Dear Sir,

As a citizen of the United States of America, I protest the governmental structure of the United States' imposition of their will of objection toward the Palauans' struggle to uphold the position of their anti-nuclear Constitution.

There is a difference between the President's opinion and the citizens'. In a democratic country such as the United States we (citizens) are all part of the Government. This distinction must be understood.

I gladly support and give permission to you to take any supportive action which needs to be taken on behalf of the Palauans' position.

Truly yours,

(Signed) Christopher JONES
