Letter dated 5 December 2016 from the Panel of Experts on the Central African Republic extended pursuant to Security Council resolution 2262 (2016) addressed to the President of the Security Council

The members of the Panel of Experts on the Central African Republic extended pursuant to resolution 2262 (2016) have the honour to transmit herewith, in accordance with paragraph 23 (c) of resolution 2262 (2016), the final report on their work.

The attached report was provided to the Security Council Committee established pursuant to resolution 2127 (2013) concerning the Central African Republic on 4 November 2016 and was considered by the Committee on 2 December 2016.

The Panel of Experts would appreciate it if the present letter and its annex were brought to the attention of the members of the Security Council and issued as a document of the Council.

Final report of the Panel of Experts on the Central African Republic extended pursuant to Security Council resolution 2262 (2016)

Summary

Despite important post-transition achievements, such as the launching of efforts towards the national disarmament, demobilization, repatriation and reintegration of armed groups and revitalized regional cooperation, the newly-elected Central African Government has not been able to come to grips with a deteriorating security situation, observed since June 2016. While violence among ex-Séléka factions and between anti-balaka and ex-Séléka first appeared to be localized and largely driven by internal power struggles and competition over territory, incidents have grown more severe and widespread during the months of September and October 2016.

Moreover, violent incidents in Bangui and the hinterland are increasingly interconnected, with political agendas entwined in the fighting. A violent exodus on 12 August 2016 of ex-Séléka militia from the PK5 neighbourhood in Bangui, including Abdoulaye Hissène and sanctioned individual Haroun Gaye, created a manhunt that was led by anti-balaka, but with the tacit support of some Bangui politicians. In mid-September, anti-balaka fighters from Bangui travelled to confront ex-Séléka, committing violence south of Kaga-Bandoro, where violence further escalated mid-October when ex-Séléka fighters assaulted the town's camp of internally displaced persons.

Such recent acts of violence by ex-Séléka factions and their endeavours to reunify in Bria have reactivated anti-balaka groups in Bangui, some of them galvanized by the return of Jean-François Bozizé, former Defence Minister and son of sanctioned individual and former President François Bozizé. Some civil society leaders and politicians have used popular resentment to criticize the United Nations Multidimensional Integrated Stabilization Mission in the Central African Republic (MINUSCA) for its alleged inability to contain ex-Séléka factions, calling for the lifting of the arms embargo and the rearmament of the Central African Armed Forces (FACA) under the guise of protecting civilians.

Following the killing of a FACA officer in the PK5 neighbourhood on 5 October 2016 and the ensuing deadly clashes and retaliations, civil society leader Gervais Lakosso organized a mass violent protest against MINUSCA in Bangui on 24 October. The protests left several people dead and paralysed the capital for days. Five peacekeepers were injured.

Sanctioned individual Nourredine Adam has — to date — failed to reunify ex-Séléka factions. During the long-awaited General Assembly held in Bria in late October 2016, only the Rassemblement patriotique pour le renouveau de la Centrafrique (RPRC) joined Adam's Front populaire pour la renaissance de la Centrafrique (FPRC). The Mouvement patriotique pour la Centrafrique (MPC) of Mahamat Al-Khatim and the Union pour la paix en Centrafrique (UPC) of Ali Darrassa stuck to their independent posture.

In the centre of the country, UPC, in particular, has further extended its area of control, moving to the south and east from its headquarters in Bambari in order to control important diamond mining areas around Nzako and arms trafficking routes spreading from the Democratic Republic of the Congo into the country. In the north, arms trafficking, for the benefit of FPRC, runs through Am Dafok and Tissi, a town that straddles the borders between the Central African Republic and Chad.

In the east, the Lord's Resistance Army has been on a spree, carrying out a number of civilian abductions. The group's trading activities in Kafia Kingi suffered a blow in January 2016 when a number of fighters were expelled after a fallout with local traders. The group continues to loot gold and diamonds and to poach wildlife, as do competing groups of Sudanese poachers.

Most of the southwest of the country is free from violent conflict. However, for a brief period following the violent events in Bangui in June 2016 there was an increase in the number of incidents of harassment of Muslim returnees and internally displaced persons. While periodically under pressure, freedom of movement of Muslim diamond collectors is improving. The Panel does not therefore place in doubt the recent decisions by a Kimberley Process monitoring team to readmit the sub-prefectures of Berbérati, Nola, Carnot and Boda to the international diamond trade.

While having an important signalling effect, targeted sanctions against individuals and entities listed by the Committee have been poorly implemented. After being listed, Eugène Ngaïkosset and Alfred Yékatom have received their salaries as army officers. Yékatom's salary payments have stopped, not as a result of sanctions, but rather because he had to resign from the army to run for legislative elections. The Panel has received only verbal assurances that he is not paid as a parliamentarian.

Furthermore, judiciary procedures against listed individuals and other spoilers identified in the Panel's previous reports have been delayed. Arrest warrants against sanctioned individuals Nourredine Adam, Haroun Gaye and Eugène Ngaïkosset have not been carried out. Jean-Francis Bozizé was arrested by MINUSCA but soon released under judicial supervision by the Central African authorities. Hamit Tidjani, a member of Abdoulaye Hissène's network, who was also arrested by MINUSCA and transferred to Central African authorities, has remained in custody.

The judiciary of the Central African Republic has failed to issue arrest warrants for two known perpetrators of violence in Bangui: the former director of Central African Office for the Suppression of Banditry, Robert Yékoua-Ketté, and the army officer Legrand Yamanza, who killed a Senegalese peacekeeper in June 2016. Investigations are formally ongoing but in reality little effort has been made to apprehend them.

I. Background

1. On 27 January 2016, the Security Council adopted resolution 2262 \(2016\), by which the Panel of Experts was mandated, inter alia, to provide to the Security Council Committee established pursuant to resolution 2127 \(2013\) a final report no later than 31 December 2016.

2. During the reporting period (July to October 2016), the Panel maintained an almost permanent presence in the country. Panel members travelled to 12 out of the 16 prefectures (provinces). As was the case in its 2016 midterm (S/2016/694) and 2015 final (S/2015/936) reports, the present report is structured by non-administrative regions, reflecting distinct security dynamics on the ground (see map in annex 1.1). However, in the present report, an introductory chapter has been added in order to provide a regional and national perspective on armed groups, the arms embargo, listed individuals and other spoilers previously identified by the Panel.

Cooperation

3. At the regional level, the Panel conducted official visits to the Sudan, Ethiopia and Uganda. For the second time during the current mandate, and despite a letter dated 3 October 2016 from the Committee expressing support for the Panel's visit, the Republic of the Congo did not accommodate the proposed visit.

4. During its mandate, the Panel addressed 58 official communications to Member States, international organizations and private entities, receiving various levels of response to its requests (see annex 1.2).

5. The Panel notes with appreciation the support and collaboration of the United Nations Multidimensional Integrated Stabilization Mission in the Central African Republic (MINUSCA), in particular its Joint Mission Analysis Cell, for its logistical support and exchange of information.

Methodology

6. The Panel endeavours to ensure compliance with the standards recommended by the Informal Working Group of the Security Council on General Issues of Sanctions in its report of 22 December 2006 (see S/2006/997, annex). While it intends to be as transparent as possible, in situations where identifying sources would expose them or others to unacceptable safety risks, the Panel intends to withhold identifying information.

7. The Panel is equally committed to the highest degree of fairness and will endeavour to make available to parties, where appropriate and possible, any information in the report for which those parties may be cited, for their review, comment and response within a specified deadline.

8. The Panel safeguards the independence of its work against any effort to undermine its impartiality or create a perception of bias. The Panel approved the text, conclusions and recommendations in the present report on the basis of consensus prior to its transmission by the Panel's Coordinator to the President of the Security Council.

II. Armed groups, the arms embargo, listed individuals and other spoilers in the international, regional and national context

A. International engagement and regional challenges

9. The installation in April 2016 of the newly elected Government, under President Faustin-Archange Touadéra, put an end to the international mediation architecture that had been in place since 2013. The creation of an International Support Group in lieu of the International Contact Group on the Central African Republic symbolizes the new framework for international engagement.¹ The end of the transition also terminated the international mediation role played by consecutive Presidents of the Economic Community of Central African States (ECCAS), initially Chad and subsequently the Republic of the Congo.

10. On 31 October 2016, in Bangui, the Minister of Defence of France, Jean-Yves Le Drian, confirmed the end of Operation Sangaris and his country's continuing support for stabilization efforts through contributions to MINUSCA and the European Union Military Training Mission in the Central African Republic.

11. Central African Economic and Monetary Community (CEMAC) and the African Union also played a significant role in contributing troops to peacekeeping operations and financing the transition. Whereas the African Union is currently reviewing its mandate and its role in the country,² CEMAC has offered to financially support the disarmament, demobilization, repatriation and reintegration programme and to train elements of the Central African Armed Forces (FACA).³

12. Regional cross-border challenges such as the migratory herding of cattle, arms and ammunition trafficking and the movement of foreign fighters must be seen in the context of multiple crises in the region. Darfur, in the Sudan, South Sudan, the Democratic Republic of the Congo, Cameroon, the Republic of the Congo and Chad all face varying degrees of instability that have negatively impacted the security situation of the Central African Republic.

13. Along these lines, the inability of Central African authorities to exert State authority over the entire territory has also contributed to instability in neighbouring countries. The Panel has previously reported on the Front démocratique du peuple centrafricain (FDPC) taking people hostage in Cameroon (see S/2016/694, para. 105). In the same vein, the Government of Chad recently informed the authorities of the Central African Republic about regular incursions of armed men from the Central African Republic into Chadian territory (see annex 2.1).

14. As he did during the electoral period, President Touadéra continued to visit neighbouring countries and relevant partners in the region with a view to mobilizing support for the country's reconstruction needs. The end of the international mediation role played by the Republic of the Congo coincides with a gradual diplomatic re-engagement with the Central African Republic by Chad⁴ and a warming of relations between the Central African Republic and the Sudan.⁵

15. Chad and the Sudan are particularly significant because of the long and porous borders they share with the Central African Republic, as well as the alleged presence of nationals of those countries in various ex-Séléka factions. Paradoxically, the Sudan has been absent from existing conflict resolution forums until now.⁶ In addition, the Sudanese authorities deny that Oumar Younous, listed by the Sanctions Committee on 20 August 2015, and Moussa Assimeh, one of the most important Séléka generals in 2013, are Sudanese nationals.⁷

16. Despite numerous problems (see para. 178 below), the renewed commitment of the Central African Republic, Chad and the Sudan to implement the tripartite arrangement — that is, the tripartite force established by the Central African Republic, Chad and the Sudan in Khartoum on 23 May 2011 — is an indication of the acknowledgement by these Governments of transborder vulnerabilities. However, the arrangement's objectives of countering arms trafficking and cross-border movements of armed groups still need to be demonstrated by the tripartite force.

17. While the issue of foreign fighters in the Central African Republic is the one that usually relates to Chadian and Sudanese nationals, the Panel obtained information concerning opposition figures of the Democratic Republic of the Congo having arrived in Bangui. Among them is Freddy Libeba Baongoli, a former rebel in the Mouvement de libération du Congo of Jean Pierre Bemba.⁸ Baongoli supposedly arrived in Bangui on 5 July 2016 (see annex 2.2). On 24 October 2016, he posted a video online, showing himself in military attire, announcing an ultimatum for Congolese President Joseph Kabila to step down (see annex 2.3).

18. Uncertainty related to Uganda's planned withdrawal from the African Union Regional Task Force against the Lord's Resistance Army is a source of concern for both the Government of the Central African Republic and the subregion as a whole.⁹ At the moment of writing, the Uganda People's Defence Forces (UPDF) had already ⁴ Although Chad's border with the Central African Republic is still closed, diplomatic relations have improved in recent months. Chad is the country that President Touadéra has visited the most since his election. Meeting and telephone interview with security actors in Bangui and N'Djamena, May and September 2016.

withdrawn from certain positions in the country, but continues to maintain an operational base in Obo.¹⁰ It is still unclear how the vacuum would be filled. Although FACA has a presence of 30 elements in the city of Obo, the force is neither trained nor equipped to fight the Lord's Resistance Army. The African Union has made an appeal for other members to support its Regional Task Force, the mandate of which has been extended until May 2017.¹¹

19. An additional regional challenge for the African Union Regional Task Force is the spillover of conflict from South Sudan to the Central African Republic with the arrival of approximately 5,000 South Sudanese refugees.¹² Armed South Sudanese "Arrow Boys" have been seen in the vicinity of refugees, who are moving in greater numbers towards Obo.¹³

B. Government engagement with armed groups

Armed groups' involvement in the disarmament, demobilization, repatriation and reintegration process

20. Following the dialogue initiated during the early months of his mandate (see S/2016/694, paras. 11-15), President Touadéra has continued interacting with armed groups. He met with several armed group leaders during his visits to Bouar on 6 June, Kaga-Bandoro on 6 August and 17 October, and to Bria on 5 September 2016.

21. On 12 October 2016, the President participated in the first meeting of the Advisory and Monitoring Committee for the national disarmament, demobilization, repatriation and reintegration programme. Participants included representatives of 11 armed groups out of the 14 invited (annex 2.4). Maxim Mokom's anti-balaka group, Nourredine Adam's Front populaire pour la renaissance de la Centrafrique (FPRC) and "General" Sidiki's armed group, Retour, réclamation et réhabilitation (3R),¹⁴ did not take part in the work of the Committee. On 3 November participants unanimously adopted the national strategy on disarmament, demobilization, repatriation and reintegration, well in advance of the 17 November Brussels Donors Conference, at which resources in support of the plan should be mobilized.

22. The holding of this long awaited first meeting of the Advisory and Monitoring Committee is a positive achievement, although several challenges remain. The question of whether the leaders of the armed group participating in the Committee genuinely represent their combatants is the first issue of concern. Anti-balaka leaders have difficulties in effectively commanding and controlling their groups, which easily shift allegiances, depending on the financial means put at their disposal.¹⁵ Among ex-Séléka groups, participants appointed for the Mouvement Patriotique pour la Centrafrique (MPC) and Mouvement des libérateurs centrafricains pour la justice (MLCJ) have seen their legitimacy challenged by certain factions on the ground.¹⁶

23. Second, the actual readiness of armed groups to disarm is very uncertain. Leaders of ex-Séléka groups have little incentive to disarm, considering the unchallenged control they exercise over large parts of territory. They formally argue that their political concerns must be addressed before actual disarmament can commence (see annex 2.5, see also S/2016/694, para. 11).

24. Similarly Maxime Mokom, who refused to allow his anti-balaka group to participate on the grounds that the Committee is merely consultative (annex 2.6) expressed the view to the Panel that disarmament should not be conducted as long as ex-Séléka continue to threaten civilians.¹⁷ Adopting a similar view, many members of Ngaïssona's anti-balaka branch have threatened to withdraw from the disarmament, demobilization, repatriation and reintegration process.¹⁸

Integration and reintegration of armed groups into the national security and armed forces

Profile of the ex-Séléka combatants requesting integration

25. The integration and reintegration of ex-Séléka combatants into the national security and armed forces has been a constant request of the leaders of the various ex-Séléka factions. Several told the Panel that the deployment of national security and armed forces in areas under their control could only be accepted if the deployed units included a significant number of Muslims (see S/2016/694, para. 19).

26. Among ex-Séléka requesting their integration and reintegration, the Panel has identified five different categories of individuals (for an integral analysis of MPC combatants, see annex 2.7):

(a) Registered FACA elements whose names appear on the FACA payroll, some of whom have gone through the simplified verification or vetting process of FACA in Bangui (see S/2016/694, para. 36): they demand that a proper rank/title be allocated to them, as is the case, for example, of Geoffroy Yakota Beroum, the leader of the ex-Séléka RDOT camp in Bangui;¹⁹

(b) FACA elements who were removed from the register under former President François Bozizé: this includes many so-called “liberators”, mostly Muslim rebels who participated in Bozizé's coup in March 2003 and who were integrated in FACA when Bozizé took power, to be removed later by then-President Bozizé

¹⁵ Dieudonné Ndomaté, Coordinator in charge of operations within the Ngaïssona branch of anti-balaka, told the Panel that the Coordination needs a representative in the Government to alleviate its lack of funding. Interview with Dieudonné Ndomaté, Bangui, 15 October 2016.

¹⁶ Confidential report, 1 September 2016.

¹⁷ Meetings with Maxime Mokom, Bangui, 15 August and 21 October 2016.

¹⁹ Meeting with Geoffroy Yakota Beroum, Bangui, 14 October 2016.

(see annex 2.8). Many of these elements joined the Séléka to take revenge against Bozizé;

(c) FACA elements dismissed by the Transitional Government of Catherine Samba Panza because they had abandoned their position in the national army to join the Séléka rebellion (see annex 2.9). The Chief of Staff of the national army Ludovic Ngaïfei informed the Panel on 4 October 2016 that he was about to dismiss another 200 and 300 FACA soldiers who did not respond to recent calls to present themselves at FACA gathering centres. These soldiers may include many ex-Séléka fighters who are unable to move to or within Bangui given the safety risks when passing through anti-balaka areas;²⁰

(d) FACA elements integrated by President Michel Djotodia after the Séléka took power in 2013: this group includes 3,437 Séléka fighters integrated by the decree of 10 October 2013 (see S/2014/452, annex 6.1), who were sent to training camps in the Central African Republic and the Sudan (see annex 2.10 below) and a group of “liberators” readmitted to FACA. Subsequent Governments of the Central African Republic never recognized this integration of FACA by Djotodia;

(e) Ex-Séléka combatants who have had no previous role in national security and armed forces, but nevertheless claim the need to integrate into FACA.

The integration and reintegration policy of the Government of the Central African Republic and the reaction of ex-Séléka groups

27. The Government has expressed its commitment to integrate a number of ex-combatants in the internal security and armed forces. Jean Willybiro-Sako, Special Coordinator for disarmament, demobilization, repatriation and reintegration, security sector reform and national reconciliation, told the Panel that this will be done on an individual basis, as agreed upon at the Bangui Forum in May 2015. He also pointed out several issues to be taken into consideration, including “right-sizing” of forces and their financial sustainability, as well as inflated ranks and the criminal records of some ex-combatants.²¹

28. Ex-Séléka groups generally oppose the idea of integration on an individual basis, which they consider to have been imposed upon them at the Bangui Forum. On 12 October 2016, during the meeting of the Advisory and Monitoring Committee on disarmament, demobilization, repatriation and reintegration, representatives of UPC expressed the view that their members still expect to be integrated on a collective basis (by corps).²² Both UPC and MPC call for their elements to be integrated as part of two collective corps, one corps to protect transhumance activities and another corps of border guards (see annex 2.11). The discrepancy between the expectations of the armed groups and the actual opportunities for integration and reintegration is likely to constitute a serious source of tension.

²¹ Meeting with Jean Willybiro-Sako, Bangui, 21 October 2016.

²² Meetings with participants to the Advisory and Monitoring Committee meeting on disarmament, demobilization, repatriation and reintegration, Bangui, 12-19 October 2016.

29. The dissatisfaction of ex-Séléka factions regarding the Government's integration policy is aggravated by the fact that most anti-balaka fighters have never lost their position in the national security and armed forces, or that some have even been reintegrated in spite of a record of human rights abuses during the crisis, such as sanctioned individual Eugène Ngaïkosset (see paras. 46-50 below).

30. Along these lines, on 24 June 2016, the Minister of Interior, Jean-Serge Bokassa, issued a decree nominating Maxime Mokom as an officer in the national police (see S/2016/694, para. 13). Realizing his error, on 18 July Minister Bokassa cancelled the appointment on administrative grounds (annex 2.12).

C. Judiciary follow-up of listed individuals and other spoilers

Limited execution of arrest warrants

31. As the Panel highlighted in its midterm report (see S/2016/694, paras. 24-26) judges of the Central African Republic issued arrest warrants against a number of high profile individuals, including: Francois Bozizé's family members and entourage; ex-Séléka and anti-balaka leaders; and PK5 militia leaders. While the responsibility to arrest or detain an alleged culprit rests with the authorities of the Central African Republic, MINUSCA, at the formal request of the authorities, is mandated by resolution 2301 (2016) to arrest and detain under the urgent temporary measures.

32. MINUSCA has insisted that warrants should be properly drafted and formally transmitted by the competent legal authorities.²³ The Panel notes that many of the arrest warrants contain serious deficiencies, in that names are wrong or incomplete and charges are not clearly specified. After discussing with judges and prosecutors, it also appears that many evidence files are practically empty. Therefore, even if the arrest warrants are executed, the chances of an eventual conviction against many of the alleged criminals are not high.

33. Of those under arrest warrant, MINUSCA has been able to arrest Jean-Francois Bozizé, on 5 August 2016, and Hamit Tidjani, who fled from Bangui along with Abdoulaye Hissène, on 13 August 2016 (see paras. 65-67 below). Jean-Francois Bozizé was transferred to the authorities of the Central African Republic, which granted him provisional release under judicial supervision.

Acquittals of alleged anti-balaka culprits

34. A review of the 54 cases²⁴ that were considered during the first hearing session of the criminal court session of 2016, held in Bangui from 26 August to 23 September 2016, shows that 11 cases were acquitted, among which were those of anti-balaka leader Aubin Yaouné, also known as "Chocolat", and Jonathan Fabrice Tchokola, both on the grounds of insufficient evidence (see annex 2.13). In other instances, the Court decided to request more information from, or send them back to, the investigating judge. There is no explanation as to why the Court did not opt for this possibility in the two above-mentioned cases.

²³ Confidential communication, 25 June 2016.

²⁴ The judicial criminal system of the Central African Republic holds sessions during which decisions are issued once or twice per year. The previous session, from 29 June to 21 July 2015, was the first since 2011. At that occasion, 127 cases were heard, resulting in 94 convictions and 15 acquittals.

Crimes in Bangui committed by FACA officers pending prosecution

35. As the Panel indicated in its midterm report (see S/2016/694, paras. 38-41), there is considerable evidence of the commission of serious human rights violations by FACA officer and former head of the Central African Office for the Suppression of Banditry, Robert Yékoua-Ketté. However, at the time of writing of the present report, no arrest warrant had yet been issued against him.

36. On 2 August 2016, a judicial investigation was opened into the killing of a Senegalese peacekeeper on 24 June in Bangui, cited by the Panel in its midterm report (see S/2016/694, para. 33).²⁵ Investigations carried out by MINUSCA police and the national police have resulted in a detailed account of the circumstances of the murder and identity of the alleged perpetrator, Legrand Yamanza, alias Yamandjia Legrand. Yamanza is a FACA Corporal, active in the 5th district of Bangui, and his name is on the FACA payroll. Even though the public prosecutor of Bangui is of the opinion that the eyewitness reports in themselves justify an arrest warrant against Yamanza, none had yet been issued at the time of writing of the present report.

37. The FACA Chief of Staff and the Director of Cabinet of the Minister of Defence claim not to have been informed about the case and that, as such, no disciplinary procedure had been brought against the alleged perpetrator.²⁶ However, the Panel was informed that MINUSCA did communicate the alleged perpetrator's name and rank to the President and Minister of Defence in August 2016.²⁷

Uninvestigated attacks against peacekeepers and humanitarian personnel

38. In the course of 2016, there have been several other serious incidents, including killings, against peacekeepers and humanitarian personnel in different parts of the country. Annex 2.14 contains a list of incidents against humanitarian personnel. Annex 2.15 contains a list of incidents against peacekeepers. At the time of the writing of the present report, the Panel was not aware of any substantial judiciary investigations.

