African Continent, as well as at the terrible effects caused by the heavy burden which external indebtedness means for the peoples of Latin America, Asia and Africa,

Convinced that the drafting of a declaration on the right to development will make a useful contribution to the promotion and enjoyment of human rights and fundamental freedoms,

Bearing in mind General Assembly resolution 39/145 of 14 December 1984, requesting the Secretary-General to transmit to the Assembly at its fortieth session a detailed report containing information on the progress made by the Working Group of Governmental Experts of the Commission on Human Rights in the drafting of a declaration on the right to development,

Recalling its resolution 1984/16 of 6 March 1984,

1. Reiterates that the right to development is an inalienable human right and that equality of opportunities to development constitutes a prerogative both of nations and of the individuals who compose them;
2. Reaffirms once again that the international community should accord, or continue to accord, priority to the search for solutions to the mass and flagrant violations of human rights of peoples and persons victims of situations such as those mentioned in paragraph 1 (e) of General Assembly resolution 32/130;
3. Notes with interest the report of the Working Group of Governmental Experts on the Right to Development c/ and the work it has accomplished, as apparent from its report;

a/ General Assembly resolution 2625 (XXV).

b/ General Assembly resolution S-10/2.

c/ E/CN.4/1985/11.

4. Decides to transmit to the General Assembly, through the Economic and Social Council, the report of the Working Group, the part of the report of the Commission on Human Rights dealing with the question of the right to development, the summary records of the Commission's discussion on the question during its forty-first session and any other relevant documents, so as to enable the Assembly to adopt a declaration on the right to development;
5. Decides to convene the Working Group for three weeks in January 1986 to study the measures necessary to promote the right to development;
6. Requests the Working Group to submit to the Commission on Human Rights, at its forty-second session, a report and proposals concerning concrete measures to promote the right to development;
7. Requests the Secretary-General to provide all necessary assistance to the Working Group;
8. Decides to consider this question as a matter of high priority at its forty-second session.

ANNEX II

Draft declaration on the right to development*

The General Assembly,

Bearing in mind the purposes and principles of the Charter of the United Nations relating to the achievement of international co-operation in solving international problems of an economic, social, cultural or humanitarian nature, and in promoting and encouraging respect for human rights and fundamental freedoms for all without distinction as to race, sex, language or religion,

Recognizing that development is a comprehensive economic, social, cultural and political process which aims at the constant improvement of the well-being of the entire population and of all individuals on the basis of their active, free and meaningful participation in development and in the fair distribution of benefits resulting therefrom,

Considering that under the provisions of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights everyone is entitled to a social and international order in which the rights and freedoms set forth in that Declaration can be fully realized,

Recalling the provisions of the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights and the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights,

Recalling further the relevant agreements, conventions, resolutions, recommendations and other instruments of the United Nations and its specialized agencies concerning the integral development of the human being, economic and social progress and development of all peoples including those instruments concerning decolonization, prevention of discrimination, respect for, and observance of, human rights and fundamental freedoms, maintenance of international peace and security and further promotion of friendly relations and co-operation among States in accordance with the Charter of the United Nations,

Recalling the right of peoples to self-determination by virtue of which they have the right freely to determine their political status and to pursue their economic, social and cultural development,

Recalling further the right of peoples to exercise their full and complete sovereignty over all their natural wealth and resources in accordance with the relevant principles of international law,

Mindful of the obligation of States under the Charter of the United Nations to promote universal respect for, and observance of, human rights and fundamental freedoms for all without distinction of any kind such as race, colour, sex, language, religion, political or other opinion, national or social origin, property, birth or other status,

* Annex to document E/CN.4/1985/62.

Considering that the elimination of the massive and flagrant violations of the human rights of the peoples and individuals affected by situations such as those resulting from colonialism, neo-colonialism, apartheid, all forms of racism and racial discrimination, foreign domination and occupation, aggression and threats against national sovereignty, national unity and territorial integrity and threats of war would contribute to the establishment of circumstances propitious to the development of a great part of mankind,

Concerned at the existence of serious obstacles to development as well as to the complete fulfilment of human beings and of peoples constituted, inter alia, by the denial of civil, political, economic, social and cultural rights, and considering that all human rights and fundamental freedoms are indivisible and interdependent and that, in order to promote development, equal attention and urgent consideration should be given to the implementation, promotion and protection of civil, political, economic, social and cultural rights and that, accordingly, the promotion of, respect for, and enjoyment of certain human rights and fundamental freedoms cannot justify the denial of other human rights and fundamental freedoms,

Considering that international peace and security are essential elements for the realization of the right to development,

Reaffirming that there is a close relationship between disarmament and development and that progress in the field of disarmament would considerably promote progress in the field of development and that resources released through disarmament measures should be devoted to the economic and social development and well-being of all peoples and in particular those of the developing countries,

Recognizing that the human person is the central subject of the development process and that development policy should therefore make the human being the main participant and beneficiary of development,

Recognizing that the creation of conditions favourable to the development of peoples and individuals is the primary responsibility of their States,

Aware that efforts to promote and protect human rights at the international level should be accompanied by efforts to establish a new international economic order,

Confirming that the right to development is an inalienable human right and that equality of opportunity for development is a prerogative both of nations and of individuals who make up nations,

Proclaims the following Declaration on the right to development:

Article 1

1. The right to development is an inalienable human right by virtue of which every human person and all peoples are entitled to participate in, contribute to, and enjoy economic, social, cultural and political development, in which all human rights and fundamental freedoms can be fully realized.

/...

2. The human right to development also implies the full realization of the right of peoples to self-determination which includes the exercise of their inalienable right to full sovereignty over all their natural wealth and resources, in accordance with the relevant principles of international law.

Article 2

1. The human person is the central subject of development and should be the active participant and beneficiary of the right to development.

2. All human beings have a responsibility for development, individually and collectively, taking into account the need for full respect of their human rights and fundamental freedoms as well as their duties to the community, which alone can ensure the free and complete fulfilment of the human being, and they should therefore promote and protect an appropriate political, social and economic order for development.

3. States have the right and the duty to formulate appropriate national development policies which aim at the constant improvement of the well-being of the entire population and of all individuals, on the basis of their active, free and meaningful participation in development and in the fair distribution of the benefits resulting therefrom.

4. Associations and other groups aiming to achieve the development of their members are of special significance for the realization of the right to development and should therefore be respected by States.

Article 3

1. States have the primary responsibility for the creation of national and international conditions favourable to the realization of the right to development.

2. The realization of the right to development requires full respect for the principles of international law concerning friendly relations and co-operation among States in accordance with the Charter of the United Nations.

3. States have the duty to co-operate with each other in ensuring development and eliminating obstacles to development. States should fulfil their rights and duties in such a manner as to promote a new international economic order based on sovereign equality, interdependence, mutual interest and co-operation among all States, as well as to encourage the observance and realization of human rights.

Article 4

1. States have the duty to take steps, individually and collectively, to formulate international development policies with a view to facilitating the full realization of the right to development.

2. Sustained action is required to promote more rapid development of developing countries. As a complement to the efforts of developing countries effective international co-operation is essential in providing these countries with appropriate means and facilities to foster their comprehensive development.

Article 5

States shall take resolute steps to eliminate the massive and flagrant violations of the human rights of peoples and human beings affected by situations such as those resulting from apartheid, all forms of racism and racial discrimination, colonialism, foreign domination and occupation, aggression, foreign interference and threats against national sovereignty, national unity and territorial integrity, threats of war and refusal to recognize the fundamental right of peoples to self-determination.

Article 6

1. All States should co-operate with a view to promoting, encouraging and strengthening universal respect for and observance of all human rights and fundamental freedoms for all without any distinction as to race, sex, language and religion.

2. All human rights and fundamental freedoms are indivisible and interdependent; equal attention and urgent consideration should be given to the implementation, promotion and protection of civil, political, economic, social and cultural rights.

3. States should take steps to eliminate obstacles to development resulting from failure to observe civil and political rights as well as economic, social and cultural rights.

Article 7

All States should promote the establishment, maintenance and strengthening of international peace and security and, to that end, should do their utmost to achieve general and complete disarmament under effective international control as well as to ensure that the resources released by effective disarmament measures are used for comprehensive development, in particular that of the developing countries.

Article 8

1. States should undertake, at the national level, all necessary measures for the realization of the right to development and shall ensure, inter alia, equality of opportunity for all in their access to basic resources, education, health services, food, housing, employment and the fair distribution of income. Effective measures should be undertaken to ensure that women have an active role in the development process. Appropriate economic and social reforms should be made with a view to eradicating all social injustices.

2. States should encourage popular participation in all spheres as an important factor in development and in the full realization of all human rights.

Article 9

1. All the aspects of the right to development set forth in this Declaration are indivisible and interdependent and each of them should be considered in the context of the whole.

2. Nothing in this Declaration shall be construed as being contrary to the purposes and principles of the United Nations, or as implying that any State, group or person has a right to engage in any activity or to perform any act aimed at the violation of the rights set forth in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and in the International Covenants on Human Rights.

Article 10

Steps should be taken to ensure the full exercise, further codification and progressive enhancement of the right to development, including the formulation, adoption and implementation of policy, legislative and other measures at the national and international level.