Judiciary shortcomings and the Special Criminal Court

39. While the Panel acknowledges the many challenges in terms of material and human resources of the judiciary, as well as those of the police authorities, the above-mentioned pending prosecutions, limited arrests, acquittals and provisional release raise questions about the impartiality of the judicial system and its willingness to investigate serious crimes, underlining the need for the Special Criminal Court to start its work.

40. The Special Criminal Court was formally created on 3 June 2015 by the Central African Transitional Government. It is a court within the national judicial system that will have national and international judges and an international prosecutor. It has competence over the gravest crimes committed in the national territory since 2003, including war crimes and crimes against humanity, committed in the territory of the Central African Republic since 2003. On 26 August 2016, the Central African Republic and United Nations partners agreed on an initial budget of $7 million for starting the Court's operations.

D. Implementation of United Nations sanctions

Nourredine Adam

41. On 24 August 2016, the Panel received a response to a request for information sent on 26 April 2016 to Deenar Travel in Dubai, the company through which Nourredine Adam's airline tickets for flights between N'djamena and Nairobi in 2015 were booked (see S/2016/694, annex 36). The response specified that Nourredine Adam purchased the tickets himself, paying in cash, but the response failed to specify the location where the payment was made. Tickets were paid for on 13 July 2016, a day prior to Adam's travel from N'djamena to Nairobi. To ascertain whether Nourredine Adam was in fact in the United Arab Emirates on 14 July 2016, the Panel, on 30 August, requested further information from the authorities. No response had yet been received at the time of the writing of the present report.

42. For their part, the Kenyan authorities did not reply to any of the Panel's requests for information regarding Adam's travels, neither during this mandate nor during its previous ones. The Panel appreciates the fact that representatives of the President of the Security Council (New Zealand) and the Chair of the Committee met with the Deputy Permanent Representative of Kenya on 28 September 2016 with a view to seeking a reply to the Committee's letter of 30 October 2015 to the Permanent Representative of Kenya. However, to date no response has been forthcoming from the Kenyan authorities regarding reports of Adam's travels to Kenya between May and September 2015.

43. On 29 October 2016, Nourredine Adam allegedly travelled overland from Ndélé to Sido, just across the border in southern Chad, in the company of a number of other FPRC leaders, including Abdoulaye Hissène.²⁸ They supposedly returned to Ndélé on 1 November 2016.²⁹

François Bozizé

44. After multiple requests for information by the Panel, South African authorities, on 3 October 2016, responded to an official correspondence from the Chair of the Committee, dated 21 June 2016, regarding the entry of François Bozizé into South Africa on 14 October 2015, as previously reported by the Panel (see S/2015/936, annex 6). South African authorities confirmed that Bozizé had travelled to South Africa on 14 October 2015, which, according to the note verbale, was aimed at fostering national reconciliation and stability prior to the elections; the note verbale also contained a post facto request for an exemption to the travel ban.

²⁸ Telephone interview with confidential source, 3 November 2016; confidential report, 2 November 2016.

²⁹ Confidential report, 3 November 2016.

45. In his reply to South Africa, the Chair of the Committee requested further travel details, as well as clarification with regard to a reference to “each visit” in the South African note verbale, which suggests more than a single visit by Bozizé to South Africa. In fact, the Panel has received reports that Bozizé may have entered South Africa on or around 13 September 2014 (see S/2015/936, annex 6), and has also received information about his possible travel to South Africa in June 2016.³⁰

Eugène Barret Ngaïkosset

46. On 17 December 2015, the Committee listed Eugène Barret Ngaïkosset as one of the main perpetrators of the violence that erupted in Bangui in late September 2015.³¹ In its 2016 midterm report (see S/2016/694, para. 31) the Panel cited Ngaïkosset’s role in leading irregular FACA deployments in Bangui that were ordered by former Minister of Defence, Joseph Bindoumi. Ngaïkosset himself told the Panel that he had been reinstated by Minister Bindoumi.³² An official in the cabinet of the current Defence Minister verbally confirmed this claim.³³

47. On 24 March 2016, Ngaïkosset began receiving his monthly salary of 380,158 Central African francs (FCFA) ($760) as a FACA captain in his personal account at Ecobank in Bangui (see annex 2.16). On 5 April 2016, Ecobank also provided Ngaïkosset with a personal loan of FCFA 1,456,608 ($2,913). In its correspondence to Ecobank dated 22 March 2016, the Panel included an updated sanctions list, including the name of Ngaïkosset.

48. A representative of Ecobank in Bangui informed the Panel, in a meeting on 5 October 2016, that implementation of the asset freeze rests with the government of the Central African Republic and that the bank does not block payments on accounts unless requested to do so by the Ministry of Finance and Budget.³⁴

49. On 6 October 2016, the Defence minister’s cabinet told the Panel that the Ministry would only suspend salary payments if Ngaïkosset was condemned in court. The cabinet also argued that salary suspension would be unacceptable on humanitarian grounds.³⁵

50. On 11 October 2016, the Panel requested clarification regarding the lack of implementation of the freezing of the assets of Ngaïkosset by the authorities of the Central African Republic, copying all relevant ministries, as well as Ecobank. At the time of the writing of the present report, no answer had been received.

³¹ Ngaïkosset, subject to an international arrest warrant issued against him on 2 April 2014 for his role in abuses committed in the northeast of the country under François Bozizé’s rule, was apprehended in Bangui upon his extradition from Brazzaville on 12 May 2015. On 20 May 2015, he managed to escape from the Section Recherche et Investigation of the national gendarmerie in Bangui.

Alfred Yékatom

51. Sanctioned individual Alfred Yékatom received his first salary as parliamentarian in April 2016, along with other new members of parliament. After the Panel notified the office of the Speaker of Parliament that salary payments to Yékatom represented a violation of the asset freeze, the Minister allegedly suspended all his allowances in May 2016. However, the Panel could not obtain documentary evidence of such a suspension.

52. On 29 February 2016, the Minister of Defence accepted Yékatom's resignation, which was necessary in the light of the latter's campaign to run for legislative elections. After having been paid his salary until June (see S/2016/694, annex 36), FACA payroll details of July 2016 show that he is no longer being paid. However, rather than being removed from the list, Yékatom is listed as being on leave of absence.

53. According to the FACA payroll, payments were made to Yékatom through his account at Banque Sahélo-Saharienne pour l'Investissement et le Commerce. On 15 October 2015, following his sanctions designation on 20 August 2015, the bank informed the Panel that Yékatom was not listed among its clients. On 29 August 2016, the Panel again requested information about Yékatom's banking information and provided his account number, but at the time of the writing of the present report, no answer had been provided.

Kardiam/Badica

54. In the course of 2016, the Belgian authorities made five exemption requests to the Committee for basic expenses and one notification for reimbursement of a loan on behalf of Kardiam, the Antwerp-based diamond-trading entity that was sanctioned on 20 August 2015 together with the Bangui-based diamond-trading firm Badica. Four exemption requests were granted and one is still pending.

55. On 20 June 2016, the authorities of the Central African Republic transmitted a notification to the Committee, inter alia, announcing the addition of rental payments of three entities to the Badica account at a commercial bank in Bangui. The concerned rental contracts predated the listing of Badica on 20 August 2015. Admission of funds and debt repayments were therefore in line with paragraphs 10 and 11 of Security Council resolution 2262 \(2016\), respectively.

56. One of the leasing entities is MINUSCA. Its land-lease contract with Badica, which was included in the notification, expired on 31 October 2016.³⁶ On 27 September 2016, the Head of MINUSCA informed the Committee, in a letter shared by the Chair with the Panel, that the Mission saw no other possibility but to extend the lease for six months.

57. Because the initial one-year contract of 2013 foresees only two extensions, the final extension being to 31 October 2016, a new contract would have to be concluded between MINUSCA and Badica. Paragraph 10 of resolution 2262 \(2016\) allows Member States to permit addition to frozen accounts of payments due under contracts that arose prior to the listing, but not afterwards.

³⁶ The land leased from Badica is used by the Bangui joint task force and is strategically located near the PK 5 neighbourhood. An estimated $700,000 has been invested to improve the premises.

58. Since payments under new contracts are not permitted, the Panel sees no other option than for the parties to agree that, upon the signing of any new contract, MINUSCA would withhold its payments until an eventual delisting of Badica, at which time MINUSCA would transfer arrears payments to the company, with interest.

59. Another leasing entity is related to the office of the special representative of the international mediator of the crisis in the Central African Republic, General Leonard Essongo of the Republic of the Congo. While the income from this lease is referenced in the loan contract between Badica and its bank, the bank in question has stated that it has never received any rental payments to Badica's account.³⁷ The Panel requested information about rental payments to the authorities in the Republic of the Congo, but has yet to receive a response.

E. Calls to lift the arms embargo

60. Over the last months, the Panel has noted increasing number of calls for the lifting of the arms embargo from various actors, including in the media, the legislative and executive branches of Government, opposition parties and civil society, who claim, inter alia, that the arms embargo is an injustice imposed on the Central African Republic.³⁸ While previously these calls were expressed mainly by actors perceived as hardliners, they are increasingly being articulated by a substantial majority of actors in different sociopolitical fields, including by the President himself.³⁹

61. The Minister of Interior, Jean Serge Bokassa, is one of the most vocal members of the Government expressing discontent with the arms embargo and MINUSCA's management of violence in the country. After the last outbreak of intercommunal violence in Kaga-Bandoro, on 12 October 2016 (see paras. 195-199 below), Minister Bokassa openly criticized MINUSCA, and specifically the Pakistani contingent, for failing to protect civilians.

62. On several occasions, individual members of the Government and the army have expressed the view to the Panel that the arms embargo is the main reason for the continued insecurity in the country because, according to them, it prevents the army and security forces from dealing with armed groups and criminal actors. The Panel reiterated to the Chief of Staff and the members of the cabinet of the Minister of Defence the procedures regarding exemptions and notifications extended pursuant to Security Council resolution 2262 (2016), which they agreed to use and to comply with.⁴⁰

63. While recognizing that the national army does not have sufficient weapons and ammunition at its disposal, the Panel stresses that, in addition to the training, reorganization and restoration of a single chain of military command, weapons management issues should be addressed when rearming or re-equipping FACA. These issues pertain to the storage and control of weapons in the custody of the central army command, and the need to bring weapons currently held privately by FACA soldiers under the custody of the central military command (see paras. 97-100 below).

64. It is the view of the Panel that intensified calls for the lifting of the arms embargo by some officials of the Central African Republic are part of their political strategy to mobilize nationalist sentiment and place the responsibility for intensified violence entirely on the United Nations in general, and on MINUSCA in particular.⁴¹

III. Bangui region

A. Ongoing violence in the PK5 neighbourhood and surroundings

Violent exodus of Abdoulaye Hissène, Haroun Gaye and Hamit Tidjani

65. In the late evening of 12 August 2016, a convoy of seven vehicles, with 35 heavily-armed men from the PK5 neighbourhood in Bangui's 3rd district and the BSS camp aboard, left Bangui. The convoy was led by Abdoulaye Hissène, Haroun Gaye (listed by the Committee on 17 December 2015) and Hamit Tidjani. These individuals had convinced some ex-Séléka fighters who had been living in the BSS camp for three years and were frustrated with the lengthy disarmament, demobilization, repatriation and reintegration process, to join them to the "General Assembly" in Bria.⁴² Thereafter, it was envisaged that some armed fighters would return to their home towns, while others would join FPRC forces under Nourredine Adam in Ndélé.⁴³ Gendarmes and MINUSCA forces told the Panel that there were several women and children in the vehicles along with the fighters.⁴⁴ All vehicles in the convoy were painted white, in order to resemble MINUSCA vehicles (see annex 3.1). One vehicle had been stolen from the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF).⁴⁵

⁴⁰ Meeting with the FACA Chief of Staff, Bangui, 5 August 2016. Meeting with Chief of Cabinet of the Ministry of Defence, Bangui, 6 October 2016.

⁴³ Ibid.

⁴⁴ Meeting with gendarmes, Nguerengou, 29 August 2016.

⁴⁵ Letter of a non-governmental organization, 29 August 2016.

66. At the PK12 checkpoint, on the main road from Bangui to the north, gendarmes and FACA soldiers fired upon the convoy, killing at least one ex-Séléka fighter.⁴⁶ Nevertheless, the convoy forced its way through and continued along the Sibut-Dékoa road. At the Guerengou checkpoint, between Bangui and Damara, Hissène explained to the gendarmes that he was on a disarmament, demobilization, repatriation and reintegration awareness-raising mission and was granted free passage.

67. On the road into Damara, gendarmes who had been alerted by their colleagues from PK12 set up a barricade and called in FACA soldiers from Damara. Following an exchange of fire, the convoy forced its passage through the barricade. One ex-Séléka fighter who fell off a truck was killed by anti-balaka fighters (see annex 3.2).⁴⁷ Lacking ammunition and outnumbered, security forces could not pursue the convoy, which was then able to stop in Damara to change the tires of some vehicles.⁴⁸

MINUSCA response

68. After the brigade commander of the gendarmerie had alerted MINUSCA in Damara, one MINUSCA vehicle left the military base, but arrived at the scene only after the confrontation had taken place. Upon arrival at the halted convoy, the MINUSCA commander saw that many ex-Séléka fighters were wounded, but judged that an intervention would be too risky. The convoy was able to repair all but one of the vehicles and resumed its journey. The national gendarmerie seized the abandoned vehicle belonging to Gaye but armed anti-balaka fighters forced the gendarmes to hand over the vehicle the following day.

69. In Sibut, MINUSCA received orders in time to block the convoy and disarm and arrest the ex-Séléka fighters.⁴⁹ At 5 a.m. on 13 August, MINUSCA stopped the convoy 40 km south of Sibut and initiated negotiations with Hissène. Among the 34 remaining men, two had died and several were wounded. The ex-Séléka fighters were willing to hand over heavy weapons but wanted to keep some of their light weapons to defend themselves against anti-balaka. MINUSCA rejected the proposal and insisted on full disarmament.

70. While negotiations were ongoing, the arrival of a MINUSCA helicopter spread panic among the ex-Séléka fighters who fled into the bush. MINUSCA was able to arrest 11 fighters and seize a significant amount of weapons and ammunition and all vehicles (see annex 3.3). Four fighters were evacuated to Bangui hospital for medical assistance, and six were brought to the MINUSCA base in Sibut before being handed over to the national authorities. Three Burundian blue helmets were wounded during this operation.

Security concerns on the Sibut-Dékoa-Kaga-Bandoro road

71. The escape of the other fighters, including Hissène, created insecurity on and around the Sibut-Dékoa-Kaga-Bandoro road until mid-September. Killings of several civilians in the area have been attributed to the ex-Séléka fugitives in search of food and supplies.⁵⁰ Fugitives also took villagers hostage to carry looted goods and to show them the way. Released hostages recognized Hissène as the fugitives' leader and confirmed that many were carrying weapons.⁵¹

72. On 4 September 2016, a group of ex-Séléka elements, coming from Kaga-Bandoro on motorbikes to pick up the escapees, opened fire against MINUSCA near Dékoa. Firing back, one ex-Séléka fighter was killed, while two blue helmets and one civilian were wounded.⁵²

73. Anti-balaka fighters allegedly attacked and killed a number of escapees.⁵³ Several sources told the Panel that officials in Bangui had alerted anti-balaka forces about the presence of ex-Séléka elements in the Sibut-Dékoa area.⁵⁴ Although the Panel did not find any evidence indicating that there were orders from the Government to pursue the fugitives, it remains concerned about the apparent influence of some Government officials over anti-balaka groups.⁵⁵

The Government's contested awareness of the convoy's exodus

74. Several ex-Séléka fighters that were part of the convoy declared to the Panel that there had been a verbal agreement between Hissène and the Government of the Central African Republic regarding the fighters' exodus from Bangui.⁵⁶ The FPRC leadership in Kaga-Bandoro told the Panel that Hissène and Gaye had handed over an official letter to the Government and MINUSCA with regard to their departure. The authorities of the Central African Republic and MINUSCA firmly denied this. The Panel found no copy of the any such letter in the six vehicles in the convoy it searched.

The aftermath: judicial proceedings and General Assembly in Bria

75. The 11 men detained by MINUSCA between Damara and Sibut and the personnel captured thereafter in the bush and in Bangui were all handed over to the national gendarmerie — some after several weeks of extensive medical care at the MINUSCA hospital. The men were charged with criminal association, illegal possession of weapons, crimes against the State security and rebellion, and all but one were put under precautionary detention in the Ngaragba prison centre and Camp Deroux — this in spite of their expressed fear of falling victim to anti-balaka actions inside the prison.⁵⁷

76. Accompanied by Gaye, whose position remained unclear for some time, Hissène arrived at Ndélé in early September. From Ndélé, the group supposedly travelled to Siki Kedi and N'Da (Vakaga prefecture), where they met with

Nourredine Adam before going to Bria to attend the ex-Séléka General Assembly (see section V below).⁵⁸

Evolving dynamics among self-defence groups

77. The departure of Hissène, Gaye and Tidjani changed the political and security landscape of Bangui's 3rd district. Since no one has thus far replaced them to represent ex-Séléka in the area, armed groups in the PK5 neighbourhood are now more disconnected from national politics.

78. Insecurity, however, persists with about 100 to 150 armed individuals associated with so-called self-defence groups remaining in the area.⁵⁹ After Abdoulaye Hissène's departure, there were still four such groups:

- (a) Matar Anemeri, alias "Force", controls the south/southwestern area of PK5;
- (b) Issa Kappy, alias "50/50" — formerly Anemeri's deputy — controls the north/northwestern area;⁶⁰
- (c) Abdoul Danda — the area around Pont Yakité in eastern PK5;
- (d) Mohamed Appo — a small area in southwest PK5.

79. Fearing arrest — warrants against them were issued in June (see S/2016/694, para. 26) — Issa Kappy and Abdoul Danda have not demonstrated any willingness to lay down their weapons. Adopting a different approach, Anemeri, also under arrest warrant, told the Panel that he has made an offer to President Touadéra to leave the area if the Government recognizes the role his group played in securing the 3rd district and integrates some of his combatants in the national security and armed forces (see annex 3.4).⁶¹

80. The opinion of the population in PK5 neighbourhood about the self-defence groups is mixed. On the one hand, it is considered that the groups play a positive role in protecting Muslims from persecution.⁶² On the other hand, it is also recognized that they contribute to the insecurity in the area by preying on the population, for example by competing for control of and associated revenues from taxing shops, vendors, buses and motor taxis. On 3 August, 29 September and 10 October 2016, fights and exchanges of fire between members of the different groups took place.⁶³

81. The illegal activities carried out by these groups also include attacks on individuals, notably those refusing to pay taxes, and carjacking.⁶⁴ On 29 September, members of one of the groups attacked an ambulance of Médecins sans Frontières and attempted to kill the patient on board. As a result, Médecins sans Frontières suspended its activities in the area for four days.⁶⁵ On 3 October, three members of one of the groups also attempted to rob a United Nations vehicle.⁶⁶

Violence in the PK5 neighbourhood in October 2016: the killing of a member of FACA by a member of a self-defence group

82. At 8 a.m. on 4 October 2016, Marcel Mombeka, FACA Major and former bodyguard of Transitional President Catherine Samba-Panza, was shot and killed at the Koudoukou roundabout in the 3rd district of Bangui (see annex 3.5). Bashir Bouari, a member of Abdoul Danda's group, is indicated to have carried out the crime, but his motive remains unclear.⁶⁷

83. In retaliation, two hours after the murder, a group of FACA soldiers killed a Muslim motorbike taxi driver at the Yakité bridge in the 3rd district. One hour later, a man wearing a FACA uniform, identified by the Fulani as being either a FACA soldier or an anti-balaka fighter, attacked a group of Fulani with an AK-type assault rifle near the Sega slaughterhouse in the 6th district.⁶⁸ Three Fulani were instantly killed. Members of the population living around the Kolongo villas violently robbed other Fulani fleeing the violence: some of those Fulani have gone missing. Later that day, on the border between the 3rd and 6th districts, close to the Fatima church, opposing groups clashed, leaving 11 people dead and 21 wounded.⁶⁹

84. The reaction of MINUSCA to the sudden upsurge of violence on 4 October 2016 was robust, and it effectively prevented the further spread of violence. For several days MINUSCA cordoned off the PK5 neighbourhood and intensified patrols, maintaining a strong presence in all sensitive areas. The Mission also organized armed escorts to and from the PK5 neighbourhood, allowing Muslim residents to have some degree of mobility.

85. Nevertheless, even with all of the security measures in force, on 5 October 2016 the Panel observed anti-balaka elements 200 meters away from the MINUSCA headquarters on Boganda Avenue. On the same day, MINUSCA reported the presence of armed youths, some in FACA uniforms, in almost all areas surrounding the PK5 neighbourhood.⁷⁰ During the days following the violence, gunshots were heard in the 3rd and 5th districts and several attacks, reportedly perpetrated by men in FACA uniforms, took place against Muslims.⁷¹

86. MINUSCA reported that between 4 and 7 October 2016, a total of 11 persons were killed and 21 injured as a result of gunshot wounds, stabbings and grenade shrapnel.⁷² Several victims showed evidence of torture.⁷³

87. The attacks against Fulani had a negative impact on the meat supply in the capital. Targeted violence compelled Fulani herders and traders to abandon their livestock and stop bringing cattle to the market and the Sega slaughterhouse.⁷⁴

Response of the national authorities

88. On 4 October 2016, the Minister of Defence, Joseph Yakété, publicly appealed for calm and urged FACA to refrain from further retaliatory actions. Likewise, the Minister of Interior, Jean Serge Bokassa, condemned the violence and all attempts to undermine the Government's efforts to stabilize the country.⁷⁵ The same day, the Coordination des Organisations Musulmanes de Centrafrique, in a public communiqué, condemned the killing of the FACA Major and the Fulani, stressing that isolated individuals were responsible for the violence, not the Muslim community as a whole (see annex 3.6).

Heightened tensions between PK5 self-defence groups: the killing of Abdoul Danda and Issa Kappy

89. The killing of Major Mombeka has contributed to divisions between the PK5 self-defence groups, creating two opposite blocks. After Mombeka's murder, members of the group of Matar Anemeri and Mohamed Appo collaborated with Muslim FACA soldiers, regularly deployed in the 3rd district, in an attempt to arrest Abdoul Danda. The latter took refuge in a house belonging to Issa Kapy, who has protected him since. Anemeri claims that the intervention of MINUSCA prevented his combatants from capturing Danda. On 14 October 2016, he also told the Panel that, should MINUSCA not arrest Danda, his militia would capture him, using force if necessary.⁷⁶

90. On 30 October 2016, violent fighting took place between the two blocks described above, with use of heavy weapons and rockets, reportedly leaving about 10 self-defence group members killed, including militia leaders Abdoul Danda and Issa Kappy.⁷⁷

B. Anti-balaka in Bangui and the return of Jean-Francis Bozizé

92. About 250 anti-balaka elements remain armed in the capital, mainly in the neighbourhoods of Gobongo/Boy-Rabe, Combattants and Sica 2/Ben-Zwi (see annex 3.8). Anti-balaka zone commanders in Bangui told the Panel that their groups remain active to fight crime or counter the threat posed by ex-Séléka fighters, which include, in their view, ex-combatants in the BSS/Béal and RDOT camps, as well as militia in the PK5 neighbourhood.⁷⁸

93. Moreover, many anti-balaka members remain active in order to put pressure on President Touadéra and to obtain some kind of reward for their support during elections. Some members hope to get a position in the administration, an amnesty for past crimes or otherwise to influence policy, for instance on the deployment of FACA soldiers.⁷⁹ In spite of the official support given by Bozizé's party Kwa Na Kwa to presidential contender Anicet Dologuélé, most of the party's members, as well as anti-balaka elements, actually supported Touadéra. Ultimately, however, many anti-balaka members — particularly from the Mokom branch — aim to facilitate the return of former President Bozizé and his relatives to the national political arena.

94. Jean-Francis Bozizé returned to Bangui on 3 August 2016 and told the Panel that he was responding to the FACA Chief of Staff's call to all soldiers to rejoin the army or else be considered deserters.⁸⁰ Several sources informed the Panel that his return might also be due to the financial difficulties the Bozizé family faces abroad following the freezing of their assets in France.⁸¹

95. Since his return, Jean-Francis Bozizé has maintained and developed his networks among anti-balaka groups and FACA officers in Bangui. When meeting with the son of former President Bozizé on 4 September 2016 at his home in Bangui, the Panel noted the presence of the anti-balaka commander Olivier Koudémon. The Panel was also informed that, after Bozizé's apprehension by MINUSCA, Eugène Ngaïkosset and Maxime Mokom gathered anti-balaka elements in the PK11 area of Bangui in order to prepare demonstrations, although they failed to mobilize anti-balaka members or to hold such protests.⁸² The majority of the elements composing Jean-Francis Bozizé's security guard today are former members of Bozizé's Presidential Guard, mostly ethnic Gbaya.⁸³ The Bozizé family can also count on the support of many allies in the administration, including those already in service under the two consecutive presidencies of François Bozizé.

96. Jean-Francis Bozizé's return is a source of concern for President Touadéra and may explain the recent establishment of a presidential security guard.⁸⁴

C. Deployment of Central African Armed Forces in Bangui and their weapons management

97. While most FACA elements are deployed at regular static posts and come together at the official gathering centres in Bangui, irregular FACA units outside the central command and control of the army continue to operate in different neighbourhoods.⁸⁵ Irregular units are primarily concentrated in the 3rd and 5th districts, but international forces have also identified four such units at other strategic locations close to the airport, the Presidential palace, the Parliament and the road towards Bimbo (see annex 3.8). Thus far, the repeatedly declared intent of the Government to dismantle those FACA units and restore a single chain of command has been unsuccessful.⁸⁶

98. For example, on 2 September 2016, the Director General of the presidential security guard, Lieutenant-Colonel Ngboya, signed a document allowing for the deployment of extra Muslim FACA soldiers in the 3rd district in order to stop the cycle of attacks against motorcycles in the 3rd and 5th districts (see annex 3.9). This deployment was coordinated with the regular Muslim FACA in the PK5 neighbourhood, self-defence groups, religious leaders and motorbike taxi drivers. However, the FACA Chief of Staff was not aware of the deployment.⁸⁷ On 5 September, the day that deployment was to take place, a group of Muslim FACA and those from an irregular FACA post clashed.

99. In addition, uncontrolled FACA soldiers continued to be involved in fraudulent activities and serious abuses, in particular following the killing of Major Marcel Mombeka on 4 October 2016. On this date, FACA killed a Muslim motorcycle driver near the Yakité bridge (see para. 83). On 7 October, a young Muslim man was killed by men in FACA uniform near the Ecole Yakité in the 3rd district.⁸⁸ On 14 October, a MINUSCA unit saw a member of FACA in uniform throwing a grenade towards the population at the Serpent roundabout in the 5th district.⁸⁹ There are also several reports of FACA members shooting at and harassing motorcycle drivers in the Miskine and Bimbo neighbourhoods and in the 3rd and 5th districts.⁹⁰

100. In its midterm report, the Panel highlighted that many FACA soldiers keep in their homes weapons and ammunition previously assigned to them or acquired on the black market (see S/2016/694, para. 31).⁹¹ The Panel obtained a list concerning the possession of several types of weapons by FACA officers (see S/2015/936, annex 1.12). The FACA Chief of Staff recently sent official letters to 15 officers asking them to return their weapons.⁹² Other FACA officers are in possession of important amounts of arms and ammunition, although this was never declared in the context of the 2015 voluntary disarmament operation. A notable example, in the light of targeted sanctions, is weapons in the custody of Alfred Yékatom (see box 1).

Box 1

Yékatom's weaponry

Documents archived at the office of the FACA Chief of Staff show that sanctioned individual Alfred Yékatom was in possession of 59 conventional weapons (see annex 3.10). On 21 July 2016, the FACA Chief of Staff sent an official letter to Yékatom requesting the return of weapons (see annex 3.11) and told the Panel that he would go to Court and ask for Yékatom's parliamentary immunity to be lifted if he refused.⁹³

On 6 September 2016, a member of the National Collection Committee informed the FACA Chief of Staff that Yékatom had surrendered weapons and ammunition to the national collection committee in Pissa on 7 April 2015 (see annex 3.12, see also S/2015/936, annex 5.19). However, the number of weapons handed over in Pissa was well below the number of weapons considered to be in his official possession. A comparison of the two lists shows that Yékatom should still be in possession of 39 conventional weapons. In addition, some weapons and approximately 1,743 rounds of ammunition returned by Yékatom at the ceremony in Pissa did not figure on the original list, which means that he was in illegal possession of them.

In spite of the discrepancy between the original list and the weapons returned by Yékatom in Pissa, the FACA Chief of Staff, in an official correspondence to Yékatom, declared that he had adhered to the voluntary disarmament policy and returned weapons and ammunition of all calibres to the national collection committee and that by that patriotic act, the Joint Staff assured its respect and recognition of your role in stabilizing our country (see annex 3.13). The Panel notes that Yékatom still maintains a substantial level of influence over militiamen in the Lobaye prefecture.⁹⁴

101. The FACA Chief of Staff informed the Panel of his intention to acquire non-lethal and lethal equipment for the national armed forces by mid-2017.⁹⁵ The Panel once again informed the Chief of Staff and the cabinet of the Minister of Defence about the exemption and notifications procedures extended pursuant to Security Council resolution 2262 (2016), which they agreed to comply with.⁹⁶

102. In the light of the limited and inadequate custody over existing FACA weapons held by the central FACA command, the Panel is concerned about storage and control of future deliveries of lethal and non-lethal military equipment received by the Government after the activation of the exemptions and notifications procedures (see S/2016/694, paras. 46-51). Already several non-lethal items received from

China in March 2016 (see S/2016/694, para. 28), for example, were diverted when stored at a customs storage facility, despite the permanent presence of FACA guards.⁹⁷ FACA soldiers were also caught selling their newly received military sports outfits.⁹⁸

D. Anti-MINUSCA protests and calls for lifting the arms embargo

103. Radical actors in Bangui have started to advance the call of Government officials for a lifting of the embargo as part of a discourse meant to incite hostility against international forces. A so-called “working group of civil society”, led by a former member of the Transitional National Council, Gervais Lakosso, has gained prominence by accusing MINUSCA of passivity in the face of continued violence in the country.⁹⁹ In so doing, Lakosso often uses language aimed to galvanize public opinion against international forces. Lakosso was also one of the instigators of the escalation of violence in Bangui in September and October 2015 (see S/2015/936 paras. 39 and 40). On 24 August 2016, Lakosso was appointed to the Advisory and Monitoring Committee for the national disarmament, demobilization, repatriation and reintegration programme, but decided not to participate on 18 October (see annex 3.14).

104. On 18 October 2016, Lakosso launched his campaign, collecting citizens’ signatures to demand the withdrawal of MINUSCA and the redeployment of FACA. In contrast with previous attempts in September (see annex 3.15),¹⁰⁰ the Government did not formally react to any demonstration during the days prior to operation “ville morte” that took place in Bangui on 24 October. A Government spokesperson merely called upon people not to participate. The demonstration saw a robust reaction by the MINUSCA force resulting in a paralysis of the capital. The United Nations reported 4 dead and 13 injured, including 5 peacekeepers.¹⁰¹

105. Lakosso’s campaign was not exclusively organized by civil society groups, it also received support from political opposition actors and some armed groups. The leaders of the Mouvement démocratique pour la renaissance de Centrafrique, Joseph Bendounga,¹⁰² and Séraphin Komeya of the newly-created Mouvement de résistance pour la défense de la patrie (MRDP) (see paras. 138-142 below), have supported Lakosso’s campaign. Individuals linked to several members of the Government were also among the organizers of the campaign. This is the case, for instance, of Marcel Mokoapi, who is former presidential campaign manager for the Minister of Interior, Jean Serge Bokassa.

106. The fact that, despite their arrest warrants, the PK5 fugitives were not arrested during their exodus from Bangui on 24 August 2016, and again on their arrival in Bria, also fuels anti-MINUSCA sentiments.¹⁰³ In a press conference, the MINUSCA spokesperson informed the media that the Mission would double its vigilance in Bria in order to assure arrests of ex-Séléka members under warrant.¹⁰⁴

107. The Panel also noted an increased mistrust on the part of the Government towards the United Nations, which is accused of being biased in favour of ex-Séléka members. While going on a mission from Bangui to Sibut on 4 September 2016, a United Nations vehicle carrying Panel members was stopped and searched at a checkpoint in Guerengou by the gendarmerie. A Rwandese peacekeeper in the vehicle was suspected of being a Séléka member. Overall, in the present climate, there are recurrent incidents of national security forces hindering the movements of MINUSCA staff and United Nations contractors.¹⁰⁵

E. Front populaire pour la renaissance de la Centrafrique: business dealings in Bangui

Michel Djotodia's land sale

108. The Panel has determined that FPRC leader and former President of the Central African Republic, Michel Djotodia, has business interests in Bangui. In its 2015 final report (see S/2015/936, para. 30) the Panel cited the role of Mahamat Nour Binyamine, reportedly in charge of collecting rent for buildings and houses owned by former President Djotodia, who was president of FPRC until the General Assembly in Bria (see paras. 153-155 below). Binyamine is a resident of the United States of America and a former chargé de mission of President Djotodia.

109. In July 2016, Binyamine reportedly brokered the sale of a plot of land in Bangui belonging to Djotodia to a private contractor. On 29 August, the contractor wired a total of FCFA 25 million ($50,000) to Binyamine's account, which he retrieved in the form of a check the same day.

110. Prior to the sale, the contractor in question had consulted the legal representatives of a former minister under Djotodia, Crépin Mboli-Goumba, to conduct title and transactional due diligence, as well as a second attorney to validate the findings of the cabinet's lawyer. Both found the title to be genuine, and that there were no liens or encumbrances on the property.¹⁰⁶

111. Through his attorney, the contractor in question communicated in a letter to the Panel that he had asked the attorney of Mboli-Goumba's cabinet whether Djotodia's exile and role as former president would make the transfer of property unlawful or otherwise problematic, but the attorney told him there were no legal issues related to Djotodia's past and present activities.¹⁰⁷ The same letter stated that the contractor, arriving in the country seven months prior to the purchase, and not reading French, was not aware of the United Nations sanctions regime, or of Djotodia's involvement with any armed groups.

112. The Panel refrains from identifying the independent contractor in question in the present report because Djotodia has not been sanctioned to date by the Committee, and the contractor in question credibly argues that he was not aware, and, after diligent inquiries, was not made aware, of potential financing of armed groups through his transaction. Djotodia's assets in the United States have, however, been frozen since 13 May 2014, when he was sanctioned by the United States, and Binyamine, as an American resident, could be transacting or holding funds on behalf of Djotodia in the United States.

Abdoulaye Hissène's gold business

113. Abdoulaye Hissène, a former collector of diamonds and gold, resumed his business activities following the conclusion of his tenure as Minister Councillor on Youth and Sports under the Presidency of Catherine Samba Panza in August 2014.

114. On 2 September 2014, Hissène reportedly concluded a sale and purchase agreement with an Indian investor for a total of 300 kilograms of gold to be delivered at a to-be-specified refinery in Dubai, United Arab Emirates (see annex 3.16). It is unclear whether this deal materialized, but he may have travelled or intended to travel through Kenya on 5 September 2014 with a sample of one kilogramme of gold, on his way to Dubai for an estimate (see annex 3.17).¹⁰⁸ However, in 2014 Hissène had no mineral export licence, either as a cooperative or a buying house, and did not declare taking out the sample for assaying.

IV. Central region and border with the Democratic Republic of the Congo

A. Union pour la paix en Centrafrique, anti-balaka and Mouvement de résistance pour la défense de la patrie activities in Ouaka prefecture

Union pour la paix en Centrafrique and dissidents

115. The tensions between the Arab faction of UPC, under General Abdoulaye Ahamat Faya, and the Fulani faction, under General Ali Darassa, translated into actual clashes on 4 July 2016 between both groups in the centre of Bambari (see S/2016/694, para. 51).

¹⁰⁷ Mboli-Goumba and Binyamine closely worked together under Djotodia's regime, travelling to the Middle East together on official business. Meeting with Mahamat Nour Binyamine, 1 October 2016.

¹⁰⁸ During his tenure as Minister Councillor, Hissène travelled to Dubai at the end of March and beginning of April 2014 on an official visit to look for material and funding to revive sporting activities. Mission order retrieved by the Panel on 18 October 2016 from Hissène's confiscated vehicle, archived at the United Nations.

116. Generals Faya, Achafi Daoud and Oumar Fadlala, three of the UPC dissidents, reported that the fighting between FPRC/MPC and UPC elements in Ouandago and Batangafo on 19 and 20 June 2016 (see S/2016/694, para. 95) had triggered their defection.¹⁰⁹ At that time, General Faya was the UPC Chief of Operations, but the UPC leader, Ali Darassa, decided to send armed reinforcements consisting only of Fulani soldiers to Batangafo in order to combat Al Khatim's Arab soldiers, without informing General Faya, himself an Arab.

117. Upon questioning from General Faya, Ali Darassa reportedly declared that his ultimate goal was to defend Fulani interests in the Central African Republic. This was perceived as a declaration of ethnic segregation within UPC, as a result of which the Arab faction decided to leave UPC. This decision was communicated to Ali Darassa in early July (see annex 4.1).

118. The policy of ethnic segregation within UPC started in early 2016 with the departure of many Arab soldiers from UPC bases and checkpoints. At that time, the Panel, along with MINUSCA and non-governmental organizations, had observed that several checkpoints in the Mbomou and Ouaka prefectures were exclusively manned by Fulani. However, in October 2016, in Béma and Ouango, the Panel continued to observe the presence of Arab soldiers at strategic points.¹¹⁰

119. On 3 July 2016, Islamic community leaders tried to settle the dispute between the two factions, but the tension escalated with the killing of an Arab merchant on that same day. On 4 July, there was heavy armed fighting between the two groups in Bambari. MINUSCA reported that between 10 and 15 ex-Séléka soldiers were killed.¹¹¹ According to defectors, the number of victims was much higher.¹¹²

120. In fear of being killed by Ali Darassa's fighters, 37 Arab defectors took refuge inside the MINUSCA camp in Bambari where they stayed for seven weeks (see annex 4.2). Despite the fact that they were disarmed and deprived of means of communication, the permanent presence and the protection of the rebels in the camp created a delicate security situation for MINUSCA.¹¹³

121. Following the deterioration of the security situation after the confrontation on 4 July 2016, the MINUSCA contingent in Bambari quickly tightened its policy on UPC armed movements in and outside the town, which then had to be approved by MINUSCA headquarters in Bangui.¹¹⁴ These measures were soon eased, however, and UPC forces continued to move, fully equipped, in and around Bambari, as observed by the Panel (see also S/2016/694, para. 48).¹¹⁵

Anti-balaka attack on dissident's convoy and MINUSCA

122. On 31 August 2016, a MINUSCA convoy with the UPC dissidents departed Bambari for Kaga-Bandoro by road (Nana-Grébizi prefecture). This was agreed upon with the defectors themselves and the national judicial and political authorities. However, in Grimari (60 km from Bambari), anti-balaka fighters had erected roadblocks preventing the convoy from proceeding. The MINUSCA Force Commander, who was on mission in Kaga-Bandoro, immediately flew to Grimari to ease tensions.¹¹⁶ Negotiations failed, however, and the UPC defectors were brought back to Bambari. The same day, there were shootings directed at separate MINUSCA patrols on the road to Grimari and at the MINUSCA camp in Bambari,¹¹⁷ reportedly by anti-balaka elements involved in the Grimari incident.¹¹⁸ A few days later, MINUSCA was again fired upon by anti-balaka elements based at a former "Sangaris" camp.¹¹⁹

123. MINUSCA high ranking officials told the Panel that the setting-up of barricades and the blocking of the ex-Séléka convoy was a well prepared action, orchestrated by the mayor and sub-prefect of Grimari, who were in constant telephone communication with officials in Bangui.¹²⁰ According to several witnesses, anti-balaka elements were manipulated rather than being the driving force behind the attack.¹²¹

124. On 2 September 2016, 35 of the 37 UPC dissidents were relocated from Bambari to Kaga-Bandoro by MINUSCA aircraft, without further incidents.¹²² They are currently living in a state-owned property that is under the de facto control of the MPC General Kader. There is, however, no official alliance between the dissidents and MPC in Kaga-Bandoro. Twelve out of 35 defectors have agreed to participate in the pre-disarmament, demobilization, repatriation and reintegration activities organized in Kaga-Bandoro, but they all seem to have plans to relocate to their home areas.¹²³

Union pour la paix en Centrafrique: reorganization and territorial extension

125. The departure of part of the UPC Arab faction did not challenge Darassa's hegemony over Bambari, but it did result in some internal reorganization. Ali Darassa remains the Chief of Staff, Hassan Bouba is now the Political Coordinator, Habib Hody is the Secretary-General and Legal Adviser, and Souleyman Daouda is Ali Darassa's Political Counsellor and Spokesperson.¹²⁴ After the events of July 2016, UPC also changed its zone commanders in Béma and Satéma, two strategic entry points for supplying UPC with military equipment (see S/2016/694, para. 61 and paras. 143-149 below).

126. In Ouaka, Mbomou and Basse-Kotto prefectures, UPC continued to reinforce its control (see S/2016/694, paras. 56-62). Notably, after the withdrawal of UPDF on 21 August 2016, UPC reinforced its presence in Nzako, strengthening its control over the diamond mining sites in the area (see S/2016/694, paras. 56-62). Members of the local population reported that on 27 August, the UPC zone commander in Nzako (Mbomou prefecture) showed them a document stating that Nzako officially became a prefecture under General Darassa's control, creating panic among the inhabitants.¹²⁵

127. Ali Darassa also continued to build up the UPC presence in Basse-Kotto prefecture. In Zangba sub-prefecture, in the west of the Basse-Kotto, the reinforcement of UPC reportedly increased anxiety among the local population.¹²⁶ In the east of the Basse-Kotto prefecture, UPC established 19 strategic checkpoints along the road between Mingala and Pouloubo (Basse-Kotto), where UPC controls an important mining site.¹²⁷ In several villages around Mobaye, including in Melima and Lewa, UPC elements levy taxes and have established parallel justice systems.¹²⁸

Union pour la paix en Centrafrique: weaponry

128. On 4 July 2016, the 37 UPC defectors handed over 27 pieces of conventional weaponry to MINUSCA, a precondition for them to enter the base and receive protection. The majority of these weapons were similar to what the Panel had previously seen in the hands of or seized from UPC (see S/2015/936, para. 69).¹²⁹ What calls for attention, however, are seven R4 Vector assault rifles with the same first serial numbers (see annex 4.3).

129. Following a request from the Panel, on 10 December 2015 South African authorities had informed the Panel that seven similar weapons had been delivered to the Rwandan Ministry of Defence in 1990. A plausible explanation is that the weapons were diverted from the State stockpiles of the Government of Rwanda in the 1990s during the political turmoil in that country, brought into the Democratic Republic of the Congo and then later trafficked into the Central African Republic. Possible entry points are Béma, Satéma and Mobaye, towns along the Ubangui River and under the control of UPC (see paras. 143-149 below).

130. The Panel has requested the Rwandan authorities to provide support for the further identification of the R4 Vector assault rifles, but at the time of the writing of the present report no answer had been received.

Human rights violations

131. UPC elements have been involved in a series of attacks that have severely impacted the security of local populations living in areas under UPC control. On 3, 4 and 6 October 2016, it was reported that UPC elements attacked the villages of Tchemanguere, Ndempou and Boyo, where they killed and wounded several civilians.¹³⁰ On the road between Bambari and Ippy, UPC elements killed the chiefs of the villages of Kopia and Jitolakri and burnt down several houses.¹³¹ The Kouango area has also been subjected to UPC violence once again, in retaliation for the killing of Fulani by anti-balaka (see annex 4.4).

132. In late October 2016, violence spiralled out of control, with the UPC allegedly killing 11 people in the village of Berima on the Grimari Bakala road on 27 October, and 6 gendarmes who were on their way to investigate the crime on 29 October.¹³² Following the latter incident, anti-balaka erected roadblocks in Bambari's Kidjigira neighbourhood, and kidnapped two staff of the non-governmental organization International Medical Corps. Kidjigira's population fled, en masse, to two nearby camps for internally displaced people.

133. In all the areas under its control, UPC elements have continued to arrest, detain and physically abuse civilians (see S/2016/694, para. 62).¹³³ The use of illegal detention centres by UPC at the "Brigade de combatants" is a good example of the appropriation by the armed groups of State functions.¹³⁴ UPC also runs other illegal detention centres in Langandji village (22 km north of Mobaye) and in the pastoralist centre near Bambari.¹³⁵

134. In addition, the Panel interviewed victims of forced marriages between UPC soldiers and girls between the ages of 13 to 16 years.¹³⁶ During its missions to Béma and Ouango, the Panel observed at least one child soldier.¹³⁷

Anti-balaka groups

135. Attacks on the convoy of UPC dissidents in Grimari showed that anti-balaka fighters — large in number and armed with several new AK-type assault rifles — have maintained their military and mobilizing capacity in the region.¹³⁸ Anti-balaka factions continue to be divided and are either aligned with Maxime Mokom (operating under Omer Beba and Thierry Madibo) or Edouard Ngaïssona (operating under Gaëtan Bouadé). Both factions have divided their areas of responsibility.¹³⁹

136. The non-aggression pact signed on 27 January 2016 between UPC and Ngaïssona's faction in Bambari (see S/2016/694, para. 45) is no longer in force. The parties have accused each other of being behind the violence around the Ngakobo internally displaced persons site on 15 October 2016, which left 11 people dead and 13 injured.¹⁴⁰

¹⁴⁰ Confidential report, 15 October 2016; meeting with Gaëtan Bouadé and Ali Darassa, Bambari, 3 August 2016.

137. Bouadé told the Panel that the disarmament of his fighters had started and issued a communiqué on 29 August 2016 reiterating his faction's participation in the disarmament, demobilization, repatriation and reintegration process (see annex 4.5).¹⁴¹ Two days later, however, he was reportedly involved in firing, using semi-automatic rifles, on MINUSCA vehicles.¹⁴² Furthermore, the weapons to be handed over to MINUSCA within the framework of the pre-disarmament, demobilization, repatriation and reintegration process — and now stored in his house — are non-functional, mostly artisanal, rifles (see annex 4.6). Anti-balaka fighters of Bouadé's faction are among the anti-balaka forces killing and wounding civilians in Bambari.¹⁴³

Mouvement de résistance pour la défense de la patrie: a new actor adding fuel to the fire

138. On 4 August 2016, MRDP was established in Bambari (annex 4.7). Most MRDP elements are from Ouaka prefecture.¹⁴⁴ Leaders of the group told the Panel that their ambition is to free the country from the presence of ex-Séléka soldiers, which they consider to be foreigners stealing resources of the Central African Republic.¹⁴⁵ They first plan to liberate Bambari and later the rest of the country. MRDP leaders reject the disarmament, demobilization, repatriation and reintegration process, as they need weapons and ammunition to achieve their goal.

139. MRDP leaders dissociate themselves from anti-balaka groups, but the groups' rhetoric is very similar. MRDP leaders told the Panel that the anti-balaka are too weak from a military perspective and do not have the capacity to effectively combat ex-Séléka groups. However, several sources claim that there are interactions between both groups on the ground. Initially, Gaëtan Bouadé was even involved in the creation of MRDP.

140. One visible indicator of this possible link between the two groups is that MRDP's base in Bambari was initially established at Bouadé's anti-balaka base. The base was soon relocated and Bouadé issued a communiqué denying his support for MRDP only after MINUSCA's explanation that belonging to a new group would prevent him from participating in the pre-disarmament, demobilization, repatriation and reintegration process.¹⁴⁶ It is likely Bouadé has adopted an official position of rupture with MRDP to continue participating in the disarmament, demobilization, repatriation and reintegration process, while actually cooperating with this new group.

141. On 4 September 2016, MRDP issued a memorandum giving MINUSCA 30 days to arrest Ali Darassa (see annex 4.8). When the ultimatum expired on 4 October, the group claims to have taken action. The MRDP spokesperson, Seraphin Komeya, claims that MPRC elements were involved in the attack against United Nations peacekeepers on the road between Grimari and Bambari on 13 October.¹⁴⁷ In that attack, 5 MINUSCA soldiers were injured, while 2 assailants were killed and 2 were injured.¹⁴⁸ One civilian was also killed.

142. MRDP is very critical of MINUSCA, and it has requested the withdrawal of the Mauritanian contingent from Bambari, claiming that the United Nations troops are accomplices of UPC. The MRDP spokesperson was also one of the organizers of the anti-MINUSCA demonstration in Bangui on 24 October 2016 (see annex 3.14). Seraphin Komeya told the Panel that, should MINUSCA not disarm ex-Séléka groups, the group will conduct more hostile actions against peacekeepers.¹⁴⁹

B. Union pour la paix en Centrafrique and cross-border arms trafficking in Mbomou prefecture

143. In its previous report the Panel highlighted arms and natural resources trafficking through Béma, Satéma and Mobaye, towns along the Ubangi River, all under the control of UPC forces. In October the Panel returned to Béma, and also visited Yakoma in the Democratic Republic of the Congo to further investigate the matter.

144. According to local authorities in Béma and Bangassou, as well as security forces in Yakoma, Tobi Nkotto, alias “Le Mabe”, has been involved in trafficking of arms and ammunition from Kisangani, through Buta and Yakoma in the Democratic Republic of the Congo into the Central African Republic.¹⁵⁰ In February 2016, Congolese authorities supposedly arrested Nkotto in Yakoma for illegal weapons possession and transferred him to Kinshasa. The Panel has requested the authorities of the Democratic Republic of the Congo to confirm this and to provide further details of his arrest, but at the time of the writing of the present report no answer had been provided.

145. Trafficking of hunting rifles and ammunition between Yakoma and Béma is frequent. A confidential source in Bangassou showed the Panel a rifle purchased in Béma that had come from Yakoma (see annex 4.9). The rifle resembled a Baikal hunting rifle and appeared to be produced very recently as it was much different from the decades-old hunting rifles commonly inspected by the Panel. Producers of such weapons in Yakoma invited the Panel to visit their workshop, but local authorities opposed the visit.

146. Hunting ammunition is regularly traded between Yakoma and Béma alongside other commodities, and is openly sold on the market in Bangassou (see annex 4.10). The boxes of hunting ammunition inspected by the Panel were produced by the company Manufacture de cartouches congolaise in Pointe Noire, the Republic of the Congo. Nathanaël Wabi, a merchant based in Yakoma, was frequently cited as principal trader of hunting ammunition, as well as gold and diamonds, between

Yakoma and Béma.¹⁵¹ Harouna Babangida told the Panel that he is one of the principal traders bringing hunting ammunition from Béma to Bangassou for sale. In Béma, a young girl married to a UPC officer told the Panel that her husband regularly crossed the river to buy boxes of hunting ammunition in Yakoma, in order to sell them in the north of the country.¹⁵²

147. To pick up merchandise from Béma, UPC soldiers from Nzako travel by motorcycle through Niakari, 18 km from Bangassou, joining the road between Bangassou and Béma, but without having to pass through Bangassou, where MINUSCA has a presence. UPC has threatened local authorities in Bangassou, instructing them not to deploy the national gendarmerie in Niakari, this after an incident on 5 October 2016 when gendarmes conducting a mission in the village, without knowing, questioned UPC soldiers in civilian clothing who were on their way to Béma.¹⁵³

148. In its 2016 midterm report (see S/2016/694, para. 113 (c)), the Panel encouraged MINUSCA, in cooperation with the authorities of the Central African Republic, to establish a military presence and carry out inspections in Béma among other strategic cross-border arms-trafficking points. In response to that recommendation MINUSCA informed the Committee, in a letter dated 13 September 2016, that the mission had conducted four field missions to Béma since January 2016, while regular patrols continue from Bangassou in order to monitor the border with the Democratic Republic of the Congo. In the same letter, MINUSCA stressed the logistical and security challenges if the forces were to be further split in border areas.

149. The Panel understands MINUSCA's limitations in terms of maintaining a permanent presence in all strategic locations such as Béma, but notes the absence of any arms inspection activities, as outlined in paragraph 36 (c) of resolution 2301 \(2016\) on MINUSCA's mandate, in this location and on access roads, which the Panel deems feasible and necessary to help implement the arms embargo.

C. Illegal taxation by anti-balaka on the Oubangui River between Bangui and Kouango

150. During the crisis, anti-balaka established illegal checkpoints in order to tax fishers and traditional boats transporting goods and passengers on the Oubangui River (see S/2015/936 paras. 59-66). The Panel was informed that although such activities have recently stopped south of Bangui they continue east of the capital.¹⁵⁴ Such illegal taxation drives up the prices of goods and is associated with physical assaults on, and the torture and raping of, passengers (see annex 4.11).

¹⁵⁴ Meeting with the fluvial brigade and a captain of a vessel coming from Congo-Brazzaville, Bangui, 4 October 2016. Meeting with confidential sources, Bangui, 20 September and 15 October 2016.

151. Following arguments over amounts of taxation, river transporters suspended their activities in November 2015. They restarted after anti-balaka leaders Thierry Lebène, alias Douze Puissance, and Thibault Zoni agreed on a fixed level of taxation (see annex 4.12). During a meeting with the Panel, Lebène claimed that he had signed a document to restore the free circulation of boats, denying his involvement in taxation and accusing another anti-balaka, called “Azous Azous”, as the main beneficiary of the taxation on the river.¹⁵⁵

152. After another suspension of activities in March 2016, the number of checkpoints between Bangui and Kouango was reduced from 9 to 3, at Danga, Mbata and Ombella. Tensions remain, however, in spite of gendarmes having been sent to Ombella. Various sources told the Panel that the gendarmes are not preventing illegal taxation, or that they even participate in such activities.¹⁵⁶ On 8 August 2016, passengers on one boat arrested a gendarme who tried to tax them and brought him to Bangui. Following that incident, river transporters once again suspended their activities for a week.

V. Eastern region and border with the Sudan and South Sudan

A. General Assembly of ex-Séléka in Bria

Ex-Séléka attempts to put forward civil society

153. Since Nourredine Adam’s return, his objective has remained unchanged: the restoration of a unified political and military chain of command among ex-Séléka factions. However, the format of the General Assembly of ex-Séléka has changed over time. Members of civil society have been put forward as members of the Assembly to make it appear to be a meeting initiated by the broader population, allowing it to express general concerns and to agree on recommendations to be sent to the Government. Ex-Séléka members would rather participate as guests in a so-called “Forum of Civil Society” from the northern and eastern regions of the country.¹⁵⁷ Earlier, ex-Séléka had also considered organizing an assembly of all Muslim communities of the Central African Republic.

154. When mobilizing civil society, ex-Séléka leaders had two objectives. First, by meeting side by side with civil society, they could claim that they are acting on its behalf and appear as a transformed and unified political movement. Second, it was a way to alleviate the financial difficulties associated with the organization of the General Assembly. Ex-Séléka leaders hoped that their civil society partners would be able to receive funding from either MINUSCA or the Government (see annex 5.1). However, no such financial support was provided through official channels, and ex-Séléka turned towards Bria's economic operators, notably diamond collectors, for financial support.¹⁵⁸

155. Ultimately, the Forum of Civil Society was postponed, with no given date, while ex-Séléka organized their own assembly on 18 and 19 October 2016.

Ex-Séléka factions remain divided

156. The holding of the General Assembly was announced and postponed several times between June and October 2016. The delays were due to financial difficulties, but also to persisting divisions between the different factions.

157. During the months prior to the General Assembly, Nourredine Adam (FPRC) and Zacharia Damane, Rassemblement patriotique pour le renouveau de la Centrafrique (RPRC), tried to convince the other main factions, UPC and MPC, to join. Despite operational cooperation between FPRC and MPC in some regions (see S/2016/694, paras. 94-96), MPC did not participate in the Assembly. While some members of MPC remain undecided about their position regarding the establishment of a new Séléka coalition,¹⁵⁹ UPC has firmly opposed it. UPC is holding to its independent position and refusing to share any control over its growing area of influence.

158. Both the Executive President of MPC, El Bachar Idriss Ahmed, and the Chief of Staff of UPC, Ali Darassa, told the Panel that they would not take part in a coalition led by Nourredine Adam because he is under international sanctions.¹⁶⁰ The Executive President of MPC also indicated he would not agree to join a group that he would not himself chair.

159. Divisions also existed among those participating in the General Assembly, in particular on the allocation of key positions in the new coalition. In a meeting with the Panel, FPRC Deputy Coordinator Moussa Maouloud recognized the tensions between ethnic communities, in particular the Goula, who are strongly represented in RPRC, and the Runga, who are strongly represented in the FPRC.¹⁶¹

The outcome of the General Assembly: call for renewed dialogue and de facto partition

160. The "Bria Declaration" of 19 October 2016 (see annex 5.2) calls for renewed dialogue between the groups involved in the rebellion and the Government under the aegis of the African Union. It condemns the persecutions against minorities and the rearmament of the anti-balaka by the Government.

161. The Bria Declaration also calls for a de facto partition of the country. While committing themselves to abide by existing rules, the participants in the General Assembly declared that they would take care of public affairs in all areas under their control. This position, while it is likely to provoke negative reactions in Bangui, is less controversial than the one expressed in the explanatory statement issued by the Assembly in advance of the meeting (see annex 5.3). The latter document reads like a plea for the independence of the north-eastern part of the Central African Republic.

162. The General Assembly established: (a) a High Supreme Council, with Nourredine Adam as President and Zacharia Damane as Vice-President; and (b) a National Council on Defence and Security with Abdoulaye Hissène as President (see annex 5.4). Sanctioned individual Haroun Gaye participated in the Assembly but has thus far not been given any role. Michel Djotodia, previously President of FPRC, did not participate in the meeting and was not assigned any position.

Formation of a new Front populaire pour la renaissance de la Centrafrique or a step towards the reunification of Séléka?

163. Before the convening of the General Assembly, a new name for the coalition was considered, namely the “Mouvement de Résistance contre la marginalisation et l’injustice du peuple”. All participants were finally gathered in Bria under the banner of FPRC. Rather than being an assembly to reunify all ex-Séléka factions, the meeting resulted in a mere transformation of FPRC, with an internal reshuffling of positions and with new members joining from RPRC.¹⁶²

164. Nevertheless, participants considered that the General Assembly was a first move towards a general reunification. At its conclusion, participants planned to reach out to MPC and UPC leaders to convince them to join — and many positions have been left vacant in the organizational chart in order to accommodate possible newcomers. Given the strategic positions held so far by UPC and MPC in the country, it remains doubtful whether the goal of reunification will actually be achieved. At the time of the writing of the present report, it is still unclear whether all RPRC members will be part of the new coalition.¹⁶³

MINUSCA: security challenge presented by the General Assembly

165. The organization of the General Assembly resulted in significant movements of armed men towards Bria. At the time of the holding of the Assembly, about 1,000 to 1,500 armed men, mainly from the prefectures of Vakaga, Bamingui-Bangoran and Haute-Kotto, were present in and around the town.¹⁶⁴ In addition to combatants of factions participating in the Assembly (FPRC and RPRC), there were also a small number of UPC fighters, some still under the control of Ali Darassa and others from the dissident branch of UPC under Yaya Scout.¹⁶⁵

166. Given the significant flow of armed men arriving in Bria, MINUSCA was not in a position to uphold the weapons-free zone in town. For instance, delegations escorting “General” Joseph Zoundeko on 26 September 2016 and Abdoulaye Hissène on 3 October 2016, with 42 and 80 combatants respectively, were not disarmed by MINUSCA.¹⁶⁶ Armed men generally bypassed MINUSCA checkpoints at entry points to the town. The presence of individuals under warrant of arrest was another challenge for the Mission (see paras. 31-33 above). Nourredine Adam did not physically attend the Assembly, but followed developments closely through his representatives.

167. No serious security incidents were reported during the event. As of 23 October 2016, most men had started to leave Bria to return to their respective localities.

B. Diamonds and security in Bria and the surrounding area

Diamonds and security

168. The town of Bria is the centre of the eastern production zone of the Central African Republic. While the town, its markets and government buildings have remained free of the visible presence of armed groups after MINUSCA dislodged General Arda Hakouma (FPRC) and his men in February 2015, ex-Séléka forces continue to occupy mining sites in the surrounding areas (see also S/2015/936, para. 128).

169. With over 12 mining sites in the immediate surroundings, the town of Aigbando, about 60 km north-east of Bria, and home to over 10,000 people, is one of the main areas of production where FPRC has set up a parallel administration regulating and taxing mine activities. FPRC is a dominant force in Aigbando, with over 35 men present in April 2016, in addition to 15 UPC combatants.¹⁶⁷ It is unclear whether UPC has left as a consequence of clashes that erupted in other locations between the two factions in June 2016. FPRC and UPC soldiers are in civilian clothing and do not openly carry arms, respecting MINUSCA's weapons free zone, but are in possession of arms.

170. When official mining authorities from Bria visited Aigbando in April 2016 to estimate production and identify operators, they were forced to show their mission orders to FPRC authorities in order to gain access to the area.¹⁶⁸ In addition to a number of licensed miners, in early 2016 a small number of licenced or formerly licenced collectors who had either arrived from exile in Cameroon and Chad or who had come from the western part of the country, settled themselves in Aigbando.

171. Other mining areas in close proximity to Bria are also militarized. Mine sites around Iramou, 20 km east of Bria, are under the control of a son of one Bria's most influential diamond collectors, Adoum Kette.¹⁶⁹ In Kalaga, 50 km north-east of Bria, RPRC has a base and extorts diamonds and money from travellers at a checkpoint on the road to Bria.¹⁷⁰

¹⁷⁰ Confidential report, 12 December 2015.

Official trade and trafficking of diamonds

172. Trade from Bria and other locations to the east of Bangui has not been officially suspended, but since the Ministry of Mines has insisted that buying houses store diamonds from the east separate from the west, under so-called “red” purchase slips (see S/2015/936, para. 131) and the sanctions listing of Badica in August 2015, no official transfers have taken place in 2016. Nevertheless, 16 licensed collectors are registered in Haute-Kotto prefecture. However, rather than selling to buying houses, they sell to each other to show the mining authorities that they are conducting a legitimate business. This, nevertheless, is in violation of the mining code. While fraudulent trade from Bria is rampant, seizures are few (see box 2).

Seizure of diamonds from Bria

On 28 May 2016, the Special Anti-Fraud Unit confiscated around 550 carats of undeclared diamonds from collector Mahamat Nour¹⁷¹ and his brother Mahamat Moustapha upon their arrival on a MINAIR¹⁷² flight from Bria. They were accompanied by another collector of Israeli origin, Youri Freund, and an associate.¹⁷³ In addition to being suspected of illegal diamond purchases, Nour and Freund are suspected of having forged documents when obtaining Freund’s collector’s licence.

According to Nour, they had failed to declare the diamonds in Bria (all four parcels) because collectors had given them the parcels at the last moment for sale in Bangui, not leaving enough time to do the necessary expertise and paperwork, and also due to imminent bad weather conditions.¹⁷⁴ Aware of the arrival of Nour and associates, mining services in Bria informed the Panel that they had repeatedly asked both collectors whether they had purchased and/or wanted to transfer any diamonds up until the last moment before they boarded the plane.¹⁷⁵ Nour denied to the authorities to be in the possession of any diamonds. Nour claims to have immediately declared diamonds on arrival in Bangui, although, according to the Anti-Fraud Unit, they were found following a search.

Youri Freund was arrested in Mali in 2004 for smuggling rough diamonds out of Bamako Airport (see S/2009/640, para. 68). The Group of Experts on Ivory Coast also suspected him of being involved in the exportation of illegal diamonds from Ivory Coast (see S/2009/521, para. 326, and S/2008/598, paras. 152-161).

¹⁷¹ Mahamat Nour is the former deputy director general of the diamond-buying house BADICA, which was added to the sanctions list on 20 August 2015.

¹⁷² MINAIR and BADICA are both part of Groupe Abdoukarim of Abdoul-Karim Dan-Azoumi.

¹⁷⁵ Nour and Freund had travelled together to Bria once before, on 4 May 2016, and both declared that they had not purchased any diamonds. Meeting with the head of the prefectural department of mines, Bria, 14 September 2016.

173. Part of the fraudulent trade of diamonds from Bria is likely to pass through Bangui, but another part is alleged to be trafficked by land to the Democratic Republic of the Congo (see para. 146 above).

C. Front populaire pour la renaissance de la Centrafrique: arms trafficking and recruitment in Vakaga prefecture

174. The Vakaga prefecture remains under the control of ex-Séléka groups FPRC and MLCJ (see S/2016/694, paras. 69-72). Previously much weaker than FPRC, MLCJ has reportedly gained ground in the city of Birao and the eastern part of the Vakaga prefecture.

175. The western part of the Vakaga prefecture and the bordering prefecture of Bamingui-Bangoran remain under the exclusive control of FPRC. The competition between MPC and FPRC in Bamingui-Bangoran prefecture and the movements of MPC armed elements on the Ndélé-Bamingui road highlighted by the Panel in its midterm report (see S/2016/694, paras. 81-92), seems to have stopped.¹⁷⁶ In the areas under its control, FPRC has continued to challenge State authority through illegal checkpoints and by imposed curfews in the Bamingui-Bangoran prefecture.¹⁷⁷ FPRC reiterated its rejection of the deployment of FACA (see S/2016/694, para. 75).¹⁷⁸

176. Since his return to the Central African Republic, Nourredine Adam has mainly stayed in the area of Siki Kede in the west of Vakaga prefecture.¹⁷⁹ In July 2016, he reportedly went to Birao and up to three-border-town of Tissi from where he recruited about 100 fighters, mainly Sudanese.¹⁸⁰

177. Tissi is also repeatedly cited as the key location for ex-Séléka groups and criminal gangs to purchase arms and ammunition.¹⁸¹ In Ndélé, FPRC soldiers have been seen lately with brand new military weapons and uniforms.¹⁸² According to several sources, in June 2016, Nourredine Adam organized and received an arms supply from three merchant trucks that reportedly drove from Tissi to Ndélé and Kaga-Bandoro.¹⁸³

Tripartite cooperation

178. The rotation of troops in Am Dafok (Vakaga prefecture) also continues to face logistical challenges. The Panel repeatedly received phone calls from a FACA commander claiming that 93 members of FACA have been stuck in Nyala (the Sudan) since 5 October 2016. They are waiting for an agreement between the Sudan and the Central African Republic for a troop rotation, with the support of Sudanese

D. Lord's Resistance Army

Lord's Resistance Army in the Central African Republic

179. The Lord's Resistance Army continues to pose a threat to the civil population of the Central African Republic. The data compiled by the Panel for 2016 show a sharp increase in the number of civilian abductions compared to last year (see annex 5.5). These abductions raise concerns about the possible enlargement of its ranks by the Lord's Resistance Army, something that it has not done in recent years. Witnesses report that the looting of gold, diamonds and money and the poaching of elephants for their ivory remain its main source of revenue.

180. Doctor Achaye's, a splinter group of the Lord's Resistance Army, continues to operate in the area of Rafai-Djéma-Obo (see annex 5.6).¹⁸⁶ The Panel has received unconfirmed information about a possible surrender of that group owing to a lack of trading opportunities. However, the Panel obtained information regarding a merchant based in Demia (Democratic Republic of the Congo), who would be trading ammunition and goods on behalf of the Doctor Achaye's group.¹⁸⁷

Lord's Resistance Army in Kafia Kingi

181. During the period under review, the Panel met with several defectors and abductees in Obo, Bria and Bangui, as well as in Kampala, Uganda. The abductees and defectors reported that the Lord's Resistance Army is divided into five major groups scattered around South Sudan, the Democratic Republic of the Congo, the Central African Republic and the Sudan. They consistently affirmed that Joseph Kony was and may still be in the Kafia Kingi enclave, a disputed area between the Sudan and South Sudan.¹⁸⁸

182. According to information obtained by the Panel and confirmed by defectors, in early January 2016, following a dispute with local Fullata traders from the town of Songo, a number of fighters in the Lord's Resistance Army were expelled from Kafia Kingi. On 5 January, one of the traders, referred to as Hassan, was allegedly ¹⁸⁴ On 11 October 2016, the Central African Republic submitted an exemption request for troop rotation with Sudanese support, six days after the 93 FACA soldiers had departed Am Dafok to Nyala. The Sanctions Committee approved the rotation on 14 October 2016.

¹⁸⁸ According to the defectors interviewed by the Panel, there are two LRA groups in DRC, led by Maj. Ladera(e) and Capt. Otim Larwuodo (Larwedo) respectively; in CAR, two groups led by Maj. Aligace and Maj. Owila respectively; in the Darfur area, the main group is led by Joseph Kony. Each of these groups consist of approximately 40 armed people plus abductees (women and children). These groups could also be subdivided into smaller units (10-12 persons), depending on their missions.

killed at an agreed upon meeting point for the trading of goods by Colonel John Bosco Kibwola of the Lord's Resistance Army.¹⁸⁹ Kibwola was subsequently executed on Kony's orders for spoiling the relationship with the Songo traders.

183. It is unclear to what extent trade relations between the Lord's Resistance Army and other Songo merchants continued after the incident, notably with a leading Songo trader referred to as 'Musa Hatari', who was the Army's main supplier of food items and chief buyer of their gold, diamonds and ivory.¹⁹⁰ Lieutenant Okot Lukwang of the Lord's Resistance Army, who speaks fluent Arabic, was the principal liaison with the Songo traders, while Kony's sons, Ali and Salim, both listed by the Committee on 23 August 2016, were in charge of the security and finances for the trading operations.¹⁹¹

184. In the Panel's view, Kony's group may still be operating in Kafia Kingi. The Sudanese Government, however, strongly denies the presence of any elements of the Lord's Resistance Army in the area at any point in time.¹⁹²

E. Sudanese poachers and anti-poaching efforts in Chinko National Park

185. In its 2015 final report (see S/2015/936, paras. 109-112) the Panel noted the presence of two groups of some 200 professional Sudanese poachers active in the eastern and northern parts of the Central African Republic. Nyala (South Darfur) is home to the organizers of poaching gangs and the main destination for poached ivory and other wildlife products.¹⁹³ In addition, nomadic cattle herders poach wildlife as they migrate, largely for their own consumption, but also collaborate with professional poachers from the Sudan, selling them ivory, skins and horns.

186. While Sudanese poaching gangs usually cohabit with ex-Séléka forces, the latter have made seizures and arrests of associated traders on at least two occasions. In mid-August 2016, in Alindao, UPC seized a quantity of ivory worth FCFA 15 million. Merchants came from Haute-Mbomou prefecture and were reportedly on their way to the Sudan and Nigeria.¹⁹⁴ Customers in Nyala allegedly called upon "General" Yaya Scoot, from the dissident Arab wing of UPC, to help release the goods. Earlier, in May 2016, FPRC forces under "General" Tom Adam also apprehended traders from South Sudan who were supposedly also dealing in wildlife products.¹⁹⁵

Chinko National Park

187. Much of the poaching in the eastern part of the Central African Republic takes place inside the Chinko National Park. During 2016, the Chinko Project, a public-private partnership between the Ministry of Forestry, the Environment and Tourism and the conservation organization African Parks, has effectively started to manage the incursions of poachers, through sensitization, overflights and the occasional exchange of fire.

188. During operations in February and March 2016, with the assistance of judiciary police, 18 AK-47 weapons were confiscated and placed in the custody of the Chinko Project, thus allowing it to acquire weapons legally without violating the United Nations arms embargo (see annex 5.7). Yet, project managers explained to the Panel that the Chinko Project needs additional items of lethal and non-lethal equipment in order to extend anti-poaching activities. The Panel has provided advice to the Project in preparing an exemption request.

VI. Northern region and border with Chad

A. Anti-balaka challenge to ex-Séléka domination in the prefecture of Nana-Grébizi

189. In June 2016, FPRC and MPC had entered into a tactical alliance to counter the UPC intrusion into their sphere of influence (see S/2016/694, paras. 94-96). This opportunistic cooperation between the two groups continues. The two groups still have diverging views, in particular on disarmament, demobilization, repatriation and reintegration and the need for Séléka reunification, and remain in competition for the control of economic resources in the area (see S/2016/694, paras. 81-84). However, these groups peacefully share control over Kaga-Bandoro and collaborate operationally when confronted with common threats. As was the case in the fighting against UPC in June 2016, FPRC and MPC fighters fought side by side against the anti-balaka in Kaga-Bandoro and Ndomété in September and October 2016.

Anti-balaka revival: the case of Ndomété

190. During the night of 15 and 16 September 2016, MINUSCA removed an anti-balaka checkpoint in Ndomété (10 km south of Kaga-Bandoro). In response, on 16 September, about 100 anti-balaka elements moved towards Kaga-Bandoro and exchanged fire with MPC and FPRC combatants 5 km south of the city. The same day, ex-Séléka fighters reportedly looted and killed six people in Kaga-Bandoro and Ndomété.¹⁹⁶ Attacks, including looting, targeted houses of staff of the United Nations and non-governmental organizations, and the latter continued to be the target of attacks in the following days, leading three of them to suspend their activities on 1 October 2016.

191. These events triggered strong criticism of MINUSCA by the anti-balaka who accused peacekeepers of siding with ex-Séléka and not protecting civilian populations. On 28 September 2016, protests took place in front of the MINUSCA base in Kaga-Bandoro.¹⁹⁷ Following these incidents, MINUSCA deployed additional police and military units in the area.

¹⁹⁶ Confidential reports, 17 and 21 September 2016.

¹⁹⁷ Confidential report, 28 September 2016.

192. In addition, the Government of the Central African Republic deployed 67 gendarmes and police officers from Bangui. However, once they reached Sibut, they were recalled by President Touadéra after MINUSCA leadership had advised him that such an initiative was likely to make the situation worse. However, the actual role of the President is unclear. Before he recalled the internal security forces, a Government communiqué published on 18 October 2016 indicated that they were deployed on the President's order (see annex 6.1).

193. Events illustrate the discontent of some anti-balaka with the status quo in the area and their attempt to challenge ex-Séléka supremacy. Between 10 and 15 September 2016, under the leadership of local leader Bertrand Gazamodo, more than 100 anti-balaka fighters gathered around Ndomété.¹⁹⁸ In establishing a checkpoint there, the anti-balaka hoped to have a bargaining chip to request the removal of checkpoints manned by ex-Séléka in Kaga-Bandoro.

194. While it was reported that most of the anti-balaka fighters came from Bangui, many of the anti-balaka from the area did not side with them.¹⁹⁹ Anti-balaka leader Maxime Mokom told the Panel that Bertrand Gazamodo was no longer working with him.²⁰⁰ He also told the Panel that Bertrand Gazamodo claims to act on behalf of President Touadéra. Gazamodo and his affiliates also told other sources that they were acting upon orders from members of the Government.²⁰¹

October violence in Kaga-Bandoro

195. On 12 October 2016, when the Advisory and Monitoring Committee for the national disarmament, demobilization, repatriation and reintegration programme met for the first time in Bangui, Kaga-Bandoro was the scene of serious fighting and looting, reportedly leaving at least 37 civilians and 12 alleged ex-Séléka fighters dead, and more than 50 people injured.²⁰² Approximately 6,500 internally displaced persons sought refuge around MINUSCA facilities. According to the Panel's database covering incidents since December 2013, this event was one of the most serious that ever happened in the prefecture of Nana-Grébizi.

196. Early in the morning on 12 October 2016, 15 to 20 individuals protested the killing of a Muslim resident that had taken place the previous day under unclear circumstances. These individuals, whose links to ex-Séléka groups are unclear, were attacked by alleged anti-balaka fighters. Later that day, several hundred Muslims, some of them members of MPC and FPRC, looted various buildings in town, including the office of the prefect, houses of the staff of humanitarian organizations and of the United Nations, as well as the internally displaced persons camp at the Catholic Church, which was mostly populated by Christians. MINUSCA had to resort to the use of force in order to protect civilians and drive out individuals from the Evéché internally displaced persons camp.²⁰³

²⁰³ Confidential reports, 13, 14 and 18 October 2016.

197. This incident again strained relations between the Government and MINUSCA. The Minister of Interior, Jean Serge Bokassa, openly accused the Pakistani contingent deployed in Kaga-Bandoro of siding with the ex-Séléka.²⁰⁴ On 17 October 2016 President Touadéra and the Head of MINUSCA visited Kaga-Bandoro together. Additional MINUSCA reinforcements were sent to Kaga-Bandoro from Bangui, Dékoa and Ndomété. On that occasion, the Government did not consider sending in national security forces.

198. In the Panel's view three factors have contributed to the escalation of violence. First, ex-Séléka were discontented with measures taken by MINUSCA since the incidents of 16 and 17 September 2016 in Kaga-Bandoro and Ndomété, such as the removal of their checkpoints, systematic searches at the town's entry points and the planned eviction of members of armed groups from public buildings.²⁰⁵ Second, flooding in early October reduced economic activities and, therefore, racketeering at markets also decreased. Third, many civilians took part in the fighting, blurring the line between armed groups and the civilian population, and entrenching hostilities between religious communities similar to the situation in Bambari.

199. In the aftermath of this incident, anti-balaka from the area reportedly continued to build up their capacities in preparation for further fighting.²⁰⁶

B. Area of influence of the Mouvement patriotique pour la Centrafrique and cooperation with Révolution et Justice

Failed attempt by MPC to establish a base in Nanga-Boguila

200. On 29 August 2016, MPC combatants entered the city of Nanga-Boguila (Ouham prefecture), 55 km north-west of Bossangoa, in an attempt to establish a permanent base in the city. Nanga-Boguila is a strategic location for the control of transhumance roads. On 3 September, MINUSCA dislodged MPC fighters, thereby putting an end to MPC's unchallenged territorial expansion along the Chadian border.²⁰⁷ After they left Nanga-Boguila, 50 MPC elements reportedly looted the nearby village of Mbodi, and continued to the neighbouring villages of Bojomo and Kouki, where they settled in the premises of primary schools.²⁰⁸

201. MPC's continued quest for expansion in the area is a factor of discord within the group, in particular between the MPC zone commander in Paoua, General Mahamat Bahar, and his Deputy General, Saad Suleiman. General Bahar is critical of the continued expansion of MPC in the area, for which he blames General Suleiman, who is reportedly close to the MPC Chief of Staff General Mahamat Al-Khatim.²⁰⁹

Cooperation between the Mouvement patriotique pour la Centrafrique and Révolution et Justice in Ouham and Ouham Pendé prefectures

202. Created in 2013 as a self-defence group to protect populations against ex-Séléka fighters, Révolution et Justice (RJ) has, from early 2016 to date, engaged in a counter-intuitive alliance with the MPC. Colonel Belanga and Captain Esther, two high ranking members of RJ, told the Panel that this cooperation was tactical and necessary to avoid confrontation with MPC, which they consider to be militarily stronger.²¹⁰

203. As observed by the Panel, in the Ouham-Pendé and Ouham prefectures, there are 12 checkpoints manned jointly by MPC and RJ. At these checkpoints, the number of MPC fighters largely exceeds the number of RJ fighters. Fighters of both groups are fully equipped, wearing military uniforms of various origin and armed with assault rifles of various categories, including Vektor R4-type, type 56-2 and MAT-49 submachine guns (see annex 6.2).²¹¹

204. MPC and RJ collect illegal taxes from passing traders, cattle herders and civilians, arresting those who refuse to pay.²¹² Notwithstanding the stronger presence of MPC, RJ has managed to retain exclusive control over 12 checkpoints, mostly in and around Bedam (60 km north of Paoua), which is RJ's main base, under the control of Colonel Luther Betuban.

Obstruction of the restoration of State authority

205. MINUSCA has been able to dissuade armed groups from reinstalling themselves in Paoua, enabling gradual restoration of State authority. Outside Paoua, there is no evidence of State presence.

206. The leadership of RJ reported to the Panel that it supports the restoration of public institutions and the deployment of national security and armed forces in the zone.²¹³ In reality, RJ has prevented a number of efforts towards that end, as did MPC. For example, on 2 October 2016, MPC and RJ fighters forcefully disarmed FACA soldiers who were escorting the Member of Parliament for Paoua, Lucien Mbaigoto. In July, Mbaigoto also had to cancel his trip to Bemal because MPC refused to let him pass with a FACA escort.²¹⁴

Human rights violations

207. Both RJ and MPC are responsible for serious human rights violations, including assaulting villagers for refusing to pay illegal taxation. RJ has admitted to recruiting child soldiers and RJ Colonel Luther has reportedly established an extrajudicial detention centre in Bemal.²¹⁵ With approximately 80 fighters under his direct control, Luther appears to be the main perpetrator of human rights violations in the area. On 17 June 2016, an arrest warrant has been issued against him for sequestration and intentional assault (see annex 6.3).

Continuing divisions within RJ

208. Divisions have continued to deepen within RJ (see S/2016/694, para. 91). On 22 April 2016, several RJ leaders, including Colonel Belanga and Captain Esther, dismissed Armel Sayo as the group's president (see annex 6.4). They told the Panel that Sayo had stopped giving money to RJ members when he became a minister of the transition Government in August 2014, and that since then he no longer had a day-to-day relationship with the group.²¹⁶ In a meeting with the Panel, Sayo denied these accusations and argued that those who attempted to dismiss him represent a negligible proportion of the group's members and control only few armed fighters.²¹⁷

209. In their quest for leadership, Armel Sayo and Colonel Belanga have competed for the loyalty of Colonel Luther and his men, who represent RJ's main military force.

210. On 21 and 22 September 2016, Armel Sayo visited Paoua to reassert his authority over the group and established a new RJ structure (see annex 6.5). On that occasion, Colonel Luther recognized Sayo's leadership. He was upgraded to the rank of General and appointed RJ Chief of Staff, replacing Colonel Belanga, who did not receive any official position in the new structure. At the time of Sayo's visit, Colonel Belanga seemingly recognized Sayo's authority but immediately removed his recognition, reiterating his desire to chair RJ.

211. On 24 September 2016, Belanga sent a letter to the Government expressing his commitment to the disarmament, demobilization, repatriation and reintegration programme (see annex 6.6). As a result, RJ is being represented in the Advisory and Monitoring Committee for the national disarmament, demobilization, repatriation and reintegration programme by two separate wings, one under Sayo and another one under Belanga (see annex 2.4).

212. For more information about Group des patriotes, an RJ splinter group, see annex 6.7.

C. Oil exploration

213. Oil exploration activities by the Chinese oil company PTIAL International Petroleum at Gaskai camp, north of Ndélé, were suspended in June 2016 because of the arrival of the rainy season. A small number of security personnel from the private security firm FIT Protection remained to guard material. The company's executive director reported no security incidents after the month of June, when three members of FPRC were wounded after a skirmish with cattle herders near the Chadian border.²¹⁸

214. FIT Protection is in the process of recruiting staff for the coming dry season, and is working on improving the training, identification and screening of personnel, with reference to the Montreux Document on Private Military and Security Companies.²¹⁹

215. The executive manager of FIT Protection insisted to the Panel that FPRC “General” Adoum Kanton had never been formally employed by the company, but did admit that he used to tax the salary of FIT Protection personnel.²²⁰ While arguing that Kanton no longer has the leverage to do so, the Panel is concerned what will happen once Kanton, who participated in the Bria General Assembly, moves back to the area.

VII. Western region and border with Cameroon

A. Tensions between anti-balaka and Retour, réclamation et réhabilitation (3R)

216. The armed group 3R has consolidated its presence in the northwestern region of the Central African Republic, along the border with Cameroon (see S/2016/694, paras. 98-101). This presence is motivated by a desire to control transhumance roads. Under General Sidiki, 3R has attempted to deploy some of its members in several new locations, triggering severe clashes with the anti-balaka in the prefectures of Ouham and Ouham-Pendé.

217. A further description of fighting between 3R and anti-balaka, as well as human rights violations and violations of humanitarian law committed by the armed groups in this area, is contained in annex 7.1 to the present report.

B. Front démocratique du peuple centrafricain of Abdoulaye Miskine

218. The approximately 35 fighters of the Front démocratique du peuple centrafricain (FDPC) of Martin Koumtamadji, alias Abdoulaye Miskine, who arrived in the village of Zoukombo (Nana-Mambéré prefecture) on 20 May 2016, remain there to date, awaiting disarmament, demobilization, repatriation and reintegration. FDPC fighters liberated the school and set up a camp outside the village.

219. After having released three Cameroonian hostages on 10 July 2016 (see S/2016/694, para. 104), FDPC fighters in Zoukombo released the 11 remaining hostages on 17 July. Of the 15 hostages taken by FDPC on 19 March 2015 from a minibus near the Cameroonian border town of Garoua-Boulaï, one passed away in captivity and two died in hospital after their release on 10 July. Two additional local bystanders, who were witnesses to the FDPC assault on the minibus and who were taken hostage along with the others, escaped on 17 May with the help of the FDPC fighter Patrick Bissi.²²¹

220. On 23 July 2016, FDPC also released the Mayor and sub-prefect of Baboua (Nana-Mambéré prefecture) and a pastor from Abba, who had been detained since July 2015 (see S/2016/694, para. 105).

221. It remains unclear what concessions have been made either by the Cameroonian or Central African authorities to FDPC fighters in Zoukombo, and its leader Martin Koumtamadji, alias Abdoulaye Miskine, in Brazzaville, for the release of the hostages. Two Cameroonian hostages told the Panel that two weeks after their captivity one of the hostages was obliged to talk over the phone with an unidentified individual and express a ransom demand of FCFA 5 billion ($10 million).²²² They also told the panel they had overheard their captors talking by phone to Abdoulaye Miskine, and mentioning his name in their conversations together.

222. Both in the press and to the Panel, the leadership of FDPC has denied responsibility for the hostage-taking on 19 March 2015.²²³

C. Diamonds and security

Official trade

223. On 19 September 2016, the Kimberley Process (Monitoring Team) declared the sub-prefectures of Boda, Carnot and Nola to be compliant zones, as per the requirements set forth in the operational framework annexed to the partial lifting decision of the Kimberley Process of June 2015, that is: (a) sufficient presence of State authority; (b) free movement of people and goods; and (c) no systematic presence of armed groups.²²⁴ The national follow-up committee had also proposed the inclusion of Gadzi sub-prefecture, which was not readmitted because of limited State presence. Mining administration and the Anti-Fraud Unit in the adjacent sub-prefecture of Carnot currently covers Gadzi.

224. Since the partial lifting of the suspension of the Kimberley Process, three parcels have been exported, originating from mine sites within the sub-prefecture of Berbérati, which was the first to be declared compliant on 18 March 2016. The buying house Sodiam exported two parcels, totalling 5,969 carats.²²⁵ The Coopérative des artisans de diamant et or exported 304, and the Coopérative minière chrétienne de Centrafrique made a request to export 40 carats, which the Monitoring Team still had pending at the time of the writing of the present report. The number of licensed collectors in Mambere Kadei prefecture, which includes three of the four readmitted sub-prefectures, increased from 66 in 2015 to 91 in 2016. However, almost half of the licensed collectors are not selling to buying houses and it is therefore suspected that they may be selling diamonds fraudulently.²²⁶

Trafficking

225. Towns in eastern Cameroon, including Kenzou, Batouri and Bertoua, are principal diamond trading hubs of trafficked Central African diamonds. In the Panel's 2015 final report, it referred to a seizure in April 2015 of 160 carats of diamonds suspected to be of Central African origin (see S/2015/936, para. 237). The Indian nationals, Chetan Balar and Rushitkumar Patel, who had been in possession of the diamonds, were at the time assisted by Aboubakar Sidik, the owner of the buying house Etablissement Sidik.²²⁷

226. In December 2015, Sidik obtained a Kimberley Process certificate to export 146 carats of diamonds to the United States, but the parcel was returned and eventually exported to United Arab Emirates. Again, the diamonds were of dubious origin. Interestingly, the intended buyer in the United States was likewise of Indian origin and was formerly associated with collector Ismaila Sylla in Bangui, as was Balar.

227. Cameroonian exports have declined from 2,619 carats in the first 10 months of 2015, to 1,494 carats during the same period in 2016, suggesting that the potential illicit infiltration of Central African diamonds in the legitimate trade remains limited.²²⁸

Presence of armed group members in the trade

228. In 2016, Nice Démowance, who was under the command of Maxim Mokom from June 2015 onwards (see annex 7.2), renewed his artisanal mining licence (see annex 7.3). According to mining authorities in Berbérati, he has been demobilized and remains in Berbérati town. However, according to Démowance's chief of operations, he is still in command in adjacent Amada Gaza sub-prefecture, where combat between anti-balaka and armed Fulani continues, including over mine sites.²²⁹

229. None of the active anti-balaka members earlier identified by the Panel in Berbérati in 2015, Nice Démowance, Steve Private Sérégaza and Maximin Vobouadé (see S/2015/936, para. 224), are mentioned in the supply chain documents of the above-mentioned exporters.

problems, and it is oftentimes limited to the major towns of Berbérati, Sosso-Nakombo, Carnot and Nola.

231. In Berbérati, aggression against Muslims spiked during the period of clashes between 20 and 25 June 2016 in Bangui between the PK5 neighbourhood militia and national security forces (see annex 7.4). According to local security services, events in Bangui triggered action on the part of anti-balaka members to thwart the return of Muslims. For example, a representative of Muslim diamond operators, Haroun Waziri, living in exile in Cameroon, was physically harassed when consulting local authorities to facilitate the return of Muslim refugees. The local gendarmerie arrested Alban Sendemon, considered to be the main aggressor during this period. The latter allegedly admitted that certain diamond collectors had paid him to harass Muslim operators.²³⁰

232. In this connection, Hassan Fawaz, who, according to the Panel, maintained links with anti-balaka (see S/2015/936, para. 228), was brought to Bangui for questioning on the orders of the Minister of the Interior, but the public prosecutor in Bangui told the Panel he had no grounds to issue an arrest warrant.²³¹

233. Alternatively, anti-balaka members seek to extort money from returnees by imposing their services as security providers. Maximin Vobouadé told the Panel that he sensitizes local populations on behalf of Muslim operators willing to return to or to access the diamond-producing area around Bania, in Berbérati sub-prefecture. Allegedly, Vobouadé and his associates, by force, took a list of returnees prepared for humanitarian assistance purposes by the Imam. According to Vobouadé, the anti-balaka needs to control returns in order to prevent ex-Séléka from coming back.

234. In Sosso-Nakombo, on 22 June 2016, some 20 Muslim returnees were forced to either move to Berbérati or to return to Cameroon following an attack against a Muslim mine operator who had re-established himself, in April 2016, at the main mine site of “Arabie”, on the assurances of the anti-balaka leader Crepin Messamba, alias “General Dale” (see also S/2015/936, para. 223). Local gendarmerie officers confided to the Panel that they knew the identity and whereabouts of the attacker, but that they were understaffed and underequipped to make an arrest.

235. In Carnot, several incidents occurred on 20 and 21 June 2016. Anti-balaka looted five houses of Muslims. One house was burned, one Muslim was killed with a machete and at least 20 Muslim civilians were injured.²³²

236. While economic activities in the area seem to be recovering, in part as a result of slow and steady return of Muslim diamond collectors, peaceful coexistence in Carnot is still fragile and several surrounding areas are still considered unsafe for Muslims to return to (see annex 7.5).²³³ Most of the 170 Muslim internally displaced persons, out of 554 in 2015, remaining within the premises of Carnot’s Church are from villages outside the town of Carnot.

237. Events in Bangui in early October 2016 did not spark negative reactions to Muslim returnees in Berbérati, Sosso-Nakombo and Carnot compared to the events

²³⁰ Meeting with gendarmerie officer, Berbérati, 18 August 2016.

²³¹ Meeting with the public prosecutor in Bangui, 20 August 2016.

²³² Confidential report, 22 June 2016.

²³³ Meeting with representative of Muslim IDPs, Carnot, 31 August 2016.

of late June 2016. In Nola, however, anti-balaka elements were allegedly preparing for an attack on the Muslim population.²³⁴ On 9 October, MINUSCA reportedly dispersed assailants and arrested several of them.²³⁵

238. The examples given above show the continued volatile situation of Muslim returnees owing to the latent anti-balaka presence, which may be quickly reactivated. These examples also demonstrate the need for an international and national security presence to respond to such incidents, and for an extension of such a presence beyond the major towns to allow the return of internally displaced persons and refugees to those areas as well. While internally displaced persons sites are abandoned or largely abandoned, returns to smaller mining towns like Bania and Nandobo are still limited.

VIII. Recommendations

239. The Panel recommends that the Security Council Committee established pursuant to resolution 2127 \(2013\) concerning the Central African Republic:

(a) Encourage the Security Council to consider, in the next renewal of the MINUSCA mandate, the establishment of an arms embargo working group, potentially leading to the establishment of a MINUSCA arms embargo cell, with a view to coordinating the Mission's efforts on the implementation of the arms embargo;²³⁶

(b) Encourage the national security and defence forces of the Central African Republic, with the possible support of MINUSCA, to reinvigorate riverside patrols in Bangui, Mobaye and other locations upstream and to dismantle illegal checkpoints and conduct arms inspections;

(c) Encourage the member States of the Central African Economic and Monetary Community and all States Members of the United Nations to utilize exemption and notification procedures pursuant to Security Council resolution 2262 \(2016\) before they start training or otherwise assist elements of the Central African national security and defence forces;

(d) Encourage the authorities of the Central African Republic, in collaboration with MINUSCA and the European Union Military Training Mission in the Central African Republic, to provide equal opportunities for members of armed groups, whether anti-balaka or ex-Séléka, in the process of selecting eligible demobilized members for integration into the national security and defence forces;

(e) Remind the authorities of the Central African Republic that, following paragraph 13 (g) of resolution 2262 \(2016\), officials responsible for engaging listed

(f) Encourage mining authorities in the Central African Republic, in cooperation with police, gendarmerie and justice authorities, to thoroughly examine the eligibility of diamond collectors applying for a licence, in line with the 2009 Mining Code;

(g) Encourage the office of the prosecutor of the Special Criminal Court for the Central African Republic to consider investigating possible war crimes and crimes against humanity committed by individuals and entities listed by the Committee, as well as those referred to in the Panel's reports;

(h) Encourage the authorities of the Central African Republic to carry out prompt, efficient, independent and impartial investigations and judicial proceedings against those who have committed serious violations and abuses of human rights and violations of international humanitarian law; and to take all reasonable and legal steps to secure decisions, including rulings and sentences, proportionate and appropriate to the offense committed.

Préfet du Département
du Bahr-Sara

Objet : Arrêt des incursions des hommes armés en en provenance des territoires centrafricains dans le Département du Bahr-Sara au Tchad.

aux autorités administratives et militaires
des circonscriptions administratives de la
RCA frontalières du Département du Bahr-
Sara au Tchad.

Mesdames et Messieurs,

Il nous a été donné de constater avec regret et amertume que depuis quelques mois les hommes armés en provenance de la République Centrafricaine font des incursions répétées dans les Villages du Département du Bahr-Sara en territoire tchadien, dans le but d'enlever les bœufs et autres biens des paisibles citoyens en direction de la RCA.

Aussi, il conviendrait de rappeler que ces incursions foulent énormément aux pieds le caractère sacré du principe de l'inviolabilité des frontières tracées par la colonisation, mettant en péril la quiétude de nos concitoyens épris de paix et de développement socio-économique.

Nous référant aux nombreux accords de coopérations entre le Tchad et la RCA sur les principes d'égalité, d'intérêts réciproques, du respect mutuel et de la souveraineté nationale, de l'intégrité territoriale et de la non-ingérence signés par les plus hautes autorités des deux Etats.

Nous avons l'honneur de vous demander d'user de tous les pouvoirs qui vous sont conférés pour mettre définitivement fin à ces actions organisées par vos compatriotes et punies par les Lois Pénales Internationales.

Si les raisons évoquées ci-dessus et la demande qui précède vous paraissent fondées et acceptables, nous vous prions d'affirmer votre opposition totale à ces pratiques fondées sur les infractions qui violent les principes des droits de l'homme tels que définis par la Charte Africaine des Droits de l'Homme et des peuples de 1981.

Par conséquent, au cas où les éléments en provenance de la RCA supposés être sous vos contrôles mettent en péril l'ordre public et la sécurité des personnes et des biens dans le Département du Bahr-Sara dont nous avons la lourde responsabilité de veiller à sa sécurité, nous nous verrons dans l'obligation d'ordonner aux forces chargées du maintien de l'ordre et de la sécurité implantées dans notre Département relevant de notre autorité d'user du droit de poursuite reconnu par la communauté internationale pour attaquer et sévèrement punir sur le territoire centrafricain les auteurs et complices des infractions causées sur le territoire tchadien.

Pour preuve, nous citons la dernière incursion sur notre territoire de dix (10) éléments armés de la R.A.J dans le Village MAINENE, Canton Gon à 2 h 34 mn du matin, le 06 Septembre 2016. Cette incursion s'est soldée par l'enlèvement de deux (2) bœufs en direction du Village BARA, Canton MADJIKOULOU, Sous-préfecture de MARKOUNDA avant d'être restitués aux propriétaires suite aux démarches entreprises entre les Autorités de MADJIKOULOU et nous même, le 09 Septembre 2016.

Afin d'éviter d'innombrables conséquences désastreuses et fatales qui en découleront, suite aux actions de poursuites sur votre territoire des potentiels auteurs de troubles par nos forces de défense et de sécurité et la nécessité impérieuse de protéger les relations légendaires et fraternelles, qui existent entre nos deux Etats, nous vous prions de tout faire de ce qui relève de vos pouvoirs pour arrêter définitivement les incursions des hommes armés en provenance de la RCA sur notre territoire.

Veuillez agréer, Mesdames et Messieurs les autorités Administratives et militaires, les assurances de notre parfaite considération.

To appease tensions within MLCJ and MPC regarding participants in the Advisory and Monitoring Committee's work, additional representatives were accepted during the meeting of 12 October. For MPC, in addition to the two Bangui-based representatives (General Abdel Kader Moussa and Ghislain Bria), a third representative from Kaga-Bandoro attended, ie. Adam Somate. For MLCJ, the MLCJ president Toumou Deya, unhappy with the representatives designated, was also allowed to participate in the meeting. All groups' leaders were invited to participate in the 12 October meeting. A few did, including Mohamed Moussa Dhaffane (Séléka Rénovée), Patrice-Edouard Ngaïssona (anti-balaka) and Armel Sayo (RJ).

BUREAU EXECUTIF NATIONAL

SECRETARIAT GENERAL

N° 052 /MPC/ PR/ BE/ SG / 2016

REPUBLIQUE CENTRAFRICAINE

Unité – Dignité – Travail

COMMUNIQUE DE PRESSE RELATIF AU PASSAGE A KAGA-BANDORO DU PRESIDENT DE LA REPUBLIQUE ET CHEF DE L'ETAT CENTRAFRICAIN, SON EXCELLENCE M. FAUSTIN ARCHANGE TOUADERA

Le passage du Président de la République et Chef de l'Etat Centrafricain, Son Excellence Faustin Archange TOUADERA, le 04 aout 2016 à Kaga-Bandoro nous a laissé un sentiment d'indignation et de frustration totale. En effet, bien avant son arrivée, la Minusca et nous avons travaillé pour que cette venue du Président à Kaga-Bandoro soit un succès tant en terme d'accueil que de concertation. Nous avons en outre cru que ce déplacement sur Kaga-Bandoro devra être une réelle occasion d'échanger avec celui-ci, de mettre en place un canal de communication et de pouvoir relancer l'engrenage plus que jamais rouillé du dialogue et de la concertation.

De ce fait, nous avons décidés de présenter une équipe à la hauteur de la rencontre. Cette délégation sensée le rencontrer était constituée du bureau politique (trois personnes¹) et du bureau militaire (deux personnes²). Mais malheureusement, le jour de la rencontre, une fois que nous avons franchi la cour préfectorale (lieu de la rencontre), le Bataillon Pakistanais nous stoppa derechef et nous signifia qu'il avait reçu instruction ferme (de la part du service protocolaire) de ne pas laissez-passer les hommes en treillis. Malgré nos moult efforts d'explication de l'importance que revêt la rencontre, il nous avait signifié une fin de non-recevoir et nous renvoya sans autre formule. De ce fait, nous étions obligés de rebrousser chemin.

En dépit de cet incident malheureux, nous, membres et sympathisants du MPC (Mouvement Patriotique pour le Centrafrique), continuons de croire à la sortie négociée de la crise et réaffirmons notre entière disponibilité pour « le dialogue et la concertation » car la paix véritable ne s'installera en République Centrafrique que par « le dialogue et le compromis ». En effet, dans une situation post-crise comme la nôtre, toute politique de fermeté absolue (aussi souhaitée soit-elle par les uns) est contre-productive et ne fera que retarder le processus de normalisation et de stabilisation du pays.

Par conséquent, il semble logique et nécessaire de mettre en place un cadre de discussion nationale (une médiation nationale ou internationale) qui pourra faciliter la réduction des incompréhensions et la ratification d'un « Accord Politique Global Inclusif ». Seule la ratification de ce dernier qui pourra répondre efficacement et durablement aux racines des maux de la société centrafricaine (le mépris de l'autre, l'oppression, la marginalisation et l'exclusion). Tant que ceux-ci ne sont pas extirpés, toute tentative de façade tentant à embaumer le mal-centrafricain ne sera que vaine entreprise. Il est donc plus que jamais nécessaire de régler le problème de fond de la crise centrafricaine avant d'engager tout processus de DDRR (aussi nécessaire soit-il).

To determine the profile of these individuals, the Panel has used:

- A database of FACA and gendarmes obtained by the Panel from the Ministry of Defense of the Central African Republic in August 2016;
- A 2012 database of FACA obtained by the Panel from a confidential source;
- The list of FACA soldiers dismissed under Minister Marie-Noëlle Koyara (annex 2.9).

The Panel notes that out of 46 individuals on the list:

- Nine correspond to the first category described in this report— i.e., FACA soldiers still on the payroll and without a proper function allocated to them. Among them, seven were dismissed during the transition period under Minister Koyara, but later reintegrated (at an unknown date).

According to confidential sources, among the nine individuals, five have been vetted.⁴ As the list of FACA soldiers in MPC is not dated, the Panel cannot confirm whether these individuals are (or have been) paid while being armed group members.

- Twenty-seven correspond to the second category described in this report – i.e., FACA soldiers dismissed under President François Bozizé. Their names are not in the August 2016 FACA database, nor do they appear on the 2012 list of FACA. All 27 have regimental numbers starting with 2003 or 2004 and are, therefore, most likely "liberators".
- Nine correspond to the third category described in the report – i.e., FACA soldiers dismissed during the transition period (and not reintegrated thereafter). All 9 appear on the list of FACA dismissed under Minister Koyara. One of them has had his regimental number allocated to another individual. During the meetings with the Panel, many ex-Séléka have complained about the practice of regimental numbers' reallocation.
- None of them correspond to the fourth category described in the report – i.e., FACA soldiers integrated under President Michel Djotodia. Indeed, none has a regimental number starting with 2013.
- Another individual on the list has his regimental number now corresponding to another individual. As he does not appear on the 2012 list of FACA soldiers, it is impossible to know whether his regimental number has also been allocated to someone else, or whether he has simply indicated a false or an erroneous number.

⁴ The vetting process was stopped before completion in July 2016 upon the decision of the Central African authorities.

The letter below is a list of former MPC combatants who joined "Séléka Rénovée" in January 2016. Six of them present themselves as FACA with regimental numbers.

Based on the same sources, the Panel notes that out of six elements with a regimental number mentioned in the list:

- Four correspond to the second category described in this report – i.e., FACA soldiers dismissed under President François Bozizé. They are not in the FACA database, nor do they appear on another list of FACA from 2012. Two of them have regimental numbers starting with 2003 and may therefore be “liberators”.
- Two belong to the third category described in the report – i.e., FACA soldiers dismissed during the transition period (and not reintegrated thereafter). Both are in the list of FACA soldiers dismissed under Minister Koyara. One of them also appears in the list of MPC elements mentioned above.

Annex 2.8: Letter dated 28 May 2016 from ex-Séléka General Younous requesting the reintegration of 207 “liberators” in the FACA. Document obtained by the Panel on 18 September 2016 from General Younous.

Forces Armées Centrafricaines (FACA). Nous sommes tous les fils de ce pays et nous sommes entièrement décidés de vous accompagner dans l'œuvre de réconciliation nationale et de redressement de notre cher et beau pays selon votre vision.

Pour l'intérêt de la Nation Centrafricaine toute entière, nous faisons le choix de renoncer à tous recours aux armes et de s'aligner derrière la décision des autorités démocratiquement élues en vue de parvenir à une sécurité durable et d'assurer la défense du territoire national de écarte ceux qui ne sont pas de centrafricains, car un seul doigt n'ôte pas les poux des cheveux mais c'est l'union qui fait la force. Nous vous demandons de prendre en compte les matriculées de 2013 qui ont suivis des formations dans les différentes centre d'instruction en RCA

La République Centrafricaine est trop vaste et a besoin de la participation de toutes ses filles et de tous ses fils sans distinction d'ordre communautaire pour assurer sa défense.

Espérant que notre requête retiendra votre attention particulière, Veuillez agréer, Excellence Monsieur le Président de la République, à l'assurance de notre haute considération.

MOUVEMENT PATRIOTIQUE POUR
LE CENTRAFRIQUE (MPC)

PRESIDENCE

BUREAU EXECUTIF NATIONAL

SECRETARIAT GENERAL

N° _____ /MPC/ PR/ SG/ 2016

REPUBLIQUE CENTRAFRICAINE

Unité – Dignité – Travail

CADRE DE DISCUSSION GLOBALE DEFINI PAR LE MPC

I. INTRODUCTION

Depuis les premières heures des indépendances jusqu'au règne de Catherine SAMBA-PANZA, la République Centrafricaine s'est distinguée par une gouvernance approximative marquée par une mauvaise gestion des finances publiques et des ressources naturelles, un népotisme aggravé, une absence criarde de vision globale d'avenir (capacité limitée d'élaboration d'orientations politiques stratégiques), une improvisation ahurissante, une exclusion accentuée et par l'exacerbation à outrance des différences socioculturelles etc...

Ce mode de gouvernance approximatif combiné avec une administration surannée et trop bureaucratique et avec une « ambition démesurée du pouvoir » de la part de certains décideurs politiques Centrafricains (manifestement animés par des motivations personnelles lucratives et népotiques) ont provoqué un dysfonctionnement structurel de la société centrafricaine et une liquéfaction du système étatique centrafricain. Et, comme si le mal ne suffisait pas, au cours de la même période s'y adjoint une réelle crise de confiance intercommunautaires et une autre entre les citoyens, les acteurs politiques et l'Etat.

C'est cet ensemble corrélé de causes qui justifia le fait que l'amorce d'un dialogue franc et sincère entre les communautés, les différentes forces politiques et les autorités de la transition était devenue à son temps biaisée ou impossible. Par conséquent, le retour de la concorde nationale (garante de la cohésion sociale et de la paix) et la mise en route des institutions de l'Etat devenaient à leurs tours compromises.

Dans ce climat confus et délétère les élections avaient eu lieu. Celles-ci étaient rendues possibles grâce à l'adhésion et à l'implication active de certaines factions politico-militaires (en l'occurrence le MPC qui a su rallier l'UPC à ladite cause et œuvrer dans ce sens). Lors de ces élections, la population centrafricaine (toute tendance confondue) s'était déplacée en masse pour exprimer son choix. Ces élections qualifiées par certains observateurs de la crise centrafricaine comme « une élection de dernières chances » avaient au révélées au monde entier la volonté effrénée de la population centrafricaine et de certaines factions politico-militaires (en l'occurrence le MPC) de tourner la page sombre de notre histoire et d'embrasser l'avenir avec un espoir meilleur.

A la lumière de tous ces constats, que doit-on envisager au lendemain de ces élections en termes d'approches stratégiques pouvant permettre la mise en route d'un nouveau « contrat social » garant de la paix, de la réconciliation nationale et de la prospérité pour tout le peuple centrafricain ?

II. PROPOSITION DU MPC

Afin d'exorciser le mal et chasser définitivement les démons de la division, de l'exclusion, du tribalisme et réaliser « le Rassemblement et la Réconciliation » et « l'émergence d'une nouvelle classe politique, d'un vrai leadership et d'une élite engagée et au service de la nation », nous demandons au Président de la République et Chef de l'Etat Centrafricain d'être sensible à la détresse de la population, à la désarticulation du pays et aux maux qui avaient conduit le pays à la désagrégation et au chaos (l'exclusion, le clientélisme, le népotisme, le mépris de l'autre, le clanisme et le favoritisme comme mode de gouvernance).

Cette présidence post-crise nous offre donc l'opportunité d'asseoir des bases saines pour la mise en route tant des institutions républicaines que d'une politique de développement économique et sociale enthousiaste. Pour ce faire, nous vous demandons d'une part de prêter un serment solennel (écrit) bannissant la discrimination identitaire des citoyens (quel que soit leur appartenance religieuse, ethnique et régionale) et de traiter d'une manière égale et équitable tout « Citoyen Centrafricain » en droit et en devoir. Et d'autre part, nous vous proposons de faire participer les personnalités qualifiées, compétentes et motivés issues du MPC dans les organes de hautes décisions de l'appareil étatique. Ce souhait peut être libellé comme ce qui suit :

- Nous vous proposons de favoriser la participation d'élite qualifiée et compétente issue du MPC au sein du futur gouvernement qui verra le jour en nous accordant deux (2) portefeuilles ministériels dont un (1) au rang de Ministre d'Etat. Les ministères que nous souhaiterions avoir la charge sont les suivants :
 - Le Ministère de l'intérieur, de l'aménagement du territoire et de la Sécurité publique.
 - Le Ministère des équipements, des infrastructures, des services gouvernementaux et de l'intégration régionale.
- *Nous vous proposons de nous accorder quelques places dans les Représentations Internationales et Sous-régionales, dans les Ambassades, les Consulats, les divers départements ministériels et dans les structures préfectorales et sous-préfectorales.
- Nous vous proposons de nous accorder une voix délibérative dans les instances du DDDR, de la RSS et de la Réconciliation Nationale.

- Nous vous proposons de garantir la sécurité individuelle et collective à nos membres et sympathisants et de garantir la non-discrimination dans la promotion sociale.
- *Nous vous proposons de reconnaitre officiellement quelques grades que portent les membres de notre mouvement ainsi que nous attribuer le poste de sous-chef d'état-major de la nouvelle armée centrafricaine accompagné de quelques postes de cet état-major.
- *Nous vous proposons de prendre en compte le retard comparatif de développement de la « minorité arabe » dans la mouture finale du « Projet de Société » à soumettre à la nation.
- Nous vous proposons de mettre en place un corps de « Gardes-Frontières » qui aura la lourde responsabilité de veiller sur la défense de l'intégrité territoriale du pays et plus particulièrement sur la défense des frontières avec nos voisins immédiats (Soudan du Sud, Soudan, Tchad, Cameroun, Congo et République Démocratique du Congo).
- Nous vous proposons d'adopter des mesures pouvant assister (dédommagées et/ou indemnisées) les victimes civiles et militaires de l'actuelle crise qui sont lâchement assassinées, violées, violentées ainsi que ceux qui ont perdu leur capital de production.
- *Nous vous proposons de rouvrir, sécuriser et réorganiser tous les corridors et circuits commerciaux du bétail vers les différents marchés à bétail locaux ainsi que vers les pays voisins.
- Nous vous proposons de faciliter la transformation de ce mouvement en Parti politique et l'appuyer substantiellement afin de permettre son déploiement sur tout le territoire national et de lui permettre de prendre activement part à l'animation politique de la nation.

III. CONCLUSION

En vue de réhabiliter « l'unité nationale » mise à rude épreuve durant cette crise, nous vous demandons M. le Président de la République et Chef de l'Etat Centrafricain, personnalité éprise de paix et de justice d'incarner un « grand espoir » pour la jeunesse et pour tout le peuple centrafricain dans sa diversité à travers une véritable politique de rassemblement et de justice sociale.

Nous souhaitons aussi voir de votre part une « volonté politique affirmée » de transformer la RCA en un vaste chantier capable de mobiliser l'énergie créatrice c'est-à-dire capable de mobiliser toute la jeunesse désœuvrée autour d'un objectif d'équité, de justice sociale et de bien-être pour tous.

Tels sont les propositions que nous vous soumettons pour la réintégration sociale de nos combattants dans la légalité républicaine. Les propositions que nous avons énoncées ci-haut et dont nous pouvons vous apporter d'autres enrichissements constituent une base de discussion avec vous, autorité suprême de la Nation Centrafricaine.

L'UPC propose, sur l'ensemble des combattants U.P.C éligibles qu'une répartition soit faite d'une manière équitable :

1. 35% des combattants U.P.C soit déversé dans les FACA afin de maintenir ou rétablir la stabilité sécuritaire du pays face à une menace armée en provenance de l'extérieur ou intérieur et en coordination avec les capacités et les moyens des FSI, comme en cas de déclaration de guerre ou d'état de siège et ou d'urgence ;
2. 25% des combattants U.P.C soit déversé dans la Gendarmerie Nationale pour assurer la défense des institutions et des intérêts Nationaux, le respect des lois, le maintien de la paix et de l'ordre public et la protection des personnes et des biens dans leur zone de compétence ;
3. 20% des combattants U.P.C dans la police Nationale pour assurer la sécurité publique et l'ordre public dans leur zone de compétence géographique ;
4. 10% des combattants U.P.C dans la douane pour lutter contre les grands trafics frauduleux, contrôler la circulation des produits stratégiques, lutter contre les fraudes fiscales et douanières dans le secteur commercial, lutter contre les transferts illicites de capitaux et blanchiment d'argent ;
5. 10% des combattants U.P.C dans la garde forestière afin de faire respecter les codes, règlements et arrêtes de protection de la faune, de la flore et des ressources naturelles ;
6. création d'un corps des Archers, structuré et équipé, mandaté pour remplir des missions spécifiques de sécurisation des troupeaux et des éléments transhumants ;
7. des représentants de l'U.P.C au ministère de la défense afin de pouvoir participer aux décisions Militaires Nationales ;
8. le poste de l'Etat-major Générale des armées au compte de l'U.P.C ;
9. des postes de responsabilité à la Gendarmerie Nationale au compte de l'U.P.C ;
10. des postes de responsabilité à la douane et à la police Nationale au compte de l'U.P.C.

L'U.P.C vous assure de sa pleine implication dans le processus de paix et de réforme du secteur de la sécurité et de sa disponibilité pour une cohésion sociale et à l'installation d'une paix durable.

COMMUNIQUE DE PRESSE N°06/2016

Suite à l'assassinat lâche et crapuleux du Commandant Marcel MOMBÉKA survenu ce jour Mardi 04 Octobre 2016 au Km5 dans le 3^{ème} arrondissement de Bangui et perpétré par des individus armés assimilés au groupe du tristement célèbre Abdoul DANDA, un regain de tension sur fond de conflit intercommunautaire refait surface.

Par ailleurs, et en représailles, des bétailleurs innocents de confession musulmane se trouvant dans le 6^{ème} arrondissement (SEGA) pour vendre leurs bœufs ont été lynchés et d'autres été livrés à la vindicte populaire dans d'autres quartiers.

Face à cela, la Communauté Musulmane toute entière par la voie de la Coordination des Organisations Musulmanes de Centrafrique (COMUC) condamne avec la dernière énergie ces actes ignobles et barbares de part et d'autre qui viennent une fois de plus entraîner des pertes inutiles en vies humaines et remettre en cause la paix chèrement acquise dans notre Pays et lance un appel au calme et à la retenue à l'endroit de la population et au gouvernement d'ouvrir une enquête, d'établir les responsabilités et traduire les responsables devant la justice.

Enfin, la communauté musulmane veut attirer l'attention de l'opinion nationale et internationale qu'il ne s'agit nullement d'un acte imputable à toute la communauté mais plutôt un acte crapuleux perpétré par des bandits sans scrupules qu'il faut traquer sans relâche et les mettre hors d'état de nuire pour la quiétude des paisibles citoyens centrafricains de tout bord.

Fait à Bangui, le 04 Octobre 2016

Annex 3.7: Weaponry circulating in PK5.

1. The circulation of arms and ammunition in Bangui and in particular its 3rd district remains significant. This is most apparent from the large number of firearms incidents in the area, as well as the large number of interventions by UN Mine Action Service to remove ammunition and remnants of war in the area.⁸ Recent seizures following Hissène's departure from Bangui, and information received by the Panel on Anemeri's arsenal, demonstrate that many problems persist.
2. In September 2016, the Panel received 18 pictures of the military arsenal of Anemeri given to the President in view of the negotiations on his departure from Bangui. In the pictures, there are about 15 hand grenades, 10 AK-type assault rifles, at least two RPG launchers, one machine gun and an unidentified amount of rounds of ammunition.
3. In August and September 2016, the Panel conducted two missions to Sibut (some 190 km north of Bangui) in order to inspect the belongings of Hissène, Gaye and Tidjani seized from their vehicles by MINUSCA on 13 August. The Panel also inspected the ammunition seized in the house of Hissène on 16 August.⁹ An important amount of lethal and non-lethal military equipment was recovered in the six vehicles and from the apprehended ex-Séléka combatants from PK5 neighborhood and BSS camp.¹⁰
4. All ammunition rounds inspected were produced prior to 2005. The inspected weapons were old, some even being unserviceable, and most likely originating from State stockpiles. Besides lethal equipment, the convoy also transported important quantities of non-lethal materiel such as binoculars, radios and uniforms of various origin, some very new (see photographs below).

⁸ Meeting with UNMAS MINUSCA, Bangui, 5 October 2016.

⁹ Inspection at the Gendarmerie (SRI), Bangui, 3 September 2016.

¹⁰ The convoy transported machine guns (3), submachine guns (1), RPG launchers (2), a 60 mm mortar tube, a mousqueton (1), a pistol (1) and assault rifles of various types: type 56(4), type 56-2 (1), AKM-type (1), SKS-type (1), MAS 36 (1). The convoy also transported hand grenades (1), rocket-propelled grenades (17), mortar bombs (26), and significant quantities of 7.62x39 mm, 7.62x51 mm, 9x19 mm, 9.3x62 mm, 9.3x74 mm ammunition from several countries of origin.

Objet : Suspension de notre participation au
 Comité Consultatif et de Suivi du DDRR

Monsieur le Ministre,

Nous avons le regret de vous annoncer par la présente que nous suspendons notre participation au Comité Consultatif et de Suivi du DDRR pour protester contre la violation constante de l'accord de principe du DDRR par les groupes armés bénéficiaires de ce programme et les tâtonnements constatés au lancement de ce comité le mercredi 12 octobre 2016 à la Présidence.

Nous souhaitons qu'une rencontre préalable avec toutes les Forces Vives de la Nation et la présence effective de tous les groupes armés se tiennent avant la reprise des activités dudit comité.

Si cela n'est pas observé, nous maintiendrons la suspension de notre participation et aviserons.

Restons à votre écoute pour toutes fins utiles, recevez l'expression de notre considération distinguée.

- LE RETRAIT DE LA MINUSCA ET
- LA PRISE DES MESURES POLITIQUES VIGOUREUSES PAR LE GOUVERNEMENT POUR L'AMELIORATION DE LA SITUATION SECURITAIRE EN CENTRAFRIQUE.

Peuple Centrafricain, tu es invité à prendre ta responsabilité en signant massivement cette pétition car :

- La Minusca a failli à sa mission en devenant complice de la Séléka qui continue de massacrer, de violer et de détruire nos villes et villages ;
- Et les Autorités que nous avons établies démocratiquement, nous ont totalement déçus par leur laxisme et leur indifférence face à la souffrance chronique du peuple

Notre déclaration du 26 septembre étant restée sans suite, nous prenons nos responsabilités pour éviter le pire.

Communiqué de presse N°001 du 30/06/2016

Relatif à la déception des six (6) Généraux du mouvement de l'UPC du Général ALI Darassa.

Nous les généraux, YAYA SKOTTE Chef d'Etat Major Adjoint de l'UPC, Ahamat FAYA Abdoulay Chef d'Etat Major chargé des opérations, FADLALA Oumar, MOUSSA Bachir, Achafi DAOUD et Haroun MAHAMAT tous conseillers à l'Etat Major de l'UP réunis ce jour 30/06/16 à BAMBARI décidons ce qui suit :

- considérant la gestion clanique et discriminatoire de l'UPC par le General ALI Darassa ;
- considérant le non respect et violation des idéaux de ce mouvement politico-militaire au prétexte que ce parti aurait été crée uniquement pour la défense de la communauté peuhl ;
- considérant que l'UPC étant composé de plusieurs ethnies aux motif de protéger et de défendre les de la communauté musulmane menacée d'extermination durant les événements tragiques qu'à traversé notre pays la République Centrafricaine ;
- considérant le manque de confiance venant au niveau du staff de l'état major de l'upc et souhait hardant du général ALI Darassa de persister dans ses intentions belliqueuses, décidons de nous démarquer définitivement de ce mouvement et comme libre à adhérer à n'importe quel PARTI .

Aussi nous n'oublions pas de saisir l'opinion publique nationale et internationale de cette déception intervenue au sein de l'UPC.

Annex 4.4: Analysis of Kouango and surrounding villages.

1. In its 2015 final report (see S/2015/936 paras. 63-84), the Panel indicated the tense situation in the Bambari-Grimari-Kouango area between anti-balaka and UPC, but also among anti-balaka groups. In 2016, the presence of anti-balaka lead by zone commander “Fally” put at risk the population of Kouango and surrounding villages.¹¹ On 19 April, “Fally” was killed allegedly by another anti-balaka leader, Gaëtan,¹² who also attacked UPC elements at Ganamandji and Somba, near Kouango. Clashes between the two anti-balaka groups continued on 20 April.¹³

2. In addition to the presence of armed groups in Kouango, the region is a transit area for Fulani herdsmen. This increases the possibility of clashes between the local population and the armed groups. On 10 August 2016, two Fulani were killed in Maignery area, near Kouango, allegedly by anti-balaka elements. In retaliation, UPC members detained between 10 and 20 persons from the villages of Zou 1, Zou 2, Kédja, and Kouboulayadé, who later were released.¹⁴ The conflict between Fulani and anti-balaka further escalated with the killing, on 6 September, of a pastor and two others injured.¹⁵ Attacks against humanitarians were also reported on 8 September.¹⁶

3. On 10 September 2016, a Muslim was killed in the Kouango-Bianka axis, apparently by anti-balaka elements, which provoked a violent reaction from UPC elements against the Christian population.¹⁷ An estimated 19 people were killed and between 2,000 to 3,000 people were displaced. Some 380 houses were torched in 11 villages.¹⁸ Since the beginning of October 2016, around 670 IDPs have returned to the Kouango area.¹⁹ However, insecurity remains a major threat to the local population.

¹¹ For example, “Fally”’s group attacked the village Ganemandji (approx. 40km northeast of Kouango), looting the office of a national NGO. Confidential report, 19 April 2016.

¹² The Panel has previously reported about the ongoing dispute between Gaëtan and “Fally” factions. Panel’s 2015 final report (see S/2015/936, para. 75).

¹³ Confidential report, 20 April 2016.

¹⁴ People were freed after MINUSCA intervention. Confidential report, 11 August 2016.

¹⁵ Confidential report, 6 September 2016.

¹⁶ A humanitarian, traveling in an international NGO car from Kouango to Grimari, was injured by a stone thrown at her. Confidential report, 8 September 2016.

¹⁷ Confidential reports, 11 and 15 September 2016.

¹⁸ Confidential reports, 18 September and 11 October 2016.

MEMORANDUM

L'ATTENTION DE MONSIEUR LE
CHEF DE BUREAU DE LA MINUSCA DE BAMBARI

Nous, populations de la Ouaka, sommes mécontentes du mutisme et du laissez aller vis-à-vis de l'insécurité chronique qui sévit à Bambari, Ngakobo, Kouango, et les environs.

Constatons que :

Ali NDARASSA et ses hommes tuent depuis 2014 jusqu'à ce jour et n'est jamais inquiet;

Aucun pouvoir public n'a posé des actes concrets pour arrêter ces barbaries;

En une semaine, 09 Centrafricains sont tués à Ngakobo par éléments de la Séléka Peulhs de Ali NDARASSA avec la complicité des Mauritaniens de la MINUSCA.

Avons écouté sur les ondes de la Radio Ndéké Luka, les propos injurieux de Mr ONIANGA – ANIANGA Représentant Spéciale du Secrétaire Général des Nations Unies en Centrafrique traitant les Centrafricains de voleurs de bœufs, alors que ces derniers démunis de toutes forces ne vivent que des produits champêtres.

Ce Centrafricain du nom de DANDE Bienvenue tué à Ngakobo, revenait du champ avec ses épouses et n'a jamais mis pied dans un parc qui n'existe nulle part à Ngakobo.

Dans d'autres préfectures règnent la paix et la sécurité, et la libre circulation des biens et des personnes est une réalité quotidienne.

Mémemorandum du MRDP Bambari Ouaka

Pourquoi et toujours la Ouaka qui continue de souffrir ? Pourquoi la population de la Ouaka doit-elle continuer à subir des actes de barbaries ?

Nous avons espéré qu'avec le retour à la légalité constitutionnelle, la Préfecture de la Ouaka devrait respirer une aire nouvelle ; hélas nous vivons le pire.

Les éléments de la MINUSCA affectés dans la Ouaka sont tous des musulmans et entretiennent leurs frères au détriment du reste de la population ; ce qui n'est pas acceptable.

La complicité de la MINUSCA est visible et claire, car c'est elle qui fournit des armes et des munitions aux éléments de la Séléka pour tuer la population civile.

Les éléments de la Séléka se promènent librement l'arme aux poings, érigent des barrières au su et au vu de la MINUSCA qui ne réagi pas.

La Ouaka est vue comme un dépotoir où il faut y déverser tous les criminels musulmans, d'une part et, la MINUSCA qui se déplace avec éléments de la Séléka qui sont des rebelles dans les véhicules des Nations Unies que de Mr. ONIANGA ANIANGA qui n'ose pas condamner ni dénoncer, mais se contente de les défendre d'autre part.

Nos souffrances ont trop durées et nous disons tous de vive voix « ça suffit ».

Recommandons:

- . L'arrestation immédiate d'Ali DARASSA n'excédant pas 30 jours;
- . Le départ sans condition des Mauritaniens et leur remplacement par des contingents non musulmans.
- . Départ sans condition du chef de Bureau de la MINUSCA de Bambari
- . La levée immédiate de toutes les barrières érigées par les SÉLÉKA ainsi que leur cantonnement et isolement sans condition à 30 Kms hors de la ville ;
- . Le départ de Monsieur ONIANGA – ANIANGA à la tête de la MINUSCA qui n'est pas à la hauteur de la tâche, et qui injurie les centrafricains alors que le mandat qui lui a été accordé est classé pour ne jouer qu'à l'amateurisme.
- . Que la volonté du peuple soit respectée.

DECLARATION DE BRIA

Nous participants, réunis à l'Assemblée Générale du Front Populaire pour la Renaissance de Centrafrique (FP R C) tenue à Bria (HAUTE-KOTTO) en date des 18 et 19 Octobre 2016.

Préoccupés profondément par le contexte socio-sécuritaire très alarmant que traverse le pays en général et la Région Nord-Est en particulier caractérisé en grande partie par les pratiques de la mauvaise gouvernance, la politique d'exclusion ainsi que les menaces sérieuses qui pèsent sur la paix, la sécurité, l'unité, et le développement socio-économique dans les différentes provinces du Nord-Est.

Affirmant que les causes profondes de la crise Centrafricaine s'expliquent surtout par des raisons politiques et institutionnelles

Rappelant respectivement :

- Au peuple centrafricain
- et A l'opinion internationale

Ce qui suit :

- Le non-respect de tous les Accords signés avec les régimes politiques précédents et l'actuel Gouvernement ;
- le non-respect des engagements officiels souscrits avec les Institutions Sous Régionales ;
- L'absence quasi-totale d'unité dans le Sud-Ouest du pays ;

- Le climat d'insécurité récurrente qui se manifeste dans toute la partie Sud-Ouest du pays, ainsi que dans la capitale Bangui ;

- le processus du Désarmement, Démobilisation, Réinsertion et Rapatriement ne repose pas sur des garanties réelles des droits et qui est souvent entaché de recours à l'usage de la force ;

- le réarmement des milices Anti-bataka et leur reconversion dans les Forces Armées Centrafricaines par le régime actuel ;

Rappelant également les conditions de vie précaire des réfugiés et personnes déplacées internes victimes des conflits. Le manque d'initiative des dirigeants politiques centrafricains dans la mise en œuvre des stratégies efficaces en faveur de la paix, de la sécurité, de l'unité nationale et de la reconstruction du pays en général et la Région Nord-Est en particulier.

Convaincus que la Résolution 2301 adoptée par le Conseil de Sécurité des Nations-Unies en sa 7747^{ème} séance en date du 26 juillet 2016 n'ayant rien à reprocher au Front Populaire pour la Renaissance de Centrafrique (FPRC)

Convaincus que la présente déclaration constitue les nouvelles orientations politiques du F P R C devant aboutir aux compromis de paix durable gage d'unité et de relance des activités socio-économiques dans le Nord-Est.

Félicitant la parfaite réussite de cette Assemblée Générale qui s'est déroulée dans une ambiance paisible et d'échanges constructives.

Félicitant la Communauté Internationale notamment le Secrétaire Général des Nations-Unies, l'Union Européenne, l'Union Africaine, La Communauté des Etats de l'Afrique Centrale (C E A C) et la Communauté Economique et Monétaire de l'Afrique Centrale (C E M A C) pour leurs interventions salutaires dans la résolution de la crise Centrafricaine.

De tout ce qui précède et à l'issue des résolutions prises à l'unanimité lors cette Assemblée Générale en sa session ordinaire tenue à Bria, nous déclarons solennellement au nom du FPRC :

1-Accepter la tenue d'un dialogue sincère et concret avec le gouvernement en présence de la communauté internationale exclusivement au sien du siège de l'Union Africaine à ADDIS-ABEBA.

2-S'engager à entretenir des relations étroites et agissantes avec les pays voisins sur tous les plans dans le strict respect des textes et lois en vigueur.

3-Assurer la gestion des affaires publiques dans tous les domaines dans nos zones respectives.

4-Permettre la sécurisation et la libre circulation des personnes et des biens, ainsi que des organisations humanitaires internationales en activité dans le Nord-Est et leur demandant d'observer les principes de la neutralité et d'impartialité.

5-Demander aux pays voisins de procéder à l'ouverture des couloirs humanitaires en vue du retour des réfugiés dans leurs foyers habituels sous l'égide des agences humanitaires des Nations-Unies et des pays amis et leur procurer de l'assistance humanitaire nécessaire.

6- Condamner énergiquement le réarmement des milices Anti-balakas, la passivité et l'inaction du gouvernement et de la communauté internationale au sujet des atteintes flagrantes aux droits humains, d'extrême gravité perpétrées par les milices Anti-balakas dans les provinces du Sud-Ouest à l'égard des minorités rendus esclaves et sans la moindre protection.

Ainsi prononcée la présente déclaration solennelle ce jour 19 Octobre 2016 pour servir et valoir de feuille de route,

EXPOSE DE MOTIFS

I- GENESE D'UNE CRISE LATENTE

Par nord-est centrafricain, on entend la Bâzière sud-est du bassin du Tchad située en République Centrafricaine, et particulièrement l'espace circonscrit au nord par le Bahr Aouk et l'Aoukale, qui marque la frontière avec le Tchad, et au sud par le Koukourou et la ligne de partage des eaux entre le bassin secondaire de l'Aouk et celui de la Chinko. D'une superficie totale de 191.350 km² et une population d'environ 500.800 habitants, soit une densité de 2 habitants au kilomètre carré. Elle constitue historiquement la région du Dar El Kouti ou du Fartit qui regroupe les préfectures de Haute-Kotto, de la Vakaga et du Bamingui-Bangoran. Elle est limitée à l'est par le Soudan du Sud, la préfecture du Haut-Mbomou, à l'ouest par la préfecture de la Nana-Gribizi, au nord par le Tchad et au nord-est par le Soudan du nord et au sud par les préfectures de la Ouaka, de la Basse-Kotto et Mbomou.

Avant l'indépendance de la RCA, cette région était autonome suivant le traité signé en 1897 entre la République Française, représentée par son administrateur colonial, Emile Gentil et le Pays de Dar Kouti représenté par Mohamed EL-SENOUSSI (cf traité). Ce traité politique a permis à l'administration coloniale française de reconnaître l'autorité politique du Dar El Kouti et son autonomie par l'ouverture de l'Ambassade de France à NDELE en 1900 représenté par le commandant MERCURY. Cet instrument juridique international établi en français et en arabe, a été signé après la conférence de Berlin qui a acté le partage de l'Afrique. L'arrêté du 12 octobre 1909 du gouverneur général, publié au journal officiel du 15 octobre 1909, page 395, a réaffirmé l'autonomie de cette localité. Plusieurs années, après avoir été annexée de force, la région du Dar El Kouti a connu et continue de connaître les difficultés de tous ordres : persécution, discrimination, marginalisation, tribalisme, clanisme et régionalisme qui ont été érigés en mode de gestion de l'Etat par les régimes successifs.

Cette région est l'une des plus défavorisées du pays et se caractérise entre autres, par l'absence de structures administratives et socioéconomiques, l'absence d'infrastructures routières, les conséquences de l'inégalité de chance et l'inégalité dans la répartition des actions de développement.

Outre par cette injustice sociale, des mouvements de révolte ont été créés à partir de 2001 et n'avaient pour revendication que le développement socioéconomique de la région.

Pour répondre aux exigences des groupes armés, différents accords ont été signés :

- l'accord de Syrtes en Lybie le 3 février 2007 ;
- l'accord de cessation des hostilités de Birao, le 13 avril 2007 ;
- l'accord de cessez-le feu et de paix, signé le 09 mai 2008 à Libreville ;
- l'accord de paix globale signé le 21 juin 2008 à Libreville ;
- les recommandations du dialogue politique inclusif de Bangui du 20 décembre 2008 ;
- l'accord de paix du 26 Août 2011 à Bangui.

Ces différents accords de paix ainsi que les recommandations du dialogue nationale de 2003 et du dialogue politique inclusif de 2008 n'ont pas été suivies d'effet.

Ayant compris que ces accords n'ont servi qu'à donner un prétexte pour permettre au régime de BOZIZE de gagner du temps face aux différentes réclamations, les groupes armés se sont regroupés et ont formé la SELEKA en 2012. Face à l'avancée spectaculaire de cette rébellion, BOZIZE et ses acolytes ont organisé l'organisation terroriste COCORA, dirigée par le défunt Lévis YAKITE et Josué BINOUA et distribué des armes et des machettes puis érigé des barrières partout dans le pays afin d'identifier et d'exterminer tous les musulmans et ressortissants du nord-est. La communauté internationale intervenue pour faire signer le 11 janvier 2013 à Libreville un autre accord politique. Cet accord prévoyait entre autres, le démantèlement des barrières, la libération des détenus et le partage du pouvoir en tenant compte du double équilibre confessionnel et régional.

En rentrant de Libreville, BOZIZE a fait semblant de dissoudre le COCORA mais fait créer le CC dirigé par Stève YAMBETE, qui a poursuivi les mêmes objectifs de COCORA.

Il convient de rappeler que cet accord, obtenu sous la pression de la communauté internationale n'a pas été appliqué par le régime de BOZIZE. C'est ainsi que la SELEKA s'est vue obligée de prendre le pouvoir par la force le 34 Mars 2013, afin de rétablir l'équilibre socio-économique.

Cependant, la SELEKA a été infiltrée par les éléments du régime de BOZIZE qui se sont illustrés par des exactions au nom de cette dernière. Des campagnes médiatiques mensongères en vue d'adhérer à la communauté internationale à leur cause ont fait croire à une guerre religieuse et engagé le pays dans une spirale de violence sans précédent.

Imbu de son statut d'homme d'Etat, épris de paix, le Président DJOTODIA avait devant lui homologues, les Chefs d'Etat de la CEEAC, accepté de démissionner, pour préserver la paix et l'unité nationale, en date du 10 janvier 2014. Ainsi, la transition devait être gérée en vertu de l'accord de NDJAMENA en tenant compte du double équilibre confessionnel et régional, pour conduire la nation aux élections libres et transparentes. Malheureusement après cette démission, la situation s'est envenimée et l'on a assisté à une stratégie d'extermination et de destruction de biens meubles et immeubles ainsi que les lieux de culte des musulmans, sous un regard indifférent, complice de la communauté internationale et des dignitaires religieux chrétiens.

Après son élection à la magistrature suprême de l'Etat, la Présidente de la transition, n'a pas respecté les accords de Ndjaména. C'est après le FORUM de Brazzaville que madame la Présidente de la transition a unilatéralement nommé un chef de gouvernement musulman. Cet équilibre a été rompu que les engagements solennels de l'Organisation de la Coopération Islamique (OCI) pris au sommet de Ndjaména le 19 Décembre 2015 ont décrié partiellement le climat délétère qui ont abouti à l'organisation du forum national de Bangui, les élections référendaires, présidentielles et législatives afin de mettre fin à la transition chancelante. La population du nord-est croyait que les maux qui minent la société centrafricaine allaient trouver des réponses à leurs préoccupations dans le forum national de Bangui, dans la nouvelle constitution et les élections présidentielles et législatives de 2016. Malheureusement, force est de constater que la pratique des nouvelles autorités politiques est loin de donner une assurance. Car, le contexte actuel démontre à suffisance le mépris à l'égard du centrafricain de Nord-est, rendant impossible la cohabitation avec les autres communautés; communauté internationale s'anlise du jour en jour dans la crise centrafricaine.

II- CONTEXTE ACTUEL

III La mauvaise gouvernance

II-1.1 La désignation des autorités politiques

Le Président TOUADERA a nommé son directeur de campagne Simplicie Mathieu SARANDJI qui fut son directeur de cabinet au poste de premier ministre, alors que ce poste devait être attribué à un musulman du nord-est, selon le principe de l'équilibre régional et confessionnel, consacré par les recommandations du forum de Bangui et la nouvelle constitution.

Il a systématiquement réfuté l'idée d'un accord politique avec les forces d'opposition armée avant le processus du DDRR. C'est une stratégie qui consiste à pérenniser sans doute les conflits. Sous ce prétexte, il a procédé à la désignation des membres du gouvernement en excluant les ex-séleka. Alors que les leaders de la milice anti balaka sont nommés à des postes ministériels. Les populations du nord-est ne sont pas toutes représentées, à l'exemple de la préfecture de la Haute-Kotto qui ne dispose pas de représentant au gouvernement.

Aucun musulman ne faisait partie du cabinet présidentiel. Suite aux critiques de la communauté internationale et même nationale, le Président TOUADERA a repêché deux musulmans à son Cabinet aux postes périphériques, pour tromper les partenaires afin d'obtenir des financements.

Le Cabinet de la Primature a été une fois de plus, une illustration remarquable de la haine et de l'exclusion. Aucun musulman sur les trente quatre membres du cabinet. Est-ce là une attitude tendant à encourager la cohésion sociale et la cohabitation entre les différentes communautés ? Rien de surprenant car tout comme BOZIZE et son entourage, TOUADERA étant vice président du KNK, Premier Ministre sous BOZIZE pendant plus de cinq ans, ne saurait apporter du nouveau au peuple centrafricain, moins encore aux ressortissants du nord-est, qui l'avaient évincé du pouvoir. Selon un adage populaire, « L'on ne peut transformer un cœur endurci par la haine ».

II-1.2 L'impunité comme mode de gestion ; le favoritisme et le recyclage des anti-balaka

Le Président TOUADERA prône la tolérance zéro à l'égard des auteurs de crime de guerre et de crimes contre l'humanité. Cependant il faut reconnaître que cette attitude de fermeté ne vise que les ressortissants du nord-est. La preuve en est que les grands criminels notoirement connus et faisant l'objet de poursuites judiciaires et de mandats d'arrêt, sont en liberté et participent à la gestion des affaires publiques. Pour les encourager dans leurs entreprises criminelles, certains sont élus député de la nation et jouissent de l'immunité (Bertin BEA et Alfred YEKATOM Alias RAMBO) ; d'autres font partie de la sécurité rapprochée du Président de la République (Eugène NGAIKOISSET Alias le boucher de Paoua et Olivier KOUDEMON alias BANGOUMA) ; et d'autres encore nommés à des postes de responsabilité à l'exemple de Jean-serge BOKASSA, pourtant auteur des actes de criminalité de septembre et octobre 2015, est nommé Ministre de l'Intérieur et de l'Administration du Territoire, interlocuteur de la MINUSCA. Les anti balaka et les anciens dignitaires du régime de BOZIZE bénéficient des traitements particuliers. Entre temps, les ressortissants du nord-est qui ont fui pour sauver leur vie et se retrouvent soit à l'étranger ou dans le nord-est sont systématiquement démis de leurs fonctions, radiés de la fonction publique, remplacés ou qualifiés de rebelles et recherchés par la justice.

II-1.3 Partialité de la justice

Il est également à noter que la justice centrafricaine n'est pas impartiale. Car, la population du nord-est se demande pourquoi la justice centrafricaine n'a pas empêché les candidatures de Serge BOKASSA, Alfred YEKATOM, Bertin BEA, Thierry LIBERE Alias 12 puissances et le député de Nola aux élections législatives et présidentielles.

Lors de la dernière session criminelle qui s'est tenue à Bangui, la plus part des criminels anti-balaka ont été purement et simplement acquittés, en dépit des actes ignobles qu'ils ont commis sur les musulmans et dont certains ont même reconnu les faits. Tous les anti balaka libérés ont ainsi repris les armes et certains sont aperçus dans la région de Damara, fief du Président TOUADERA. Par conséquent, la population du nord-est ne fait plus confiance à la justice centrafricaine.

II-1.4 La réorganisation et le réarmement de la milice anti balaka

Le retour aisé de Francis BOZIZE, fils de l'ancien Président François BOZIZE n'est pas un fait du hasard. Le Président TOUADERA a fait appel à celui qui avait organisé et planifié le massacre des ressortissants du nord-est en général et des musulmans en particulier, pour continuer son œuvre de persécution et d'extermination de cette communauté. C'est pourquoi, dès son arrivée, Francis BOZIZE s'est remis au travail en multipliant les contacts et en se rendant régulièrement dans certaines provinces pour tenir des réunions avec les responsables anti balaka. En dépit de son arrestation par la MINUSCA en vertu d'un mandat de justice, il a été remis en liberté et est désormais libre de ses mouvements. Depuis lors, les anti balaka montent en puissance car, à chaque fois que le Président TOUADERA se rend dans une localité, les milices anti balaka sont dotées en armes et tentent de reprendre du terrain aux ex-séjeka. Les récentes violences de Kaga Bandoro en sont une illustration. Le nommé Maxime MOKOME, auteur de ces violences est parti de Damara, fief du Président TOUADERA. A l'heure actuelle, le gouvernement a recruté plus de 2000 anti-balaka qui sont formés et opérationnels sous la bannière des FACA.

II-1.5 L'irresponsabilité et la partialité de la société civile de Bangui

La société civile de Bangui qui, en principe a pour rôle de contrôler les actions du gouvernement et défendre le bien être de la population sans discrimination, s'illustre également par des prises de position politique contre les communautés du nord-est. Les leaders comme Gervais LAKOSSO, Joseph BENDOUNGA, Hyacinthe GBIEGBA, Joseph BENDOUMI et autres ont fait des appels publics d'incitation à la haine et à la violence contre les musulmans et les médias sont transformés en outils de propagation de la haine anti musulmane.

D'ailleurs, cette société civile a prouvé ses limites en acceptant la démission du Président DJOTODIA à l'étranger. Quelle humiliation pour un Etat indépendant depuis plus de deux générations? L'on comprend aisément par ce qu'il s'agit d'un musulman.

II-2 Impossibilité de cohabitation

Depuis les événements du 5 décembre 2013, la majorité des populations du nord-est en général et des musulmans en particulier ont soit quitté le pays, soit regagné le nord. Celles qui n'ont pu sortir ont été regroupées et vivent depuis lors dans l'enclave du KMS. Pendant que le gouvernement organise et planifie le retour des déplacés chrétiens dans leurs quartiers respectifs. Il n'y a aucune initiative gouvernementale concernant les déplacés musulmans. Les tentatives de nettoyage ou de retours dans leurs quartiers d'origines se sont soldées par des violences. Leurs passages même dans d'autres quartiers de Bangui sont toujours sécurisés par la MINUSCA. Les musulmans sont toujours escortés pour se rendre vers le nord-est. Malgré tout, ils sont souvent victimes de multiples tractations de la part des forces de l'ordre. Ils sont considérés comme des étrangers et déclarés non combattants. Pourtant au nord-est et dans les zones où vivent les musulmans, ceux-ci et les non musulmans cohabitent ensemble et vivent en parfaite harmonie.

Par ailleurs, les anti balaka et la population de Grimari ont érigé des barricades dans ladite ville empêchant la déportation des éléments désarmés de FUPC vers Kaga Bandoro aux fins de leur cantonnement. La vivre ensemble est devenu impossible dans la vie courante, dans les établissements scolaires et Universitaire, dans les milieux socioprofessionnels. A titre d'exemple il suffit d'être dans les convois qui effectuent les tronçons Bangui-Bandoro et Bangui-Bambari pour se rendre compte des souffrances des musulmans. Il est interdit aux musulmans de faire la prière dans les villages situés sur ces tronçons sous peine de lynchage. Il faut noter que certains musulmans qui essaient de revenir dans certaines préfectures sont contraints à se reconvertir au christianisme. C'est pourquoi on trouve beaucoup de peulhs dans les églises des préfectures de Nana-Mambéré, de Mambéré Kadéï et de la Lobaye, rendus en état d'esclavage par les anti-balaka sans la moindre protection.

Les maisons abandonnées par les musulmans ou ressortissants du nord-est sont soit vendues ou détruites et les terrains servent de dépôt d'ordures, de footballs et de fabrication de perpaing. Celles qui ne sont pas détruites sont occupées ou mises en location par les bourreaux.

Cette situation perdure depuis près de trois ans et rien ne prouve que les anti balaka et les populations du centre sont prêts à accepter les musulmans et les ressortissants du nord-est. Surtout TOUADERA au pouvoir à tel point que les récents événements de Kaga Bandoro sont commandités par l'ex premier Ministre Nicolas Tiangaye et l'actuel ministre de la sécurité et de l'administration du territoire Jean serges BOKASSA. L'espoir de cohabitation et de reconstruction de notre pays est définitivement compromis du moment où, c'est le pouvoir même qui entretient les violences intercommunautaires. Il suffit d'interroger les citoyens Bangouais ou des régions environnantes pour se rendre compte que plus de 90% de centrafricains chrétiens du sud rejettent les populations du nord-est et ne sont pas prêts à faire la paix avec elles.

Ces différents faits ont été corroborés par un groupe d'enquêteurs des Nations-Unies qui ont mentionné dans leur rapport « Les échecs à résoudre des causes profondes du conflit » par le Président TOUADERA.

D'ailleurs, le Secrétaire Général des Nations-Unies avait déjà lors de sa visite à Bangui en date du 5 avril 2014, reconnu qu'« Une épuration ethnico-religieuse est une réalité » en Centrafrique.

En dépit de tous ces constats, les musulmans et ressortissants de la région du nord-est de la République Centrafricaine continuent d'être persécutés et discriminés sous un regard indifférent de la communauté internationale.

III- L'AMBIGUÏTÉ DANS LE RÔLE DE LA COMMUNAUTÉ INTERNATIONALE EN RCA

Après la fuite du Président BOZIZE, tout allait de mieux en mieux, lorsque la société civile politisée s'est mise à dénaturer les faits pour faire croire que l'ex rébellion SELEKA qui était au pouvoir tuait systématiquement tout sujet chrétien. C'est ainsi que les mouvements COCORA et COAC ont été transformés en anti balaka et dirigés par François BOZIZE et ses scribes.

Après le coup d'État manqué du 5 décembre 2013, la société civile chrétienne et l'Eglise catholique dirigée par monseigneur Dieudonné NZAPALAYINGA ce qui lui a valu le titre de cardinal faisaient croire à la communauté internationale dans une déclaration des évêques et la plate forme religieuse avec les ministres des affaires étrangères de la France que les assaillants armés n'étaient que des patriotes. D'où la mission SANGARIS dirigée contre la communauté musulmane. Nous nous réservons le droit de saisir la justice internationale le moment venu puisque, nous disposons de preuves irréfragables des actions concertées menées par la SANGARIS et les anti balaka contre la communauté musulmane.

La MINUSCA qui devait également jouer un rôle d'interposition, s'est parfois enlisée sur le terrain au coté des anti balaka constitués pour la plupart, des FACA et des ex gardes présidentielles de BOZIZE. Les ressortissants du nord-est n'ont aucune chance dans le processus de restructuration de l'armée centrafricaine soutenue par la MINUSCA. En dépit de l'embargo sur les armes, la levée partielle de l'embargo sur les diamants centrafricains du sud-ouest par le processus de Kimberley au détriment du nord-est ayant permis au gouvernement l'achat des armes de guerre ; la MINUSCA a laissé le champ libre au gouvernement qui a mobilisé les anti-balaka réarmés tout au long de la route Bangui-Kaga Bandoro, ainsi que dans d'autres provinces. Lesquelles perpétuent les exactions sur les paisibles citoyens du nord-est voulant se rendre à Bangui ou regagner la région sous prétexte de contrôle. Alors que, sur le corridor Bangui-Douala, les véhicules circulent librement. Ce qui revient à dire que la MINUSCA favorise si non, contribue à la persécution des musulmans et des ressortissants du nord-est.

Cette paisible population marginalisée par les régimes successifs qui ont adopté une politique éducative restrictive dans la région du nord-est, n'aura pas la chance de s'épanouir dans la nouvelle armée. Pourtant lors du forum de Bangui, les Rwandais ont témoigné de la réussite du système de restructuration de leur armée, composée des rebelles, des génocidaires et des forces loyalistes. Aucun élément armé n'a été exclu. Le Tchad a réussi la cohésion sociale à travers l'incorporation dans l'armée de tous les ex rebelles. La population du nord-est pensait qu'au sortir de ce forum et des élections, la restructuration de l'armée allait tenir compte de ces modèles. Malheureusement, le processus de restructuration en cours présente un caractère exclusif et ne favorise pas le vivre ensemble. En conséquence, la population du nord-est ne peut faire confiance à une armée constituée sans ses ressortissants. Il en est de même pour les forces de sécurité intérieure.

Ce qu'il faut retenir est qu'il y a impossibilité de cohabitation et incompatibilité entre la population centrafricaine chrétienne du sud-ouest d'une part et les musulmans et ressortissants de la région du nord-est d'autre part. Personne ne veut plus sentir l'autre. Il suffit d'évoquer la réconciliation avec l'une des communautés pour susciter une colère inattendue de l'autre. La seule présence d'un musulman parmi des chrétiens du sud-ouest entraîne automatiquement son lynchage et engendre des violences. Par contre les Chrétiens et les Musulmans vivent en symbiose dans le nord-est. Les tentatives de réconciliation entre les deux communautés étant impossibles, il faut alors les séparer pour calmer les ardeurs et vivre en paix, cela nous permettra de mieux réfléchir et peut être de nous réunifier plus tard, lorsque les germes de la violence et de la haine auront disparu. Lorsqu'il y aura une nouvelle élite après deux générations de part et d'autre, imbues d'un sens élevé de l'humanité, respectueuses des droits de l'homme et de la raison de faire la politique. Cette proposition est l'unique et meilleure solution dans notre cas précis. Ainsi, chaque peuple pourra se reconstruire et adopter son modèle de développement et l'avenir nous dira lequel des deux peuples était le meilleur. Cette solution qui permet d'éviter des guerres et des morts peut satisfaire tout le monde et ne sera pas la première. D'ailleurs, de nombreux pays se sont divisés par le passé à savoir : l'Allemagne, l'Inde et le Pakistan, l'Haïti et la République Dominicaine, la Yougoslavie, la Tchécoslovaquie, le saint Martin, la Chypre, le Soudan du Sud, l'Erythrée, la Crimée, la Serbie et le Kosovo en sont des exemples.

Avec la stratégie d'extermination, les discours extrémistes, les incompatibilités de plus en plus manifestes qui s'expriment, une partition ne serait-elle pas une très bonne solution ?

D'ailleurs, de nombreux instruments internationaux tels que la charte des Nations-Unies, la Déclaration Universelle des Droits de l'Homme et la Charte Africaine des Droits de l'Homme et des Peuples interdisent et sanctionnent la discrimination, l'injustice et surtout la persécution et le génocide d'un peuple ou d'une communauté. Ces textes reconnaissent également le droit des peuples à disposer d'eux-mêmes et le droit à l'autodétermination.

La Cour internationale de Justice, saisie par l'Assemblée générale des Nations-Unie, à l'initiative de la Serbie, d'une demande d'avis consultatif sur la légalité de la déclaration d'indépendance du Kosovo, a dans son avis en date du 22 juillet 2010 conclu que « L'adoption de la déclaration d'indépendance... n'a violé aucune règle de droit international ».

Qu'en est-il pour le cas Centrafricain ?

PROCES VERBAL N°001/016

L'an deux mil seize et le trois du mois de Février, nous Sous-lieutenant MBENGA NZONGOMBLO Ponce-Pilate Chef de section chargé de discipline et application des lois au projet Chinko; officier de police judiciaire assermenté avec résidence à Kocho, assisté des éco-gardes (Rangers) composant l'équipe de patrouille avons procédé à des saisies des matériels ci-après:

- Deux (2) armes kalashnikov AK47

1-N° 563916946;

2-N° 5635071499;

-Trois chargeurs AK47;

-58 munitions

Les matériels saisis sont déposés à l'entrepôt du projet.

Cette opération a été effectuée à l'issue d'une patrouille légère d'observation dans la zone du projet précisément le long de la rivière Kocho à 17 heures 30 minutes. A notre arrivé, les peuls surpris à très courte distance ont pris la fuite sans avoir le temps de récupérer les armes retrouvées.

L'équipe de la dite patrouille se compose comme suit :

- S/lt MBENGA Ponce-Pilate : chef de mission.
- Monsieur ABROU Teddy : Chef de groupe (Ranger).
- Monsieur HIKABINOU Trésor : Elément (Ranger).
- Monsieur BONDO Nadin : Elément (Ranger).
- Monsieur BINGA Arsene Omer : Elément (Ranger).
- Monsieur KETTE Philemon : Elément (Ranger).
- Monsieur ZAKO Jolidon : Elément conducteur (Ranger).
- Monsieur OUSMANE : Interprète traducteur.

En foi de quoi le présent procès verbal est établi pour servir et valoir ce que de droit.

Fait à Kocho le 03 Février 2016.

Le Chef de section chargé de discipline et application des lois,

Sous-lieutenant MBENGA NZONGOMBLO Ponce-Pilate

Annex 6.1: Communiqué dated 18 September 2016 by the Government of the Central African Republic on the deployment of national security forces to Kaga-Bandoro. Document obtained by the Panel on 21 September 2016 from a confidential source.

Communiqué gouvernemental

Centrafricains, Centrafricaines,
Chers Compatriotes,

Dans la journée du Samedi 17 Septembre 2016, des éléments du groupe Balaka sous la houlette d'un dénommé GAZAMODO, répondant à l'aile Bertrand MOKOM, ont installé en toute illégalité une barrière routière aux abords du village de NDOEMETTE à l'entrée de la ville de KAGA-BANDORO.

Les Ex SELEKA, informés de la situation ont vivement réagit, afin de déloger ces Balakas, parvenant ainsi à les mettre en déroute.

Dans leur lancée, les éléments des Ex Sélékas, s'en sont violemment pris aux biens de pauvres et paisibles populations avoisinantes.

Informé de ces troubles à l'ordre public, Son Excellence Professeur Faustin Achange TOUADERA, Président de la République Chef de l'Etat, depuis New York où il prend part à l'Assemblée Générale des Nations Unies, a immédiatement instruit Monsieur le Premier Ministre, aux fins de dépêcher un détachement des forces de Sécurité Intérieure; à savoir Police et Gendarmerie, avec l'appui de la MINUSCA, dans le but de mettre un terme à ces exactions.

C'est ainsi, qu'à l'heure où je m'adresse à vous chers compatriotes, ces opérations vigoureuses et musclées conjointement menées par nos forces de sécurités sont toujours en cours aux alentours de KAGA BANDORO.

Le Gouvernement lance un appel pressant à tous les compatriotes animés d'un esprit de violence à cesser immédiatement leurs exactions !

Le Gouvernement, tient également à rassurer les paisibles populations de ces localités, qu'il ne ménagera aucun effort afin de rétablir la Paix et la Sécurité sur l'ensemble du territoire national.

Fait à Bangui, le 18 septembre 2016

Le Ministre Porte Parole du Gouvernement
Théodore JOUSSO

Je vous remercie

Annex 6.7: Groupe des patriotes (GP)

The Groupe des patriotes, a splinter group of Révolution et Justice (RJ) seems to have no clear political agenda. In early 2016, the RJ/MPC coalition chased GP members away from their original base in Pougol (20 km west of Paoua). GP has played a rather marginal role in the area since (see S/2015/936, paras 143-144). GP is a loose coalition of armed men involved in criminal activities in a few places around Paoua such as Bambara, Gouze and Pende.²¹ On 9 March, colonel Fidel, the leader of the group in Pendé, confirmed to MINUSCA that the group has 57 children between the age of nine and 16 amongst its elements, including girls who are used as combatants and concubines. The presence of child soldiers was verified and confirmed by MINUSCA and NGOs.²² GP is involved in the MINUSCA Community Violence Reduction program.

²² Confidential source, 16 March 2016.

Annex 7.1: Retour Réclamation et Réhabilitation (3R)

1. In September-October 2016, a cycle of clashes opposed 3R and anti-balakas fighters under local leader Ndalé in the Kouï area, west of Bocaranga. Fighting first took place on 17 September, reportedly causing three deaths.²³ On 27 September, in a failed attempt to dislodge 3R from Kouï, anti-balaka combatants launched a major attack on the city. Combats reportedly left nine killed and five injured.²⁴
2. On 1 October, upon MINUSCA's request, General Sidiki left the city, while leaving some of his elements in town. In spite of the holding of talks between representatives of the two groups in Bouar, additional fighting took place on 11 October, causing further displacement of populations.²⁵
3. Both anti-balaka leaders Patrice-Edouard Ngaissona and Maxime Mokom told the Panel that the Ndale brothers, anti-balaka leaders involved in the fight against 3R, are members of their anti-balaka group.²⁶
4. On 30 September 2016, the Kouï Mayor, from the Peulh community, was suspended by the Minister of Interior. This decision was interpreted by 3R leaders as a demonstration of the Government's bias in favour of anti-balaka.²⁷
5. The main humanitarian incidents are related to the constant clashes between the different armed groups and their persistent attacks against the civilian population; for example, by the zone commander Sidiki, leader of the group 3R. The Fulani affiliated with 3R control the axis between Yelewa, Sabewa and Safou; they are also present in the Bouar area, including Kouï.²⁸
6. 3R acts as de facto authority in many locations²⁹ extorting the population,³⁰ imposing "taxes",³¹ curfews,³² illegal detentions,³³ along with looting,³⁴ killing³⁵ and injuring civilians.³⁶

²⁸ Confidential report, 16 January 2016.

²⁹ During the month of September, 3R basically took control of Kouï's area. "On 30 Sep 2016, CMRBATT reported that the DET CDR in Kouï met with 3R elements, instructing them to withdraw from Kouï by midday or will be forcefully ejected by MINUSCA forces. 3R initially refused to leave on the condition that they meet anti-balaka leaders for discussion, however, requested for time to consult with Gen Sidiki for instructions. Thus, Gen Sidiki ordered his 3R elements not to leave Kouï. The Muslim community in Kouï are in favor of this decision by the 3R as to not leave Kouï for the fear of reprisal attacks by anti-balaka. Meanwhile, the Imam promised to speak to the population on the need for 3R to leave Kouï and to assure them that CMRBATT will provide protection as CMRBATT continues to patrol the town." 7. 3R's actions in Bocaranga, Poua and Kouï's area during the month of September and early October caused a large number of IDPs.³⁷ It also produced the cessation of humanitarian operations in the area.³⁸

8. On 27 September in Kouï and Bocaranga Ouham Prefecture, local NGOs suspend activities while INGOs evacuated their staff to Paoua and Bangui following threats from 3R and anti-balaka elements.³⁹ Humanitarians were systematically threatened, looted, and physically assaulted by 3R and anti-balaka elements.⁴⁰
